Egypt Rejects Israeli Plea; Hurls Charge

Aggression In Middle East Is Plan Says Egypt

LONDON, Sept. 14 (UP)—Egypt today rejected an Israeli plea to end the state of war between the two countries. The Egyptians accused Israel of preparing for new aggression in the Middle East.

The Israeli peace bid was turned down in a statement here by Abdel Kader Hatem, information chief in the regime of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Nasser's aide told 500 delegates from 49 nations at the London inter-parliamentary union conference that "when Israel talks peace she means war. When she offers friendship she is preparing for aggression."

Replying To Appeal

Egypt was replying to an Israeli appeal for peace with its Arab neighbors that was delivered in London Friday before the same conference by Israeli delegate David Hacohen.

The Israeli delegate had appealed "to our Arab neighbors to allow the still and small voice of peace to emerge from the din of tension and war preparations."

The Egyptian statement came amid these other Middle East developments:

Turkey accused two Russians including an assistant naval attache, of espionage and ordered them out of the country within 48 hours. The action followed receipt of a blunt letter from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin warning Turkey to keep its hands off Turkey or risk Soviet wrath.

Syrian President Shukri El Kuwatly, in a radio broadcast, declared that Syria's "internal and external situations are secure." He attacked Israel as the "gravest threat" to Syria and said his nation is prepared to defend its independence against all "imperialist attempts.

Turks Oust Two Russians After Soviet Warning

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 14 (UP)—Turkey ousted two Russians from the country for spying today in the wake of a blunt new Soviet warning against Turkish intervention in Syria.

The two men named as spies were Capt. Alexandre Maraguine, 38 the assistant Soviet naval attache, and another Russian named Michael Lischin.

They were caught by secret police last night while buying military information from a young Turk in a casino on the Bosporus.

The police did not identify the Turk. But the government promptly ordered the Russians to leave Turkey within 24 hours.

In Turkey Since 1952

Both have been in the country since 1952, spoke fluent Turkish and were active socially before they were caught.

Ouster of the spies was not linked officially to a tough-sounding note from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes. But observers regarded the move as an indication the Turks would not be pushed by any Soviet threats.

Bulganin's note was delivered to Menderes Wednesday and released Friday night in Moscow.

It accused Turkey of sending troops to its border with Syria for what Bulganin called a United States-planned attack. (The United States promptly denied the charge.)

It warned Turkey "in a most friendly manner" not to join any such adventure. It said such action would be "fraught with danger" and warned it could bring about a Mideast conflict that could lead to world war.

In other U.N. action, India today repeated its demand that China's U.N. seat be turned over the Chinese Communist government.

Indian delegate Arthur S. Lall made the request in a letter to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Urges Catholics To Stop Smoking

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 14 (UP) — Pope Pius XII, in a speech made public today, urged members of Roman Catholic religious orders to abstain from smoking, public vacations and extended "pleasure trips."

The pontiff told members of the orders that elimination of such "superficial articles" from their lives was necessary as a symbol of their priestly humility.

The papal admonition was made in a speech delivered last Tuesday to a gathering here of leaders of the Jesuit order. It was released by the Vatican today.

ON HIGHWAY 80

Monroe Bride Dies In Wreck

Sudden death ended the honeymoon of Lt. and Mrs. Thomas McCarthy Wallace yesterday afternoon, brief hours after they were married in a beautiful ceremony in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church in Monroe.

Mrs. Wallace, the former Miss Shirley Ann McDonald, was killed instantly when the automobile her husband was driving went out of control and left Highway 80, 23 miles West of Monroe.

State Trooper B. D. Voight said the car plunged down a 300-foot embankment after leaving the highway. It came to rest on its side in the area known as Tremont Bottoms.

The officer said the 21-year-old Mrs. Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McDonald of 1106 Riverside Drive, Monroe, was thrown from the vehicle. Doctors said she died instantly of a broken neck.

Lt. Wallace escaped injury, but suffered extreme shock.

Happened At 3:45 P. M.

Trooper Voight said the tragedy happened about 3:45 p.m. less than an hour after the couple had left Monroe on their honeymoon. The accident scene was some seven miles east of Ruston.

Lt. Wallace is stationed in San Diego, Calif., and the two were enroute there on their wedding trip at the time of the accident.

Wallace's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace of Glenview, Ill., were in Monroe at the time, having come here for the wedding ceremony yesterday morning.

Mrs. Wallace, who was extremely popular, was a 1953 graduate

Truck Backs Over Man, 79, Killing Him

STERLINGTON (Special) — A 79-year-old man died at a clinic here last night about 30 minutes after a truck backed over him about one mile north of Sterlington.

He was identified as Leander Nolan, 79, of Sterlington. According to Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, the accident occured in the yard of Jim C. Hollis in Union parish, where a barbecue had been held earlier in the evening.

The coroner said that the accident was "unavoidable." He identified driver of the truck as R. E. Pearson. In the truck with him were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hodge.

Time of the accident was around 8 p.m., Dr. French said. According to witnesses, it was dark at the time of the accident, and there were no lights in the yard.

No one was aware of the presence of the elderly man in back of the truck until after the accident. The victim was rushed to Spencer clinic here, and died within 30 minutes.

The coroner said that members of the man's family said that no charges would be filed, since the accident was considered unavoidable.

German Vote Today Could Be Fateful

BONN, Germany, Sept. 14 (UP)—West Germany's campaign battle roared to a stormy close tonight with 35 million persons prepared to vote Sunday in general elections that could decide the fate of the western alliance.

The elections, third in the history of the Bonn Republic, also will determine whether 81-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer continues to lead Germany on a pro-western course for the next four years.

Adenauer, in an election eve appeal to the nation, warned that the anti - rearmament Socialists have threatened to pull West Germany out of NATO.

Bid For Victory

"It is in your hands to save us from the fate of Hungary," the veteran statesman said in his bid for victory over the Socialist forces led by his chief opponent, Erich Ollenhauer.

A statement by Adenauer's government warned that "the election battle has shown the German people that this is a fateful struggle for the nation's very life in peace and freedom."

Both Adenauer and Ollenhauer called for massive turn- outs of voters in Sunday's polling.

Newspaper Copies Seized

In a last-minute move that heated the closing hours of the campaign, police swooped on a half-dozen newspaper offices and seized copies carrying a pro-Adenauer advertisement.

The advertisement alleged that 600,000 members of the outlawed Communist party were teaming with opposition parties to form a pro-Soviet "Trojan Horse" regime if Adenauer is defeated.

The confiscations later were halted. But the action, carried out mostly by police in the Socialist-run state of Hesse, heightened tension.

Jes' Ramblin'

Anniversary

We call to mind that today, Sept. 15, is the 100th anniversary of the birth of William Howard Taft, and here is something that is divulged by Paul Harvey:

It was the beginning of the elementary school semester in Cincinnati, Ohio, home town of the former president of the United States. The boys and girls were asked to stand and to introduce themselves. One chanced to be the granddaughter of the late Senator Robert Taft and this is how she answered the requirement:

"My name is Martha Bowers Taft. My great - grandfather was President of the United States. My grandfather was a United States Senator. My daddy is ambassador to Ireland, and I am a Brownie."

Decision

Here's a good one that is reported from another city. Two girls had just had a siege of shopping and armed with bundles they flopped down into seats in a city bus. One girl soon pulled out her hat from a package and declared it cost too much and did not suit. Then a long chattering argument pro and con resulted.

The man in the seat ahead finally tired of the fuss, folded the paper he had been reading. "Let's settle this argument once and for all. Lets see the hat," he said.

He reached for the headgear and held it up for all to observe. He explained that the tag said it cost $5.98." Now

Highway Director To Appear In Court

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 14 (UP)—State Highway Director R. B. Richardson and two local realtors are to appear in district court Monday to explain why they should not be cited for contempt.

District Judge Jess Johnson signed the order for the three to appear after the realtors, Bradley C. Mittendorf and Lowell Roseman, failed to show at a scheduled deposition hearing.

MOON, MARS, VENUS

Russia Plans To Send Men On Space Flights

MOSCOW, Sept. 14 (UP) — A leading Soviet scientist said today that Russia plans to send manned rockets to the moon, Mars and Venus by 1965.

Missile expert Y. C. Khlebtsevich outlined detailed plans for Soviet interplanetary flights in an article in the Moscow publication, "Literary Gazette."

Khlebtsevich said the Soviet project calls for an assault on each of the planets in turn—the moon between 1960 and 1965 and Venus and Mars between 1962 and 1965.

The Soviet scientist estimated the trip to Venus would take 146 days and the voyage to Mars, 258 days.

Three-Stage Attack

The Literary Gazette article disclosed Soviet scientists plan to attack space in these three stages:

1. Unmanned rockets guided by radio from the earth will first blaze the interplanetary trail.

2. Unmanned "armored laboratories" would then be fired to positions on the planets to reconnoiter them by television.

3. Multi- stage rockets would deliver a manned "scientific station" to each of the planets.

The Literary Gazette article revealed that the space project already has been given the code name, "LVM," the Russian initials for Moon-Venus-Mars.

Khlebtsevich referred to Russia's recent announcement it has successfully tested an intercontinental ballistics missile as evidence it possesses "all the necessary means to build cosmic rockets."

He said Russia is prepared to launch space conquest on the basis of principles worked out by the late Soviet rocket pioneer Konstantin Tsiulkovsky, who has been credited with laying the groundwork for the intercontinental ballistic missile three decades ago.

Khlebtsevich said the initial rocket assault would be made on the moon with the initial weight of the rockets less than 50 kilograms (110 pounds).

Cloudy Skies Loom For Northeast Area

Overcast skies today with widely scattered thundershowers were forecast for Louisiana.

Arkansas is expected to have severe thundershowers today, the weather bureau in Little Rock said last night.

The maximum temperature in Monroe yesterday was 88, and the low for the day was 65 degrees.

TAKEN FROM BUS

City Police Nab Slaying Suspect

A 22-year-old Florida man, charged with the murder of a teenager in Oklahoma, was arrested by Monroe police yesterday morning. Police intercepted the bus he was travelling on, at the corner of Sixth and DeSiard streets, and apprehended the man without any trouble.

George Louis Murphy, who was discharged from the Air Force Thursday, admitted that he shot the teenager, identified as Harold McInnich, 17, in Atoka, Oklahoma. Chief James C. Kelly, Jr. of the Monroe police said that Murphy surrendered without a struggle, and gave a statement admitting that he was "the one they were looking for."

Oklahoma authorities have been notified that he is in custody and Sheriff Tom Clayborn of Atoka County said, "We're starting after him right now," when questioned by United Press.

According to a UP release, Murphy said he had never met McInnich until he and three other airmen crashed the party after driving across the Oklahoma border following his discharge from Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

Chief Kelly said that some of Murphy's friends apparently thought he would go to his Winter Haven, Fla. home, and Atoka officials then contacted police stations along the route.

Police here were notified, and checked with the bus station, only to learn that the bus he might

Take Female, Add Car And Trouble Brews

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 14, (AP)—A 14-year-old girl received brief instruction from her father and then proceeded to drive the 1957 family car from her father's office home today.

Here is the box score:

Slammed into two vehicles at North Blvd. and Fifth St.

Backed into another at the same intersection while pulling away from the first two.

Crashed broadside into the fourth at Convention and Fifth.

Sideswiped a parked vehicle at Florida and Fifth.

Struck the sixth two blocks away.

The girl, who was not identified, abandoned her car when it stalled. Patrolmen apprehended her five blocks away.

BUS-TRUCK COLLISION

Sikes Youth Dead, Several Injured

WINNFIELD (Special) — Tragedy drove through Grant parish last night, and left a 19-year-old Sikes youth dead, a bus driver in critical condition, and several passengers in hospitals in Alexandria and Winnfield, after a bus collided broadside with a panel truck on busy highway 167.

The mishap occured between 7:30 and 8 p.m., 19 miles south of Winnfield, and one mile north of Williana in Grant parish.

Jim Allen Gregory, 19, of Sikes, the driver of the truck was killed instantly, when he was thrown from the truck by the impact of the collision and dragged several feet by the wreckage.

T. L. Dunn of Alexndria, driver of the bus owned by the Harlan and Salter Bus Company of Jonesboro, was in critical condition at the Baptist hospital in Alexandria last night. The extent of his injuries was unknown late last night.

Grant parish Sheriff's Department officials who investigated the mishap theorized that the truck's right wheels might have gone off the highway, and when Gregory tried to pull back onto the road, the momentum of the left wheels swerved the truck across the highway directly into the path of the bus.

Shoulders Muddy

They emphasized that the shoulders were soft and muddy, the concrete was broken and the road was under construction, so they were not sure what caused the accident.

The number of passengers on the bus was unknown for several hours after the crash, since sev-

Summer Romance May Bring Queen For Iraq King

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 14 (UP)—Young King Feisal of Iraq flew home today after a summer romance with a Turkish teen-ager who appeared likely to become his queen.

The handsome Feisal, 22, returned to his capital in an Iraq Airline plane with his chief aid, Crown Prince Abdul Illah. They spent most of the summer here by the shores of the Bosphorus.

Left behind — but not for long according to reports — was 17-year-old Princess Fazilet, daughter of Ottoman Princess Hanzade and Egyptian Prince Mahmet Ali.

According to persons close to Feisal and Fazilet's family, the king and the young princess have been together constantly in recent weeks.

It was generally understood among their friends that they intend to announce their engagement in the next few days.

Statement Made After Ike Meeting

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14 (UP) — Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus announced after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he would abide by any federal court decision in the Little Rock school crisis.

But he said he would decide later whether to call off the National Guard troops he sent to Little Rock's Central High school Sept. 2 to keep Negroes from enrolling.

Faubus issued a brief statement after a two hour conference with Eisenhower. He declared his loyalty to the Constitution and the courts of the land and said the meeting was "friendly and constructive."

Ike Issues Statement

Eisenhower also issued a statement, equally brief, in which he said Faubus stated his intention to carry out the orders of the federal court governing the Little Rock crisis.

"I recognize the inescapable responsibility resting upon the governor to preserve law and order in his state," Eisenhower said. "I am gratified by his constructive and cooperative attitude at our meeting. I have assured the governor of the cooperation of federal officials."

Faubus flew here from Little Rock Friday night, two days after asking Eisenhower to meet with him about the crisis that has raised tempers and brought an order for the governor to appear in federal court Sept. 20 to contest a proposed injunction against him.

When Democrat Faubus entered the meeting he was reported "ready to go to jail" if a solution could not be found. He left smiling and rushed to his hotel to

Gromyko And Dulles Set For Debate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flies to New York tomorrow for a U. N. clash with Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister. It may prove one of the most momentous East West word battles of recent years.

Dulles will leave here in late afternoon for the General Assembly regular session, which opens Tuesday. Aides said he will stay in New York at least a week and take the occasion not only to make a major U. S. policy speech Thursday but also to hear what the Russians have to say and to consult with British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd and other Allied leaders.

Objectives

In the debate, it is understood, Dulles hopes:

1. To make clear to Soviet leaders and everybody else that the United States is not looking for trouble in the Middle East but will act powerfully if necessary to protect vital Western interests there—in oil, in communications and in preventing new Soviet expansion.

2. To salvage disarmament negotiations from the wreckage of the London arms talks. Russia wants to include a number of countries other than itself, the United States, Britain, France and Canada. The Western Powers feel that initial negotiations should continue to be concentrated in the hands of the five, officials here said.

To Learn Purposes

3. To smoke out, if possible, Russia's purposes in developing in the last few months a more hostile propaganda toward the United States and its Allies.

Gromyko is due in New York this weekend to speak for the Soviet side. His words will be weighed as reflecting the policy decisions of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and whoever else in Moscow may be exercising a decisive voice in foreign relations.

The debate between the two men—cast in the framework of a general debate by spokesmen of all U. N members—comes at a particularly interesting time in rela-

Pressure Mounts For USSR To Get Out Of Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 14 (UP)— Free world pressure mounted on Russia today to withdraw its troops from Hungary and grant that country free elections.

The General Assembly Tuesday night voted a new condemnation of Russia's suppression of the Hungarian freedom revolt and named retiring assembly President Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand as special U.N. representative to Hungary.

Prince Wan was empowered to seek Soviet and Hungarian compliance with previous U.N. resolutions calling for free elections and Soviet withdrawl from Hungary.

Plans Visit

Prince Wan said he planned to visit Russia and Hungary for direct negotiations. But he said he would confer first with the U.N. delegations of those countries.

"The kind of diplomacy to which I have been used is the diplomacy relying on moral force and not on any fighting force, and I think this would be a new approach — what I call a moral approach," Prince Wan said.

The new resolution, sponsored by the United States and 36 other countries, was approved by a 60-10 vote. The nine-nation Soviet bloc and Yugoslavia opposed the resolution. Nine members of the Afro-Asian groups and Finland abstained. South Africa was absent. Russia was originally condemned for its Hungarian action by a 55-8 vote last Dec. 12.

BOTH INSIST INNOCENCE

Two Convicts Named In Meat Cleaver Slaying

ANGOLA, La., Sept. 14 (AP) — Warden Maurice Sigler tonight named two convicts held in the meat cleaver slaying of two other convicts but said they insisted they were innocent.

The warden, after more than 24 hours of investigation in the state penitentiary where inmates are closemouthed, said the two implicated in the prison double murder are:

Ray Allen Dugas, 21, of St. Martinsville, serving six years for burglary in Iberia Parish.

Alfred A. Stahl, 28, Melrose Park, Ill., serving 20 years for habitual theft in New Orleans.

"Did either one admit it?" he was asked.

"No sir," Sigler replied, "they claim they are innocent. We believe at least one is guilty."

Dist. Atty. Richard Kilbourne of West Feliciana Parish said the two "probably would be charged with murder next week unless new evidence is forthcoming."

A meat cleaver attack at dawn yesterday killed the two victims while they slept in their prison bunks in a room housing 60 inmates.

The victims, Billy Aldrich, 33 and Clarence Joseph Gros, 25, were discovered in their adjacent bunks at 6:30 a.m. yesterday.

The warden gave no hint of a motive.

He said Dugas was held because there were traces of blood between Aldrich's bed and his bed about eight beds away.

Dugas' bloodstained underclothing was being examined at the state police crime laboratory in Baton Rouge, Sigler added.

"As a result of 24 hours of investigation," Sigler said "We also believe that Stahl is implicated in the murders." He said Stahl slept in a bed between Dugas and Aldrich, about four beds from the victims.

"Our investigation shows that Dugas was very obviously mixed up in this, due to the fact that he had bloody clothes."

The meat cleaver weapon was

In a last-minute move that heated the closing hours of the campaign, police swooped on a half-dozen newspaper offices and seized copies carrying a pro-Adenauer advertisement.

The advertisement alleged that 600,000 members of the outlawed Communist party were teaming with opposition parties to form a pro-Soviet "Trojan Horse" regime if Adenauer is defeated.

The confiscations later were halted. But the action, carried out mostly by police ir the Socialist-run state of Hesse, heightened tension.

Anniversary

We call to mind that today, Sept. 15, is the 100th anniversary of the birth of William Howard Taft, and here is something that is divulged by Paul Harvey:

It was the beginning of the elementary school semester in Cincinnati, Ohio, home town of the former president of the United States. The boys and girls were asked to stand and to introduce themselves. One chanced to be the granddaughter of the late Senator Robert Taft and this is how she answered the requirement:

"My name is Martha Bowers Taft. My great - grandfather was President of the United States. My grandfather was a United States Senator. My daddy is ambassador to Ireland, and I am a Brownie."

Decision

Here's a good one that is reported from another city. Two girls had just had a siege of shopping and armed with bundles they flopped down into seats in a city bus. One girl soon pulled out her hat from a package and declared it cost too much and did not suit. Then a long chattering argument pro and con resulted.

The man in the seat ahead finally tired of the fuss, folded the paper he had been reading. "Let's settle this argument once and for all. Lets see the hat," he said.

He reached for the headgear and held it up for all to observe. He explained that the tag said it cost $5.98." Now

Cloudy Skies Loom For Northeast Area

Overcast skies today with widely scattered thundershowers were forecast for Louisiana.

Arkansas is expected to have severe thundershowers today, the weather bureau in Little Rock said last night.

The maximum temperature in Monroe yesterday was 88, and the low for the day was 65 degrees.

TAKEN FROM BUS

City Police Nab Slaying Suspect

A 22-year-old Florida man, charged with the murder of a teenager in Oklahoma, was arrested by Monroe police yesterday morning. Police intercepted the bus he was travelling on, at the corner of Sixth and DeSiard streets, and apprehended the man without any trouble.

George Louis Murphy, who was discharged from the Air Force Thursday, admitted that he shot the teenager, identified as Harold McIninch, 17, in Atoka, Oklahoma. Chief James C. Kelly, Jr. of the Monroe police said that Murphy surrendered without a struggle, and gave a statement admitting that he was "the one they were looking for."

Oklahoma authorities have been notified that he is in custody and Sheriff Tom Clayborn of Atoka County said, "We're starting after him right now," when questioned by United Press.

According to a UP release, Murphy said he had never met McIninch until he and three other airmen crashed the party after driving across the Oklahoma border following his discharge from Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

Chief Kelly said that some of Murphy's friends apparently thought he would go to his Winter Haven, Fla. home, and Atoka officials then contacted police stations along the route.

Police here were notified, and checked with the bus station, only to learn that the bus he might

Take Female, Add Car And Trouble Brews

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 14, (AP)—A 14-year-old girl received brief instruction from her father and then proceeded to drive the 1957 family car from her father's office home today.

Here is the box score:

Slammed into two vehicles at North Blvd. and Fifth St.

Backed into another at the same interection while pulling away from the first two.

Crashed broadside into the fourth at Convention and Fifth.

Sideswiped a parked vehicle at Florida and Fifth.

Struck the sixth two blocks away.

The girl, who was not identified, abandoned her car when it stalled. Patrolmen apprehended her five blocks away.

BUS-TRUCK COLLISION

Sikes Youth Dead, Several Injured

WINNFIELD (Special) — Tragedy drove through Grant parish last night, and left a 19-year-old Sikes youth dead, a bus driver in critical condition, and several passengers in hospitals in Alexandria and Winnfield, after a bus collided broadside with a panel truck on busy highway 167.

The mishap occured between 7:30 and 8 p.m., 19 miles south of Winnfield, and one mile north of Williana in Grant parish.

Jim Allen Gregory, 19, of Sikes, the driver of the truck was killed instantly, when he was thrown from the truck by the impact of the collision and dragged several feet by the wreckage.

T. L. Dunn of Alexndria, driver of the bus owned by the Harlan and Salter Bus Company of Jonesboro, was in critical condition at the Baptist hospital in Alexandria last night. The extent of his injuries was unknown late last night.

Grant parish Sheriff's Department officials who investigated the mishap theorized that the truck's right wheels might have gone off the highway, and when Gregory tried to pull back onto the road, the momentum of the left wheels swerved the truck across the highway directly into the path of the bus.

Shoulders Muddy

They emphasized that the shoulders were soft and muddy, the concrete was broken and the road was under construction, so they were not sure what caused the accident.

The number of passengers on the bus was unknown for several hours after the crash, since sev-

2 Tornadoes Strike Okla; Woman Killed

By UNITED PRESS

At least two tornadoes struck in southern Oklahoma and North Texas tonight, killing one person, injuring several others and inflicting scattered damage.

A twister west of Konawa, in Central Oklahoma, killed Mrs. Haskell Campbell, who lived four and one-half miles north of town. One of the injured in that area was a child, who was taken to the Valley View Hospital at Ada, Okla.

Earlier, a twister destroyed a

Summer Romance May Bring Queen For Iraq King

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 14 (UP)—Young King Feisal of Iraq flew home today after a summer romance with a Turkish teen-ager who appeared likely to become his queen.

The handsome Feisal, 22, returned to his capital in an Iraq Airline plane with his chief aid, Crown Prince Abdul Illah. They spent most of the summer here by the shores of the Bosphorus.

Left behind — but not for long according to reports — was 17-year-old Princess Fazilet, daughter of Ottoman Princess Hanzade and Egyptian Prince Mahmet Ali.

According to persons close to Feisal and Fazilet's family, the king and the young princess have been together constantly in recent weeks.

It was generally understood among their friends that they intend to announce their engagement in the next few days.

Gromyko And Dulles Set For Debate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flies to New York tomorrow for a U. N. clash with Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister. It may prove one of the most momentous East West word battles of recent years.

Dulles will leave here in late afternoon for the General Assembly regular session, which opens Tuesday. Aides said he will stay in New York at least a week and take the occasion not only to make a major U. S. policy speech Thursday but also to hear what the Russians have t say and to consult with British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd and other Allied leaders.

Objectives

In the debate, it is understood, Dulles hopes:

1. To make clear to Soviet leaders and everybody else that the United States is not looking for trouble in the Middle East but will act powerfully if necessary to protect vital Western interests there—in oil, in communications and in preventing new Soviet expansion.

2. To salvage disarmament negotiations from the wreckage of the London arms talks. Russia wants to include a number of countries other than itself, the United States, Britain, France and Canada. The Western Powers feel that initial negotiations should continue to be concentrated in the hands of the five, officials here said.

To Learn Purposes

3. To smoke out, if possible, Russia's purposes in developing in the last few months a more hostile propaganda toward the United States and its Allies.

Gromyko is due in New York this weekend to speak for the Soviet side. His words will be weighed as reflecting the policy decisions of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and whoever else in Moscow may be exercising a decisive voice in foreign relations.

The debate between the two men —cast in the framework of a general debate by spokesmen of all U N members—comes at a particularly interesting time in rela-

BOTH INSIST INNOCENCE

Two Convicts Named In Meat Cleaver Slaying

ANGOLA, La., Sept. 14 (AP) — Warden Maurice Sigler tonight named two convicts held in the meat cleaver slaying of two other convicts but said they insisted they were innocent.

The warden, after more than 24 hours of investigation in the state penitentiary where inmates are closemouthed, said the two implicated in the prison double murder are:

Ray Allen Dugas, 21, of St. Martinsville, serving six years for burglary in Iberia Parish.

Alfred A. Stahl, 28, Melrose Park, Ill., serving 20 years for habitual theft in New Orleans.

"Did either one admit it?" he was asked.

"No sir," Sigler replied, "they claim they are innocent. We believe at least one is guilty."

Dist. Atty. Richard Kilbourne of West Feliciana Parish said the two "probably would be charged with murder next week unless new evidence is forthcoming."

A meat cleaver attack at dawn yesterday killed the two victims while they slept in their prison bunks in a room housing 60 inmates.

The victims, Billy Aldrich, 33 and Clarence Joseph Gros, 25, were discovered in their adjacent bunks at 6:30 a.m. yesterday.

The warden gave no hint of a motive.

He said Dugas was held because there were traces of blood between Aldrich's bed and his bed about eight beds away.

Dugas' bloodstained underclothing was being examined at the state police crime laboratory in Baton Rouge, Sigler added.

"As a result of 24 hours of investigation" Sigler said "We also believe that Stahl is implicated in the murders." He said Stahl slept in a bed between Dugas and Aldrich, about four beds from the victims.

"Our investigation shows that Dugas was very obviously mixed up in this, due to the fact that he had bloody clothes."

The meat cleaver weapon was

Statement Made After Ike Meeting

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14 (UP) — Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus annonuced after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he would abide by any federal court decision in the Little Rock school crisis.

But he said he would decide later whether to call off the National Guard troops he sent to Little Rock's Central High school Sept. 2 to keep Negroes from enrolling.

Faubus issued a brief statement after a two hour conference with Eisenhower. He declared his loyalty to the Constitution and the courts of the land and said the meeting was "friendly and constructive."

Ike Issues Statement

Eisenhower also issued a statement, equally brief, in which he said Faubus stated his intention to carry out the orders of the federal court governing the Little Rock crisis.

"I recognize the inescapable responsibility resting upon the governor to preserve law and order in his state," Eisenhower said. "I am gratified by his constructive and cooperative attitude at our meeting. I have assured the governor of the cooperation of federal officials."

Faubus flew here from Little Rock Friday night, two days after asking Eisenhower to meet with him about the crisis that has raised tempers and brought an order for the governor to appear in federal court Sept. 20 to contest a proposed injunction against him.

When Democrat Faubus entered the meeting he was reported "ready to go to jail" if a solution could not be found. He left smiling and rushed to his hotel to

Pressure Mounts For USSR To Get Out Of Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 14 (UP)— Free world pressure mounted on Russia today to withdraw its troops from Hungary and grant that country free elections.

The General Assembly Tuesday night voted a new condemnation of Russia's suppression of the Hungarian freedom revolt and named retiring assembly Presidet Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand as special U.N. represenative to Hungary.

Prince Wan was empowered to seek Soviet and Hungarian compliance with previous U.N. resolutions calling for free elections and Soviet withdrawl from Hungary.

Plans Visit

Prince Wan said he planned to visit Russia and Hungary for direct negotiations. But he said he would confer first with the U.N. delegations of those countries.

"The kind of diplomacy to which I have been used is the diplomacy relying on moral force and not on any fighting force, and I think this would be a new approach — what I call a moral approach," Prince Wan said.

The new resolution, sponsored by the United States and 36 other countries, was approved by a 60-10 vote. The nine-nation Soviet bloc and Yugoslavia opposed the resolution. Nine members of the Afro-Asian groups and Finland abstained. South Africa was absent. Russia was originally condemned for its Hungarian action by a 55-8 vote last Dec. 12.

Big Horse Show Turnout Expected

BASTROP (Special) — Capacity Union in all the classes of the 4th annual North Louisiana Cotton Festival Horse Show promises to be hot and furious as entries of nationally famous horses keep pouring in.

Between 150 and 175 entries are expected to be judged beginning Friday at 7 p.m., according to horse show officials. Ten classes of walking horses, roadsters, time harness and five-gaited horses will fill the arena that night as the annual show gets underway.

Saturday's program guarantees an equally fast-moving contest as the breeding and cutting classes for quarter horses open at 9 a.m. This is the first time classes for quarter horses have been included in the nationally famed show. All the classes are AQHA approved.

Other Classes

Stock and pleasure horses will take over the afternoon's agenda at 1:30. Three champions will be selected in the stock saddle horsemanship, stock horse and pleasure horse events.

The final show, with blood-horses competing for championships in the fine harness, amateur walking horse, roadster, five-gaited, three-gaited, and walking horse divisions, is slated to begin at 7:00 p.m. Saturday.

The stock horse division will see riders contesting for trophies in the cutting horse, cow ponies juvenile, cow ponies adult and cow ponies championship classes.

Judges for this year's show are John Cogswell, Memphis, Tenn., and Urban Small, Fayetteville, Tenn., Walking horse; Pep Peppiatte, Atlanta, Ga., and Eddie Arzo, Shreveport, saddle horses; Mrs. Imogene Barber, Oklahoma City, Okla., English equitation, and R. A. Parkhill, Cresset, Ark., Fance Freeland, Bastrop, Dale Crawford, Bastrop, and W. O. Crawford, Marion, western stock.

Horses from Dr. W. R. Garnier's stables in Bastrop will be shown in a special presentation before an expected capacity crowd. White Star, the mare which holds the 1954 world's grand championship for walking horses, and Dark Glory, the 1957 grand championship winner in the three-year-old class, will be featured. None of Dr. Garnier's horses will be entered in competition.

Trophies, ribbons, and cash prizes will be added inducements for the equestrians to put on a "sparkling show." The largest cash prizes will be $60 for the championship winners in the five-gaited and walking horse divisions. Cash will be awarded in the other classes.

Dr. Provence Dies In Mississippi Hospital At 83

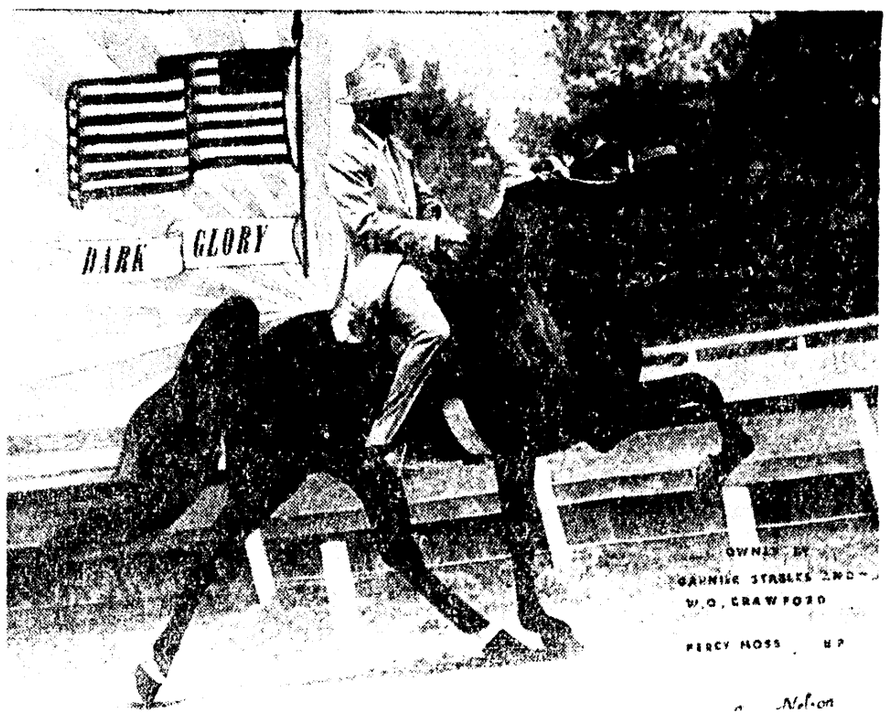
GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 14 (UP) — Dr. Herbert Winston Provence, 83, retired Baptist minister and missionary, died today at a Greenville hospital.

Dr. Provence served as pastor of Clayton Street Baptist Church in Montgomery and the First Baptist Church in Fulton, Ky., before going to Southern Seminary, Ohio in 1911 as a missionary under the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board. He returned to the United States in 1921.

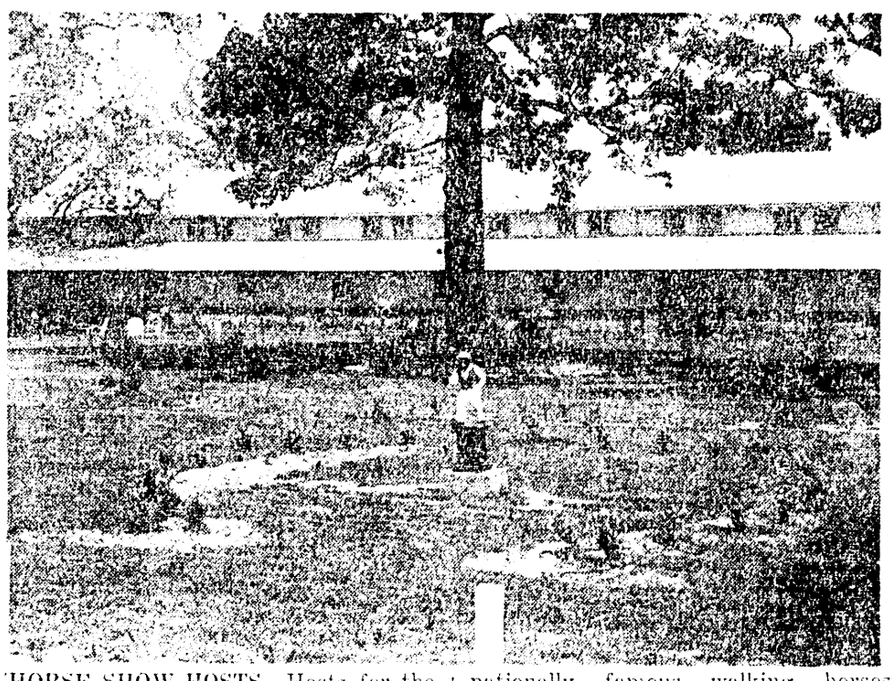
He served as pastor of churches in Ohio, Kentucky and Mississippi before coming to the Bible department of Mississippi College. In 1934 he came to Greenville as head of the English Department of Furman University and for 17 years was associated with the college in the English and related departments.

From 1951 to 1953 he served as president of Greenville women's college.

He served as pastor of a number of Baptist churches in the Greenville area, and since his retirement from Furman had been associated with Provence-Durrant C...



DARK GLORY—National celebration winner, Dark Glory, owned by Dr. W.V. Garnier of Bastrop, will be presented in a special showing at the 4th annual North Louisiana Cotton Festival Horse show which opens Sept. 18. Dark Glory, shown here with Percy Moss up, was proclaimed the world's champion junior stallion in 1956 at the Shelbyville, Tenn., celebration. This year the horse was chosen as the world's grand champion three-year-old at the celebration.



HORSE SHOW HOSTS—Hosts for the Cotton Festival and Horse show, which will be held in Bastrop Sept. 18-21, will be the Garnier stables. A. B. Kessler Heads Drive Group Here

A. B. KESSLER

A. B. "Al" Kessler has been named division campaign chairman, Monroe businesses, for the 1957 United Givers Fund drive, according to an announcement by R. M. Troy, campaign chairman.

One of five division chairmen to be named for the forthcoming drive, Kessler will be in charge of fund - raising among Monroe businesses employing up to 20 persons. Other division chairmen are to be appointed for West Monroe businesses, professional men, larger commercial and industrial organizations and special assignments, Troy said.

The campaign, scheduled to get under way October 8, has a goal of $208,000. The funds are used to support 11 charitable and character - building agencies in Ouachita Parish.

Relations Manager

Kessler, customer relations manager for the Monroe district, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been active in civic affairs since his graduation from Louisiana State University in 1950. He joined Southern Bell immediately after receiving his BS degree in business administration from LSU, serving first in the New Orleans district and later in Shreveport and Winnsboro.

He came here from Winnsboro in June of last year as Monroe suburban manager and was recently promoted to customer relations manager.

Kessler is an active member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the North Monroe Lions Club and the Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

A native of Eunice, Kessler is married and has one child, and has one child, and 14 - month - old son.

Book Mending Demonstration Set At College

The State Department of Education Wednesday will sponsor a book mending demonstration on the Northeast State campus. The demonstration will be held at 7 p. m. in the faculty lounge of the Administration Building.

Dr. Lena Y. de Grummond, state supervisor of libraries, will be in charge of the project for the benefit of white teachers and librarians in this area.

A representative from Gaylord Brothers who is considered an expert in these techniques will give the various stages in the process of book mending.

Many useful skills in this phase of book preservation can be learned by teachers, librarians, and other persons interested in the care of books, Dr. de Grummond explained.

Rep. Long Offers Tax Cut Program To La. Council

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 14 (UP) —Rep. George S. Long (D-La.), brother of Louisiana's Gov. Earl K. Long, has offered a five-point program for reducing state taxes.

Long offered the proposals to an eight - member Legislative council committee preparing to investigate duplication of state agency operations.

The representatives recommendations included: Cancellation of the high fire insurance premiums on the "fireproof" skyscraper capitol; small 10 to 20 pupil schools should be closed and the students transported to consolidated schools; discharge fence riders; decrease the number of game wardens in the state and hire a businessman to put the state's tax system on a "resourceful basis."

Gun Flashing Lands Man In Monroe Jail

Flashing a recently acquired .22 revolver while enroute to Monroe from Pensacola, Fla. landed a West Monroe man in the city jail at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Grady Joey Brown, 20 of 800 Mitchell lane, West Monroe, was taken into custody by city police who were waiting when the bus he was riding on pulled into the station on Grammont street.

Police had received a call from Rayville, complaining that Brown was armed with the .22, and had been seen to take it out of his shirt and show it to another passenger.

Brown, who received a discharge from the Navy a few days ago, said that he borrowed the gun, and had not fired it. Police checked the weapon and noted that it had been recently fired. He was carrying it inside his shirt when apprehended, and also had 49 bullets in his possession.

Another passenger sitting with Brown was questioned and released. Brown was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, and was later released after posting $200 bond.

In 1882, the now-dissolved XIT ranch in Texas comprised three million acres, in ten counties.

To Return Winnsboro GI's Body

WINNSBORO (Special) —The body of Master Sgt. Donnie R. Fore, 34, who died with his wife in an automobile accident in France, September 7, will be returned here for burial, according to information received from Sergeant Fore's mother.

A request has also been submitted to military authorities for the body of the wife, Franziska, to be sent to the United States.

In a letter to Mrs. Ella Fore—Sergeant Fore's mother—Captain Joh. M. Jenkins, the dead man's commanding officer, gave the details of the accident: "At 5:25 September 7, 1957, near Ingrandes, France, the car driven by Sergeant Fore left the road and struck a railroad gate. Sergeant Fore was killed instantly and his wife died five hours later. Cause of the accident was determined as 'failure to negotiate a curve'."

Memorial Services

The letter stated further a memorial service was held at the post chapel at the military base at Ingrandes.

Another letter from the Adjutant General's department of the Army stated the couple and their young son, Peter, were on the way to the hospital when the accident occurred. It was known that Mrs. Fore was expecting a second child in approximately one month.

Surviving the crash was the child, Peter, who was reported in the custody of Master Sergeant Grose, a close friend of the family.

Fore had a record of 17 years with the Army. He was a veteran of World War II, including action in the Ardennes Forest "battle of the bulge." He gained special recognition in the Army of Occupation in Germany following hostilities through work in youth activities. It was in this connection that the sergeant Fore met and married his wife, who was a native of Germany.

Says Sinatra And Becall To Be Wed

LONDON, Sept. 14 (UP) — A London newspaper reported today that Frank Sinatra plans to marry Lauren Bacall, widow of Humphrey Bogart, "within six months."

London Evening Standard columnist Thomas Wiseman said it is "my information that the marriage will take place barring an act of providence or Ava Gardner."

Miss Gardner, who recently obtained a Mexican divorce from Sinatra, is currently visiting London.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION—Miss Diane Garnier, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Garnier, Bastrop, will put her horse, Dark Venture, through his paces as a special attraction of the North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Horse show which will be held in Bastrop next week.

The State Department of Education Wednesday will sponsor a book mending demonstration on the Northeast State campus. The demonstration will be held at 7 p. m. in the faculty lounge of the Administration Building.

Dr. Lena Y. de Grummond, state supervisor of libraries, will be in charge of the project for the benefit of white teachers and librarians in this area.

A representative from Gaylord Brothers who is considered an expert in these techniques will give the various stages in the process of book mending.

Many useful skills in this phase of book preservation can be learned by teachers, librarians, and other persons interested in the care of books, Dr. de Grummond explained.

To Return Winnsboro GI's Body

WINNSBORO (Special) —The body of Master Sgt. Donnie R. Fore, 34, who died with his wife in an automobile accident in France, September 7, will be returned here for burial, according to information received from Sergeant Fore's mother.

A request has also been submitted to military authorities for the body of the wife, Franziska, to be sent to the United States.

In a letter to Mrs. Ella Fore—Sergeant Fore's mother—Captain Joh M. Jenkins, the dead man's commanding officer, gave the details of the accident: "At 5:25 September 7, 1957, near Ingrandes, France, the car driven by Sergeant Fore left the road and struck a railroad gate. Sergeant Fore was killed instantly and his wife died five hours later. Cause of the accident was determined as 'failure to negotiate a curve'."

Memorial Services

The letter stated further a memorial service was held at the post chapel at the military base at Ingrandes.

Another letter from the Adjutant General's department of the Army stated the couple and their young son, Peter, were on the way to the hospital when the accident occurred. It was known that Mrs. Fore was expecting a second child in approximately one month.

Surviving the crash was the child, Peter, who was reported in the custody of Master Sergeant Grose, a close friend of the family.

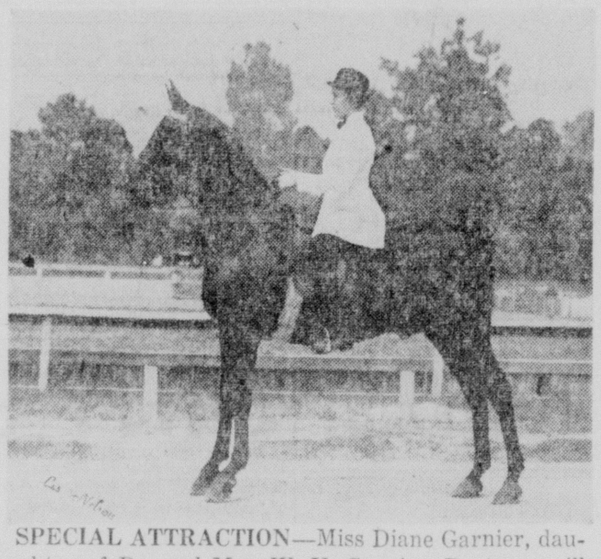
Fore had a record of 17 years with the Army. He was a veteran of World War II, including action in the Ardennes Forest "battle of the buldge." He gained special recognition in the Army of Occupation in Germany following hostilities through work in youth activities. It was in this connection that the sergeant Fore met and married his wife, who was a native of Germany.

Says Sinatra And Becall To Be Wed

LONDON, Sept. 14 (UP) — A London newspaper reported today that Frank Sinatra plans to marry Lauren Bacall, widow of Humphrey Bogart, "within six months."

London Evening Standard columnist Thomas Wiseman said it is "my information that the marriage will take place barring an act of providence or Ava Gardner."

Miss Gardner, who recently obtained a Mexican divorce from Sinatra, is currently visiting London.



SPECIAL ATTRACTION—Miss Diane Garnier, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Garnier, Bastrop, will put her horse, Dark Venture, through his paces as a special attraction of the North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Horse show which will be held in Bastrop next week.

LIBEL TRIAL

Defense Charges Two Top Witnesses 'Ax-Grinding'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The prosecution is depending on two celebrities "with axes to grind" in its effort to convict Confidential magazine of conspiracy to commit criminal libel, the defense said today.

Defense attorney Arthur J. Crowley said actress Maureen O'Hara and singer Dorothy Dandridge testified as prosecution witnesses because of libel suits they had filed against the scandal magazine.

"The only two celebrities whom the prosecution put on the stand were two who had axes to grind," Crowley told the jury as he neared the end of his closing argument in the six-week-long trial.

"I think Miss O'Hara gave quite a convincing performance," he said. "She wants to collect five million dollars in her libel suit against Confidential."

Major Issue

Miss O'Hara filed the suit over a story titled "When Maureen O'Hara Cuddled in Row 35." This story has been a major issue of the hard-fought trial.

The Irish-born actress testified she was in Europe at the time the article said she and a "Latin Lover" were necking in a Hollywood theater.

She said she had never been in the theater with anyone other than members of her family.

"Dorothy Dandridge had a good reason for getting up there," Crowley said. "Confidential has withdrawn its settlement of her suit."

The Negro singer had testified she did not engage in a woodland tryst with a white bandleader as alleged in the Confidential story titled "What Dorothy Dandridge Did in the Woods."

Settled For $10,000

Miss Dandridge filed a two-million-dollar libel suit against Confidential. It was settled for $10,000.

"Why didn't the prosecution call Mae West, John Carroll, Robert Mitchum, Dick Powell, June Allyson and Corinne Calvet?" Crowley asked.

"Because we could prove the Confidential stories about them were true," he said.

Crowley said he felt that the prosecution had not proved there was a "joint evil intent" on the part of the defendants—Confidential and Whisper magazines, Fred and Marjorie Meade, Hollywood Research, Inc., and Publishers Distributing Corp.—to conspire to commit criminal libel and to publish lewd and obscene material. He said such an intent was required to support the conspiracy charge.

Lions 'Pony Express' Due Here Monday

"The Lions Club Pony Express" mission will receive aid from the local Monroe club Monday when a pony that is being shipped 2,031 miles to his new home in El Paso, Texas, will arrive here.

The pony, which was given to Danilea Diette, of Frederick, Md., after she suffered an injury that resulted in the loss of her right eye and impairment of vision in the left eye, is scheduled to arrive in Monroe at 11:30 a. m. in front of Northeast State College.

The 'Lions Club Pony Express" became the brainchild of the board of directors of the Frederick club when they learned that Danilea's father, Sergeant First Class Daniel Diette, was being transferred to Fort Bliss. The freight costs of moving the pony was considered financially impossible by little Danilea's family and it was decided to sell the pony. Reindeer.

Forty - five clubs are participating in the project. Eleven clubs are seeing that "Reindeer" is fed and watered in the evening, stabled overnight or kept in the trailer in a sheltered place, and fed and watered again in the morning.

Before the mission is completed on Sept. 21 one Maryland club, eight Virginia clubs, four Tennessee, five Alabama, four Mississippi, four Louisiana and 19 Texas Lions Clubs will have taken part.

The trailer in which the pony is traveling has been furnished by the Maryland club. The auto hitch will fit any car. Both trailer and pony are insured, and in the trailer will be hay and feed with a chart for feeding.

A large sign on the side of the trailer gives the names of all participating clubs and the mileage traveled by each.

After leaving Monroe the pony will next stop in Ruston and then go on to an overnight stop at Minden.

Special Founders Day Event Will Commemorate 71st Year

A special Founder's Day Sale will highlight the 71st anniversary observance of the local Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail store.

One day during the store's anniversary celebration — Monday, Sept. 16th has been set aside as an extra-special occasion, C. D. McAdams, store manager announced.

The store's entire anniversary event lasts nine days, from Thursday, September 12th to Saturday, September 21st.

"Founder's Day has been designated as a sale-with-a-sale," McAdams explained "On this day we pay tribute to Richard W. Sears, who founded the company 71 years ago."

Was Rail Agent

Recalling the early days of the company, McAdams reported that Sears began his business career while serving as a railroad station agent in North Redwood, Minn.

Receiving an unclaimed shipment of watches, young Sears began selling these watches by mail to fellow station agents. Soon he was doing such a profitable business that he quit his railroad job and moved to Minneapolis where he opened an office.

In 1887 Sears transferred his business operations to Chicago and hired a watchmaker named Alvah C. Roebuck to assist him in the business. Thus, "Sears, Roebuck and Co." was born.

In addition to marking the company's 71st anniversary, the anniversary sale commemorates the 32nd anniversary of Sears entry into the retail store field and the 20th anniversary of the coming of Sears to Monroe.

Two-Parish Fair Dates Announced

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Franklin - Richland Bi-Parish Fair will be held at the War Memorial fairgrounds here October 16, through October 19.

Tivoli Shows of Joplin, Mo. will provide the entertainment and will have the midway open the night of October 15.

George Sherman, fair manager announced that booth and livestock space must be requested by October 1. Deadline for entering exhibits is 12 o'clock noon, October 16, but due to the large number of entries expected, everyone is urged to bring exhibits on October 15, if possible.

Four thousand dollars will be paid in premiums to winning exhibitors.

Fair catalogues may be secured at the county agent's or farm bureau offices in Winnsboro and Rayville.

Dr. Sarah Frances Anders, daughter of Mrs. W. B. Hedgepeth, 715 Clayton, West Monroe, and the late E. E. Anders, is presently teaching at Mary Hardin Baylor at Belton, Tex.

Dr. Anders, who is head of the sociology department at Baylor, has taught there for three years.

She graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and received her BA degree from Louisiana Tech. Her other degrees include a master of religious education from WMU of Louisville, Ky.; a master of sociology from Florida State University of Tallahassee, and a PhD from the same university.

She was formerly music director at Quincy, Fla., for eight years before transferring to Baylor.

Sublimal Ads Now Coming To TV Programs

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—A technique for transmission of what are called "invisible" advertising messages on television and movie screens was demonstrated yesterday.

The technique is to flash the advertisements on the screen so rapidly that the viewer is not consciously aware of seeing them although they make an impression on his subconscious mind. Each ad flashed lasts only a fraction of a second.

James M. Vicary is creator of the process—called "subliminal advertising." Vicary is a young researcher and amateur psychologist who heads a firm specializing in the naming of new products.

Below Sensation

Subliminal was defined as "below the threshold of sensation or awareness." Demonstrations so far have been on movie screens.

Vicary said the technique "offerr two substantial gains to the viewing public: fewer interruptions for sponsor messages and added entertainment time."

If it should be brought into use on television, he said, the advertiser likely would advise the audience that it was about to receive subliminal advertising and then the program could proceed without breaks for commercials.

"The ad itself," he said, "would be similar to the kind of commercial viewers see during station breaks."

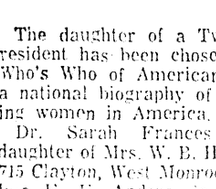
Vicary said it probably would be used mainly for "reminder advertising" of products already well known to the public.

Schiele Elected Kiwanis President

FERRIDAY (Special) — C. J. "Brer" Schiele was named president for 1958 at the election of officers at the Ferriday Kiwanis Club, Thursday night.

Also elected were R. T. Bonnette, first vice - president; J. B. Barnett, second vice-president; and E. O. "Tom" Barnard, Luther Jones, A. E. Langford, Baker Newton, Lamar Price, Ed Robertson, and E. E. Wallace, members of the board of directors.

The new officers will be installed in January.



THE AKBAR SHAH

This is one of the most famous diamonds with an interesting story, and still more interesting cutting, but whose identity has been partly lost by recutting. In this case this recutting was even more unfortunate because it lost forever the interesting inscriptions which had been engraved upon this diamond.

The story is that it once served as one of the eyes of the Peacock throne. No doubt it belonged to "Shah Jehan" and presumably to his predecessor "Akbar Shah". The Arabic inscriptions on the original stone, a fascimile of which has been preserved indicate this. Upon one of the faces of the stone, the inscription read, "Shah Akbar The Shah of the World 1039 A. H." Not to be outdone by Akbar, Shah Jehan had engraved on another face after he became the ruler this inscription. "To the Lord of two Worlds 1039 A. H. "SHAH JEHAN" This inscription provided interesting study in conceit indicative of Jehan's character, since they referred to the Akbar, as merely "The Ruler of The World" while Jehan assigns to himself the role of "The Ruler of Two Worlds."

Come by and visit with us and we will show you replica's of many of these famous diamonds of the world. And while you're in we also would like to show you some of our fine diamonds.

Our diamonds are personally graded for maximum brilliancy fire and color. Howard Bros. Jewelers, 116 DeSiard St., Monroe, Louisiana.

Little Rock Situation

On the basis of statements issued by President Eisenhower and Governor [illegible] E. Faubus of Arkansas, following their conference in Newport, R. I., there was little change in the attitude of either of these officials.

The president's statement that the supreme court should be respected by all officials should show Faubus that his defiance of federal court orders cannot be tolerated. Faubus stated again that he was not opposing integration as such and that he was merely acting in the interests of preservation of the peace by seeing that protestors were taken against violence. Each expressed gratification at the cooperative spirit shown by the other.

What the eventual outcome of the Little Rock situation and the conference between the president and the governor will be remains to be seen.

In the conference and in his previous action, Governor Faubus has demonstrated that he is a strong believer in states' rights and that he thinks enforcement of law and order is a matter in which the states should have paramount authority. Faubus' position on this is clear and he does not face the double pressure under which Eisenhower must labor.

The president has stated emphatically that he believes in states' rights. He has said he thinks the integration of Negroes into the white schools should progress slowly, so that there will be less conflict and emotion and more acceptance of a new and, to many, trying situation. On the basis of these statements, the president could be expected to urge the courts and executive officials of the government, as well as school officials and Negroes to move slowly in their efforts to obtain acceptance of Negroes in the schools with the whites.

On the other hand, Eisenhower is under tremendous political pressure from Vice-President Nixon, from Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., from an theological supreme court, and probably from Sherman Adams and the president's brother, Milton. On the basis of his own statement on states' rights, the president from opposing political forces that he is apparently under such heavy pressure cannot use his own best judgement in delaying about a slower integration process.

Nixon, highest-ranked member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is rated as the Negroes' No. 1 hero in the nation. As a politician who governs his every action, both private and public, by political expediency, he is credited with being the man applying the most pressure on President Eisenhower.

In the final analysis, Governor Faubus, who has taken a stronger stand than any yet shown by a southern governor, must demonstrate whether he really believes the rights of a governor are subject to the whims of the federal courts. If he leaves the national guard at the Little Rock school until the danger of violence engendered by forced integration is past or until he is himself violently interfered with by the federal government he will have proved that he thinks states' rights under the constitution, can prevail against federal domination. If he withdraws the troops and risks the danger of integration violence, he will have capitulated.

In that case, however, he should deserve some credit for having so strongly pointed up to the entire nation the conflict now raging as the federal government attempts to usurp states' rights.

No matter what Faubus may say about the danger of violence, the major issue is whether permanent policing powers in the various states, as well as policing powers in an emergency, shall remain with the states. It is just that. Either the federal government robs the states of their powers to do their own policing or the states retain that power.

Court Sows Wind

The Supreme Court of the United States sowed the wind when it handed down its infamous decision on May 17, 1954.

It sowed the wind when it disregarded all precedent and based its decision on evidence of psychological textbook writers, like Gunnar Myrdal, Swedish sociologist.

It sowed the wind because its decision betrayed the principle of states' rights, a principle fundamental to the form of government set up by our forefathers.

It sowed the wind because it usurped the power of Congress and attempted to legislate by judicial decree.

It sowed the wind because it ignored the customs and traditions of a great region of our land.

It sowed the wind because it created dissension where there was no dissension and strife where there was no strife.

It sowed the wind because its decision played straight into the hands of those who believe in socialism and communism, both of which philosophies thrive on division and discord among the people.

The Supreme Court sowed the wind, and we are now beginning — just beginning—to reap the whirlwind.

So far, as bad as the various incidents may seem, we are only feeling the fringe of the whirlwind. It is terrible to contemplate what we may see when the full force of the storm breaks upon us.

Those who deplore the violence we have witnessed in these fringe storms in Clinton, Tennessee and Mansfield, Kentucky and Little Rock, Arkansas and Nashville, Tennessee and other places on the edge of the storm— and it is greatly to be deplored — should not forget where to place the blame for its origin — squarely upon the shoulders of the nine justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

One of the great dangers inherent in these acts of violence is that those who deplore this violence but who at the same time know the cause of segregation is right and wise may, even so, weaken in the struggle. This would be defeatism and cowardice; it would show lack of dedication to a just cause. An army is not to be condemned because a few of its members have committed acts for which they should be courtmartialed.

All reason and logic was against any such decision as that handed down by the Court on Black Monday. It was directly contrary to the "separate but equal" ruling of the Court handed down sixty years before, a ruling under which the Negroes in this country had made more progress than Negroes had ever made in any country at any time throughout history. This arrangement was by far the best plan for both races and the great majority of both races knew it. It permitted maintenance of pride of race, without which no race ever amounts to anything.

Suppose the situation were reversed in this country; suppose there were 15 million whites and 150 million Negroes, with the whites being afforded "separate but equal" facilities. Does anyone think the whites would demand integration and the same facilities? The question answers itself. As a matter of fact, if history is any guide, we may well believe that the whites would very soon provide for themselves better than the "same" facilities!

It is difficult to assign any basis of reason for the Supreme Court decision. On the face of it, one cannot reach any other conclusion than that it had a political basis rather than a reasonable, that is, a judicial basis. It would almost seem as if the color of the robes worn by the justices had some significance!

Thus do great nations decline. That is the lesson history teaches us from the days of the Pharaohs down to the days of Washington, D. C. The control the central government now exerts over the states may by now have become so strong and the courage of the people so weak that we may find integration forced upon us. What we should now very clearly realize —and this is true regardless of our feelings on the subject — is that upon the day aintegration takes place, upon that same day disintegration sets in.

School Consolidation

Suggestions for the saving of about $12.4 million dollars a year through school consolidation and reduced spending for the school lunch program were made recently by officials of the Public Research Council at a meeting in Lafayette.

Edward J. Steimel, executive director of PAR, suggested that $2.4 million might be saved by consolidating small high schools and that another $10 million could be saved by restricting free lunches to needy children.

This plan, it was stated, might reduce the teacher requirement, since not as many would be needed for one consolidated school as for several smaller ones.

According to PAR officials, this was seen as one way of eliminating the shortage of teachers, which various school officials and those working for increased pay for teachers have termed critical. In this way the teachers not needed in the consolidated schools could be moved to other schools in which shortages of teachers existed. Thus, though the money now being spent probably would not be actually reduced, there would be a real reduction by relieving the necessity for still further increases.

Since state expenditures in Louisiana are constantly going higher, taxes must also be increased unless some way is devised for leveling off the outgo.

It has been suggested that some teachers might not like the consolidations but this might be easily be the best method for allowing the teachers to get raises. It would be easier to increase the pay of present teachers if no more were added, than it would be to add teachers and increase pay at the same time.

In administering the school lunch program, there seems to be considerable difference in the schools in different sections of the state. In some areas small sums are charged those pupils who are able to pay, while in other schools the amount charged is either smaller or there is less effort to determine which pupils are able to pay. The amount charged for lunches in schools has always been small and most parents who are able to pay would much rather pay for the lunches than to provide their own lunches for the children or to provide meals for them at home.

Whether $10 million could be saved on the lunch program in the manner suggested by the PAR officials is problematical for the reason that a good many schools are already making the changes proposed by the PAR.

Louisiana cannot continue indefinitely to spend more than it takes in. There are many who believe the intake ceiling is near and that the attack must be directed at the outgo.

Taxpayers must eventually have relief of some kind and there is no reason to think that federal aid to schools would help. In the long run, the money comes from the people and it would not make it easier if the school taxes were collected and distributed by the federal, instead of the state government.

The Public Affairs Research Council is doing a good work by looking into possible methods of saving money and its proposals should be given serious consideration in this case by school officials.

Israel, Caught In Middle, Becomes Target For Destruction By Russia

Israel is like the man in the middle. Whatever happens in the Middle East immediately affects Israel, even if two Arabic countries go after each other, as Syria is seeking to absorb Jordan at the present time. Israel has become one of Soviet Russia's targets for destruction because Soviet Russia wants no representative of Western civilization and of a high standard of living in the Arab world.

Jordan and Israel are more or less the same country, an area part of which was once called the Land of Canaan and at another time was called Palestine. Jerusalem is sacred to both Israel and Jordan and is divided between them. The river, Jordan, noted in the Bible, runs between them in the north and when Jordan was founded, it was called Transjordania. Jordan can have no national economy and therefore survives with difficulty. For years, it received a subvention from Great Britain. It could survive in a partnership with Israel; it could survive in a partnership with Saudi Arabia. It cannot survive in intimate relationship with Syria which wishes to absorb Jordan as a step toward the destruction of Israel. Syria is now a satellite of Soviet Russia which has armed the country for war against its neighbors.

Such small countries as Israel and Jordan find survival difficult while the giants maneuver to avoid war. In the present situation, Israel faces the fact that the United States, which ih supposed to be in conflict with Soviet Russia's policy, is providing Jordan with arms to fight Syria. But those arms might be diverted to fight Israel. In a word, suppose the tables were suddenly turned and Jordan and Syria combined to divide Israel. Syria would use Russian arms; Jordan would use American arms.

Israel was fairly close to taking the Suez Canal from Egypt but the United States intervened and at the suggestion of the United States, Israel retired from Egypt which it had defeated in war. At the time there was much controversy as to what price the United States paid to save the face of the United States in the Middle East. The State Department has always maintained that it made no deal, but Israel said it had. Nobody has ever believed that Israel would have given up so much for no reason whatsoever.

It is almost certain that a deal of some kind must have been made because Israel has been fairly quiescent since this particular event. Even now that the United States is arming Jordan, Israel makes but a feeble complaint, although the peril is very great. Should war break out between Syria and Jordan, Israel could be caught in a vise and the question then arises whether the United States would only protect Jordan or whether it would protect both Israel and Jordan.

The failure of American policy in Egypt and Syria is due to many causes, such as the intensification of Arab nationalism, the corruption of officials by Soviet Russia, the extreme competence amounting almost to genius of Soviet propaganda among the officers of the army and the intellectuals of all Arabic countries.

But even more significant, from the American standpoint, is the States had nothing to say to the Arabs that made any sense to them, except that we financed oil operations, where petroleum could be found, under terms that were more satisfactory to the Arabs than even they expected. However, such financing only enriches the already rich. It does not percolate down to army officers or to professors in the universities, who are the articulate elements in these countries. The Russians have made good use of the fact that the rich grow richer and the middle class grows poorer.

Morning World

It seems that the main purpose of Mr. McKeithen's being there was to talk about the Telephone Company.

He first discussed the Crowville and Fort Necessity areas. It is a known fact that those areas were scheduled to get telephone service in 1958 and would have at an earlier date, if the money had been available.

That brings up the rate decrease of intrastate long distance and 10 cent pay stations in Louisiana, which decreased the Telephone Company's earnings in Louisiana approximately 5 million dollars. Mr. McKeithen states that he alone was able to get the decreased for the people. The Telephone Company had to mail 39 and 49 cent checks to all subscribers, instead of subtracting the refunds from the monthly bills. Mr. McKeithen couldn't see it that way! Why? Who did the rate decrease help? It didn't help you or I! It helped the same selected few.

He also states before he was elected to the Commission that all the Telephone Company had to do was call Baton Rouge to secure a rate increase. I wonder what the other Commissioners have to say to that statement! Who does he think will buy that statement! He also states that while the Telephone Company was getting all those increases they weren't doing anything about expansion. He didn't tell you the company during the past seven years has been spending about 30 million dollars a year for new facilities.

He stated that the Telephone Company is the largest Company in the world. Did he tell you who owns the company? The Telephone Company is, as we all know, owned by the people.

He also states that he has some mighty good friends with the newspapers in Louisiana and most of them are honest, truthful people who try to say and do what is right. "I picked up an editorial from a large daily paper in the southern part of the state, and it said: "Poor old Telephone Company. How in the world can they get by. The mean old Public Service Commission has taken all the money away from them!" What is the meaning of that statement? Did it mean that newspapers which print articles that the Commissioner doesn't agree with are not truthful and honest in their belief? Maybe there was some other meaning?

He also said the Telephone Company management is angry at him. But he didn't tell you that each year the Telephone Company has a certain amount of capital available for expansion. Louisiana has never had enough to provide for the necessities of all the districts in the State. He didn't report how hard and how much midnight oil has been burned by telephone people in each district to get as much of this money as possible to meet the needs of the people in their district. He didn't tell you that it was in the program of this district to eliminate all rural applications for telephone service in this area by the end of 1958 if money was available. The telephone company is just as interested in serving rural people as Mr. McKeithen. Folks, if you saw all of your plans that had been worked up for years deferred because of our rate situation, you would be angry also.

He didn't tell you that the Telephone Company is obligated to the people to give them the best service possible as cheap as possible.

He didn't tell you that the Telephone Company had a great obligation to its employees in keeping up absolute job security. The Company has always maintained, and always will if humanly possible, job security of its employees. To do so, the Company has to operate on a sound financial basis.

Conditions have changed considerably since the rate decrease.

The commissioner could have foreseen a reduction in Federal income taxes. But as you know, they didn't drop. He also failed to see that the Telephone Company has been forced to allow three wage increased, and the daily increased demand for new and better service in the state.

I wonder if the Commissioner realizes he was unfair to the Telephone Company and the majority of the people in Louisiana. Is he following the old political standard, that the best stick you can use to get your name before the people is to jump on a large company? Will the common masses of people believe anything? But that old political theory is 30 years behind. The country people can all read and write.

I may be wrong, and if I am I'll apologize, but the big question in my mind is: "Is the Commissioner using the Telephone Company as a stepping stone to the Governor's office?"

Morning World

I wish to compliment and commend you for the fine educational editorials, which I have recently been privileged to read.

In today's Morning World I note, with a great amount of interest, the criticism expressed by the rank Left-winger, Republican Senator, Jacob Javits of New York concerning the Little Rock situation. This is very typical of the Left-wingers in the Republican Party or in the Democratic Party. They roar and rant, and try to exert every influence or pressure from any position they find convenient at the particular time, but they do not mention things, which are far worse than the Little Rock situation, occurring almost every day in their own States, which they are supposed to represent. Wouldn't it be far better for them to attend to the affairs of their own States and let the affairs of other States alone?

I would suggest to Senator Javits of New York, also Senator Neuberger of Oregon that they stick strictly to the job they were elected for; namely to represent the peoples of their respective States, and not try to interfere or run the affairs of any of the other sovereign States especially States in the South, of which they know nothing.

If they would do this, the entire people of the United States would be much better for it.

Other Nations Need Our Respect More Than Aid

I was reading the other day a psychiatrist's complaint that hospital patients "do not receive equal treatment."

He said the ward patients who've undergone something as routine as an appendectomy or a patched-up hernia are neglected by physicians who spend more time at the bedsides of the "interesting" cases.

This Dr. Bernard Mayer said the "neglected" patient will sometimes develop complications, actually delay his own recovery, just because he wants attention.

It reminded me how, in human relations and foreign relations, we all have a "need to be needed."

Divorce courts hear so many husbands complain, "I gave her everything!"

Giving isn't enough. She needed to be needed.

Dr. Mayer once was called to a hospital ward where a woman patient had undergone a most commonplace operation—but then had developed a most off-beat complication.

The surgeons couldn't explain it. Suspected something "mental." Summoned Dr. Mayer.

It was "mental." More accurately it was "emotional." The woman knew by the way the doctors and students passed her bed, with only a cursory glance at her chart, that she was surgically unimportant. Worse to a woman, she was "a bore."

The daily medical entourage did, however, linger long around the bedside of a serious, difficult surgical patient in the ward.

So the "neglected" woman became seriously ill herself.

Dr. Mayer advocates more emphasis in medical teaching on "attitudes of medical personnel, especially toward ward patients."

Doctors are human.

They are going to be more interested not only in the patient whose extraordinary case can contribute to their learning, but also in the prettier ones.

That is not meant to be disrespectful — just honest.

It occurred to me that our domestic relation could profit from an understanding of this human thirst for self-esteem.

And our diplomatic relations.

Our "doctors of diplomacy" have given much attention to Iraq and Arabia in recent years because we were genuinely interested in them.

Especially in their oil.

Russia was able to extend her influence into Egypt and Syria because she pretended to be interested in them - unselfishly — while we had "strolled nonchalantly past those beds" with comparative unconcern.

I don't mean we should "pass out pills" to those who don't need them. We need not "give" them anything — except self-respect.

In Asia, the terrible hunger for "face" is even more acute.

We try to buy our way in. We lavish gold and goods and weapons on them.

We treat them as beggars — when they want to be treated as friends.

We enter Syria with handfuls of money and say, "We'll help you."

Russia goes into Syria with empty hands and says, "We need you."

And Syria invites them in.

Little Rock Situation

On the basis of statements issued by President Eisenhower and Governor Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, following their conference in Newport Saturday, there was little change in the attitude of either of these officials.

The president reiterated his earlier statements that the decisions of the supreme court should be respected but that officials should show patience in carrying out integration orders. Governor Faubus stated again that he was not opposing integration as such and that he was merely acting in his capacity as chief executive of the state in seeing that precautions were taken against violence. Each expressed gratification at the cooperative spirit shown by the other.

What the eventual outcome of the Little Rock situation and the conference between the president and the governor will be remains to be seen.

In the conference and in his previous action, Governor Faubus has demonstrated that he is a strong believer in states' rights and that he thinks enforcement of law and order is a matter in which the states should have paramount authority. Faubus' position on this is clear and he does not face the double pressure under which Eisenhower must labor.

The president has stated unequivocally that he believes in states' rights. He has said he thinks the integration of Negroes into the white schools should progress slowly, so that there will be less conflict and emotion and more acceptance of a new and, to many, trying situation. On the basis of these statements, the president could be expected to urge the courts and executive officials of the government, as well as school officials and Negroes to move slowly in their efforts to obtain acceptance of Negroes in the schools with the whites.

On the other hand, Eisenhower is under tremendous political pressure from Vice-President Nixon, from Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., from an ideological supreme court, and probably from Sherman Adams and the president's brother, Milton. On the basis of his own statement on states' rights, the president from opposing political forces that he is apparently under such heavy pressure cannot use his own best judgement in bringing about a slower integration process.

Nixon, highest-ranked member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is rated as the Negroes' No. 1 hero in the nation. As a politician who governs his every action, both private and public, by political expediency, he is credited with being the man applying the most pressure on President Eisenhower.

In the final analysis, Governor Faubus, who has taken a stronger stand than any yet shown by a southern governor, must demonstrate whether he really believes the rights of a governor are subject to the whims of the federal courts. If he leaves the national guard at the Little Rock school until the danger of violence engendered by forced integration is past or until he is himself violently interfered with by the federal government he will have proved that he thinks states' rights under the constitution, can prevail against federal domination. If he withdraws the troops and risks the danger of integration violence, he will have capitulated.

In that case, however, he should deserve some credit for having so strongly pointed up to the entire nation the conflict now raging as the federal government attempts to usurp states' rights.

No matter what Faubus may say about the danger of violence, the major issue is whether permanent policing powers in the various states, as well as policing powers in an emergency, shall remain with the states. It is just that. Either the federal government robs the states of their powers to do their own policing or the states retain that power.

Court Sows Wind

The Supreme Court of the United States sowed the wind when it handed down its infamous integration decision on May 17, 1954.

It sowed the wind because it disregarded all judicial precedent and based its decision on sociological and psychological textbooks written by leftwing sympathizers.

It sowed the wind because its decision betrayed the principle of states rights, a principle fundamental to the form of government set up for us by our forefathers.

It sowed the wind because it usurped the power of Congress and attempted to legislate by judicial decree.

It sowed the wind because it ignored the customs and traditions of a great region of our land.

It sowed the wind because it created dissension where there was no dissension and strife where there was no strife.

It sowed the wind because its decision played straight into the hands of those who believe in socialism and communism, both of which philosophies thrive on division and discord among the people.

The Supreme Court sowed the wind, and we are now beginning — just beginning—to reap the whirlwind.

So far, as bad as the various incidents may seem, we are only feeling the fringe of the whirlwind. It is terrible to contemplate what we may see when the full force of the storm blows upon us.

Those who deplore the violence we have witnessed in these fringe blows in Clinton, Tennessee and Eturgis, Kentucky and Little Rock, Arkansas and Nashville, Tennessee and other places on the edge of the storm— and it is greatly to be deplored — should not forget where to place the blame for its origin — squarely upon the shoulders of the nine justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

One of the great dangers inherent in these acts of violence is that those who deplore this violence but who at the same time know the cause of segregation is right and wise may, even so, weaken in the struggle. This would be defeatism and cowardice; it would show lack of dedication to a just cause. An army is not to be condemned becuse a few of its members have committed acts for which they should be courtmartialed

All reason and logic was against any such decision as that handed down by the Court on Black Monday. It was directly contrary to the "separate but equal" ruling of the Court handed down sixty years before, a ruling under which the Negroes in this country had made more progress than Negroes had ever made in any country at any time throughout history. Does anyone think the whites would demand integration and the same facilities? The question answers itself. As a matter of fact, if history is any guide, we may well believe that the whites would very soon provide for themselves better than the "same" facilities!

The commissioner could have foreseen a reduction in Federal income taxes. But as you know, they didn't drop. He also failed to see that the Telephone Company has been forced to allow three wage increased, and the daily increased demand for new and better service in the state.

I wonder if the Commissioner realizes he was unfair to the Telephone Company and the majority of the people in Louisiana. Is he following the old political standard, that the best stick you can use to get your name before the people is to jump on a large company? Will the common masses of people believe anything? But that old political theory is 30 years behind. The country people can all read and write.

I may be wrong, and if I am I'll apologize, but the big question in my mind is: "Is the Commissioner using the Telephone Company as a stepping stone to the Governor's office?"

W. B. BRETT.

Morning World

I wish to compliment and commend you for the fine educational editorials, which I have recently been privileged to read.

In today's Morning World I note, with a great amount of interest, the criticism expressed by the rank Left-winger, Republican Senator, Jacob Javits of New York concerning the Little Rock situation. This is very typical of the Left-wingers in the Republican Party or in the Democratic Party. They roar and rant, and try to exert every influence or pressure from any position they find convenient at the particular time, but they do not mention things, which are far worse than the Little Rock situation, occurring almost every day in their own States, which they are supposed to represent. Wouldn't it be far better for them to attend to the affairs of their own States and let the affairs of other States alone?

Iwould suggest to Senator Javits of New York, also Senator Neuberger of Oregon that they stick strictly to the job they were elected for: namely to represent the peoples of their respective States, and not try to interfere or run the affairs of any of the other sovereign States especially States in the South, of which they know nothing.

If they would do this, the entire people of the United States would be much better for it.

Other Nations Need Our Respect More Than Aid

I was reading the other day a psychiatrist's complaint that hospital patients "do not receive equal treatment."

He said the ward patients who've undergone something as routine as an appendectomy or a patched-up hernia are neglected by physicians who spend more time at the bedsides of the "interesting" cases.

This Dr. Bernard Mayer said the "neglected" patient will sometimes develop complications, actually delay his own recovery, just because he wants attention.

It reminded me how, in human relations and foreign relations, we all have a "need to be needed."

Divorce courts hear so many husbands complain, "I gave her everything!"

Giving isn't enough. She needed to be needed.

Dr. Mayer once was called to a hospital ward where a woman patient had undergone a most commonplace operation—but then had developed a most off-beat complication.

The surgeons couldn't explain it. Suspected something "mental." Summoned Dr. Mayer.

It was "mental." More accurately ,it was "emotional." The woman knew by the way the doctors and students passed her bed, with only a cursory glance at her chart, that she was surgically unimportant. Worse to a woman, she was "a bore."

The daily medical entourage did ,however, linger long around the bedside of a serious, difficult surgical patient in the ward.

So the "neglected" woman became seriously ill herself.

Dr. Mayer advocates more emphasis in medical teaching on "attitudes of medical personnel, especially toward ward patients."

Doctors are human.

They are going to be more interested not only in the patient whose extraordinary case can contribute to their learning. . .but also in the prettier ones.

That is not meant to be disrespectful — just honest.

It occurred to me that our domestic relation could profit from an understanding of this human thirst for self-esteem.

And our diplomatic relations.

Our "doctors of diplomacy" have given much attention to Iraq and Arabia in recent years because we were genuinely interested in them.

Especially in their oil.

Russia was able to extend her influence into Egypt and Syria because she pretended to be interested in them - unselfishly — while we had "strolled nonchalantly past those beds" with comparative unconcern.

I don't mean we should "pass out pills" to those who don't need them. We need not "give" them anything — except self-respect.

In Asia, the terrible hunger for "face" is even more acute.

We try to buy our way in. We lavish gold and goods and weapons on them.

We treat them as beggars —when they want to be treated as friends.

We enter Syria with handfuls of money and say, "We'll help you."

Russia goes into Syria with empty hands and says, "We need you."

And Syria invites them in.

Campus Scene Of Activity For Tech's Opening Monday

RUSTON (Special) — With the Louisiana Tech campus already beginning to teem with a vanguard of early arrivals for the fall semester, the freshmen will assemble at a convocation at 8 a.m. Monday in Howard Auditorium.

Jack Salley of Springhill, president of the student senate, will preside at the opening meeting. Following an organ prelude by Roger Lawson of Ruston, the invocation will be given by Martha Gillen of Shreveport, president of the Associated Women Students. The singing of "America" will be led by Tommy Nix of Ruston.

Persons to be introduced include Mayor T. C. Beasley of Ruston and various members of the administrative staff of the college. An address of welcome will be given by Dr. R. L. Ropp, president of Tech.

The Tech "Alma Mater" will be led by Tommy Nix. Announcements will be made by Miss Mabel May, registrar, and Miss Hazel Shively, guidance director and charmaa of the orientation committee.

Following the assembly program, freshman boys will meet with Dean of Men S. X. Lewis in Howard Auditorium and the freshman girls will meet with Dean of Women Martha Condra in Adams cafeteria. Preliminary registration procedure is scheduled Monday.

A meeting of the general faculty and administrative staff is on the program for 4 p.m. Monday in Howard Auditorium.

Meetings with academic deans and department heads are booked for Tuesday morning and continued orientation and other activities are planned for that day.

Registration will begin on Wednesday and continue through Thursday. Classes will begin on Friday.

Lion's Light Bulb Sale To Open Monday

The annual "light bulb" campaign sponsored by the North Monroe Lions Club will be initiated throughout the city Monday night, Sept. 16. The project will continue each night through Thursday.

Proceeds collected from the club activity will be reinvested within the community. The funds will go to help underprivileged boys and girls, boy scouts, to buy Christmas toys, for play ground improvement, to buy eye glasses for needy children and for other numerous emergency occasions.

Lions Club President H. M. James has appointed James Benton as chairman of this year's light bulb project. The sixty members have been divided into nine teams each headed by a captain. The leaders will be Clyde Nash, H. M. James, Jack Herron, Walter Ernest, Art Johnson, Francis Shaughnessy George Levert, Frank Goulden and Gilmer Addison.

"This is the year's biggest single money raising project," according to James. All families are urged to avail themselves of universally needed household objects when club members start visiting homes Monday night.

The nine teams under the direction of their captains will work each night from 6:30 until 8:30.

Probe Slated At Grand Isle

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (UP)—An investigation of working conditions in ex-convicts Anthony Marrulo's Grand Isle bar will be made said Mrs. Ann Spence, director of the division of women and children.

Miss Betty Reardon, 37, a former barmaid, at Marrulo's bar, who quit in a dispute over wages, filed the complaint with the state department of labor after registering a complaint with Justice of the Peace Clyde W. Pregeant.

In her complaint Miss Reardon claims that she was forced to work 18 hours a day, seven days a week for $25 a week and room and board.

The ex-barmaid also stated in her petition that she had served minors and paid off on slot machines in the bar.

Blaze Destroys Houston Firm; Damage $500,000

HOUSTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fire swept through a lumber and building supply warehouse early today, causing an estimated $500,000 damage.

More than 200 firemen, with 40 pieces of equipment, battled the flames for an hour. Seven firemen were treated for injuries or smoke inhalation, but only one was hurt seriously enough to require hospital care.

Britain's Socialists Score Win

LONDON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The British Socialists today administered a crushing defeat to Prime Minister Harold MacMillan's conservative government in a by-election test hailed by Laborites as a new sign of growing conservative unpopularity among British voters.

Final results today gave laborite candidate Jack Diamond a solid 8,374-vote margin over the conservative candidate in the parliamentary by-election at Gloucester. It was 11 times the Socialist margin in the 1955 election in the district.

Labor party chiefs claimed the results indicated they could win any new general election easily, and Conservative party leaders called a hasty meeting to consider the setback.

"These results shows overwhelmingly the unpopularity of the government," Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell commented. "The people of Gloucester have shown they want a change of government."

A conservative spokesman said that the intervention of a strong liberal candidate had detracted significance from the results and argued that the anti-Socialist vote was as strong as ever.

In the Gloucester voting, Laborite Diamond polled 18,395 votes to 10,521 for Conservative Francis Dashwood and 7,393 for the Liberal party candidate, Lt. Col. Patrick Lort-Philips.

At the last general election, Laborite Moss Turner-Samuels won over the conservative candidate by only 748 votes. There was no liberal candidate at the time. Turner-Samuels died last month.

Gloucester always has been a marginal seat. Its large population of retired civil servants and army officers — who traditionally vote conservative — is counterbalanced by workers at a huge aircraft plant on the outskirts.

Retired Teachers Workshop Is Set

A workshop conducted by the Fifth District Retired Teachers is set for Thursday at the Northeast College amphitheater.

From 9:30 until 10 a.m. will be the registration period. Mrs. Lewis Slater, Miss Juanita Porter, Miss G. Faulkenheimer and Mrs. J. M. Hatch will serve coffee.

Dr. Lena DeGrummond, state supervisor of school libraries of the Louisiana Department of Education, will address the group. She is a member of the American Library Association, the Louisiana Library Association, the American Association of School libraries, the National Education Association and Delta Kappa Gamma.

After a guided tour of the college campus, lunch will be served in the cafeteria.

Today's Problems To Be Discussed

The adult group of the First Presbyterian Church which meets each Sunday evening at 6:30 is planning a series of discussions on what the Bible says about some of the pressing problems of our age. Such problems as marriage and divorce, delinquency, faith healing, racial tension and the like will be discussed beginning Sunday evening, September 15th. The discussion will be entitled, "What the Bible Says about Faith Healing."

The minister of the church, Dr. W. H. McFadden, will lead the discussion and for the basis of the discussion on faith healing Dr. Wade H. Boggs, Jr.'s book, "Faith Healing and the Christian Faith" will be used. Any adult desiring to participate in these discussions is invited.

COUNCIL HEAD — Dick Muirhead, son of Mrs. P. A. Gill, Lake Providence High School senior, is serving as president of the Student Council.

Election Soon Of Council Men

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) —Dick Muirhead, president of the Lake Providence student council announced yesterday that elections would be held soon to determine who the students' representatives to the council would be.

A boy and a girl from each of the high school grades are elected each year to represent their grade on the school's governing body. These student representatives together with the regular officers who were elected at the end of the previous school session comprise the council.

The officers are in addition to the president, Richard Perry, vice - president; Mary Lois Landrem, secretary, and Sharon Shirey, treasurer. Mrs. Jessie Jean Gill and Van Hicks are the faculty members who will work with the student council this year.

Huey Re-Elected West Carroll's ASC Chairman

OAK GROVE (Special) — O. E. Huey of Pioneer, has been elected to his third consecutive term as chairman of the West Carroll parish agriculture stabilization and conservation committee at a meeting of delegates from 11 parish communities.

C. C. McAlpin of Campbell, was elected vice - chairman; Robert Watson of Goodwill, regular member; J. C. Thomas of Fiske, first alternate member, and T. E. Lusk of Epps, second alternate member. Lusk has been serving as vice-chairman. E. J. Hodgkins is ASC administrator.

West Carroll's new committee will take office October 1.

Huey, a former parish superintendent of schools, is a prominent farmer.

Chairmen of the community committees elected in August as delegates to the parish convention included W. K. Newton of Epps, Clyde Churchwell of Darnell, V. W. Fairchild of Forest, S. A. Walter of Pioneer, Rufus Ross Green and Cecil Ainsworth of Bearskin, A. M. O'Neal of Oak Grove, Alfred Smith of Fiske, Brown Peyton of Goodwill, Tony Jones of Concord and John Kovac of Kilbourne.

Responsibilities of the committee will include determination of approved conservation practices, cotton quotas and other crop problems in the parish for the coming year.

One of the first rodeos held in America was that reported in the early 1830s by Captain Mayne Reid, an early western writer. He described a celebration in Santa Fe, New Mexico, after a roundup, in which the cowboys "contest with each other for the best roping and throwing."

Legionnaires To Hear Boys Monday Night

All 1957 Boy Staters and their parents have been invited to attend the meeting of L. B. Faulk Post 13 of the American Legion on Monday night, at which time the youths will report on Pelican Boys State at Baton Rouge this summer.

Sam Orchard, Fifth District chairman of the Legion Boys State, will make the principal address, and refreshments will be served.

The meeting Monday is first in the series to be held during the coming year as planned at a recent meeting of officers of the post. The schedule calls for the first meeting of each month to be devoted to business, and the second meeting to a program of interest to all Legionnaires.

Morris Haas, vice-commander, reminds that 1958 memberships now are being accepted and the $5.50 dues should be mailed in at the earliest convenience. October 21 is this year's membership campaign deadline, and reports to the Louisiana Department headquarters must be in before the November 11 judging date.

The annual membership barbecue will be held at the Legion Home on Forsythe Avenue, October 21.

The L. B. Faulk Post will have available this year the flag kits of which more than 200 were sold during the past 12 months to residents of the Twin Cities. These kit, contain a three-foot by five foot flag complete with six-foot jointed pole and mounting bracket, suitable for home display.

Oak Grove High On Short Daily Class Schedule

OAK GROVE (Special) — Oak Grove High School which opened its 1957-58 term on Wednesday, will operate on a "short" schedule for the first few weeks.

This program is being followed to benefit growers in the harvesting of their cotton crop.

A total of 409 pupils registered in the first grade through the sixth, and 437 in the seventh through twelfth grades, for a total of 846. The faculty consists of 33 teachers, including Principal D. W. McBride, and eight lunchroom employes.

Classes dismiss daily at 1:05 p.m.

Throughout West Carroll Parish, a total of 3,204 white students and 577 Negro students enrolled in their respective schools for the new term. B. F. Barron, visiting teacher, reported that not all the pupils have registered yet.

Crosley PTA Sets Year's Program

"Spotlighting the Home" will be the basis of programs to be presented by the Crosley Jarrett Teachers' Association during the coming year. Selection of this subject was made at a meeting of the executive committee last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bedenbender.

Another matter of business discussed was the re - writing of the unit's by - laws. Several items were changed as a recommendation that the proposed alterations be presented to the unit membership was accepted.

Mrs. Bedenbender is president of the Crosley P.-T. A. Others in attendance at the meeting were Mrs. J. T. Edmonds, Jr., vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. W. E. Hux, secretary; Mrs. T. C. Cockerham, Mrs. Raymond Foote, Mrs. W. E. Briggs, Mrs. Floyd Temple, Mrs. S. R. Jones, Mrs. W. T. Spurlock, G. C. Bedenbender and T. C. Cockerham.

The L. B. Faulk Post will have available this year the flag kits of which more than 200 were sold during the past 12 months to residents of the Twin Cities. These kits contain a three-foot by five-foot flag complete with six-foot jointed pole and mounting bracket, suitable for home display.

Oak Grove High On Short Daily Class Schedule

OAK GROVE (Special) — Oak Grove High School which opened its 1957-58 term on Wednesday, will operate on a "short" schedule for the first few weeks.

This program is being followed to benefit growers in the harvesting of their cotton crop.

A total of 408 pupils registered in the first grade through the sixth, and 437 in the seventh through twelfth grades, for a total of 845. The faculty consists of 33 teachers, including Principal D. W. McBride, and eight lunchroom employes.

Classes dismiss daily at 1:05 p.m.

Throughout West Carroll Parish, a total of 3,204 white students and 577 Negro students enrolled in their respective schools for the new term. B. F. Barron, visiting teacher, reported that not all the pupils have registered yet.

Crosley PTA Sets Year's Program

'Spotlighting the Home" will be the basis of programs to be presented by the Crosley Jarent-Teachers Association during the coming year. Selection of this subject was made at a meeting of the executive committee last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bedenbender.

Another matter of business discussed was the re - writing of the unit's by - laws. Several items were changed as a recommendation that the proposed alterations be presented to the unit membership was accepted.

Mrs. Bedenbender is president of the Crosley P.-T. A. Others in attendance at the meeting were Mrs. J. T. Edmonds, Jr., vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. W. E. Hux, secretary; Mrs. T. C. Cockerham, Mrs. Raymond Foote, Mrs. W. E. Briggs, Mrs. Floyd Temple, Mrs. S. R Jones, Mrs. W. T. Spurlock, G. C. Bedenbender and T. C. Cockerham.

Feeder Airlines Get Chance For Equipment Assistance

By VERNON LOUVIERE
(Special Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — The Administration's plan [illegible] feeder airlines — [illegible] — has been approved by President Eisenhower despite objections from the department of commerce and treasury department. The Budget Bureau and Civil Aeronautics Board, however, favored the bill.

The treasury department took the position that no new loan guaranty programs should be approved except under conditions of extreme urgency. With the present heavy demand for available credit, it was noted, nothing should be done to add unnecessarily to this demand.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks argued that such loans would be helpful and would be repaid. They would be secured by mortgages on the planes and by assignments of subsidies. Also, he said, [illegible] business [illegible] to [illegible] a part of [illegible] transportation problems.

Hurls Charge Against U. S. News Policies

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (UP) — The propaganda voice of Red China said today that the United States assigned news correspondents "tasks that would interfere in China's internal affairs" when it gave them permission to enter the Communist-held mainland.

The Red Chinese government had charged earlier that the United States wanted to use the correspondents as "spies."

The latest charge was made in a broadcast by Radio Peiping, which quoted the Peiping people's daily, Red China's official newspaper.

An "observer" in the newspaper commented on Communist China's proposal that American and Red Chinese newsmen be allowed to enter each other's country on a reciprocal basis. The U.S. has rejected this idea, but said it would consider visa applications from Red Chinese correspondents on an individual basis.

In commenting on this, the Communist writer said:

"It seems that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is still dreaming of the old Sino-American relations which existed before the founding of new China when American aggressors enjoyed all principles of international law.

"Insulting and provocative is the minimum principle to be observed in all international exchanges," he said. "The United States has no reason whatsoever to reject this principle."

Shrine Circus Will Feature 24 Big Acts

Twenty - four big acts will be presented in this year's El Karubah Temple's Shrine Circus, sponsored by the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club, it is announced by Circus Chairman Hugh Tolbert. Matinee and evening performances will be staged Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28 at 3:30 p. m. and 8 p. m., Monroe.

Again this year, Clyde Brothers Circus has been employed to produce the show. New and bigger acts have been added. Eight animal acts highlighted by Animal Fantasy, a mixed animal act including camels, llamas and zebras and Captain Davis Hoover and his fighting lions will be presented.

Other feature acts include: The Wallenda family, highwire performers who appeared with the show last year; Billy Barton, aerialist with two other cloud swings. There will also be trapeze artists, jugglers, trampoline performers and clowns galore.

Howard W. Saesz, owner of Clyde Brothers Circus, relates: "This is a good show and one that all the people of north Louisiana will be proud to see. We are running the acts together and the only single acts will be — the bears, the elephants, the lions, the teeterboard and the highwire."

Nobles of El Karubah Temple will have 11 big days of circus business. First show will be staged at matinee in Lake Charles on Monday with four performances crowded in on two days. After the last show is concluded on Tuesday, Clyde Brothers will move to State Fair Youth Building, Shreveport, where matinee and evening performances will be staged from September 13 through 21 with the grand finale at a matinee next Sunday.

From Shreveport, the big show will converge on Winnfield where matinee and evening performances are booked for Monday, September 23. Tuesday, September 24, the big show will be presented at Natchitoches with two performances. These four shows are sponsored by the Natchitoches Shrine Club.

After a two - day lay-off period, Saesz will take in extra circus performances on Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28. This will be sponsored by Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club of Monroe.

Three local high school bands will lead a downtown parade Thursday, Sept. 26 at 3:15 p. m.

IN FUTURE WARFARE

Military Leaders Foresee Changes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)— The Defense Department will celebrate Tuesday the 10th anniversary of armed forces "unification"—a sort of shotgun marriage that has stood the tests of war and inter-service bickering.

The nation's military leaders looked ahead today to a new decade which will change radically the means of warefare and the force, organized to wage it.

But the missile-dominated future was widely conceded to promise more of the same feuds over missions, budgets and weapons. No responsible Pentagon official predicts a new era of true service unity. Few service leaders want it.

Began in 1947

Unification of the armed forces under a single Cabinet head began on Sept. 17, 1957, when former President Harry Truman installed the late James V. Forrestal as the first secretary of defense.

In a statement today the Defense Department pointed out that Forrestal had opposed unification and agreed "reluctantly" to confederation of the services under a single department. But within a year he was appealing to Congress to strengthen the secretary's powers over the sprawling military establishment. Ever since, the powers of the secretary of defense over the military departments have been increasing.

Ten years ago, the Defense Department had 1,583,000 men in uniform, 359,142 civilian employes, and an annual spending rate of 11 billion dollars. Today it has 2,560,000 in uniform, 1,161,000 civilian employes, and spends 38 billion dollars a year.

In 10 years Congress has appropriated $327,570,000 for the armed forces and they have spent $237,518,000,000.

Embroiled in Controversy

At the very outset, the Defense Department became embroiled in a controversy which is still at the heart of most interservice arrangements.

The Air Force, split off from the Army and made an equal service in 1947, began its famed campaign in Congress for a strength of 70 groups, now called wings. The fight dramatized the differences between those who believed the nation should put chief reliance on air retaliatory power and those who, like Forrestal, wanted "balanced" forces. To Forrestal that meant shielding the defense dollar supply, which would have been impossible under the Air Force's proposal.

So, while Congress ordered the 70-group plan, it did not come about because Truman would not spend the money.

Feeder Airlines Get Chance For Equipment Assistance

By VERNON LOUVIERE
(Special Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — The Nation's feeder airlines — short haul carriers which serve home - town airfields — have been given a big opportunity to bring their old equipment up to date under a bill just signed by President Eisenhower.

This legislation enables the 28 feeder lines to borrow up to $5,000,000 to start replacing old and uneconomical aircraft with new and more efficient equipment.

Under the bill the Civil Aeronautics Board is authorized to guarantee up to 90 per cent of these loans from private lending institutions which are repayable in 10 years.

The feeder lines have been operating principally with the old "workhorse" of commercial aviation, the 21 - year - old DC - 3, which many agree has turned in an excellent performance record, but has outlived its usefullness.

"This legislation will assure the delivery of fast, pressurized aircraft designed for scheduled feeder service beginning early next year," according to Joseph P. Adams, general counsel for the Ass ciation of Local and Territorial Airlines.

Link With Hubs

"In the fast approaching supersonic age, these airlines will link the smaller communities with the jet hubs at big cities."

Significant is the fact that the short haul airlines cost the Federal government some $30 million a year in subsidies. By helping them buy new and more eco- lieves these high subsidies can be materially reduced and in time even eliminated.

The DC - 3 is literally a museum piece since one of its type has already been retired and set aside for exhibition in the Smithsonian Institute. They were the backbone of early commercial flying, but rising operating costs have turned many into white elephants.

It has space for only 21 to 28 seats and is not suitable for the full development of the cargo - traffic potential. Also, it is not pressurized which affects the comfort of passengers and limits its ability to fly at higher altitudes.

Availab`e Soon

New aircraft now under production and costing in the neighborhood of $600,000 will be available early next year. With a $5,000,000 loan each of the feeder lines would be in a position to acquire about eight of these new planes. These new turboprop transports will be able to carry up to 40 passengers and operate short to medium - range routes.

A Congressional committee noted that modernization of the feeder lines' equipment has definite connection with national defense. These airlines will have a mobilzation potential for emergencies when speed and readiness may be required to move thousands of persons on short notices. The trunk airlines already have hundreds of long - range aircraft in the civil reserve air fleet as new short haul equipment could be added to this growing transport force.

President Eisenhower signed the legislation despite objections from the department of commerce and treasury department. The Budget Bureau and Civil Aeronautics Board, however, favored the bill.

The treasury department took the position that no new loan guaranty programs should be approved except under conditions of extreme urgency. With the present heavy demand for available credit, it was noted, nothing should be done to add unnecessarily to this demand.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks argued that such loans would be justified if it would be proved they would be sufficient to help the feeder lines go completely off subsidies. Also, he said, these carriers have not been in business long enough to determine a pattern of their long - range financing problems.

Gov. Coleman To Begin To Describe Changes

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 14 (AP) — Gov. J. P. Coleman begins Monday to describe his recommendations for changes designed to modernize the state's Constitution of 1890.

The governor has labeled the Constitution "ox-cart law in a jet age."

For the first time in his months-long campaign to win support for his plan to hold a constitutional convention next year, Coleman will spell out what he said were some of the more important reasons "why we so desperately need a new constitution."

He plans a series of television appearances beginning Monday over WTWV Tupelo and WMCT Memphis, Tenn., 8:30 9 p.m., to explain his recommendations.

During last night's television speech, he said his proposals might not be considered by the convention delegates but he would recommend them for consideration.

Under state law, the new constitution would be drafted by delegates elected by the people and then submitted to a popular vote for ratification.

Meanwhile, the Committee of 25, a group of legislators opposing a constitutional convention, issued a statement saying in part:

"The Committee of 25 has no statement concerning Gov. Coleman's television speech his week because the speech revealed no need for a constitutional convention and we are sure the intelligent people of Mississippi fully realize that not one of the regrettable conditions he referred to in his talk were caused by provisions of our tried and tested present Constitution."

Coleman has mentioned several proposed changes, including sweeping changes in the justice of the peace court system, separation of sheriff and tax assessor duties and more adequate provisions for industry.

He plans television appearances on: WCBI Columbus, 8:30 9 p.m., Sept. 17; WLBT Jackson and WDAM Hattiesburg, 8:30-9 p.m. Sept. 18; and WTOK Meridian, 7:30-8 p.m., and WJTV Jackson, 8:30—9 p.m., Sept. 20.

Coleman has called the Legislature into special session Nov. 4 to consider a constitutional convention next September.

Both Coleman and the Committee of 25 claim a majority of legislators favor their positions in the issue.

In other political activity this week, a third name was added to those seeking to campaign for governor in 1959.

Chairman Rubel Phillips of the Public Service Commission revealed his plans to run for governor in the Democratic primary elections.

In a letter to Chairman Gray Evans of the executive committee of the Young Democrats of Mississippi, Phillips resigned his position on the committee.

The other two avowed candidates are Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin of Laurel, who lost his bid to unseat Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss) in 1954; and Ross Barnett, Jacskon attorney and twice-defeated candiate for governor.

Britian Explodes Nuclear Weapon In Australia Wastes

ADELAIDE, Australia, Sept. 14 (AP)—The wastes of Australia's heartland reverberated to the sounds of a nuclear explosion today, the first in a new series by British scientists at the Maralinga Testing Grounds.

The British, assisted by Australian and Canadian scientists and servicemen, fired the atomic device from a tower. More than 1,000 men helped to prepare for the explosion, the exact nature of which was kept secret.

Test director Charles A. Adams notified Australian Defense Minister Howard Beale the explosion was a success and that the weather insured no risk to people or livestock. That was the extent of the official release. No reporters or other observers attended the test.

A pilot on Australia's Flying Doctor Service, 290 miles from Maralinga, reported his plane was buffeted for 10 minutes after the explosion. Valiants and Canberra bombers were used to check the path of the fallout.

The presence of Valiants indicates an airdrop explosion of an atomic device may be scheduled.

Hurls Charge Against U. S. News Policies

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (UP)— The propaganda voice of Red China said today that the United States assigned news correspondents "tasks that would interfere in China's internal affairs" when it gave them permission to enter the Communist-held mainland.

The Red Chinese government had charged earlier that the United States wanted to use the correspondents as "spies."

The latest charge was made in a broadcast by Radio Peiping, which quoted the Peiping people's daily, Red China's official newspaper.

An "observer" in the newspaper commented on Communist China's proposal that American and Red Chinese newsmen be allowed to enter each other's country on a reciprocal basis. The U.S. has rejected this idea, but said it would consider visa applications from Red Chinese correspondents on an individual basis.

In commenting on this, the Communist writer said:

"It seems that (Secretary of State John Foster) Dulles is still dreaming of the old Sino-American relations which existed before the founding of new China when American arrogance refused all principles of international law.

"Equality and reciprocity is the minimum principle to be observed in all international exchanges," he said. "The United States has no reason whatsoever to reject this principle."

TESTING

WATERTOWN, N.Y. —(UP)— John E Soderquist told police the burglars who broke into his sporting goods store evidently wanted to make sure their loot was okay. The thieves, who stole seven guns, five knives and 67 boxes of ammunition, test-fired the guns inside the store.

N. O. Publisher To Be Awarded

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (UP)— Publisher John F. Tims has been selected to receive the fourth annual Weiss award, given annually to the person who significantly promotes the spirit of broterhood.

The award is presented by the New Orleans chapter of the National Conference of Christians Jews.

Tims is president and publisher of the Times-Picayune Publishing Co.

Hot Pepper Eating Contest Scheduled At New Iberia, La.

NEW IBERIA, La., Sept. 14 (UP)—The Ancient Order of Creole Gourmets announced that the feverish second annual world hot pepper eating competition will be held at the Dulcoti plantation Oct. 5.

The sponsors said the contest will be held during the Order's annual re-union dinner, and that women would be allowed to enter the 1957 competition. For the first time, femme fatales of the pepper patch will be allowed to match asbestos plates with the men.

The world championship title was won last year by Edwin E. (Hot Mouth) Taylor of St. Martinville, La., who burned out a field of district champions from several states.

The gourmets said (Hot Mouth) Taylor, who gulped the fiery hot peppers like bonbons, had not announced whether he will defend his title or not.

"How he'll feel about the invasion of women into a man's field is a moot question," said the gourmets. The contenders are required to chew their way through heats of progressively hotter peppers.

The Ancient Order of Creole Gourmets stages the event annually to emphasize the value of the proper spieces in foods.

Almost half of the 2,700,000 tourists who traveled to Spain last year arrived by car.

Shrine Circus Will Feature 24 Big Acts

Twenty - four big acts will be presented in this year's El Karubah Temple's Shrine Circus, sponsored by the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club, it is announced by Circus Chairman Hugh Tolbert. Matinee and evening performances will be staged Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28 at 3:30 p. m. and 8 p. m., Monroe.

Again this year, Clyde Brothers Circus has been employed to produce the show. New and bigger acts have been added. Eight animal acts highlighted by Animal Fantasy, a mixed animal act including camels, llamas and zebras and Captain Davis Hoover and his fighting lions will be presented.

Other feature acts include: The Wallenda family, highwire performers who appeared with the show last year; Billy Barton, aerialist with two other cloud swings. There will also be trapeze artists, jugglers, trampoline performers and clowns galore.

Howard W. Suesz, owner of Clyde Brothers Circus relates: "This is a good show and one that all the people of north Louisiana will be proud to see. We are running the acts together and the only single acts will be — the bears, the elephants, the lions, the teeterboard and the highwire."

Nobles of El Karubah Temple will have 11 big days of circus business. First show will be staged at matinee in Lake Charles on Monday with four performances crowded into two days. After the last show is concluded on Tuesday, Clyde Brothers will move to State Fair Youth Building, Shreveport, where matinee and evening performances will be staged from September 18 through 21 with the grand finale at a matinee next Sunday.

From Shreveport, the big show will converge on Winnfield where matinee and evening performances are booked for Monday, September 23. Tuesday, September 24, the big show will be presented at Natchitoches with two performances. These four shows are sponsored by the Natatosh Shrine Club.

After a two - day idle period, Suesz will take his entire circus to Monroe for matinee and evening performances on Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28. This will be sponsored by Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club of Monroe.

Three local high school bands will lead a downtown parade Thursday, Sept. 26 at 3:15 p. m.

IN FUTURE WARFARE

Military Leaders Foresee Changes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)— The Defense Department will celebrate Tuesday the 10th anniversary of armed forces "unification"—a sort of shotgun marriage that has stood the tests of war and inter-service bickering.

The nation's military leaders looked ahead today to a new decade which will change radically the means of warefare and the forces organized to wage it.

But the missile-dominated future was widely conceded to promise more of the same feuds over missions, budgets and weapons. No responsible Pentagon official predicts a new era of true service unity. Few service leaders want it.

Began in 1947

Unification of the armed forces under a single Cabinet head began on Sept. 17, 1957, when former President Harry Truman installed the late James V. Forrestal as the first secretary of defense.

In a statement today the Defense Department pointed out that Forrestal had opposed unification and agreed "reluctantly" to confederation of the services under a single department. But within a year he was appealing to Congress to strengthen the secretary's powers over the sprawling military establishment. Ever since, the powers of the secretary of defense over the military departments have been increasing.

Ten years ago, the Defense Department had 1,583,000 men in uniform, 859,142 civilian employes, and an annual spending rate of 11 billion dollars. Today it has 2,800,000 in uniform, 1,161,000 civilian employes, and spends 38 billion dollars a year.

In 10 years Congress has appropriated $327,530,000 for the armed forces and they have spent $237,518,000,000.

Embroiled in Controversy

At the very outset, the Defense Department became embroiled in a controversy which is still at the heart of most inter-services arguments.

The Air Force, split off from the Army and made an equal service in 1947, began its famed campaign in Congress for a strength of 70 groups, now called wings. The fight dramatized the differences between those who believed the nation should put chief reliance on air retaliatory power and those who, like Forrestal, wanted "balanced" forces. To Forrestal that meant dividing the defense dollar equally, which would have been impossible under the Air Force's proposal.

So, while Congress endorsed the 70-group plan, it did not come about because Truman would not spend the money.

Benson Feed For Democrats In Campaign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP) — Democrats grinned in political delight today at President Eisenhower's apparent decision to ride along with Secretary of Agriculture Benson through the 1958 congressional campaign.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said Benson's Friday announcement that Eisenhower and he have agreed he shall continue indefinitely in the Cabinet "leaves only the farmers to be checked."

"Judging from the sorry mess into which the secretary has steered administration farm policies, Mr. Benson is likely to be our secret weapon in 1958," Mansfield said.

'Bad News'

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) observed in a separate interview that Benson's announcement "is bad news for the American farmer."

Democrats generally believe that by attacking Benson's policies they can increase their Senate and House strength in the agricultural Middle West, once the stronghold of the Republicans.

However, Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said he was convinced after two days of talking to farmers in North Dakota on a recent trip that there is an underlying understanding of what Benson is trying to do.

"North Dakota is a hotbed of farmers union activity and there has been a lot of criticism of the secretary there," Bennett said. "But in talking to the farmers I found the general reaction was that Benson was right in seeking a solution of the farm problem on the basis of something other than subsidies.

"The farmers seemed to think this thing had to be done but that the administration or Benson had been inept in selling the necessity for it.

"The Democrats left a farm program when they went out of office. With a Democratic controlled Congress, Benson hasn't had a free hand or a full opportunity to demonstrate that his ideas will work."

Benson has been under fire from Democrats for what they contend is the administration's failure to act with low farm prices in an era when other segments of the economy are in a spiral of inflation.

Morrison Talks On Race Mix

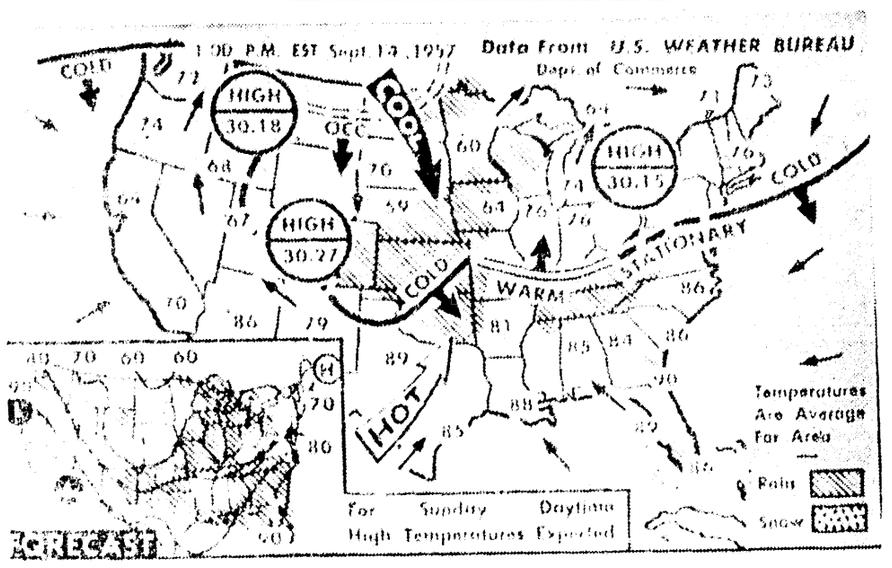
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 14 (AP)—Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans said today that even with integration taking place there will "never be more than three or four per cent of the Negro population in integrated schools and parks."

Morrison, in Chattanooga for the Conference of Southeastern State Presidents of the Reserve Officers Assn., said he based his estimate on observations he has made of the city of New Orleans.

Although New Orleans recently was ordered to allow Negroes the use of city golf courses, the mayor said "only one or two use the city courses but their own golf courses are patronized by hundreds of Negroes each day."

Morrison added "if the extremists (on both sides) leave us in the South alone, we will not have too much difficulty. We will tackle each problem as it comes up, and will solve them all."

He said he would "rather not pass judgment" on Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus' use of National Guardsmen to prevent integration at Little Rock Central High School.



WEATHER FORECAST — Scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected today from eastern New Mexico eastward to the South Atlantic coast. Rain will be widespread in Ohio and Mississippi Valleys and Great Lakes region with showers likely also in Wyoming and New England. Temperatures will be cooler for Middle Atlantic states and Northern Plains; warmer from Utah to Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Girl Scout Special Training Session Arranged In Area

Girl Scout District and Neighborhood chairmen representing 11 parishes of the Silver Waters Council will have the opportunity to attend special training sessions Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Mrs. Boyd Arthur, of Germantown, Tenn., who is a member of the Dixie Regional Committee and is Chairman of the Regional Camp Committee, will conduct the courses.

Two sessions for the chairmen will be held, one in Monroe and one in Tallulah, so that attendance will not be difficult.

On Tuesday, the District and Neighborhood chairmen will meet from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Girl Scout office at 513 Breard street, Monroe. At 7 that night, the Finance Committee will hold its meeting in Bastrop.

The Membership - Nominating Committee will have a session from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Monroe office on Friday. Mrs. Arthur will then drive to Tallulah, to conduct another course for District and Neighborhood chairmen from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in Ruston. This session will mainly be for the benefit of Madison, Tensas, West Carroll and East Carroll parish members.

Board to Meet

At 7 p.m. Friday, board members will meet in Tallulah. The final day of the training will be Saturday, when board members meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Monroe office.

The board is composed of 18 members, including six district chairmen, who are nominated by their district and then elected by the board, six committee chairmen, and six officers, so that there is equal geographic representation.

Neighborhood chairmen are volunteers, and are nominated by adult Girl Scouts in their neighborhoods. These chairmen carry on the direct work with the scout troops.

Monroe has three neighborhoods, one in the College section, one on the Northside, and one on the Southside. West Monroe has two neighborhoods.

Mrs. Arthur is well qualified to conduct the training course, which will be helpful to both new chairmen and those already active in scouting activities.

She has been working in Girl Scouting for several years and was president of the Tenn-Ark. Miss. Girl Scout Council in Memphis, Tenn. for two terms.

During the summer of 1956, she took a course in "Training of Administrative Personnel" at the Edith Macy Training School in Pleasantville, N. Y. She is also serving as member of the 1958 Regional Conference Program Committee.

SCOUT INSTRUCTOR—Mrs. Boyd Arthur will conduct training for District and Neighborhood Chairmen and Board Members of the Silver Waters Girl Scout Council next Thursday through Saturday. Sessions will be held in Monroe, Tallulah and Bastrop.

IN OUACHITA

Dean W. M. Smith Heart Fund Head

Dean William M. Smith of Northeast State has been named Ouachita Parish Heart Fund chairman, Mrs. George Forman, head of the parish Heart Council, announced yesterday.

His selection was based on interest and accomplishments in professional and civic groups in various sections of the state, Mrs. Forman said.

Prior to Dean Smith's appointment to the Northeast faculty in 1952, he worked in Baton Rouge with Key Club International as a Kiwanis project, and he has served in Monroe on the Y.M.C.A. Board and with the Guidance Clinic.

He is a board member of the Southern Council in Teacher Education, a section of the Southern Secondary Schools, a member of the United Schools Committee of Louisiana, and he also has held offices in sectional groups of the Louisiana Teachers Association.

DEAN WILLIAM SMITH

Numerous Articles

The dean has contributed numerous articles to a variety of periodicals, including Louisiana Schools, the LTA Journal, Health and Physical Education Association Magazine, and others. His works are found in many bulletins published by the Louisiana State Department of Education and State Welfare, a State Department of Public Welfare publication.

Presently he is writing "A Study of Practices in Accounting Teacher Education Programs in the United States," a work which will serve as a dissertation in completing requirements for the doctor of philosophy degree at Louisiana State University.

He also received the bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from LSU, where he studied during the past school year while he was granted a sabbatical leave from Northeast.

Before joining the local college faculty, Dean Smith had experience several years of teaching and administrative work. He taught in public schools of the state, was supervisor of health and physical education in Rapides Parish, and instructor in education at Northwestern State College, assistant professor of education at Louisiana State University, and Parish and State specialist in teacher education in Europe during the summer of 1950.

He holds the position of dean of the college and head of teacher education at Northeast.

Professional organizations with which he is affiliated include Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Phi Kappa, Order of the Bell, Red Rose, National Education Association, and Louisiana Teachers Association.

all vote. Shall they keep it or return it?" He counted hands that went up. The majority had voted for its being kept.

Practical

Something practical and which should prove of deepest interest to those participating, will comprise a discussion of the Bible's attitude as concerns many problems that are disturbing the world today. Starting at 6:30 p.m. today at the First Presbyterian church in Monroe, the study and open discussions will take place.

Rev. W. H. McFadden, pastor, will read from the scriptures and will lead discussion on such subjects as birth control, marriage and divorce, and in their series at later Sunday night sessions such things as racial relations will be discussed.

All interested adults are cordially invited to attend and participate in discussions.

Newspapers

Mrs. Austin Miller, 311 Lakeside drive, member of the newly formed historical society, read with interest in his column Saturday of the early newspapers that were issued in Monroe. Quite surprisingly she phoned the office that she had half a hundred copies — perhaps more — of the Ouachita Telegraph and Bulletin dating back to 1939.

These she produced when the local historical society met here yesterday.

Sigler would give no other details nor elaborate on why investigators are holding the two prisoners he named.

There has been no hint of a motive. Aldrich, serving a life term and nine years for murder and armed robbery, was convicted with Ollie Dixon, another prisoner in the 1950 slaying of Fred Landrum after the victim reportedly talked about an escape attempt.

Gros was serving five years for habitual theft in Jefferson Parish.

The families claimed the bodies today. Aldrich was from Clarks, Gros from Marrero.

"All we can say," the warden told newsmen, "is that we're going back over the whole thing again because we want to be certain we know what we're doing."

Sigler is a former federal prison official who was imported during the previous state administration during prison reform. Sigler was kept on the job with full backing of Gov. Earl Long.

Dist. Atty. Richard Kilbourne and Sheriff W. C. Percy of West Feliciana Parish, who assisted in the investigation of prisoners afraid to talk, said Sigler would make any announcement.

Man Hospitalized After Fight Here

A fight at the corner of Sixth street and DeSiard at 8:45 last night put one man in St. Francis hospital, and another in the city jail.

Frank Evans of 502 Morrison avenue was rushed to the hospital by Mulhearn ambulance. He suffered four cuts on the face and one bad laceration on the back of the head. After treatment, he was admitted for observation.

Ed Bynum, 52, of Jonesboro, was arrested annd charged with committing battery on Evans.

Plan To Swap Ancestral Data Approved At Society Meeting

At a meeting of the Louisiana Genealogical and Historical society here yesterday members approved a resolution to swap ancestral information with the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. St. John Chilton, state president of the organization, pointed out the DAR had offered to exchange information obtained from markets in cemeteries throughout the state for the society's family Bible records.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sanders of Baton Rouge, editor of the Louisiana Genealogical Register, announced a state meeting on history and genealogy to be held on the LSU campus January 10 and 11. "The society can expect assistance from the LSU history department for the occasion and the panels and meetings are open to interested persons and all members of the society," Mrs. Sanders added. She said such subjects as the different national groups which settled in Louisiana would be discussed as well as the problems encountered in making out a family tree.

Mrs. Addie Leckie, member of the Ouachita Parish chapter of the society, presented a report of progress made by the local organization since its founding last year. She expressed appreciation for the newspaper's carrying of the column "Past and Present," and to Northeast State for furnishing space for the meetings. "We have many more items than we have space for," Mrs. Leckie declared. "People have sent or offered to send everything from side saddles to the original Post Office of Caldwell Parish — all of which we hope to put into a complete museum someday," she said.

List Compiled

Miss Katherine Chinn Colbert of Shreveport reported her chapter of the society had compiled a list of families members desired to be traced and had placed the listing in the public library there. "In this manner, we have a centrally located place to serve those persons wishing to trace or contribute to certain family histories," she stated.

Fred M. Culver of Monroe presented views on how to increase the organization's membership. He further emphasized the concern of the group for records in family Bibles and the importance of making true copies of these.

Mrs. Amos E. Neff of Covington, state curator, pointed out either photostats or outright copies—including errors—were necessary in "certified true copies." Mrs. Neff stated authorization for a place to house state archives had been granted but that the legislature had not as yet appropriated any funds for the project.

Approximately 30 persons attended the meeting which included representatives from Monroe and West Monroe, Shreveport, Baton Rouge, Covington, Natchez and Sondheimer.

IN OUACHITA

Dean W. M. Smith Heart Fund Head

Dean William M. Smith of Northeast State has been named Ouachita Parish Heart Fund chairman, Mrs. George Forman, head of the parish Heart Council, announced yesterday.

His selection was based on interest and accomplishments in professional and civic groups in various sections of the state, Mrs. Forman said.

Prior to Dean Smith's appointment to the Northeast faculty in 1952, he worked in Baton Rouge with Key Club International as a Kiwanis project, and he has served in Monroe on the Cancer Board and with the Guidance Clinic.

He is a board member of the Southern Council on Teacher Education, a section of the Southern Secondary Schools, a member of the United Schools Committee of Louisiana, and he also has held offices in sectional groups of the Louisiana Teachers Association.

DEAN WILLIAM SMITH

Numerous Articles

The dean has contributed numerous articles to a variety of periodicals, including Louisiana Schools, the LTA journal, Health and Physical Education Association Magazine, and others. Hiss works are found in many bulletins published by the Louisisana State Department of Education and Sight Welfare, a State Department of Public Welfare publication.

Presently he is writing "A Study of Practices in Accrediting Teacher Education Programs in the United States," a work which will serve as a dissertation in completing requirements for the doctor of philosophy degree at Louisiana State University.

He also received the bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from LSU, where he studied during the past school year while he was granted a sabbatical leave from Northeast.

Before joining the local college faculty, Dean Smith had experienced several years of teaching and administrative work. He taught in public schools of the state, was supervisor of high schools in Rapides Parish, and instructor in education at Northwestern State College, assistant professor of education at Louisiana State University, and United States specialist in teacher education to Europe during the summer of 1950.

He holds the position of dean of the college and head of teacher education at Northeast.

Professional organizations with which he is affiliated include Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Phi Kappa, Order of the Red, Red Rose, National Education Association, and Louisiana Teachers Association.

Practical

Something practical and which should prove of deepest interest to those participating, will comprise a discussion of the Bible's attitude as concerns many problems that are disturbing the world today. Starting at 6:30 p.m. today at the First Presbyterian church in Monroe, the study and open discussions will take place.

Rev. W. H. McFadden, pastor, will read from the scriptures and will lead discussion on such subjects as faith healing, marriage and divorce, and in ther series at later Sunday night sessions such things as racial relations will be discussed.

All interested adults are cordially invited to attend and participate in discussions.

Newspapers

Mrs. Austin Miller, 311 Lake side drive, member of the newly formed historical society, read with interest in this column Saturday of the early newspapers that were issued in Monroe. Quite surprisingly she phoned the office that she had half a hundred copies - perhaps more — of the Ouachita Telegraph and Bulletin dating back to 1880.

These she produced when the local historical society met here yesterday.

Sigler would give no other details nor elaborate on why investigators are holding the two prisoners he named.

There has been no hint of a motive. Aldrich, serving a life term and nine years for murder and armed robbery, was convicted with Ollie Dixon, another prisoner in the 1950 slaying of Fred Landrum after the victim reportedly talked about an escape attempt.

Gros was serving five years for habitual theft in Jefferson Parish.

The families claimed the bodies today. Aldrich was from Clarks, Gros from Marrero.

"All we can say," the warden told newsmen, "is that we're going back over the whole thing again because we want to be certain we know what we're doing."

Sigler is a former federal prison official who was imported during the previous state administration during prison reform. Sigler was kept on the job with full backing of Gov. Earl Long.

of Neville High School, and a 1957 graduate of Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., where she was a Pi Phi.

Besides her husband and parents, Mrs. Wallace is survived by two brothers, Hugh Gibson McDonald Jr. and Denis McDonald, and one sister, Miss Ann McDonald, all of Monroe. Her father is assistant products manager at Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Funeral services will be held today at 3:30 p.m. at St. Matthews Catholic church, with Monsignor J. C. Marsh officiating. Interment will be in Memorial Park under the direction of Peters Funeral Home.

The body will lie in state at Peters Chapel until time for services.

DEATH CAR — Lt. Thomas McCarthy Wallace walks away from the site of the wreck which took the life of his bride yesterday afternoon, only hours after the wedding ceremony. The bride, nee Miss Shirley Ann McDonald of Monroe, died of a broken neck when she was thrown from the car. The accident occurred about 23 miles west of Monroe.

2 Tornadoes Strike Okla; Woman Killed

service station and damaged a home and a drive-in theater at Wichita Falls, Tex. Heavy rain and some hail accompanied the storm at Wichita Falls.

Severe Warning Issued

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a severe storm warning with the possibility of a few tornadoes for parts of Oaklahoma, Texas and Arkansas until 2 a.m. Sunday.

The approximate area of the storm warning is bounded by Abilene, Tex., Tulsa, Okla., Hot Springs, Ark., Palestine, Tex. back to Abilene.

Several residents of Konawa, a community about 70 miles southeast of Oklahoma City, said they saw a funnel west of town at about 7:15 p.m.

It destroyed the home of Claude Humphrey, one mile north of Konawa, before going on to the home of Mrs. Campbell. Fire Chief Earl Gassaway said power lines were down in town and all rural telephone and power lines in the area were out.

Barns Destroyed

The storm at Wichita Falls hit at about 6 p.m. Several barns and outbuildings in the area also were damaged.

Jack Caviness of Wichita Falls, who took shelter in a building where the service station was damaged, said he thought the storm was a straight wind. But M. L. Crowe, owner of the station, said he thought it was a tornado, although he did not see a funnel.

The farm home of Claude Humphrey, who lived one mile north of Konawa, was destroyed by the Oklahoma twister. Strong winds also uprooted a house and blew down trees at Bethel, just west of Shawnee, Okla.

Some roof damage from high winds and hail also was reported at Wanrika, Okla., and power lines were blown down near Randlett, Okla.

The squall line moved through the Wichita Falls-Wanrika, Okla., area at about 6 p.m. and was moving southeastward at about 15 or 20 miles an hour.

Hail about half an inch in diameter fell at Seymour, northwest of Wichita Falls.

At 7:30 p.m. [illegible] squall line extended from [illegible] Jacksboro, Tex., to west [illegible] area, Okla. The weather bureau at Fort Worth reported its radar had picked up a strong echo near Bowie, Tex., at that time.

Severe Storm Warning

Earlier, the weather bureau in Kansas City had issued severe thunderstorm warnings with damaging surface winds and hail for parts of North Central Texas and southern Oklahoma, extending to 9 p.m.

The weather bureau at Fort Worth said storm warnings had been issued for possible storms in Cooke, Wise and Denton counties, ending at about 9:30 p.m.

The squall line was kicked up by a cold front which moved into the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles Friday night. Amarillo, in the Texas Panhandle, had a high of only 59 degrees Saturday and reported .42-inch rain.

On the other extreme, Presidio, in South Texas, had a high of 105 Saturday for the top reading in the nation.

3 Brothers Kill Hostage; Police Fatally Shot 2

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 14 (UP)—Two Minneapolis brothers were mowed down by police bullets late this afternoon and a third brother was critically wounded after they had killed a hostage farmer and wounded a police deputy.

The only survivor, Kasick brother, James, 20, admitted he and his brothers killed Minneapolis Police Officer Robert Fussum and wounded Officer Ward Canfield four weeks ago.

The other brothers Ronald, 22, and Roger, 25, died under a hail of police bullets in a wooded area near Wyoming, Minn., some 20 miles north of Minneapolis.

The revelation that the trio was responsible for the death of Fussum came dramatically as James was being rushed to a Minneapolis hospital for treatment.

While en route to the hospital he was asked what he knew about the Fussum killing. The youth ripped an oxygen mask from his face and shouted, "There's something I have to tell you. I killed them. I killed them."

He said his brother Ronald shot Fussum and admitted he himself had fired the shots at Canfield.

On his hospital bed he gave out of the desperado brothers said "I know you won't believe that we didn't want to shoot it out, but God knows."

Hurricane Takes N. W. Course

MIAMI, Sept. 14 (UP)—Hurricane Cleo churned with raging winds steadily northward today on a course expected to take the storm far north of Bermuda to cause more than "inconvenience" on the British resort island.

The storm at midday was about 720 miles south of the island of Bermuda and was moving toward the northwest at a slow 6 miles per hour. Highest winds had dropped to 100 mph and were confined to a small area near Cleo's "eye."

City Police Nab Slaying Suspect

he on had just pulled out of the station. They gave pursuit, and sighted the vehicle at Sixth and DeSiard, where they halted it.

Murphy told Monroe police that he aimed a 32-30 pistol at McInnich, but didn't think the gun would fire. He also claimed that he didn't know the youth was dead for several hours, and added that after the shooting he fled, hid in a shack overnight, and the next day took a bus to Dallas.

From there, he bought a through ticket to Birmingham, Ala.

A United Press report from Oklahoma City states that Murphy said he purchased a pistol at a pawn shop "at some little town in Texas" Thursday, the day of his discharge, then he and three Perrin airmen drove to Oklahoma to have a party.

Crashed Party

The group crashed a high school party at Atoka city lake and it was there, Murphy said, that he had a "little argument" with McInnich, a junior at Tuskha high school. The former airman said "one word led to another" when he was kidded about being from Texas.

McInnich died when a bullet pierced his jugular vein.

Murphy is quoted by UP as saying he threw the gun away "somewhere in Oklahoma" after the shooting. He bought a ticket and caught a bus in Colgate, Okla. He said he was en route home to Winter Haven, Fla., when he was picked up by city detectives.

Sheriff Clayburn said several witnesses identified Murphy as the man who shot the high school boy.

Air Force authorities joined in the search after the slaying. Military officials said Murphy was under their jurisdiction until midnight the day of his discharge.

Atoka Police Chief Deroe Smith said about 20 young people were having a picnic at the city lake when Murphy and three fellow airmen crashed the party.

Smith said Murphy previously was jailed in Atoka after he ran his fist through a glass window.

Officers said they were told that McInnich had been kidding Murphy about being from Texas.

"Murphy just pulled out a gun and shot him," Smith said.

prepare his statement.

"Good luck," the President said, beaming," and I hope all works out."

Then, nearly four hours later, Faubus issued his statement.

'Friendly Discussion'

"The President and I have had a friendly and constructive discussion of the problem of compliance with court orders respecting the high schools of Little Rock," he said.

"When I assured the President, as I have already done, that I expect to accept the decisions of the courts, I entertain the hope that the Department of Justice and the federal judiciary will act with understanding and patience in discharging their duties."

Faubus said that as he interpreted the President's public statements, the President has no thought of challenging Faubus' responsibility to protect the people of Arkansas from violence.

"In meeting this litigation, it is essential in proceeding to implement the orders of the court that the complexities of integration be patiently understood by all those in federal authority as well as others," he said.

To Obey Valid Order

He said the people of Little Rock are law abiding and expect to obey "valid" court orders.

"In this they shall have my support," he said. "In so doing, I am responsible to protect the people from violence in any form.

"This trip to Newport has been worthwhile from my point of view."

He said he told Eisenhower he wanted to co-operate with him "in carrying out the duties resting upon both of us under the federal Constitution."

He said he told the President: "I must harmonize my action under the Constitution of Arkansas with the requirements of the federal Constitution."

Problems at Home

Asked whether the National Guard would be withdrawn from the Central High School Monday, Faubus said:

"I'll have to take care of that problem when I return home."

Asked whether h thought his conference with the President would affect the action of the court, he said:

"I do not want to anticipate events and I must stand on the statement I have issued you.

"I have insisted time after time that the purpose of calling out the troops was to maintain order. I am sure no one else wants to see anyone hurt."

Members of the White House staff listened to Faubus' press conference by radio. Faubus issued his statement at his Providence hotel after flying back there from his meeting with Eisenhower at temporary White House offices at the naval base here.

Eisenhower, in his statement, said he met with Faubus at his request and engaged in a "constructive discussion" about the carrying out of federal court orders as used in the Little Rock dispute.

"The governor stated his intention to respect the decision of the United States District court and to give his full co-operation in carrying out his responsibilities in respect to these decisions," the President said.

eral ambulances took the injured to the Cabrini hospital and the Baptist hospital in Alexandria, and to the Winnfield hospital.

Many of them suffered facial lacerations, when they were thrown forward into the seats in front of them at the time of the collision.

The bus was heading south from Jonesboro to Alexandria, and the truck was going north toward Winnfield. No other cars were nearby at the time of the crash, so no eye-witness reports were available.

The road was blocked and traffic was backed up for several miles.

The bus driver momentarily lost control of his vehicle, and the wheels on the right side went off the road, but he managed to bring the bus back onto the highway before it halted, several yards south of the crash point.

The right front of the bus was smashed in, and the door was jammed. Sheriff's officials from Colfax and State Police had to use the window areas to help passengers out of the bus.

Gregory's body was taken to the Southern Funeral home in Winnfield. Arrangements were incomplete last night.

A Negro woman and her eight children were homeless at 3:30 p.m. yesterday, after their five-room house in Doolexile burned to the ground.

Magnolia Jackson, who lived on Pearl street, said that there was no insurance on the house. Everything was lost in the flames, which started in a bedroom at the back of the house.

Monroe firemen were notified, and engine companies 101 and 102 sped to the scene. Residents in that section of town get their water from pumps, and no running water was available to fight the flames.

Firemen carried 200 gallons in trucks, and sprayed water on the house. "We had the fire under control, but the water gave out, and then all we could do was watch the house burn down" one fireman stated.

Capt. Bob Wright of Company No. 2 was burned on the hands, when tar melted off the roof and splash onto his hands. He received first aid at the scene.

Approximately 8435,000 civilians are employed by the United States Army.

Woman Suffers Gun Shot Wound

A Negro woman from Dubach was in good condition last night at Conway Memorial hospital, recuperating from an accidental shotgun wound.

Geneva Dawson, 37, said that her husband Johnny Dawson was firing a .22 caliber rifle, when one of the bullets hit her in the left thigh.

The mishap occurred at about 1 p.m. but the Dawsons waited until later in the afternoon to drive to Monroe. She was admitted to the hospital shortly before 6 p.m.

Hospital officials said that from the description of the accident, they assumed that Dawson had fired at a target, the bullet ricocheted, and hit the woman, who said she was picking flowers at the time.

Bandit Holds Up Girard Grocery

RAYVILLE, (Special) — A lone Negro bandit held up the A. and N. Grocery in Girard last night and escaped with about $35 in bills and change.

Richland Parish Sheriff's department said the Negro was about 25 years old, six feet tall and weighing 225 pounds. He had one gold tooth officers said.

The man held up the store with a nickle plated revolver.

of Neville High School, and a 1957 graduate of Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., where she was a Pi Phi.

Besides her husband and parents, Mrs. Wallace is survived by two brothers, Hugh Gibson McDonald Jr. and Denis McDonald, and one sister, Miss Ann McDonald, all of Monroe. Her father is assistant products manager at Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Funeral services will be held today at 3:30 p.m. at St. Matthews Catholic church, with Monsignor J. C. Marsh officiating. Interment will be in Memorial Park under the direction of Peters Funeral Home.

The body will lie in state at Peters Chapel until time for services.

DEATH CAR — Lt. Thomas McCarthy Wallace walks away from the site of the wreck which took the life of his bride yesterday afternoon, only hours after the wedding ceremony. The bride, nee Miss Shirley Ann McDonald of Monroe, died of a broken neck when she was thrown from the car. The accident occurred about 23 miles west of Monroe.

2 Tornadoes Strike Okla; Woman Killed

service station and damaged a home and a drive-in theater at Wichita Falls, Tex. Heavy rain and some hail accompanied the storm at Wichita Falls.

Severe Warning Issued

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a severe storm warning with the possibility of a few tornadoes for parts of Oaklahoma, Texas and Arkansas until 2 a.m. Sunday.

The approximate area of the storm warning is bounded by Abilene, Tex., Tulsa, Okla., Hot Springs, Ark., Palestine, Tex., back to Abilene.

Several residents of Konawa, a community about 70 miles southeast of Oklahoma City, said they saw a funnel west of town at about 7:15 p.m.

It destroyed the home of Claude Humphrey, one mile north of Konawa, before going on to the home of Mrs. Campbell. Fire Chief Earl Gassaway said power lines were down in town and all rural telephone and power lines in the area were out.

Barns Destroyed

The storm at Wichita Falls hit at about 6 p.m. Several barns and outbuildings in the area also were damaged.

Jack Caviness of Wichita Falls, who took shelter in a building where the service station was damaged, said he thought the storm was a straight wind. But M. L. Crowe, owner of the station, said he thought it was a tornado, although he did not see a funnel.

The farm home of Claude Humphrey, who lived one mile north of Konawa, was destroyed by the Oklahoma twister. Strong winds also unroofed a house and blew down trees at Bethel, just west of Shawnee, Okla.

Some roof damage from high winds and hail also was reported at Waurika, Okla., and power lines were blown down near Randlett, Okla.

The squall line moved through the Wichita Fallas-Waurika, Okla., area at about 6 p.m. and was moving southeastward at about 15 or 20 miles an hour.

Hail about half an inch in diameter fell at Seymour, northwest of Wichita Falls.

At 7:30 p.m. squall line extended from Breckenridge, Tex., to west dmore, Okla. The weather bureau at Fort Worth reported its radar had picked up a strong echo near Bowie, Tex., at that time.

Severe Storm Warning

Earlier, the weather bureau in Kansas City had issued severe thunderstorm warnings with damaging surface winds and hail for parts of North Central Texas and southern Oklahoma, extending to 9 p.m.

The weather bureau at Fort Worth said storm warnings had been issued for possible storms in Cooke, Wise and Denton counties, ending at about 9:30 p.m.

The squall line was kicked up by a cold front which moved into the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles Friday night. Amarillo, in the Texas Panhandle, had a high of only 59 degrees Saturday and reported .42-inch rain.

On the other extreme, Presidio, in South Texas, had a high of 106 Saturday for the top reading in the nation.

tion to other international events and this may heighten its usefulness as an indicator of Soviet intentions.

When the General Assembly meets West Germany's elections will be a thing of the past. They are being held Sunday. Whatever Russia's desire to influence the elections against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may have been in the last few weeks, there will be no reason by Tuesday for the Soviets to consider this in shaping their policy.

3 Brothers Kill Hostage; Police Fatally Shot 2

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 14 (UP)—Two Minneapolis brothers were mowed down by police bullets late this afternoon and a third brother was critically wounded after they had killed a hostage farmer and wounded a police deputy.

The only surviving Kasick brother, James, 20, admitted he and his brothers killed Minneapolis Police Officer Robert Fussum and wounded Officer Ward Canfield four weeks ago.

The other brothers Ronald, 22, and Roger, 26, died under a fusilade of police bullets in a wooded area near Wyoming, Minn., some 20 miles north of Minneapolis.

The revelation that the trio was responsible for the death of Fussum came dramatically as James was being rushed to a Minneapolis hospital for treatment.

While en route to the hospital he was asked what he knew about the Fussum killing. The youth ripped an oxygen mask from his face and shouted,' "There's something I have to tell you. I killed them, I killed them."

He said his brother Ronald shot Fussum and admitted he, himself, had fired the shots at Canfield.

On his hospital bed the youngest of the desperado brothers said, "I know you won't believe that we didn't want to shoot it out, but God knows."

Hurricane Takes N. W. Course

MIAMI, Sept. 14 (UP)— Hurricane Carrie churned with faltering winds steadily northwest today on a course expected to take it too far north of Bermuda to cause more than "an increase in winds" on the British resort island.

The storm at mid-day was about 720 miles east-southeast of Bermuda and was moving toward the northwest at a slow 6 miles per hour. Highest winds had dropped to 105 mph and were confined to a small area near Carrie's "eye."

City Police Nab Slaying Suspect

be on had just pulled out of the station. They gave pursuit, and sighted the vehicle at Sixth and DeSiard, where they halted it.

Murphy told Monroe police that he aimed a 32-30 pistol at McInnich, but didn't think the gun would fire. He also claimed that he didn't know the youth was dead for several hours, and added that after the shooting he fled, hid in a shack overnight, and the next day took a bus to Dallas.

From there, he bought a through ticket to Birmingham, Ala.

A United Press report from Oklahoma City states that Murphy said he purchased a pistol at a pawn shop "at some little town in Texas" Thursday, the day of his discharge, then he and three Perrin airmen drove to Oklahoma to have a party.

Crashed Party

The group crashed a high school party at Atoka city lake and it was there, Murphy said, that he had a "little argument" with McInnich, a junior at Tuskha high school. The former airman said "one word led to another" when he was kidded about being from Texas.

McInnich died when a bullet pierced his jugular vein.

Murphy is quoted by UP as saying he threw the gun away "somewhere in Oklahoma" after the shooting. He bought a ticket and caught a bus in Colgate, Okla. He said he was en route home to Winter Haven, Fla., when he was picked up by city detectives.

Sheriff Clayburn said several witnesses identified Murphy as the man who shot the high school boy.

Air Force authorities joined in the search after the slaying. Military officials said Murphy was under their jurisdiction until midnight the day of his discharge.

Atoka Police Chief Deroe Smith said about 20 young people were having a picnic at the city lake when Murphy and three fellow airmen crashed the party.

Smith said Murphy previously was jailed in Atoka after he ran his fist through a glass window.

Officers said they were told that McInnich had been kidding Murphy about being from Texas.

"Murphy just pulled out a gun and shot him," Smith said.

Statement Made After Ike Meeting

prepare his statement.

"Good luck," the President said, beaming," and I hope all works out."

Then, nearly four hours later, Faubus issued his statement.

'Friendly Discussion'

"The President and I have had a friendly and constructive discussion of the problem of compliance with court orders respecting the high schools of Little Rock," he said.

"When I assured the President, as I have already done, that I expect to accept the decisions of the courts, I entertain the hope that the Department of Justice and the federal judiciary will act with understanding and patience in discharging their duties."

Faubus said that as he interpreted the President's public statements, the President has no thought of challenging Faubus' responsibility to protect the people of Arkansas from violence.

"In meeting this obligation, it is essential in proceeding to implement the orders of the court that the complexities of integration be patiently understood by all those in federal authority as well as others," he said.

To Obey Valid Order

He said the people of Little Rock are law abiding and expect to obey "valid court orders."

"In this they shall have my support," he said. "In so doing, it is my responsibility to protect the people from violence in any form.

"This trip to Newport has been worthwhile from my point of view."

He said he told Eisenhower he wanted to co-operate with him "in carrying out the duties resting upon both of us under the federal Constitution."

He said he told the President: "I must harmonize my action under the Constitution of Arkansas with the requirements of the federal Constitution."

Problems at Home

Asked whether the National Guard would be withdrawn from the Central High School Monday, Faubus said:

"I'll have to take care of that problem when I return home."

Asked whether he thought his conference with the President would affect the action of the court, he said:

"I do not want to anticipate events and I must stand on the statement I have issued you.

"I have insisted time after time that the purpose of calling out the troops was to maintain order. I am sure no one else wants to see anyone hurt."

Members of the White House staff listened to Faubus' press conference by radio. Faubus issued his statement at his Providence hotel after flying back there from his meeting with Eisenhower at temporary White House offices at the naval base here.

Eisenhower, in his statement, said he met with Faubus at his request and engaged in a "constructive discussion" about the carrying out of federal court orders issued in the Little Rock dispute.

"The governor stated his intention to respect the decision of the United States District court and to give his full co-operation in carrying out his responsibilities in respect to these decisions," the President said.

eral ambulances took the injured to the Cabrini hospital and the Baptist hospital in Alexandria, and to the Winnfield hospital.

Many of them suffered facial lacerations, when they were thrown forward into the seats in front of them at the time of the collision.

The bus was heading south from Jonesboro to Alexandria, and the truck was going north toward Winnfield. No other cars were nearby at the time of the crash, so no eye-witness reports were available.

The road was blocked and traffic was backed up for several miles.

The bus driver momentarily lost control of his vehicle, and the wheels on the right side went off the road, but he managed to bring the bus back onto the highway before it halted, several yards south of the crash point.

The right front of the bus was smashed in, and the door was jammed. Sheriff's officials from Colfax and State Police had to use the window areas to help passengers out of the bus.

Gregory's body was taken to the Southern Funeral home in Winnfield. Arrangements were incomplete last night.

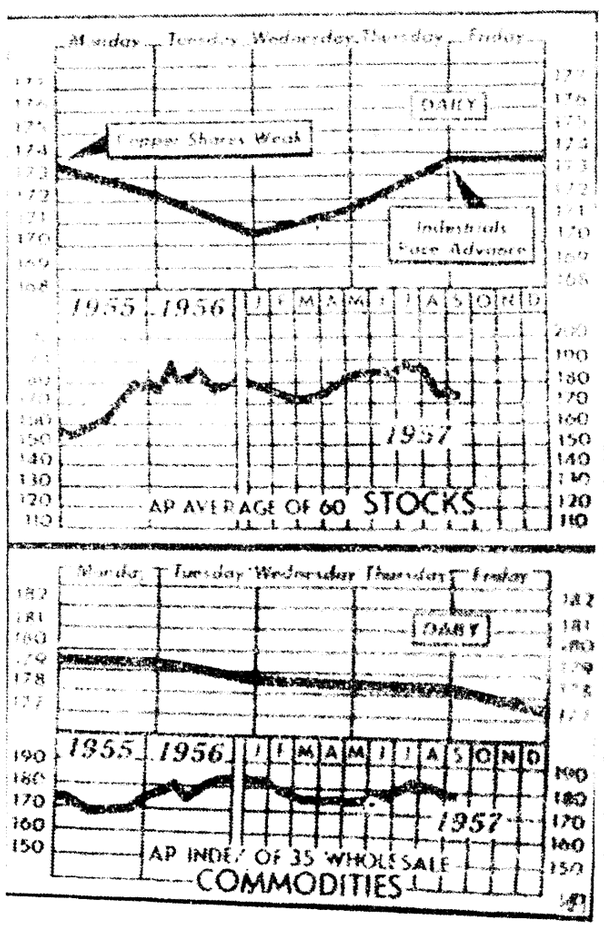
Review Of Financial, Oil, Gas News



STOCKS GAIN SLIGHTLY—A slight gain was made this week by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks when it closed today at 173.8 from 173.5 a week ago. Led by food and livestock, the commodity index declined sharply this week to 177.3 from 179.3 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Business Takes Turn For Better This Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Business [illegible] prospects and plans for [illegible] reported a flood of new orders. Paperboard mills ran at full capacity to meet a flurry of demand for cartons for shipping consumer goods from factories to stores.

A pickup in business since Labor Day was reported by retail merchants. Many said sales were running higher than a year ago.

The stock market staged an impressive although indecisive rally.

There were still plenty of "ifs" and "buts" in the nation's business picture.

No one could say with certainty whether the long-awaited fall upturn would live up to earlier hopes.

The steel industry continued to loaf along, with operations for the week scheduled at only 83 per cent of capacity. Domestic oil production was close to a two-year low.

Layoffs in the aircraft industry posed problems for production workers and some engineers.

Auto assembly lines clanked to a halt as manufacturers of some makes started getting ready for production of 1958 models.

Auto retailers, pushing hard to clean out inventories of 1957 cars, vied with one another in offering cut-rate deals and discounts. "The clean-up will be orderly," one dealer was quoted as saying, "but it will be tough to make a buck. The customers want blood."

Biggest question was how the economy would react to the slow-down in industrial expansion.

For some years now, business and industry have been growing at a record rate. Companies have been pouring a steadily increasing flow of dollars into new plants, machinery, research laboratories and office buildings.

Last year, when home building and auto sales went into a slump, a massive surge of capital spending by private companies helped keep business at a high peak. It created new jobs and kept the construction boom rolling. The cost of such spending in 1956 amounted to 35 billion dollars.

This represented a step-up in excess of 22½ per cent over the previous 1955 record. Since then, spending for expansion has kept on rising, but much more slowly.

And now, according to a newly published government survey, the upward curve is flattening out.

VOLUNTARY

Oil Question Still Remains

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Six weeks after the start of the administration's voluntary program for reduction of oil imports, the question of whether it will work remains unanswered.

This week's hearings on protests by some of the importing companies not only brought no answer to the question, but raised a question on costs of curtailing imports. Spokesman for importing companies said domestic users would foot them more and somebody—presumably the consuming public—would have to pay the difference.

Figures were offered by objecting importers at the hearings before Navy Capt. M. V. Carson to show that the proposed cutback would cost someone at least 50 dollars a year. Carson was borrowed from the Navy to administer the program as a special assistant to the secretary of interior.

Testimony was given by witnesses for some importing companies that crude oil from the Middle East or Venezuela, including transportation costs and a 5½ cents a barrel duty, can be laid down at East Coast refineries at an cost to [illegible] cents a barrel under the price of similar crude from Texas.

The voluntary program was ordered by President Eisenhower after a Cabinet committee found that imports were hurting American producers and threatening to impair their capacity for meeting the nation's needs in an emergency. Under the program, companies were asked to limit [illegible] shipments to 10 per cent under the average for the years 1954-56 period.

Attending the hearings was Ralph Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which has long sought a curb on imports.

Brown said granting the request of one of the petitioning companies for a larger quota would open a Pandora's box, allowing imports of anything it [illegible].

He said imports have been averaging about 1,100,000 barrels daily, or over the goal of 1,021,000 barrels set under the program.

"So, a little early to tell if the program will work," Brown said.

Cotton Case To Come Up On Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The case of a cotton mill company accused of closing its doors rather than bargain with a union comes before the Eisenhower Cabinet Labor Relations Board Monday.

The board will hear oral arguments—a rare occasion at NLRB headquarters—on charges by the Textile Workers Union of America against the now-defunct Darlington Manufacturing Co., Darlington, S. C.

The union won the board to order the company to go back into business and reinstate the 550 employes discharged when the plant closed about a year ago.

Right to Shut Down

The company contends it had the right to shut down when it pleased and disputes an NLRB trial examiner's finding that it was closed to avoid dealing with the textile workers.

The union won the right to represent employes at the mill in a 256-to-236 vote in a plant election conducted by the NLRB on Sept. 6, 1956.

By mid-November the employes were laid off and in December the mill permanently was sold.

The union filed charges against the company and the NLRB issued a complaint accusing the firm of unfair labor practices.

Found Company Guilty

The trial examiner who presided at a hearing on the complaint found the company guilty but refused to allow the union's demands for back pay or reinstatement of the discharged workers. Instead, the examiner ordered the company to proclaim that it would cease and desist from such practices.

The union urged the NLRB to proceed against Roger Milliken, an official of the Deering, Milliken & Co., which operates a chain of cotton mills. The union charged that Milliken was the "architect and controlling power" behind the decision to close the Darlington plant.

So far the NLRB has refused to include Milliken and the firm bearing his name in the charges arising from the shut-down.

Small Net Changes In Cotton Noted

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Cotton futures rallied after a shaky start this week and closed mixed with small net changes.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished at prices ranging from 20 cents a bale higher to 85 cents a bale lower.

A decline at the start of the week was attributed in part to selling induced by a larger-than-expected official government forecast on the size of the new crop. The government estimate of 12,713,000 bales was 300,000 bales higher than the officia. August forecast. Estimates previously made by private trade sources had indicated an increase of only 450,000 bales.

Earlier in the week, the market backed and filled. Limited offerings were absorbed by trade buying and mill price fixing and short covering. Some buying was prompted by a series of less favorable weather reports from sections of the belt.

Based on the government's latest crop forecast of 12,713,000 bales, the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau estimated the total domestic supply at the end of the current season would approximate 23,600,000 bales, against 24,600,000 at the end of the previous season.

The Service Bureau noted that if distribution ranges from the presently estimated 13½ million bales to 15 million bales, an end-season carryover of 8,600,000 to 10,100,000 bales would be in prospect.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the Service Bureau at 71,000 bales, vs. 30,000 the previous week and 122,000 in the comparable 1956 week.

U. S. DECLINES

Venezuela, Middle East Producing Record Oil

HOUSTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Venezuela and the Middle East are producing crude oil at record levels while U.S. output declines.

Domestic production has been slashed over a million barrels a day since reaching record levels in late March at the peak of the Suez Canal crisis.

The Middle East is now producing more oil than before the emergency despite severe complications in Iraq.

Since the emergency, Venezuela has boosted her production over 430,000 barrels a day, setting new records consistently.

Imports last week were a record average of 1,795,200 barrels a day.

Gov. Price Daniel described President Eisenhower's program for voluntary cutbacks in imports as "toothless." Daniel asked the administration to "move more forcefully."

Daniel blamed imports for forcing a 13-day crude production schedule in Texas, a record low for the 25-year of the state's conservation statues. He said Texas cannot continue indefinitely under the schedule without facing serious damage to the general economy and a critical loss of tax revenue.

Prior to the closing of Suez early last November, the record for domestic crude production was a daily average of 7,133,350. By early November the average had declined to 6,981,100 barrels.

Closing of Suez jumped U.S. production to a record 7,818,400 barrels daily by late March. In less than six months, the average has dropped to 6,807,350.

The Middle East in October produced a record 3,873,500 barrels a day.

Since the emergency, the domestic average has been cut 1,011,500 barrels a day, with Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma accounting for a decline of 929,000 barrels. Texas has slashed its production 561,000 barrels a day, Louisiana 252,000, and Oklahoma 136,000.

NAM CLAIMS:

Higher Taxes, Wages Are To Blame For Inflation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The National Association of Manufacturers said today rising wages and higher taxes, not greedy businessmen, are to blame for inflation.

"The conclusion is inescapable that the current inflationary trend is due to the rising costs of labor and the continuing heavy tax burden, not to the 'greed' of manufacturers for exorbitant profits as some prop'le claim," the NAM said in an especially prepared booklet.

It recommended government economy to permit taxation "fair and square," and a return to "equality" in wage bargaining to permit "economically sound" settlements as the solution to the problem.

The 10-page booklet gave the association's analysis of "wages, prices, profits and inflation."

"Profit margins on sales have suffered, just as the American consumer has suffered, from the power of monopolistic unions to exact wage gains unrelated to productivity," it said.

To back that up, it said government statistics showed that hourly wages increased more than twice as fast as hourly output between 1948 and 1956.

Tax increases, it said, were "added on top of this wage squeeze."

However, it said, "while the increase in tax rates is in part responsible for the general deterioration of profit margins on sales, it has hit all industries with about equal severity and is not responsible for the fact that some industries have fared so much worse than others."

Stocks Higher On Market After Earlier Setbacks

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—A [illegible] couple of good rallies more than made up for earlier setbacks and left stocks a shade higher this week.

Grain Market Is Lively In Trade

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—A government crop report, a decision by Britain's minister of agriculture and discouraged longs combined this week to keep the grain market a lively trading place.

The grain market as a whole suffered its worst setback in many months on Wednesday when wheat ended nearly two cents a bushel lower, corn off more than two cents, and soybeans down more than three.

At the end of the week new style wheat was 3 to 4½ cents a bushel lower than Friday a week ago, Corn was down 2⅝ to 3 cents, oat swere ¼ to one cent lower, rye was off 2 to 3 cents, soybeans 2½ to 4¼ lower and lard was down 25 to 40 cents a hundred pounds.

CATAHOULA TEST 355 BARRELS

Seven Oil, Gas Wells Finaled In Area Last Week, Conservation Report Shows

The weekly report of the Monroe office of the State Conservation Department shows seven wells completed in the district during the past week. Six of the seven were oilers. A well in Catahoula parish tested 355 barrels of 41 gravity oil, the reports read.

Completions were:

Catahoula

Patton Church field: Gulf Oil Corp. Catahoula Bank No. 4, sec. 23-6-E was finaled Sept. 5, testing 122 barrels of 33 gravity oil daily on a 5/64 choke. Tubing pressure was 650 and production is from perforations at 4455-65 feet. Total depth of the well is 4568 feet.

New Lake field: Jack Tippett et al-Routon No. 1, Sec. 2-8-E was finaled September 3, testing 355 barrels of 41 gravity oil daily on a 16/64 choke. Production is from perforations 4554½ to 4560 feet. The casing ratio is 500 to one with a tubing pressure of 50 per square inch and casing pressure of 125 psi. Total depth of this well is 4570 feet.

La Salle

Tullos-Urania field: M. Mabry, Tullos Heirs No. 1-B, Sec. 28-10-E was finaled September 7, pumping 11 barrels from 5269 to 5295 feet. Total depth is 5330 feet.

Tensas

Killens Ferry field: Jett Operations, Inc., Chicago Mill-Ayer Timber Co. No. 1, Sec. 1-15-E, was finaled Aug. 23, tested 45 barrels daily on 5/8 inch choke. Production is from perforations at 6065-6070 feet. Total depth of the well is 6321 feet. Natl Gas Dist. Corp-Ayer Tim. Co. Inc. No. 2-C, sec. 2-15-E, was finaled September 7, flowing 211 barrels of 40 gravity oil daily on a 15/64 choke. Production is from perforations 6056-64 feet with a tubing pressure of 825 psi and casing pressure of 900 psi. The gas-oil ration is set at 541 to one. Total depth of the well is 7028 feet. Roberts F. Roberts-Ayer Tim. Co., Inc. No. E-1, sec. 26-14-10E, finaled in July, but not gauged until Sept. 5. The well is producing 105 barrels of 43 gravity oil daily on a 11/64 choke from perforations at 7082 to 6625 feet with a tubing pressure of 400 psi. Gas-oil ratio is estimated at 800 to 1. Total depth of the well is 7151 feet.

Union

Monroe field: Olin Gas Trans. Corp. Fee Gas No. 402, was finaled Aug. 30 as a gas well flowing 530 MCF of gas daily with a rock pressure of 630 pounds. Total depth of the well is 2050 feet.

Nationwide Drive For Trade Renewal Reported Yesterday

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (UP)—International House today announced a nationwide drive calling for a 10-year renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements program in Congress.

International House, which promotes trade for New Orleans and the lower Mississippi Valley, said cancellation of the trade agreements would injure the $30 billion a year volume of United States foreign trade.

Joseph M. Rault, president of International House, said the trade program has been in operation since 1934, but will expire June, 1958, unless renewed. Under the program U. S. world trade has been promoted and regulated under lowered trade and tariff barriers.

"The minority groups that still favor high tariffs and protectionist measures that handicap our multi-million dollar foreign trade are well organized and hard at work to kill the whole reciprocal program in Congress next winter," he said.

He said the program was in "grave danger."

Two New Oil Wells Completed

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 14 (AP)—Two new oil wells were completed this week in Mississippi fields, oil men said today.

The new wells are:

Jett Drilling Co.'s Roberts No. 2 in the Bolton Field of Hinds County. The well was flowing 302 barrels of 44 gravity oil per day from a sand at 11,403-15 feet.

I. P. Larue's Southern Minerals-Federal No. 1 in the Pistol Ridge field of Pearl River County. The well flowed 143 barrels of 42 gravity oil daily from a sand at 9,026-34 feet.

Other oil activity:

Amerada Petroleum Corp. was below 11,700 feet and nearing the top of the smackover lime in the USA-Vaughey No. 1 in the Valley Park Field of Sharkey County.

The well is a test for the smackover lime.

In Rankin County, Carter Oil was below 8,700 feet in the wildcat Henry Kersh No. 1. Contract depth is 13,900 feet.

Marlin Exploration Co. was preparing to perforate and test the Wildcat Pierce Butler No. 1 in Adams County near the Glen Aubin Field. Total depth is 6,810 feet with the test scheduled for the Wilcox sands at 6,650 feet.

Rimrock Tidelands Inc. was below 5,400 feet in the Smith County wildcat J. C. Hester No. 1. Contract depth is 13,300 feet.

In the Raleigh Field of Smith County, California Co. was coring below 12,190 feet in the Homer Currie No. 2 with numerous shows of oil logged in an interval from 10,958 feet down.

California Co. also was below 6,100 feet in its Homer Currie et al No. 3 in the same field.

Launius and Meyer were below 9,500 feet in the Issaquena County wildcat Kelsey-Hayes No. 1 with the test scheduled to be drilled to 10,000 feet.

In the Ansley Field of Hancock County, Marshall R. Young was below 9,600 feet in the International-Alexander No. 2.

Skelly Oil Co. and Kin-Ark were below 8,000 feet in the B. L. Herring No. 1 confirmation well in the recently discovered Dexter gas condensate field of Walthall and Marion counties.

Business Takes Turn For Better This Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Businessmen jittery about recession prospects had cause for mild encouragement this week.

Things seemed to be taking a turn for the better at several key points.

There were signs the long-dormant home building industry might finally be coming back to life.

Copper prices, after undergoing a prolonged sinking spell, started inching up again.

Suppliers of Douglas fir plywood reported a flood of new orders. Paperboard mills ran at full capacity to meet a flurry of demand for cartons for shipping consumer goods from factories to stores.

A pickup in business since Labor Day was reported by retail merchants. Many said sales were running higher than a year ago.

The stock market staged an impressive although indecisive rally.

There were still plenty of "if's" and 'but's" in the nation's business picture.

No one could say with certainty whether the long-awaited fall upturn would live up to earlier hopes.

The steel industry continued to loaf along, with operations for the week scheduled at only 83 per cent of capacity. Domestic oil production was close to a two-year low.

Layoffs in the aircraft industry posed problems for production workers and some engineers.

Auto assembly lines clanked to a halt as manufacturers of some makes started getting ready for production of 1958 models.

Auto retailers, pushing hard to clean out inventories of 1957 cars, vied with one another in offering cut-rate deals and discounts. "The cleanup will be orderly," one dealer was quoted as saying, "but it will be tough to make a buck. The customers want blood."

Biggest question was how the economy would react to the slowdown in industrial expansion.

For some years now, business and industry have been growing at a record rate. Companies have been pouring a steadily increasing flow of dollars into new plants, machinery, research laboratories and office buildings.

Last year, when home building and auto sales went into a slump, a massive susrge of capital spending by private companies helped keep business at a high peak. It created new jobs and kept the construction boom rolling. The total of such spending in 1956 amounted to 35 billion dollars.

This represented a whirlwind increase of 22½ per cent over the previous 1955 record. Since then, spending for expansion has kept on rising, but much more slowly.

And now, according to a newly published government survey, the upward curve is flattening out.

VOLUNTARY

Oil Question Still Remains

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Six weeks after the start of the administration's voluntary program for reduction of oil imports, the question of whether it will work remains unanswered.

This week's hearings on protests by some of the importing companies not only brought no answer to the question, but raised a question on costs of curtailing imports. Spokesman for importing companies said domestic crude would cost them more and somebody—presumably the consuming public — would have to pay the difference.

Figures were offered by objecting importers at the hearings before Navy Capt. M. V. Carson to show that the proposed cutback would cost someone at least 50 dollars a year. Carson was borrowed from the Navy to administer the program as a special assistant to the secretary of interior.

Testimony was given by witnesses for some importing companies that crude oil from the Middle East or Venezuela, including transportation costs and a 5¼ cents a barrel duty, can be laid down at East Coast refineries at 50 cents to 80 cents a barrel under the price of similar crude from Texas.

The voluntary program was ordered by President Eisenhower after a Cabinet committee found that imports were hurting American producers and threatening to impair their capacity for meeting the nation's needs in an emergency. Under the program, importers were asked to cut their incoming shipments 10 per cent under the average for the three-year 1954-56 period.

Attending the hearings was Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, which has long sought a curb on imports.

Brown said granting the request of one of the petitioning companies for a larger quota would open a Pandora's box, with every importer wanting a boost.

He said imports have been averaging about 1,400,000 barrels daily, far over the goal of 1,031,000 barrels set under the program.

"It's a little early to tell if the program will work," Brown said

Cotton Case To Come Up On Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The case of a cotton mill company accused of closing its doors rather than bargain with a union comes before the five-man National Labor Relations Board Monday.

The board will hear oral arguments—a rare occasion at NLRB headquarters—on charges by the Textile Workers Union of America against the now-defunct Darlington Manufacturing Co., Darlington, S. C.

The union wants the board to order the company to go back into business and rehire the 550 employes discharged when the plant closed about a year ago.

Right to Shut Down

The company contends it had the right to shut down when it pleased and disputes an NLRB trial examiner's finding that it was closed to avoid dealing with the textile workers.

The union won the right to represent workers at the mill by a 256-to-248 vote in a plant election conducted by the NLRB on Sept. 6, 1956.

By mid-November the employes were laid off and in December the mill machinery was sold.

The union filed charges against the company and the NLRB issued a complaint accusing the firm of unfair labor practices.

Found Company Guilty

The trial examiner who presided at a hearing on the complaint found the company guilty but refused to allow the union's demands for back pay or reinstatement of the discharged workers. Instead, the examiner ordered the company to proclaim that it would cease and desist from such practices.

The union urged the NLRB to proceed against Roger Milliken, an official of the Deering, Milliken & Co., which operates a chain of cotton mills. The union charged that Milliken was the "architect and controlling power" behind the decision to close the Darlington plant.

So far the NLRB has refused to include Milliken and the firm bearing his name in the charges arising from the shut-down.

Small Net Changes In Cotton Noted

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) —Cotton futures rallied after a shaky start this week and closed mixed with small net changes.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished at prices ranging from 20 cents a bale higher to 85 cents a bale lower.

A decline at the start of the week was attributed in part to selling induced by a larger-than-expected official government forecast on the size of the new crop. The government estimate of 12,713,000 bales was 800,000 bales higher than the official August forecast. Estimates previously made by private trade sources had indicated an increase of only 450,000 bales.

Earlier in the week, the market backed and filled. Limited offerings were absorbed by trade buying and mill price fixing and short covering. Some buying was prompted by a series of less favorable weather reports from sections of the belt.

Based on the government's latest crop forecast of 12,713,000 bales, the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau estimated the total domestic supply at the end of the current season would approximate 23,600,000 bales, against 27,600,000 at the end of the previous season.

The Service Bureau noted that if distribution ranges from the presently estimated 13½ million bales to 15 million bales, an end-season carryover of 8,600,000 to 10,100,000 bales would be in prospect.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the Service Bureau at 71,000 bales, vs. 40,000 the previous week and 122,000 in the comparable 1956 week.

U. S. DECLINES

Venezuela, Middle East Producing Record Oil

HOUSTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Venezuela and the Middle East are producing crude oil at record levels while U.S. output declines.

Domestic production has been slahed over a million barrels a day since reaching record levels in late March at the peak of the Suez Canal crisis.

The Middle East is now producing more oil than before the emergency despite severe complications in Iraq.

Since the emergency, Vnezuela has boosted her production over 430,000 barrels a day, setting new records consistently.

Imports last week were a recored average of 1,795,200 barrels a day.

Gov. Price Daniel described President Eisenhower's program for voluntary cutbacks in imports as "toothless." Daniel asked the administration to "move more forcefully."

Daniel blamed imports for forcing a 13-day crude production schedule in Texas, a record low for the 25-year of the state's conservation statues. He said Texas cannot continue indefinitely under the schedule without facing serious damage to the general economy and a critical loss of tax revenue.

Prior to the closing of Suez early last November, the record for domestic crude production was a daily average of 7,183,350. By eary November the average had declined to 6,981,100 barrels.

Closing of Suez jumped U.S. production to a record 7,818,400 barrels daily by late March. In less than six months, the average has dropped to 6,807,350.

The Middle East in October produced a record 3,873,500 barrels a day.

Since the emergency, the domestic average has been cut 1,011,500 barrels a day, with Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma accounting for a decline of 929,000 barrels. Texas has slashed its production 561,000 barrels a day, Louisiana 232,000, and Oklahoma 136,000.

NAM CLAIMS:

Higher Taxes, Wages Are To Blame For Inflation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The National Association of Manufacturers said today rising wages and higher taxes, not greedy businessmen, are to blame for inflation.

"The conclusion is inescapable that the current inflationary trend is due to the rising costs of labor and the continuing heavy tax burden, not to the 'greed' of manufacturers for exorbitant profits, as some people claim," the NAM said in an especially prepared booklet.

It recommended government economy to permit taxtion "fair and square," and a return to "equality" in wage bargaining to permit "economically sound" settlements as the solution to the problem.

The 10-page booklet gave the association's analysis of "wages, prices, profits and inflation."

"Profit margins on sales have suffered, just as the American consumer has suffered, from the power of monopolistic unions to exact wage gains unrelated to productivity," it said.

To back that up, it said government statistics showed that hourly wages increased more than twice as fast as hourly output between 1948 and 1956.

Tax increases, it said, were "added on top of this wage squeeze."

However, it said, "while the increase in tax rates is in part responsible for the general deterioration of profit margins on sales, it has hit all industries with about equal severity and is not responsible for the fact that some industries have fared so much worse than others."

TECHNICAL RECOVERIES

Stocks Higher On Market After Earlier Setbacks

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—A couple of good rallies more than made up for earlier setbacks and left stocks a shade higher this week.

Volume rose to two million shares and better on the rallies.

Wall Streeters regarded the week's two brisk advances as technical recoveries from an oversold condition.

There was no fundamental change in the uncertain business outlook, brokers said. But they observed that by Tuesday's close prices had declined to a point where they began to look attractive to various buyers.

Declines in the first two sessions left the market on average at its lowest point since February.

Copper shares took the brunt of the selling early in the week. Continued concern about the Syrian situation weakened international oils. The rise in commercial paper rates and in the U.S. Treasury's short-term borrowing costs put renewed emphasis on tight money fears.

The recovery began Wednesday. It was aided by news of a firming in copper prices at their lower levels, by Wall Street reports that the government might soon unfreeze military spending and by a less menacing situation in Syria. Some bright corporate news and rumors helped specific issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents on the week to $178.80.

The five most active issues were Anaconda, up ¾ at 53¼; General Motors, off ¾ at 41⅜; Bethlehem Steel, off ¼ at 44¾; Sperry Rand, up ⅛ at 21⅛; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), up ¾ at 62.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Fidelity Standard Life Insurance Company has announced appointment of Robert N. Amacker of East Carroll Parish, to the executive board of the company. Amacker, who resides in Lake Providence, is an active civic leader and business man, and is well known through Louisiana.

James R. Edmonson of 605 Louisville Avenue in Monroe, has graduated from the International Business Machines Corporation processing customer engineering school at the IBM plant in Endicott, N. Y. He is assigned to the company's New Orleans sales and service office.

Edmonson and his fellow graduates represent 11 IBM branch offices in seven states.

Wisk, a new blue liquid detergent, is being introduced here this week by Lever Brothers, represented in this area by Kenny Willis.

The product is being marketed in a dripless - top metal container and Willis states it works equally well in removing stubborn stains and in laundering the most delicate fabrics.

Following a record - breaking summer season, Mississippi's fabled Gulf Coast is preparing to entertain thousands of late vacationers and South - bound tourists from the East and Middle West during the remainder of September and October and November.

The Harrison County Advertising Commission declares that the Coast is "at its best in the Fall!", adding that the weather is comfortable, the 28 - mile sand beach less crowded, fishing at its peak and accommodations to suit any taste and purse.

Grain Market Is Lively In Trade

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—A government crop report, a decision by Britain's minister of agriculture and discouraged longs combined this week to keep the grain market a lively trading place.

The grain market as a whole suffered its worst setback in many months on Wednesday when wheat ended nearly two cents a bushel lower, corn off more than two cents, and soybeans down more than three.

At the end of the week new style wheat was 3 to 4½ cents a bushel lower than Friday a week ago. Corn was down 2⅝ to 3 cents, oat swere ¼ to one cent lower, rye was off 2 to 3 cents, soybeans 2½ to 4¼ lower and lard was down 25 to 40 cents a hundred pounds.

Nationwide Drive For Trade Renewal Reported Yesterday

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (UP)—International House today announced a nationwide drive calling for a 10-year renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements program in Congress.

International House, which promotes trade for New Orleans and the lower Mississippi Valley, said cancellation of the trade agreements would injure the $30 billion a year volume of United States foreign trade.

Joseph M. Rault, president of International House, said the trade program has been in operation since 1934, but will expire June, 1958, unless renewed. Under the program U. S. world trade has been promoted and regulated under lowered trade and tariff barriers.

"The minority groups that still favor high tariffs and protectionist measures that handicap our multi-million dollar foreign trade are well organized and hard at work to kill the whole reciprocal program in Congress next winter," he said.

He said the program was in "grave danger."

Two New Oil Wells Completed

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 14 (AP)—Two new oil wells were completed this week in Mississippi fields, oil men said today.

The new wells are:

Jett Drilling Co.'s Roberts No. 2 in the Bolton Field of Hinds County. The well was flowing 302 barrels of 44 gravity oil per day from a sand at 11,403-15 feet.

I. P. Larue's Southern Minerals-Federal No. 1 in the Pistol Ridge field of Pearl River County. The well flowed 143 barrels of 42 gravity oil daily from a sand at 9,026-34 feet.

Other oil activity:

Amerada Petroleum Corp. was below 11,700 feet and nearing the top of the smackover lime in the USA-Vaughey No. 1 in the Valley Park Field of Sharkey County.

The well is a test for the smackover lime.

In Rankin County, Carter Oil was below 8,700 feet in the wildcat Henry Kersh No. 1. Contract depth is 13,900 feet.

Marlin Exploration Co. was preparing to perforate and test the Wildcat Pierce Butler No. 1 in Adams County near the Glen Aubin Field. Total depth is 6,810 feet with the test scheduled for the Wilcox sands at 6,650 feet.

Rimrock Tidelands Inc. was below 5,400 feet in the Smith County wildcat J. C. Hester No. 1. Contract depth is 13,300 feet.

In the Raleigh Field of Smith County, California Co. was coring below 12,190 feet in the Homer Currie No. 2 with numerous shows of oil logged in an interval from 10,958 feet down.

California Co. also was below 6,100 feet in its Homer Currie et al No. 3 in the same field.

Launius and Meyer were below 9,500 feet in the Issaquena County wildcat Kelsey-Hayes No. 1 with the test scheduled to be drilled to 10,000 feet.

In the Ansley Field of Hancock County, Marshall R. Young was below 9,600 feet in the International-Alexander No. 2.

Skelly Oil Co. and Kin-Ark were below 8,000 feet in the B. L. Herring No. 1 confirmation well in the recently discovered Dexter gas condensate field of Walthall and Marion counties.

GOVERNOR, REPRESENTATIVE

Mississippi Politicians Argue Diaper Changing

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 14 (AP)—Gov. J. P. Coleman and Rep. Hilton Waits, whose differences on affairs of state are pretty well known, developed other differences this week.

The subject, baby diapers, and which of the two veteran politicians is better at changing a wet baby.

Both are seasoned in many of the more rigorous experiences of life, but this is the first time we've had the opportunity to hear them chit-chat about little homey things like diaper changing.

How did this strange subject arise between two shrewd lawyers who are both gifted in legal gymnastics, jurisprudence and courtroom technique?

It happened this way: Coleman and the Washington County legislator are both members of the State Budget and Accounting Commission. The commission was in session to hear Welfare Commissioner W. E. Holcomb and H.T. Odom of Greenwood, chairman of the Welfare Board, present their budget recommendations for the next biennium.

Waits: "Major Holcomb, I see you want an increase in the child welfare services program. What is that for? Is it for these classes where they teach mothers how to pin on a baby diaper?"

Coleman, interrupting: "Now, Hilton, what do you know about baby diapers?"

Hilton, rubbing his grandfatherly bald head, adjusting his horned rimmed glasses and shuffling nervously in his seat: 'Now, there you go again, governor, stepping into a field you know little about. Why, I have six children and I know all about baby diapers."

Holcomb: "You were asking.."

Coleman: "No, let's hear what Hilton has to say on the baby diaper angle of this budget, Major Holcomb."

Waits, "Why, I've known the old rectangular type of baby diaper. That's what they used when I was growing up and still used some until somebody came along with this high-falutin triangle idea. I can never seem to cover everything with only three corners."

Coleman: "You don't know how to use the triangle type, Hilton?"

Waits: "No, my niece tried to show me recently, but I think I like the four corners best. I don't stick the baby."

The governor has one child and Waits has six. The friendly chuckles that punctuated this discourse on child care brought the Budget Commission into a more friendly atmosphere with the public welfare program and we'll await the action of the 1958 Appropriations Committee to see who won.

Support Urged In Battle With Asian Influenza

All-out support of medical and public health authorities in plans to cope with an expected outbreak this fall of Asian flu, is urged today by the American Red Cross.

American Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther urged Ouachita Parish Chapter, along with over 3,000 others, to cooperate fully with community health authorities and to meet the needs prescribed by these officials.

The United States Public Health Service estimates that one person in five will be stricken with the ailment. Most, however, will be affected by a "comparatively mild" version of the disease, authorities said. For these, home care will be adequate, but hospital beds will be available for those who develop complication.

Bus Driver Gives Version Of Crash

H. L. Pace, driver of a school bus involved in a minor wreck at the intersection of North Third of Louisville Friday, said yesterday that his bus was not knocked into an automobile driven by Mrs. Newton J. Moore.

Instead, Pace said, a gravel truck driven by Lloyd Bennett, struck Mrs. Moore's car and then careened into the bus. Bennett was headed east on Louisville and Pace was headed west on the same street. Mrs. Moore was headed north on North Third. Mrs. Moore suffered cuts and bruises, but her injuries were not considered serious.

Ruston VFW Post Supports Faubus

RUSTON (Special) — Pacific-Burt Post 5300 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ruston, has gone on record as endorsing Governor Faubus' stand on the segregation issue at Little Rock, Ark.

In a resolution recently adopted, the VFW post said, "We heartily endorse the courageous stand taken by Governor Faubus and we take this means of expressing our gratitude for his firm stand in upholding States Rights and Constitutional Government."

"Look homeward, Angel," was not coined by Thomas Wolfe, author of a novel by that name. John Milton who first wrote the phrase in "Lycidas," a pastoral elegy.

Prominent Sugar Planter Succumbs

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., Sept. 14 (UP)—A prominent Louisiana Sugar planter, Stephen C. Munson, 65, died today.

He had lived in Pass Christian in semi-retirement for the past several years. His family said he had a bad heart condition.

Munson, born in Napoleonville, La., was a charter member of the American Sugar Cane League, which bestowed on him an honorary membership in 1949 for his outstanding contributions to the sugar industry.

Munson, who lived in the south Louisiana area most of his life, was general manager of the Delgado - Albania sugar plantation from 1931 until 1953.

He served 19 years on the Assumption parish police jury.

Survivors included his wife, two sons and two daughters.

Progress On Highway Work Seen

WASHINGTON (Special) — Construction costing $33,303,000 has been programmed by Louisiana on the national system of interstate and defense highways.

The U. S. Bureau of public roads reported Friday that 22.5 miles have been programmed in Louisiana. Federal share of the cost is $28,381,000.

Under the huge new federal - aid highway program the pelican state still has $52,095,000 in federal funds set aside for its use which will be made available as construction work progresses.

The bureau said $12,241,000 has been spent for preliminary engineering and rights - of - way in Louisiana. Contracts have been advertised, awarded or are underway on seven miles at a total cost of $4,629,000.

UNDERGROUND

ST. LOUIS —(UP)— To get its $150,000 worth out of a new auditorium, the McDonnell Aircraft company decided to build it underground and let it double as a bombshelter. The roof will be covered with dirt and planted with flowers. Filters will absorb radiation.

ACCOMMODATING

CAZENOVIA, N. Y. —(UP)— Two months after Mrs. E. R. Carson Jr. hung a freshly laundered apron up on her backyard clothesline, she took it down. She had set it up to accommodate a mother wren who nested in the apron pocket, hatched five eggs and stayed there until the little wrens learned to fly.

The University of Alabama conducts an annual cheerleaders clinic each summer for prospective leaders of school cheers. About 300 youngsters are expected to attend the session this year.

GOVERNOR, REPRESENTATIVE

Mississippi Politicians Argue Diaper Changing

JACKSON, Miss., Sept.14 (AP)—Gov. J. P. Coleman and Rep. Hilton Waits, whose differences on affairs of state are pretty well known, developed other differences this week.

The subject, baby diapers, and which of the two veteran politicians is better at changing a wet baby.

Both are seasoned in many of the more rigorous experiences of life, but this is the first time we've had the opportunity to hear them chit-chat about little homey things like diaper changing.

How did this strange subject arise between two shrewd lawyers who are both gifted in legal gymnastics, jurisprudence and courtroom technique?

It happened this way: Coleman and the Washington County legislator are both members of the State Budget and Accounting Commission. The commission was in session to hear Welfare Commissioner W. E. Holcomb and H.T. Odom of Greenwood, chairman of the Welfare Board, present their budget recommendations for the next biennium.

Waits: "Major Holcomb, I see you want an increase in the child welfare services program. What is that for? Is it for these classes where they teach mothers how to pin on a baby diaper?"

Coleman, interrupting: "Now, Hilton, what do you know about baby diapers?"

Hilton, rubbing his grandfatherly bald head, adjusting his horned rimmed glasses and shuffling nervously in his seat: 'Now, there you go again, governor, stepping into a field you know little about. Why, I have six children and I know all about baby diapers."

Holcomb: "You were asking.."

Coleman: "No, let's hear what Hilton has to say on the baby diaper angle of this budget, Major Holcomb."

Waits, "Why, I've known the old rectangular type of baby diaper. That's what they used when I was growing up and still used some until somebody came along with this high-faluting triangle idea. I can never seem to cover everything with only three corners."

Coleman: "You don't know how to use the triangle type, Hilton?"

Waits: "No, my niece tried to show me recently, but I think I like the four corners best. I don't stick the baby."

The governor has one child and Waits has six. The friendly chuckles that punctuated this discourse on child care brought the Budget Commission into a more friendly atmosphere with the public welfare program and we'll await the action of the 1958 Appropriations Committee to see who won.

Support Urged In Battle With Asian Influenza

All-out support of medical and public health authorities in plans to cope with an expected outbreak this fall of Asian flu, is urged today by the American Red Cross.

American Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther urged Ouachita Parish Chapter, along with over 3,000 others, to coopr-ate fully with community health authorities and to meet the needs prescribed by these officials.

The United States Public Health Service estimates that one person in five will be stricken with the ailment. Most, however, will be affected by a "comparatively mild" version of the disease, authorities said. For these, home care will be adequate, but hospital beds will be available for those who develop complications.

Bus Driver Gives Version Of Crash

H. L. Pace, driver of a school bus involved in a minor wreck at the intersection of North Third of Louisville Friday, said yesterday that his bus was not knocked into an automobile driven by Mrs. Newton J. Moore.

Instead, Pace said, a gravel truck driven by Lloyd Bennett, struck Mrs. Moore's car and then careened into the bus. Bennett was headed east on Louisville and Pace was headed west on the same street. Mrs. Moore was headed north on North Third. Mrs. Moore suffered cuts and bruises, but her injuries were not considered serious.

Ruston VFW Post Supports Faubus

RUSTON (Special) — Parnell-Burt Post 3615 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ruston, has gone on record as endorsing Gov. Orval Faubus' stand on the segregation issue at Little Rock, Ark.

In a resolution recently adopted, the VFW post said, "We heartily endorse the courageous stand taken by Governor Faubus and we take this means of expressing our gratitude for his firm stand in upholding States Rights and Constitutional government."

"Look homeward, Angel," was not coined by Thomas Wolfe, author of a novel by that name. John Mitlon who first wrote the phrase in "Lycidas," a pastoral elegy.

Prominent Sugar Planter Succumbs

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., Sept. 14 (UP)—A prominet Louisiana Sugar planter, Stephen C. Munson, 65, died today.

He had lived in Pass Christian in semi - retirement for the past several years. His family said he had a bad heart condition.

Munson, born in Napoleonville, La., was a charter member of the American Sugar Cane League, which bestowed on him an honorary membership in 1949 for his outstanding contributions to the sugar industry.

Munson, who lived in the south Louisiana area most of his life, was general manager of the Delgado - Albania sugar plantation from 1931 until 1953.

He served 19 years on the Assumption parish police jury.

Survivors included his wife, two sons and two daughters.

TECHNICAL RECOVERIES

Stocks Higher On Market After Earlier Setbacks

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—A couple of good rallies more than made up for earlier setbacks and left stocks a shade higher this week.

Volume rose to two million shares and better on the rallies.

Wall Streeters regarded the week's two brisk advances as technical recoveries from an oversold condition.

There was no fundamental change in the uncertain business outlook, brokers said. But they observed that by Tuesday's close prices had declined to a point where they began to look attractive to various buyers.

Declines in the first two sessions left the market on average at its lowest point since February.

Copper shares took the brunt of the selling early in the week. Continued concern about the Syrian situation weakened international oils. The rise in commercial paper rates and in the U.S. Treasury's short-term borrowing costs put renewed emphasis on tight money fears.

The recovery began Wednesday. It was aided by news of a firming in copper prices at their lower levels, by Wall Street reports that the government might soon unfreeze military spending and by a less menacing situation in Syria. Some bright corporate news and rumors helped specific issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents on the week to $178.80.

The five most active issues were Anaconda, up ¾ at 53¼; General Motors, off ¾ at 41⅜; Bethlehem Steel, off ¼ at 44¾; Sperry Rand, up ⅛ at 21⅛; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), up ¾ at 62.

Business Takes Turn For Better This Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Businessmen jittery about recession prospects had cause for mild encouragement this week.

Things seemed to be taking a turn for the better at several key points.

There were signs the long-dormant home building industry might finally be coming back to life.

Copper prices, after undergoing a prolonged sinking spell, started inching up again.

Suppliers of Douglas fir plywood reported a flood of new orders. Paperboard mills ran at full capacity to meet a flurry of demand for cartons for shipping consumer goods from factories to stores.

A pickup in business since Labor Day was reported by retail merchants. Many said sales were running higher than a year ago.

The stock market staged an impressive although indecisive rally.

There were still plenty of "if's" and 'but's" in the nation's business picture.

No one could say with certainty whether the long-awaited fall upturn would live up to earlier hopes.

The steel industry continued to loaf along, with operations for the week scheduled at only 83 per cent of capacity. Domestic oil production was close to a two-year low.

Layoffs in the aircraft industry posed problems for production workers and some engineers.

Auto assembly lines clanked to a halt as manufacturers of some makes started getting ready for production of 1958 models.

Auto retailers, pushing hard to clean out inventories of 1957 cars, vied with one another in offering cut-rate deals and discounts. "The cleanup will be orderly," one dealer was quoted as saying, "but it will be tough to make a buck. The customers want blood."

Biggest question was how the economy would react to the slowdown in industrial expansion.

For some years now, business and industry have been growing at a record rate. Companies have been pouring a steadily increasing flow of dollars into new plants, machinery, research laboratories and office buildings.

Last year, when home building and auto sales went into a slump, a massive susrge of capital spending by private companies helped keep business at a high peak. It created new jobs and kept the construction boom rolling. The total of such spending in 1956 amounted to 35 billion dollars.

This represented a whirlwind increase of 22½ per cent over the previous 1955 record. Since then, spending for expansion has kept on rising, but much more slowly.

And now, according to a newly published government survey, the upward curve is flattening out.

VOLUNTARY

Oil Question Still Remains

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Six weeks after the start of the administration's voluntary program for reduction of oil imports, the question of whether it will work remains unanswered.

This week's hearings on protests by some of the importing companies not only brought no answer to the question, but raised a question on costs of curtailing imports.

Spokesman for importing companies said domestic crude would cost them more and somebody—presumably the consuming public—would have to pay the difference.

Figures were offered by objecting importers at the hearings before Navy Capt. M. V. Carson to show that the proposed cutback would cost someone at least 50 dollars a year. Carson was borrowed from the Navy to administer the program as a special assistant to the secretary of interior.

Testimony was given by witnesses for some importing companies that crude oil from the Middle East or Venezuela, including transportation costs and a 5¼ cents a barrel duty, can be laid down at East Coast refineries at 50 cents to 80 cents a barrel under the price of similar crude from Texas.

The voluntary program was ordered by President Eisenhower after a Cabinet committee found that imports were hurting American producers and threatening to impair their capacity for meeting the nation's needs in an emergency. Under the program, importers were asked to cut their incoming shipments 10 per cent under the average for the three-year 1954-56 period.

Attending the hearings was Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, which has long sought a curb on imports.

Brown said granting the request of one of the petitioning companies for a larger quota would open a Pandora's box, with every importer wanting a boost.

He said imports have been averaging about 1,400,000 barrels daily, far over the goal of 1,031,000 barrels set under the program.

"It's a little early to tell if the program will work," Brown said.

Cotton Case To Come Up On Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The case of a cotton mill company accused of closing its doors rather than bargain with a union comes before the five-man National Labor Relations Board Monday.

The board will hear oral arguments—a rare occasion at NLRB headquarters—on charges by the Textile Workers Union of America against the now-defunct Darlington Manufacturing Co., Darlington, S. C.

The union wants the board to order the company to go back into business and rehire the 550 employes discharged when the plant closed about a year ago.

Right to Shut Down

The company contends it had the right to shut down when it pleased and disputes an NLRB trial examiner's finding that it was closed to avoid dealing with the textile workers.

The union won the right to represent workers at the mill by a 256-to-248 vote in a plant election conducted by the NLRB on Sept. 6, 1956.

By mid-November the employes were laid off and in December the mill machinery was sold.

The union filed charges against the company and the NLRB issued a complaint accusing the firm of unfair labor practices.

Found Company Guilty

The trial examiner who presided at a hearing on the complaint found the company guilty but refused to allow the union's demands for back pay or reinstatement of the discharged workers. Instead, the examiner ordered the company to proclaim that it would cease and desist from such practices.

The union urged the NLRB to proceed against Roger Milliken, an official of the Deering, Milliken & Co., which operates a chain of cotton mills. The union charged that Milliken was the "architect and controlling power" behind the decision to close the Darlington plant.

So far the NLRB has refused to include Milliken and the firm bearing his name in the charges arising from the shut-down.

Two New Oil Wells Completed

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 14 (AP)—Two new oil wells were completed this week in Mississippi fields, oil men said today.

The new wells are:

Jett Drilling Co.'s Roberts No. 2 in the Bolton Field of Hinds County. The well was flowing 302 barrels of 44 gravity oil per day from a sand at 11,403-15 feet.

I. P. Larue's Southern Minerals-Federal No. 1 in the Pistol Ridge field of Pearl River County. The well flowed 143 barrels of 42 gravity oil daily from a sand at 9,026-34 feet.

Other oil activity:

Amerada Petroleum Corp. was below 11,700 feet and nearing the top of the smackover lime in the USA-Vaughey No. 1 in the Valley Park Field of Sharkey County.

The well is a test for the smackover lime.

In Rankin County, Carter Oil was below 8,700 feet in the wildcat Henry Kersh No. 1. Contract depth is 13,900 feet.

Marlin Exploration Co. was preparing to perforate and test the Wildcat Pierce Butler No. 1 in Adams County near the Glen Aubin Field. Total depth is 6,810 feet with the test scheduled for the Wilcox sands at 6,650 feet.

Rimrock Tidelands Inc. was below 5,400 feet in the Smith County wildcat J. C. Hester No. 1. Contract depth is 13,300 feet.

In the Raleigh Field of Smith County, California Co. was coring below 12,190 feet in the Homer Currie No. 2 with numerous shows of oil logged in an interval from 10,958 feet down.

California Co. also was below 6,100 feet in its Homer Currie et al No. 3 in the same field.

Launius and Meyer were below 9,500 feet in the Issaquena County wildcat Kelsey-Hayes No. 1 with the test scheduled to be drilled to 10,000 feet.

In the Ansley Field of Hancock County, Marshall R. Young was below 9,600 feet in the International-Alexander No. 2.

Skelly Oil Co. and Kin-Ark were below 8,000 feet in the B. L. Herring No. 1 confirmation well in the recently discovered Dexter gas condensate field of Walthall and Marion counties.

Nationwide Drive For Trade Renewal Reported Yesterday

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (UP)—International House today announced a 10-year renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements program in Congress.

International House, which promotes trade for New Orleans and the lower Mississippi Valley, said cancellation of the trade agreements would injure the $30 billion a year volume of United States foreign trade.

Joseph M. Rault, president of International House, said the trade program has been in operation since 1934, but will expire June, 1958, unless renewed. Under the program U. S. world trade has been promoted and regulated under lowered trade and tariff barriers.

"The minority groups that still favor high tariffs and protectionist measures that handicap our multi-million dollar foreign trade are well organized and hard at work to kill the whole reciprocal program in Congress next winter," he said.

He said the program was in "grave danger."

Small Net Changes In Cotton Noted

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Cotton futures rallied after a shaky start this week and closed mixed with small net changes.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished at prices ranging from 20 cents a bale higher to 85 cents a bale lower.

A decline at the start of the week was attributed in part to selling induced by a larger-than-expected official government forecast on the size of the new crop. The government estimate of 12,713,000 bales was 800,000 bales higher than the official August forecast. Estimates previously made by private trade sources had indicated an increase of only 450,000 bales.

Earlier in the week, the market backed and filled. Limited offerings were absorbed by trade buying and mill price fixing and short covering. Some buying was prompted by a series of less favorable weather reports from sections of the belt.

Based on the government's latest crop forecast of 12,713,000 bales, the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau estimated the total domestic supply at the end of the current season would approximate 23,600,000 bales, against 27,600,000 at the end of the previous season.

The Service Bureau noted that if distribution ranges from the presently estimated 13½ million bales to 15 million bales, an end-season carryover of 8,600,000 to 10,100,000 bales would be in prospect.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the Service Bureau at 71,000 bales, vs. 40,000 the previous week and 122,000 in the comparable 1956 week.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Fidelity Standard Life Insurance Company has announced appointment of Robert N. Amacker of East Carroll Parish, to the executive board of the company. Amacker, who resides in Lake Providence, is an active civic leader and business man, and is well known through Louisiana.

James R. Edmonson of 605 Louisville Avenue in Monroe, has graduated from the International Business Machines Corporation processing customer engineering school at the IBM plant in Endicott, N. Y. He is assigned to the company's New Orleans sales and service office.

Edmonson and his fellow graduates represent 11 IBM branch offices in seven states.

Wisk, a new blue liquid detergent, is being introduced here this week by Lever Brothers, represented in this area by Kenny Willis.

The product is being marketed in a dripless - top metal container and Willis states it works equally well in removing stubborn stains and in laundering the most delicate fabrics.

Following a record - breaking summer season, Mississippi's fabled Gulf Coast is preparing to entertain thousands of late vacationers and South - bound tourists from the East and Middle West during the remainder of September and October and November.

The Harrison County Advertising Commission declares that the Coast is "at its best in the Fall!", adding that the weather is comfortable, the 28 - mile sand beach less crowded, fishing at its peak and accommodations to suit any taste and purse.

Robert W. Fowlkes has been appointed to represent Southwestern Life Insurance Company in West Monroe and vicinity, according to an announcement by Don Williford, of Shreveport, manager.

A resident of Monroe for the past eight years, Fowlkes is a native of Arkansas. He attended Arkansas A. & M. and Louisiana Tech and served with the U. S. Navy in World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowlkes and their two children, Robert William, Jr., 4, and David Quin, eight - weeks old, live at 200 Ferndale in West Monroe.

HAIR AGAIN

HALLS, Tenn. — (UP) — Tom Linson is growing hair again at age 91. He had been bald some 25 years. Now he has a head of brown fuzz.

Grain Market Is Lively In Trade

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—A government crop report, a decision by Britain's minister of agriculture and discouraged longs combined this week to keep the grain market a lively trading place.

The grain market as a whole suffered its worst setback in many months on Wednesday when wheat ended nearly two cents a bushel lower, corn off more than two cents, and soybeans down more than three.

At the end of the week new style wheat was 3 to 4½ cents a bushel lower than Friday a week ago. Corn was down 2⅝ to 3 cents, oat swere ¼ to one cent lower, rye was off 2 to 3 cents, soybeans 2½ to 4¼ lower and lard was down 25 to 40 cents a hundred pounds.

U. S. DECLINES

Venezuela, Middle East Producing Record Oil

HOUSTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Venezuela and the Middle East are producing crude oil at record levels while U.S. output declines.

Domestic production has been slahed over a million barrels a day since reaching record levels in late March at the peak of the Suez Canal crisis.

The Middle East is now producing more oil than before the emergency despite severe complications in Iraq.

Since the emergency, Vnezuela has boosted her production over 430,000 barrels a day, setting new records consistently.

Imports last week were a recored average of 1,795,200 barrels a day.

Gov. Price Daniel described President Eisenhower's program for voluntary cutbacks in imports as "toothless." Daniel asked the administration to "move more forcefully."

Daniel blamed imports for forcing a 13-day crude production schedule in Texas, a record low for the 25-year of the state's conservation statues. He said Texas cannot continue indefinitely under the schedule without facing serious damage to the general economy and a critical loss of tax revenue.

Prior to the closing of Suez early last November, the record for domestic crude production was a daily average of 7,183,350. By eary November the average had declined to 6,981,100 barrels.

Closing of Suez jumped U.S. production to a record 7,818,400 barrels daily by late March. In less than six months, the average has dropped to 6,807,350.

The Middle East in October produced a record 3,873,500 barrels a day.

Since the emergency, the domestic average has been cut 1,011,500 barrels a day, with Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma accounting for a decline of 929,000 barrels. Texas has slashed its production 561,000 barrels a day, Louisiana 232,000, and Oklahoma 136,000.

NAM CLAIMS:

Higher Taxes, Wages Are To Blame For Inflation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The National Association of Manufacturers said today rising wages and higher taxes, not greedy businessmen, are to blame for inflation.

"The conclusion is inescapable that the current inflationary trend is due to the rising costs of labor and the continuing heavy tax burden, not to the 'greed' of manufacturers for exorbitant profits, as some people claim," the NAM said in an especially prepared booklet.

It recommended government economy to permit taxtion "fair and square," and a return to "equality" in wage bargaining to permit "economically sound" settlements as the solution to the problem.

The 10-page booklet gave the association's analysis of "wages, prices, profits and inflation."

"Profit margins on sales have suffered, just as the American consumer has suffered, from the power of monopolistic unions to exact wage gains unrelated to productivity," it said.

To back that up, it said government statistics showed that hourly wages increased more than twice as fast as hourly output between 1948 and 1956.

Tax increases, it said, were "added on top of this wage squeeze."

However, it said, "while the increase in tax rates is in part responsible for the general deterioration of profit margins on sales, it has hit all industries with about equal severity and is not responsible for the fact that some industries have fared so much worse than others."

CATAHOULA TEST 355 BARRELS

Seven Oil, Gas Wells Finaled In Area Last Week, Conservation Report Shows

The weekly report of the Monroe office of the State Conservation Department shows seven wells completed in the district during the past week. Six of the seven were oilers. A well in Cathahoula parish tested 355 barrels of 41 gravity oil, the reports read.

Completions were:

Catahoula

Patton Church field: Gulf Oil Corp. Catahoula Bank No. 4, sec. 24-8-6E was finaled Sept. 4, testing 122 barrels of 44 gravity oil daily on a 8-64 choke. Tubing pressure was 650 and production is from perforations at 4457-65 feet. Total depth of the well is 4568 feet.

Tew Lake field: Jack Tippett et al—Routon No. 1, Sec. 2-8-6E was finaled September 4, testing 355 barrels of 41 gravity oil daily on a 10-64 choke. Production is from perforations 4354½ to 4360½ feet. The gas-oil ratio is 500 to one with a tubing pressure of 400 per square inch and casing pressure of 520 psi. Total depth of this well is 4510 feet.

La Salle

Tullos-Urania field: M. Milam, Tullos Heirs No. 1-B, Sec. 25,10-1E was finaled September 7, pumping 11 barrels from 1289 to 1295 feet. Total depth is 1340 feet.

Tensas

Killens Ferry field: Jett Operations, Inc., Chicago Mill-Ayer Timber Co. No. 1, sec. 1-13-9E, finaled Aug. 31, tested 85 barrels daily on an 11-64 choke. Production is from perforations at 6963-6970 feet. Total depth of the well is 7031 feet. Nat'l Gas Dist. Corp.-Ayer Tbr. Co. Inc. No. 2-C, sec. 30-14-10E, was finaled September 6, flowing 211 barrels of 40.6 gravity oil daily on a 10-64 choke. Production is from perforations 6956-64 feet with a tubing pressure of 825 psi and casing pressure of 360 psi. The gas-oil ration is set at 541 to one. Total depth of the well is 7028 feet. Roberts F. Roberts Ayer Tbr. Co., Inc. No. E-1, sec. 29-14-10E, finaled in July, but not gauged until Sept. 9. The well is producing 105 barrels of 43 gravity oil daily on a 11-64 choke from perforations at 6982 to 6985 feet with a tubing pressure of 400 psi. Gas-oil ratio is estimated at 400 to 1. Total depth of the well is 7451 feet.

Union

Monroe field: Olin Gas Trans. Corp. Fee Gas No. 402, was finaled Aug. 30 as a gas well flowing 530 MCF of gas daily with a rock pressure of 640 pounds. Total depth of the well is 2059 feet.

New locations are:

Catahoula

Wildcat field: Douglas Whitaker and Marlin Exp. Inc., Thomas-Taliaferro et al No. 1, Sec. 26-9-6E, 440 feet of the east line and 440 feet of the north line of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter.

Concordia

Wildcat field: E. C. Wentworth, Angelina Lumber Co. No. 1-M, sec. 32-4-7E, 1980 feet north and 660 feet west of the southeast corner of the section.

GOVERNOR, REPRESENTATIVE

Mississippi Politicians Argue Diaper Changing

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 14 (UPI)—Gov. J. P. Coleman and Rep. Hilton Watts, whose differences on affairs of state are pretty well known, developed other differences this week.

The subject, baby diapers, and which of the two veteran politicians is better at changing a wet baby.

Both are seasoned in many of the more rigorous experiences of life, but this is the first time we've had the opportunity to hear them chit-chat about little homey things like diaper changing.

How did this strange subject arise between two shrewd lawyers who are both gifted in legal gymnastics, jurisprudence and courtroom technique?

It happened this way: Coleman and the Washington County legislator are both members of the State Budget and Accounting Commission. The commission was in session to hear Welfare Commissioner W. E. Holcomb and H.T. Odom of Greenwood, chairman of the Welfare Board, present their budget recommendations for the next biennium.

Watts: "Major Holcomb, I see you want an increase in the child welfare services program. What is that for? Is it for these classes where they teach mothers how to pin on a baby diaper?"

Coleman, interrupting: "Now, Hilton, what do you know about baby diapers?"

Hilton, rubbing his grandfatherly bald head, adjusting his horned rimmed glasses and shuffling nervously in his seat: 'Now, there you go again, governor, stepping into a field you know little about. Why, I have six children and I know all about baby diapers."

Holcomb: "You were asking."

Coleman: "No, let's hear what Hilton has to say on the baby diaper angle of this budget, Major Holcomb."

Watts, "Why, I've known the old rectangular type of baby diaper. That's what they used when I was growing up and still used some until somebody came along with this high-falutin triangle idea. I can never seem to cover everything with only three corners."

Coleman: "You don't know how to use the triangle type, Hilton?"

Watts: "No, my niece tried to show me recently, but I think I like the four corners best. I don't stick the baby."

The governor has one child and Watts has six. The friendly chuckles that punctuated this discourse on child care brought the Budget Commission into a more friendly atmosphere with the public welfare program and we'll await the action of the 1958 Appropriations Committee to see who won.

Support Urged In Battle With Asian Influenza

Almost support of medical and public health authorities in plans to cope with an expected outbreak this fall of Asian flu, is urged today by the American Red Cross.

American Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther urged Ouachita Parish Chapter, along with over 3,000 others, to cooperate fully with community health authorities and to meet the needs prescribed by these officials.

The United States Public Health Service estimates that one person in five will be stricken with the ailment. Most, however, will be affected by a "comparatively mild" version of the disease, authorities said. For these, home care will be adequate, but hospital beds will be available for those who develop complications.

Bus Driver Gives Version Of Crash

H. L. Pace, driver of a school bus involved in a minor wreck at the intersection of North Third of Louisville Friday, said yesterday that his bus was not "knocked into an automobile driven by Mrs. Newton J. Moore."

Instead, Pace said, a pickup truck driven by Lloyd Bennett, struck Mrs. Moore's car and then careened into the bus. Bennett was headed east on Louisville and Pace was headed west on the same street. Mrs. Moore was headed north on North Third. Mrs. Moore suffered cuts and bruises, but her injuries were not considered serious.

Progress On Highway Work Seen

WASHINGTON (Special) — Construction costing $43,363,600 has been programmed by Louisiana on the national system of interstate and defense highways.

The U. S. Bureau of public roads reported Friday that 22.5 miles have been programmed in Louisiana. Federal share of the cost is $38,583,600.

Under the three new federal-aid highway programs the Pelican state will have $52,003,000 in federal funds set aside for its use which will be made available as construction work progresses.

The bureau said $12,240,000 has been spent for highways connecting cities and towns of 5,000 or more in Louisiana. Contracts have been awarded, amended or supplemented since July 1 in the state in a total cost of $4,029,600.

UNDERGROUND

ST. LOUIS — (UPI) — Twenty-five $10,000 worth out of a $250,000 Christmas Tree Ornament Company destroyed in a flood a year ago, is being rebuilt underground and will be double as a bombshelter. The roof will be covered with dirt and planted with flowers. Filters will absorb radiation.

The University of Alabama conducts an annual Cheerleaders Clinic each summer for prospective leaders of school cheers. Most 300 young men are expected to attend the session this year.

GOVERNOR, REPRESENTATIVE

Mississippi Politicians Argue Diaper Changing

JACKSON, Miss., Sept.14 (AP)—Gov. J. P. Coleman and Rep. Hilton Waits, whose differences on affairs of state are pretty well known, developed other differences this week.

The subject, baby diapers, and which of the two veteran politicians is better at changing a wet baby.

Both are seasoned in many of the more rigorous experiences of life, but this is the first time we've had the opportunity to hear them chit-chat about little homey things like diaper changing.

How did this strange subject arise between two shrewd lawyers who are both gifted in legal gymnastics, jurisprudence and courtroom technique?

It happened this way: Coleman and the Washington County legislator are both members of the State Budget and Accounting Commission. The commission was in session to hear Welfare Commissioner W. E. Holcomb and H.T. Odom of Greenwood, chairman of the Welfare Board, present their budget recommendations for the next biennium.

Waits: "Major Holcomb, I see you want an increase in the child welfare services program. What is that for? Is it for these classes where they teach mothers how to pin on a baby diaper?"

Coleman, interrupting: "Now, Hilton, what do you know about baby diapers?"

Hilton, rubbing his grandfatherly bald head, adjusting his horned rimmed glasses and shuffling nervously in his seat: 'Now, there you go again, governor, stepping into a field you know little about. Why, I have six children and I know all about baby diapers."

Holcomb: "You were asking.."

Coleman: "No, let's hear what Hilton has to say on the baby diaper angle of this budget, Major Holcomb."

Waits, "Why, I've known the old rectangular type of baby diaper. That's what they used when I was growing up and still used some until somebody came along with this high-faluting triangle idea. I can neyer seem to cover everything with only three corners."

Coleman: "You don't know how to use the triangle type, Hilton?"

Waits: "No, my niece tried to show me recently, but I think I like the four corners best. I don't stick the baby."

The governor has one child and Waits has six. The friendly chuckles that punctuated this discourse on child care brought the Budget Commission into a more friendly atmosphere with the public welfare program and we'll await the action of the 1958 Appropriations Committee to see who won.

Support Urged In Battle With Asian Influenza

All-out support of medical and public health authorities in plans to cope with an expected outbreak this fall of Asian flu, is urged today by the American Red Cross.

American Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther urged Ouachita Parish Chapter, along with over 3,000 others, to cooprate fully with community health authorities and to meet the needs prescribed by these officials.

The United States Public Health Service estimates that one person in five will be stricken with the ailment. Most, however, will be affected by a "comparatively mild" version of the disease, authorities said. For these, home care will be adequate, but hospital beds will be available for those who develop complications.

Circuses Are Back, But Now In Halls, Not Tents

By MURRAY POWERS
Written for The AP

A year ago, the tears of circus fans throughout the country were almost enough to make a show wagon on a muddy lot.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey, the giant of the field, had collapsed in a heap in Pittsburgh under the weight of poor business, spiraling transportation and labor troubles. The show moved back to Sarasota winter quarters in Texas.

Clyde Beatty's Circus had encountered the same poor business. The ambitious King Bros., putting out two trains, had been stranded in the East, leaving beaten Bros. equipment and animals in various states.

John Ringling North, standing over the wreck of the Greatest Show on Earth, solemnly declared that the term Circus Acts from the past. His statement proved sad and accurate comment on the times and legend and truth were no more circuses left.

Ringling is back, but true to North's word, not a tent. Still, it has done surprisingly good business in halls and ball parks.

But did the tent shows die? Did the more than a dozen small circuses run for cover? No. The little fellows were busily setting up their tents in the morning, giving their performances, then tearing down and moving on to the next small town.

Circus people always have been heroic souls and when the going is the blackest and the maddest they carry on with greater fervor.

It was the same this year. The first circuses this spring almost beat the first robins.

Out of little Hugo, Okla., came the A. G. Kelly-Miller Bros., the George W. Cole and the Carson and Barnes circuses.

Out of the South came Cristiani Bros. and the Beers-Barnes Circuses.

From Ohio came Mills Bros. and from New Jersey, the Venezuela Hunt Bros.

Then there were Ring Bros., Hudgen Bros., Barlow Bros., Benson Bros. and Gil Gray—and perhaps several more small ones that one seldom hears about.

All of them were on trucks, snaking their way through the countryside, following the arrows that the 24-hour advance man had chalked on telephone and light poles and fences the afternoon before.

Clyde Beatty's Circus was reorganized, selling its railroad equipment and buying trucks like the rest.

There were no railroad circuses left, where 25 years ago folks rose early to see the circus train chug into the railroad yards and unload its magic paraphernalia.

But there is still the circus. Most of the country never saw Ringling anyway. It could make only about 200 cities a summer. The smaller towns had their entertainment in smaller form.

The Kelly-Miller show carries on with a dozen or so elephants, a hippo, camels and horses. Mills, Cristiani and Beatty offer three ring performances, but few spectators ever had ample room to see all five of Ringling's rings anyway.

The Kelly-Miller, Mills and Cristiani shows almost equal the 55-car railroad circuses of the past, carrying 20 to 30 trucks, plus a score of private living trailers.

These circuses have spread throughout the country this year—Miller, Cole and Carson and Barnes in Montana, the Dakotas, Wyoming; Hunt in its own compact New York-New Jersey-New England area; Cristiani and Beatty in the East, Mills and Hagen in the central West.

Many of the circuses have done well and are making plans for automatic seat wagons that will eliminate the back-breaking task of putting up and tearing down the seats; plans for lighter aluminum poles; plans for new and bigger tents.

Virtually all the circuses today rely on sponsors—making clubs, fraternal groups, veterans and civic associations actually a part of show business for a day. The circus makes a contract for the sponsor's town—say with the volunteer firemen. The date is set, the sponsor provides the lot for the circus, water for the show, free license, police protection and he must sell the advance tickets and advertise the show.

He gets half the proceeds from his advance sale, 50 cents out of a dollar.

Election Asked In Jefferson

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (UP)—A petition by the Jefferson charter commission asking the court to order the Jefferson parish police jury to call an election on new types of government was scheduled to be filed today.

Three forms of government would appear on the ballot. The commission recommends a parish manager, appointed or an elected parish executive. The third alternative would be the police jury.

The legal action was taken after a resolution setting a referendum election on Nov. 5 was tabled Wednesday by the police jury on a 13 to 4 vote.

Circuses Are Back, But Now In Halls, Not Tents

By MURRAY POWERS
Written for The AP

A year ago, the tears of circus fans throughout the country were almost enough to mire a show wagon on a muddy lot.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey, the giant of the field, had collapsed in a heap in Pittsburgh under the weight of poor business, snagged transportation and labor troubles. The show moved back to Sarasota winter quarters in gloom.

Clyde Beatty's Circus had encountered the same poor business. The ambitious King Bros., putting out two circuses, had been stranded in the East, leaving beaten equipment and animals in various towns.

John Ringling North, standing over the wreck of his Greatest Show on Earth, solemnly declared that the tented circus was a thing of the past. His statement, repeated and repeated, convinced the thousands who heard it and read it that there were no more circuses left.

SOONERS SOLID CHOICE TO DOMINATE SEASON; HILLMAN ROBBINS TAKES NATIONAL AMATEUR

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

We saw some figures this week where Ouachita Parish High school has around 450 boys enrolled in high school, yet Coach BBob Ellen hasn't enough students out for football to make a complete scrimmage possible during practice days. He had only 17 players available for the Minden game Friday---one was out with an injury---and if any more turn up injured at practice time tomorrow an already sad season is going to become worse.

It's almost unbelievable that a school with the enrollment of boys Ouachita has to show can't interest more of them in the desire to wear their school's uniform.

Some of the area's smaller schools, like Waterproof and Start, have nearly every boy in high school on their football squads, and we remember one year when Ronald Dry (now at Block of Jonesville) was coaching at Waterproof when he had only a 17-man squad that was just about the entire male enrollment of his school. Sush cases make it even more difficult to believe that Ouachita's football appeal has sunk to such a low state.

A losing season has it's drawbacks, but it has been our experience that there are a lot of boys willing to take a licking every weekend for that great privilege of wearing their school's uniform and earning that letter. Ouachita had a bad year last season yet produced an all-state quarterback in Dickie Crowe, something a lot of winning Ouachita clubs have failed to do.

We wonder if every boy at Ouachita who wants to play football has had or can get the chance. A lot of those students are from rural areas. We were once told boys living outside Monroe get their chance, and communities like Sterlington, Swartz and Fairbanks always have their contributions to the team.

Whatever the reasons for the slump of interest there's bound to be a big one with that great difference between enrollment and team candidates.

And the parish school board has just let contracts to build a quarter of a million-dollar football stadium for the Lions who have never had a football field all their own.

A quarterback club is scheduled to come into being at Delhi tomorrow after a preliminary meeting of some thirty boosters of the Delhi High Bears met to discuss such an organization, decided there was enough interest to do so, and called a meeting for formal organization and election of officers for tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at the Delhi Country Club.

"The purpose of the club is to give active support to the football team and to coaches Raymond Richards and Cecil Burchfield," one of the leaders in the organizational plans said. At least a hundred Delhi supporters are expected to join the club which will conduct regular programs to stimulate Bruin athletic interest and help the cause of the Bears.

Texas Aggies Rated Second In Early Poll

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — Oklahoma's Sooners, unbeaten in four seasons and winners of their last 40 games, were an overwhelming choice today to make it three straight national championships in college football.

Of 175 sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the annual Associated Press pre-season poll, cast first place votes for Oklahoma. On the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc., the Sooners wound up with a whopping 1,65[illegible] points and a wide edge over runner-up Texas A&M.

Every expert included Bud Wilkinson's champions on his ballot, with only five deciding Oklahoma should be rated lower than fourth. The Sooners, national champions in '55 and '56, open their 1957 season next Saturday against Pitt, the last school to keep them from trotting off the field with a victory.

Pitt, ranked eighth in the pre-season estimates, held Oklahoma to a 7-7 tie in the Sooners' opener in 1953.

The Texas Aggies, picked as the best of another strong southwestern Conference field, nipped Michigan State of the Big 10 for second place with 996 points to 963 although the Spartans had 20 first place votes to four for the Aggies. Minnesota was fourth, and Tennessee, Michigan, Baylor, Pitt, Iowa and Duke rounded out the top 10 in that order.

Georgia Tech's perennial Southeastern Conference powers led the second 10, missing the elite by two points with 226 compared to 231 drawn by 10th place Duke.

Other members of the second group, in order, were Navy, Oregon State, Miami of Florida, Auburn, Penn State, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Southern California and Kentucky.

Miami of Ohio picked up nine first place votes, Iowa four, Tennessee and Michigan three each, Notre Dame two, and Miami, Ohio State and unplaced Connecticut one apiece.

The top 20 teams, showing rankings, name of team, first place votes in parentheses and total points:

1.	Oklahoma (125)	1,650
2.	Texas A & M (9)	996
3.	Michigan State (20)	963
4.	Minnesota (9)	910
5.	Tennessee (3)	894
6.	Michigan (3)	683
7.	Baylor	547
8.	Pittsburgh	475
9.	Iowa (1)	455
10.	Duke	231
11.	Georgia Tech	226
12.	Navy	204
13.	Oregon State	203
14.	Miami (Fla.) (1)	202
15.	Auburn	96
16.	Penn State	71
17.	Ohio State (1)	66
18.	Notre Dame (2)	51
19.	Southern California	50
20.	Kentucky	29

Connecticut received one first place vote.

Dupas Entering Welter Class To Battle Miceli

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (AP) — Lightweight contender Ralph Dupas steps into the welterweight class again Wednesday night against Joe Miceli of New York and it could mean one of two things—bad for the welterweights and good for Dupas or vice versa.

The 21-year-old Dupas, currently rated the No. 3 lightweight challenger, went outside his class last May to whip Vince Martinez, now ranked No. 4 among the welterweights. The decision was debatable in some quarters, but a victory nonetheless.

Dupas is now engaged in a court battle over his racial status. He has asked a civil district court to force the city of New Orleans to issue him a birth certificate stating that he is white. Without such a certificate, he can't meet white fighters in Louisiana which prohibits mixed bouts.

Bureau of Vital Statistics officials contend Dupas actually is Ralph Dupiessis, a Negro born in adjoining Plaquemines Parish. The hearing resumes Oct. 1 when the court's vacation period ends.

The Louisiana State Athletic Commission reversed an earlier decision in a meeting last week by allowing Dupas to fight without the required birth certificate it had ruled earlier without the document it would not appear in his matches.

Miceli, a 23-year-old left hook artist who is up and down fighter by his own admission, jumped back into prominence last week by stopping former welterweight champion Johnny Saxton in four rounds. Miceli had Saxton on the canvas twice in the short session and the referee stopped the bout at the end of the third round.

Although seven years younger than Miceli, Dupas has had almost as many fights and has achieved a good deal more success. Dupas shows 66 victories against eight losers and six draws in 80 bouts while Miceli has won 54, lost 23 and fought to six draws.

Dupas will enter the Municipal Auditorium ring a decided favorite since he's shown marked success against knockout punchers before. He handled fourth-ranked Cisco Andrade easily and beat the moves of Eddy Vasquez twice.

Promoter Heard Rizzo predicts great things for the bout and even goes as far to say the match will appear on the $80,000-plus Dupas and Martinez drew last May. The bout, which will not be televised for broadcast, lacks like a coach to top $25,000 with a crowd of 6,000 or better expected to turn out.

FROGS, PIGEONS, GRANDMA, TOO

Muskrat Skinners Train For Championship Event

By JOHN CLARY

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — No children, baseball or football are the only sports that are played in the United States, do you what you may be reading on your sports page during the next few weeks.

This is the time of the year when Mr. Fan will be getting a steady diet of baseball pace, racing and pro World Series and football (college, professional, high school). And in between, the pro basketball camps are being readied and the pro hockey training sites are being put to good use.

But elsewhere, some people are practicing how to skin a muskrat, prodding frogs to record leaps, getting the most mileage out of a pigeon and even saddling up a rocking chair for an endurance race that would have made grandma's sometime seem like nothing at all.

No, children, daddy isn't off his rocker for these things are right up sports — and are as legitimate to some as baseball is in the Bronx.

Take for instance our friends the muskrat skinners. Now these lads are undoubtedly skinning a way to beat the band, in line for award to the National Muskrat Skinning Championships this winter.

Their goal? Why, a one minute skinning, of course. For the uneducated, this is analagous to a less - than - four minute mile. A contender must skin three of the poor things in less than a minute to become the Derek Ibbotson of the muskrat skinners.

If one of you happen to know a frog who can travel over 16 and a half feet in three bounds, then train him for the Calaveras Jumping Frog Jubilee next year. This out, yer frog won't be a world record holder.

By the way, five bucks to a plate you. The Calaveras jump last year was named Won Long Hop. Even Mark Twain recognized the importance of his prize athletic classic for it earned him to pen "The Frog of Calaveras County" — one of his best known works.

A memo to your park bench set here: Keep your eye peeled for a person who looks like a Boy. It may be the one to bring you fame and fortune. The only requisite is that it can fly 300 inches or farther in one of two "Pigeon 500's" each year.

This year, one of the birds named Blue Streak by the way, made it from New York to Chicago in 327 hours for one of the fifties, while only two starters made it from Norfolk, Neb. to Chicago in the second of the "Feathered Indianapolis Marathon."

Still not convinced? Well, take the case of the little grey - haired lady who has laid claim to the world's rocking chair championship. She rocked away for 93 hours, 8 minutes, outlasting three men and two women in the process.

This is one which should definitely appeal to those who like to win sitting down, and who also have a strong and durable stomach has made them immune to disturbances caused by constant movement. That would make a lot of old navy men eligible, and plenty of younge, ones too.

Yes, kiddies, there's more to the world of sports than meets the eye. And in case you've forgotten, the World Series begins Oct. 2, and Oklahoma meets Pitt to-

'Get Whitlock' Purse Set Up For Stock Cars

The "Get Royce Whitlock" crowd shoots for a special $25 purse this afternoon in the modified stock car feature at the Twin City Speedway, West Monroe, as the stock cars run again this afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Whitlock won his eighth straight race last week, and Oliver Good, West Monroe businessman and track owner, has posted a $25 reward for the driver who can beat Whitlock.

"The reward will stand until somebody beats him on our track," declared Floyd. "It may not be tomorrow, but somebody is going to take him and collect the purse."

Larry Nolen has reconditioned his No. 8 regulation stock car into a modified and will be among Whitlock's new challengers.

Duplicate events for stock and modified machines are on tap for today.

Swoon's Son Wins Midwest By 9 Lengths

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP) — E. Gay Drake's Swoon's Son today scored a nine length triumph over Hasty House farm's King Bruce II to win the $27,850 Midwest Handicap at Hawthorne.

Ridden by Dave Erb, Swoon's Son was in command all the way and widened the margin in a burst down the stretch. He covered the 6½ furlongs in 1:16 4-5, and collected first money of $18,750.

The winner paid $4.60, $3.40 and $2.40. King Bruce II returned $5.20 and $3.60 and Audley farm's Craigwood paid $2.80 for show.

QUALIFYING TUESDAY

Women's Amateur Finalists In Trans-Mississippi Meet

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 14 (UP)—A replay of the final match in the Women's National Amateur tournament appeared a possibility this week when play gets underway in the 27th women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Both Jo Anne Gunderson, 18-year-old Seattle girl who won the U.S. title at Sacramento last month, and Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, who lost to Miss Gunderson, 8 and 6, in the 36 hole Sacramento final, are among the 192 entrants who will tee off Tuesday in the qualifying round of the 1957 Trans Miss at Desert Inn country club.

Willi Smith, the freckled faced Michigan lass who turned pro last winter after winning the 1956 Trans-Miss at Monterey, Calif., is ineligible to defend her crown.

But 42 amateurs with handicaps of 5 strokes or less have gathered here to contend with Miss Gunderson and Mrs. Johnstone for qualifying berths in the championship flight of 32 players.

They include three former Trans-Miss Champions — Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., 1947-48-55 winner; Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., 1950, and Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, 1951.

Also back for another try is the Gardena, Calif., veteran, Marge Ferrie, runner-up to Miss Smith last year and winner of the 1955 Nevada women's crown over the Desert Inn course.

Other top contenders include Clifford Ann Creed, Opelousas, La., a double victor in the Tam O'Shanter all-America and "World tourneys; Barbara Romack Porter, Sacramento, National champion in 1954 and Trans-Miss medalist in 1953; Gracie De Moss, Corvallis, Wash., runner-up to Miss Lindsay in 1950; Barbara Dawson Hartson, Piedmont, Calif., one of the eight scratch players entered; Francis Rich, Dallas, Tex.; Ann Richards of Columbus, Ohio, and Doris Phillips, St. Louis, Mo.

Match play gets underway Wednesday with the final match in the championship flight scheduled over 36 holes next Sunday.

ROBINSON FIT

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y., Sept. 14 (UP)—Dr. Vincent Nardiello this afternoon pronounced Sugar Ray Robinson "the greatest fighter, pound for pound, in the ring today.

The well-known boxing physician made that statement after a thorough physical examination and after watching the middleweight champion spar three fast rounds. He said Sugar Ray will not have a single physical problem when he defends his middleweight crown against welterweight champion Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium a week from Monday.

Calumet Farm set a new record at Hialeah last winter with $247,375 in purses. Calumet had set the previous high of $173,675 at the Florida track in 1956.

Recreation

Grid Quiz

The Recreation Grid Quiz, conducted annually by the Monroe Recreation Department strictly for fun and entertainment although there is usually a matter of a championship trophy for the winners at the end of the season, gets its start this week.

Director Jack Hesketh last night announced the selection of games for the first week in this contest for men and women to run through ten weeks of the football season. Separate contests are conducted for men and women.

All that is necessary to participate is to circle the names of the teams you think will win in each week's selections, sign your name and address clearly and mail "Recreation Grid Quiz, P.O. Box 1293, Monroe" with a post mark not later than midnight Thursday.

This week's Hesketh horrors:

Friday

Jonesboro vs. West Monroe.

SPORTS

LEADS AT DALLAS

Sam Snead Fires Sensational 60

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 14 (UP) — Samuel Jackson Snead, the veteran West Virginia golfing warhorse, came roaring from deep in the pack today with a sensational PGA record-equalling 30-30-60 to explode into the halfway mark lead in the $10,000 Dallas Open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 130.

The 45-year-old hillbilly who has come "of age" five years after 21 years of professional campaigning, rode to the fore on the strength of terrific pitching and putting away to a flying start with an eagle on the very first hole when he holed out with a wedge shot 75 feet away on the 403-yard par 4 hole.

Snead thereby matched a record held by seven others. Byron Nelson first turned the trick in 1945 at Olympia, Wash., and it was then equalled by Al Brosch in 1951 in the Texas Open at San Antonio, Bill Nary in the El Paso Open in 1952, Ted Kroll in the Texas Open in 1954, Wally Ulrich in the Virginia Beach Open in 1954, Tommy Bolt in the Hartford Open in 1954 and Mike Souchak in the Texas Open in 1955.

All were made on par 71 courses of 6,500 yards or less, just like the hilly, 6,300-yard Glen Lakes par 36-35—71 course that Snead turned into a pitch and putt layout today.

The balding pro from White Sulphur Springs carved 10 fat strokes off the routine 35-35—70 of Friday's opening round as he soared from seven strokes off the pace into a two-stroke lead with 36 holes to go over red-haired Earl Stewart Jr., an infrequent tournament visitor from a neighboring Dallas course. Stewart carded a handsome 33-33—67 today to go with his six-under-par opening 63 to hit the halfway mark at 130.

Cary Middlecoff, the M.D. golfer dentist playing out of Hollywood Beach, Fla., who led the opening day with a flashy 65, skidded to a 33-32—70 because of a trio of three-putt greens to wind up in a tie for third place at 133 with an unknown, Bill Parker of Tulsa, Okla., who tacked a 33-33—66 today onto his opening 67.

Still very much in contention at 134 were Fred Haskins of El Paso, Tex., who had a 32-34—66 today, Howie Johnson of Akron, Ohio, who posted a 31-35—66 and Al Balocchi of Greenwood, N.Y., who had a 33-34—67 after a 67 on the initial tour.

Stephenson Shoots 69

But, the stupendous showing of Sammy Snead took the cherry of 8,500 by storm as he came storming out of the pack into the limelight after working in that heartening style that he used as a springboard for the crown.

His short game left him birdie putts of only six feet on the second hole, five feet on the eighth and eight feet on both the 12th and 13th. But, he trouped resounding cheers from his enthusiastic gallery with great rundowns of 22 feet on the 10th, 25 on the 17th and 30 feet on the 16th for birdies. His other subpar hole was the comparatively short 436-yard par 5 14th hole where he two-putted from 25 feet and lapped the cup in what might easily have been another eagle.

Snead said he thought he already was pacing in the 12th for a record breaking 59 and played the hole "real safe" with an eight iron to reach it a nine, because hands is a set-up that he barely missed.

Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem, N.C., was alone at 135 with a 35-33—68 today, while Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Paul O'Leary of Culver City, Calif., were paired at 137 after a 68 and 69 respectively.

Seven players were bunched at 138 and five others at 139 as the field was cut to the low 60 and ties for the third round Saturday.

Rallies Late To Win Over Frank Taylor

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 14 (UP) — Twenty-six-year-old Hillman Robbins, a hickory tough tot [illegible] from Tennessee surged [illegible] on the final two holes today to win the U.S. Amateur golf championship with a 3 and 4 triumph over Dr. Frank Bud Taylor of Pomona, Calif.

The [illegible], darkly-tanned Air Force lieutenant from Memphis had been a 1-up lead, [illegible] his hands in the morning and he was 1 down as late as the 21st hole.

But then in a day of sunshine and showers, he [illegible] all the trench in the afternoon today for a winning stroke over the demanding hills and valleys of the country club to wrap up the 57th annual championship.

From the 26th through the 29th holes, Robbins clawed his way to four straight winning holes with two pars and a pair of birdies [illegible] Taylor [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SOONERS SOLID CHOICE TO DOMINATE SEASON; HILLMAN ROBBINS TAKES NATIONAL AMATEUR

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

We saw some figures this week where Ouachita Parish High school has around 450 boys enrolled in high school, yet Coach BBob Ellen hasn't enough students out for football to make a complete scrimmage possible during practice days. He had only 17 players available for the Minden game Friday---one was out with an injury---and if any more turn up injured at practice time tomorrow an already sad season is going to become worse.

It's almost unbelievable that a school with the enrollment of boys Ouachita has to show can't interest more of them in the desire to wear their school's uniform.

Some of the area's smaller schools, like Waterproof and Start, have nearly every boy in high school on their football squads, and we remember one year when Ronald Dry (now at Block of Jonesville) was coaching at Waterproof when he had only a 17-man squad that was just about the entire male enrollment of his school. Sush cases make it even more difficult to believe that Ouachita's football appeal has sunk to such a low state.

A losing season has it's drawbacks, but it has been our experience that there are a lot of boys willing to take a licking every weekend for that great privilege of wearing their school's uniform and earning that letter. Ouachita had a bad year last season yet produced an all-state quarterback in Dickie Crowe, something a lot of winning Ouachita clubs have failed to do.

We wonder if every boy at Ouachita who wants to play football has had or can get the chance. A lot of those students are from rural areas. We were once told boys living outside Monroe get their chance, and communities like Sterlington, Swartz and Fairbanks always have their contributions to the team.

Whatever the reasons for the slump of interest there's bound to be a big one with that great difference between enrollment and team candidates.

And the parish school board has just let contracts to build a quarter of a million-dollar football stadium for the Lions who have never had a football field all their own.

A quarterback club is scheduled to come into being at Delhi tomorrow after a preliminary meeting of some thirty boosters of the Delhi High Bears met to discuss such an organization, decided there was enough interest to do so, and called a meeting for formal organization and election of officers for tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at the Delhi Country Club.

"The purpose of the club is to give active support to the football team and to coaches Raymond Richards and Ecil Burchfield," one of the leaders in the organizational plans said. At least a hundred Delhi supporters are expected to join the club which will conduct regular programs to stimulate Bruin athletic interest and help the cause of the Bears.

QUALIFYING TUESDAY

Women's Amateur Finalists In Trans-Mississippi Meet

LAS VEGAS, Neb., Sept. 14 (UP)—A replay of the final match in the Women's National Amateur tournament appeared a possibility this week when play gets underway in the 27th women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Both Jo Anne Gunderson, 18-year-old Seattle girl who won the U.S. title at Sacramento last month, and Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, who lost to Miss Gunderson, 8 and 6, in the 36 hole Sacramento final, are among the 192 entrants who will tee off Tuesday in the qualifying round of the 1957 Trans Miss at Desert Inn country club.

Wiffi Smith, the freckled-faced Michigan lass who turned pro last winter after winning the 1956 Trans-Miss at Monterey, Calif., is ineligible to defend her crown.

But 42 amateurs with handicaps of 5 strokes or less have gathered here to contend with Miss Gunderson and Mrs. Johnstone for qualifying berths in the championship flight of 32 players.

They include three former Trans Miss Champions — Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., 1947-48-55 winner; Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., 1950, and Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, 1951.

Also back for another try is the Gardena, Calif., veteran, Marge Ferrie, runner-up to Miss Smith last year and winner of the 1955 Nevada women's crown over the Desert Inn course.

Other top contenders include Clifford Ann Creed, Opeloisa, La., a double victor in the Tam O'Shanter all-America and "World tourneys; Barbara Romack Porter, Sacramento, National champion in 1954 and Trans-Miss medalis tin 1953; Gracie De Moss, Corvallis, Wash., runner-up to Miss Lindsay in 1950; Barbara Dawson Hartson, Piedmont, Calif. one of the eight scratch players entered; Francis Rich, Dallas, Tex.; Ann Richards of Columbus, Ohio, and Doris Phillips, St. Louis, Mo.

Match play gets underway Wednesday with the final match in the championship flight scheduled over 36 holes next Sunday.

Recreation

Grid Quiz

The Recreation Grid Quiz, conducted annually by the Monroe Recreation Department strictly for fun and entertainment although there is usually a matter of a championship trophy for the winners at the end of the season, gets its start this week.

Director Jack Hesketh last night announced the selection of games for the first week in this contest for men and women to run through ten weeks of the football season. Separate contests are conducted for men and women.

All that is necessary to participate is to circle the names of the teams you think will win in each week's selections, sign your name and address clearly and mail "Recreation Grid Quiz, P.O. Box 1293, Monroe" with a post mark not later than midnight Thursday.

This week's Hesketh horrors:

Friday

Jonesboro vs. West Monroe.
Rayville vs. Lake Providence.
Winnfield vs. Winnsboro.
Bastrop vs. Neville.

Saturday

ROBINSON FIT

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y., Sept. 14 (UP)—Dr. Vincent Nardiello this afternoon pronounced Sugar Ray Robinson "the greatest fighter, pound for pound, in the ring today.

The well-known boxing physician made that statement after a thorough physical examination and after watching the middleweight champion spar three fast rounds. He said Sugar Ray will not have a single physical problem when he defends his middleweight crown against welterweight champion Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium a week from Monday.

Calumet Farm set a new record at Hialeah last winter with $247,375 in purses. Calumet had set the previous high of $173,675 at the Florida track in 1956.

Texas Aggies Rated Second In Early Poll

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — Oklahoma's Sooners, unbeaten in four seasons and winners of their last 40 games, were an overwhelming choice today to make it three straight national championships in college football.

Of 175 sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the annual Associated Press pre - season poll, cast first place votes for Oklahoma. On the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc., the Sooners wound up with a whopping 1,659 points and a wide edge over runner - up Texas A&M.

Every expert included Bud Wilkinson's champions on his ballot, with only five deciding Oklahoma should be rated lower than fourth. The Sooners, national champions in '55 and '56, open their 1957 season next Saturday against Pitt, the last school to keep them from trotting off the field with a victory.

Pitt, ranked eighth in the preseason estimates, held Oklahoma to a 7-7 tie in the Sooners' opener in 1953.

The Texas Aggies, picked as the best of another strong southwestern Conference field, nipped Michigan State of the Big 10 for second place with 996 points to 988 althought the Spartans had 20 first place votes to four for the Aggies. Minnesota was fourth, and Tennessee, Michigan, Baylor, Pitt, Iowa and Duke rounded out the top 10 in that order.

Georgia Tech's perennial Southeastern Conference powers led the second 10, missing the elite by five points with 326 compared to 331 drawn by 10th place Duke.

Other members of the second group, in order, were Navy, Oregon State, Miami of Florida, Auburn, Penn State, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Southern California and Kentucky.

Minnesota picked up nine first place votes, Iowa four, Tennessee and Michigan three each, Notre Dame two, and Miami, Ohio State and unplaced Connecticut one apiece.

The top 20 teams, showing ranking, name of team, first place votes in parenthleses and total points:

1.	Oklahoma (127)	1,659
2.	Texas A. & M. (4)	996
3.	Michigan State (20)	988
4.	Minnesota (9)	910
5.	Tennessee (3)	894
6.	Michigan (3)	633
7.	Baylor	517
8.	Pittsburgh	437
9.	Iowa (4)	465
10.	Duke	331
11.	Georgia Tech	326
12.	Navy	301
13.	Oregon State	203
14.	Miami (Fla) (1)	202
15.	Auburn	98
16.	Penn State	71
17.	Ohio State (1)	60
18.	Notre Dame (2)	51
19.	Southern California	40
20.	Kentucky	39

(Connecticut received one first-place vote).

'Get Whitlock' Purse Set Up For Stock Cars

The "Get Royce Whitlock" crowd shoots for a speicial $25 purse this afternoon in the modified stock car feature at the Twin City Speedway, West Monroe, as the stock cars run again this afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Whitlock won his eighth straight race last week, and Oliver Cloyd, West Monroe businessman and track owner, has posted a $25 reward for the racer who can beat Whitlock.

"The reward will stand until somebody beats him on our track," declared Cloyd. "It may not be tomorrow, but somebody is going to take him and collect the purse."

Larry Nolan has reconditioned his No. 8 regulation stock car into a modified and will be among Whitlock's new challengers.

Duplicate events for stock and modified machines are on tap for today.

Swoon's Son Wins Midwest By 9 Lengths

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—E. Gay Drake's Swoon's Son today scored a nine length triumph over Hasty House farm's King Bruce II to win the $27,850 Midwest Handicap at Hawthorne.

Ridden by Dave Erb, Swoon's Son was in command all the way and widened the margin in a burst down the stretch. He covered the 6½ furlongs in 1:16 4-5, and collected first money of $18,750.

The winner paid $4.60, $3.40 and $2.40. King Bruce II returned $5.20 and $3.60 and Audley farm's Craigwood paid $2.80 for show.

Dupas Entering Welter Class To Battle Miceli

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (AP)—Lightweight contender Ralph Dupas steps into the welterweight class again Wednesday night against Joe Miceli of New York and it could mean one of two things—bad for the welterweights and good for Dupas or vice versa.

The 21-year-old Dupas, currently rated the No. 3 lightweight challenger, went outside his class last May to whip Vince Martinez, now ranked No. 4 among the welterweights. The decision was debatable in some quarters, but a victory nonetheless.

Dupas is now engaged in a court battle over his racial status. He has asked a civil district court to force the city of New Orleans to issue him a birth certificate stating he is white. Without such a certificate, he can't meet white fighters in Louisiana which prohibits mixed bouts.

Bureau of Vital Statistics officials contend Dupas actually is Ralph Duplessis, a Negro born in adjoining Plaquemines Parish. The hearing resumes Oct. 1 when the court's vacation period ends.

The Louisiana State Athletic Commission reversed an earlier decision in a meeting last week by allowing Dupas to fight without the required birth certificate. It had ruled earlier without the document it would not approve his matches.

Miceli, a 28-year-old left hook artist who is an up and down fighter by his own admission, jumped back into prominence last week by stopping former welterweight champion Johnny Saxton in four rounds. Miceli had Saxton on the canvas twice in the short session and the referee stopped the bout at the end of the third round.

Although seven years younger than Miceli, Dupas has had almost as many fights and has achieved a good deal more success. Dupas shows 66 victories against eight losses and six draws in 80 bouts while Miceli has won 54, lost 28 and fought eigh draws.

Dupas will enter the Municipal Auditorium ring a decided favorite since he's shown marked success against knockout punchers before. He handled fourth-ranked Cisco Andrade easily and beat the rugged Baby Vasquez twice.

Promoter Heard Ragas predicts great things for the bout and even goes as far to say the match will approach the $40,000-plus Dupas and Martinez drew last May. The bout, which will not be televised nor broadcast, looks like a cinch to top $25,000 with a crowd of 6,000 or better expected to turn out.

FROGS, PIGEONS, GRANDMA, TOO

Muskrat Skinners Train For Championship Event

By JOHN CLARY

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — No, children, baseball and football are not the only sports that are played in the United States, despite what you may be reading on your sports page during the next few weeks.

Thih is the time of the year when Mr. Fan will be getting a steady diet of baseball (pre, during and post World Series) and football (college, professional, high school). And in between, the pro basketball camps are being readied and the pro hockey training sites are being put to good use.

But elsewhere, some people are practicing how to skin a muskrat, prodding frogs to record leaps, getting the most mileage out a pigeon and even saddling up a rocking chair for an endurance test that would have made grandma's sojourns seem like nothing at all.

No, children, daddy isn't off his rocker for these things are classed as sports — and are as legitimate to some as baseball is in the Bronx.

Take for instance our friends the muskrat skinners. Now these lads are undoubtedly skinning a way to beat the band, looking forward to the National Muskrat Skinning Championships this winter.

Their goal? Why, a one minute skinning, of course. For the uneducated, this is analagous to a less - than - four minute mile. A contender must skin three of the poor things in less than a minute to become the Derek Ibbotson of the muskrat skinners.

If any of you happen to know a frog who can travel over 16 and a half feet in three bounds then sign him up for the Calaveras Jumping Frog Jubliee next year. This cat...er, frog would be a world record holder.

By the way give him (it) a name too. The Chinese entry last year was named Won Long Hop Even Mark Twain recognized the importance of this type athletic classic for it caused him to pen "The Frog of Calaveras Country" — one of his best known works.

A memo to you park bench sitters: Keep your eye peeled for a pigeon who looks like a B-52. It may be the one to bring you fame and fortune. The only requisite is that it can fly 500 miles or farther in one of two "Pigeon 500's" each year.

This year, one of the birds named Blue Streak by the way, made it from New York to Chicago in 327 hours for one of the titles, while only two starters made it from Norfolk, Neb. to Chicago in the second of the "Feathered Indianapolis Marathon".

Still not convinced? Well, take the case of the little grey - haired lady who has laid claim to the world's rocking chair championship. She rocked away for 93 hours, 8 minutes, outlasting three men and two women in the process.

This is one which should definitely appeal to those who like to win sitting down, and who also have a strong and durable stomach has made them immune to disturbances caused by constant movement. That would make a lot of old navy men eligible, and plenty of younge, ones too.

Yes, kiddies, there's more to the world of sports than meets the eye. And in case you've forgotten, the World Series begins Oct. 2, and Oklahoma meets Pitt to

The victory boosted Swoon's Son's earnings to $713,982, seventh among all - time winners. Native Dancer is sixth with $785,240.

The mutual handle of $1,820,562, wagered by a crowd of 21,908, was a record for Hawthorne. The previous high of $1,711,409 was set Sept. 20, 1952.

LEADS AT DALLAS

Sam Snead Fires Sensational 60

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 14 (UP) — Samuel Jackson Snead, the veteran West Virginia golfing warhorse, came roaring from deep in the pack today with a sensational PGA record-equalling 30-30-60 to explode into the halfway mark lead in the $40,000 Dallas Open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 130.

The 45-year-old hillbilly who has come "of age" this year after 21 years of professional campaigning, rode to the fore on the strength of terrific pitching and putting away to a flying start with an eagle on the very first hole when he holed out with a wedge shot 75 feet away on the 403-yard par 4 hole.

Snead thereby matched a record held by seven others, Byron Nelson first turned the trick in 1945 at Olympia, Wash., and it was then equalled by Al Brosch in 1951 in the Texas Open at San Antonio, Bill Nary in the El Paso Open in 1952, Ted Kroll in the Texas Open in 1954, Wally Ulrich in the Virginia Beach Open in 1954, Tommy Bolt in the Hartford Open in 1954 and Mike Souchak in the Texas Open in 1955.

All were made on par 71 courses of 6,500 yards or less, just like the hilly, 6,300-yard Glen Lakes par 36-35—71 course that Snead turned into a pitch and putt layout today.

The balding pro from White Sulphur Springs carved 10 fat strokes off the routine 35-35—70 of Friday's opening round as he soared from seven strokes off the pace into a two-stroke lead with 36 holes to go over red-haired Earl Stewart Jr., an infrequent tournament visitor from a neighboring Dallas course. Stewart carded a handsosme 33-34—67 today to go with his six-under-par opening 65 to hit the halfway mark at 132.

Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist playing out of Hollywood Beach, Fla., who led the opening day with a flashy 63, skidded to a 38-32—70 because of a trio of three-putt greens to wind up in a tie for third place at 133 along with an unknown, Bill Parker of Tulsa, Okla., who tacked a 33-33—66 today onto his opening 67.

Still very much in contention at 134 were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., who had a 32-34—66 today, Howie Johnson of Akron, Ohio, who posted a 34-35—69 and Al Besselink of Grossingers, N.Y., who also hit the skids with a 34-36—70 after a 64 on his initial tour.

Stupendous Shooting

But, the stupendous shooting of slammin' Sammy took the gallery of 8,500 by storm as he came storming out of the ruck into the limelight after wedging in that heartening egale that he used as a springboard for the round.

His short irons left him birdie putts of only six feet on the second hole, five feet on the eighth and eight feet on both the 12th and 13th. But, he brough resounding cheers from his enthusiastic gallery with great rundowns of 22 feet on the 10th, 25 on the 17th and 30 feet on the 16th for birdies. His other sub-par hole was the comparatively short 456-yard par 5 fifth hole where he two-putted from 25 feet and lipped the cup in what might easily have been another eagle.

Snead said he thought he already was parring in on the 18th for a record-breaking 59 and played the hole "conservedly" with an eight iron instead of a nine, leaving himself a 30-footer that he barely missed.

Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem, N.C., was alone at 136 with a 35-33—68 today, while Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Paul O'Leary of Culver City, Calif., were paired at 137 after a 68 and 69 respectively.

Seven players were bunched at 138 and five others at 139 as the field was cut to the low 90 and ties for the third round Sunday.

Red Sox Lose Stephens For Rest Of Year

BOSTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Gene Stephens was declared lost to the Boston Red Sox for the season today while teammate Ted Williams silenced reports he was through for the year with a 50-minute workout.

Stephens, a fleet 24-year-old outfielder, was lost because of a hairline fracture below the left knee and a severe ankle sprain. He was injured last night when he tripped over first base attempting to beat out a bunt.

Williams, the American League leading batter with a .376 mark, romped around the outfield and played a pepper game with Willard Nixon in a pre-game workout.

The 39-year-old slugger, sidelined with a severe chest cold since the first of the month, reported his legs were "rubbery" but otherwise he felt pretty good.

Red Sox physicians Dr. Ralph McCarthy said he would examine Williams tomorrow morning. Barring no ill effects from the workout, Ted may be in uniform for Sunday's doubleheader against Detroit.

Rallies Late To Win Over Frank Taylor

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 14 (UP)— Twenty-five-year-old Hillman Robbins, a hickory tough tee artist from Tennessee, surged from behind on the final few holes today to win the U.S. Amateur golf championship with a 5 and 4 triumph over Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif.

The silent, dark-featured Air Force lieutenant from Memphis had seen a 4 up lead slide through his hands in the morning and he was 1 down as late as the 21st hole.

But then in a day of sunshine and showers, he gathered all the strength in his 135-pound body for a winning dash over the demanding hills and valleys of the country club to wrap up this 57th annual championship.

From the 26th through the 29th holes, Robbins chain-smoked his way to four straight winning holes with two pars and a pair of birdies as a gallery of 1,500—including his father — watched in fascinated silence. He lost one back to the dead-panned dentist to stay 3 up with only six holes to go, but then won two in a row to close it out.

Robbins, in the process, thus proved once again that the country club was a "young man's course." For it was over these same fabled fairways that 20-year-old Francis Ouimet became the first amateur to win the U.S. Open and Lawson Little and ancients Dick Fownes and Jess Sweetser were youngsters when they won this same amatuer title.

Robbins won it with his sticks. But he was inevitably aided by the 15-year bulge in years between himself and the bone-weary 40 - year - old Californian who, as a war-time lieutenant colonel, was President Eisenhower's dentist in England.

Taylor played the better golf to the finals, being six under par for 121 holes until today while Robbins went into this one 23 over par for the 136 holes he needed to subdue Bill Davidson of Nashville, Bill Thornton of Jupiter, Fla; Dick Foutche of Charleston, W. Va., Al Sams of Macon, Ga., Tom Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., former champion Dick Chafman of Pinehurst, N.C., and collegiate king Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex.

But in today's 36-hole final, the marathon of playing 10 rounds in six days finally took its toll on Taylor, who was eight over par for the 32 holes. Robbins, with the advantage of youth, played today's distance only three over the card.

Basilio tore after Archie Whitfield, a lanky New York middleweight, for four rounds and seemed fresh when he boxed later with Leo Owens.

Perhaps it is the correct association, but to some fans, "Mantle" means Babe Ruth, "Snead" means Bob Feller, and "Golf" is Bobby Jones.

In the Ladies League, Holiday Inn took over the lead, whipping Spartora's Pharmacy for four points Tuesday. Colleen Dent, one of the Inn's key bowlers, has been out of action due to an appendectomy. Colleen is expected to rejoin her teammates in about six weeks. Clover Leaf Dairy's Norma Brown fired a new high individual game and series for the league with a big 208 game and a fat 582 series. Bosox Take 13-10 Win Over Indians

BOSTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—A superb relief performance by Ike Delock and Dick Gernert's blazing bat carried the Boston Red Sox to a 13-10 triumph over the Cleveland Indians today in their final 1957 meeting.

Delock became the first of seven Boston pitchers to stop the hot-hitting Indians in the divided two-game series. Ike pitched two-hit ball over the final four and two-third innings. He did not permit a run as he won his eighth game of the season against eight defeats.

Gray Boxes Johnny Hunt In Heavy Clash Tuesday Night

Sugar Ray Gray, the pride of Cotton Valley, Louisiana, tangles with Johnny Hunt of Tyler, Texas Tuesday night in 10-round main event at Kallio's Arena.

Gray, a winner over Lorraine Block in his latest outing, last week at Tyler, has had 75 bouts since turning pro and has won 52 of them by knockouts. A former Golden Gloves champion and top ball star at Cotton Valley High School, Gray is 23 years old, stands 5 ft. 10 inches and weighs 175 pounds.

Hunt should weigh in a couple of pounds lighter than Gray but is taller than his Louisiana opponent, standing 6 ft. 3½ inches. At last count, he had won and 15 of 20 matches, winning 14 of them.

A former regional Golden Gloves champ, he won 23 out of 24 as an amateur and turned pro only late last year, hitting the trail of his bouts this year.

Nicknamed "Clear Leg" since he is part Indian descent, Hunt is also a painter of sorts and Kallio says it's possible some of his paintings may be shown at the bout.

Tickets for the fight may be bought in advance at Kallio's Arena. The first four ringside seats will go at $2.00 a seat. General admission tickets are $1.50, and children under 12 can get in for 50c cents with the understanding that they may not sit in the reserved section.

Promoter Kallio announces a new policy on reserved seats. No reserved seat tickets will be set aside unless called for and all reserved seat tickets must be picked up and paid for by 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Advance ticket holders are urged to use the center entrance Tuesday night.

Round Table Takes 1st In UN Handicap

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 14 (AP)—Lee Kerr's speedy Round Table splashed home first in the Rendezvous, $50,000 Unity Nursery Handicap, but had to withstand a stiff claim by the jockey of the second horse, Tahir Ista.

Bobby Martin, aboard Tahir Ista, lodged a foul claim against Willie Shoemaker, who rode Round Table, alleging interference in the stretch run. The claim was disallowed.

Round Table, owned by Kerr and trained by Frank Catrone, paid $5.60, $3.80 and $3.20. Tahir Ista paid $4.80 and $3.60. Third place went to Bold Ruler, who paid $3.00 to show.

The winner took down a purse of $34,000, a winning $35,000 for the race.

Bold Ruler Wins Jerome At Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Bold Ruler, the dark bay equine flyer from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, put the official stamp of approval on his comeback campaign today with a stakes record time victory in the $29,000 Jerome Handicap at Belmont Park.

Taking the lead under Eddie Arcaro with a little more than a quarter of a mile to go, the son of Nasrullah stepped home lengths in front of stablemate Bureaucracy, owned by Ogden Phipps. Winged Mercury from the Maine Chance farm trailed by another 1½ lengths for third money.

Bold Ruler, chalking up his second straight victory in a week after being sidelined for three months by a mysterious ailment, reeled off the mile in 1:35. The clocking clipped one fifth of a second off the stake record 1:35 1-5 made by Traffic Judge two years ago. The time also was only one fifth of a second short of the track standard.

Bold Ruler, with Arcaro registering his fourth victory in the 88th running of the Jerome, earned $79,950, to run his total earnings to $336,525 and strengthen his bid for 3 - year - old title consideration.

WINNER TAKE ALL

Wallick Vs. George Curtis Bout Heads Kallio Program

Boxing takes over Kallio's Arena Tuesday night but the weekly wrestling show goes on as usual tomorrow night as George Curtis takes on Leo Wallick in a winner - take - all grudge battle main event.

Over the 90 - minute or less route, the headline bout will be a best of three falls affair. The night's other bout is a tag team match pitting Earl Guess and Bill Barney against Jules LaRance and the Golden Terror with two falls needed to win. This semi-final bout is slated for an hour or less.

Allen "Sailor" Parker will again be the referee.

Curtis and Wallick took part in the rowdy tag team main event last week that ended up as a victory for George and his partner, Jack Curtis, Jr., when Wallick pushed referee Parker around and had the bout taken away from him on a disqualification.

Wallick and partner LaRance, with Leo applying the clincher, had put Jack, Jr. out of commission to win the second fall of the match and the Curtis lad was unable to answer the bell for the final fall, forcing Uncle George to go after Wallick and LaRance alone.

LaRance and Wallick took turns giving George a very bad time before the pushing shenanigan became the pushing in England once ruled and Wallick was disqualified. He previously worked as an ref.

Wallick, a Shelby, Montana grappler, has proved himself a cruel but talented performer in his two appearances here. He's been especially rough on Jack Curtis, Jr., who has been carried from the ring after each of his encounters with the Montanan.

George was hopping mad over Leo's vicious tactics last week and is itching to gain revenge for Wallick's treatment of his nephew.

Bill Barney makes his first appearance in the local ring in several weeks when he teams with Guess against LaRance and the Terror. This one should prove to be a rough one also since there's no love lost between Guess and the Terror.

Guess, the tall Jackson hero, won over the fat masked man last Monday when the Terror was disqualified for checking Guess on the ropes.

AGELESS ANDY

Perhaps not to the youngest generation, but to all before them, "baseball" means Babe Ruth, "boxing" means Jack Dempsey, and "golf" is Bobby Jones.

Applied to bowling, this word association automatically brings up the name of Andy Varipapa.

In that golden age of sport back in the '20s and early '30s, Varipapa had much in common with Ruth, Dempsey, and Jones—skill at his chosen sport and a dramatic way of showing it.

However, Varipapa differs from the other three in one important respect.

He is STILL going strong!

Tempestuous, impetuous Andy, always the showman and always a perfectionist, is still rolling strong in the bowling wars today at 66 years of age. It's more than 20 years since the other three graced the national sports scene. Ten years ago at ages 55 and 56, Varipapa held the national individual match game championship for two consecutive years.

Andy Varipapa, probably as much as any man in bowling, helped to make the game a spectator sport. Possessed of an extraordinarily powerful pair of wrists that might have taken him far in his first love, baseball, Andy developed a routine of amazing trick shots.

When Andy came to town on one of his many cross-country jaunts for the Brunswick Company, people came out to watch.

They're still watching Andy Varipapa, the man who helped make bowling a spectator sport long after other contemporary stars of the golden age of sport are gone.

THE HOME ALLEY

Longview Equipment and The Forge continued their battle for the top spot in the Major League, each team winning three points the past week to remain deadlocked for first place.

Sonny Durham, doing his bowling for Royal Feed and Seed, stole individual honors for the league, however, as he bowled a 246 game and 628 series.

In the Ladies League, Holiday Inn took over the lead, whipping Spatafora's Pharmacy for four points Tuesday. Colleen Dent, one of the Inn's key bowlers, has been out of action due to an appendectomy. Colleen is expected to rejoin her teammates in about six weeks. Clover Leaf Dairy's Norma Brown fired a new high individual game and series for the league with a big 203 game and a fat 593 series. Congrats!

Pan-Am and Clover Leaf are tied at ten points apiece to lead the Kegler League.

Pan-Am moved into the tie behind the fine bowling of Louis Whitfield who fired a 209 game and a 576 series the past week.

A. and C. Music and Jax Beer, both close to the top, haven't bowled as many games as the others.

SPARE STUFF

Walter Cash, the bowler who threw the big 742 series last year (an all-time high for Monroe) seems to have lost something.

Walter, throwing at a full rack of pins, picked out the six and nine pins, leaving the rest standing. Any bowler who doesn't own his own ball may be able to find himself one in the Ouachita River. Walter passed that way on his route home.

The bowling ball rolled by the average kegler takes 2.02 seconds to travel down the 60-foot lane—this speed equivalent to 29.62 miles per hour. Wonder how fast E. B. Peddy was throwing Tuesday night to get that 414 series.

Ned Day, West Allis, Wis., a member of bowling's "Hall of Fame," will be sidelined for the first part of the new season while recovering from a broken leg.

Sievers Breaks Up Game With Homer To Beat A's

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—Roy Sievers broke up another game today when he blasted his 39the homer to lead off the 10th inning and give the Washington Senators a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Scivers took one ball and then rifled Ned Garver's next offering deep into Griffith Stadium's left-field bleachers for his third homer in the last two games. This was the seventh time this year that Seivers had hit a last inning homer to win a ball game for Washington.

The City Touch Football League opens play here Tuesday night with three games on tap on the Southside High School gridiron, it was announced yestserday by James McKay, assistant recreation director of Monroe.

The opening games are Horses vs. L.T.I., 6 p.m.; Outlaws vs. Wildcats, 7 p.m.; and Roundballers vs. Gunrunners, 8 p.m.

McKay, who said the proposed high school league probably will not operate, listed City League managers as John Tannehill, Horses; Charles Nugent, Outlaw; Fred Lindsey, L.T.I.; James Mock, Wildcats; Bob Patterson, Roundballers; and Jim Hearn, Gunrunners.

Detroit Obtains New Outfielder At Minneapolis

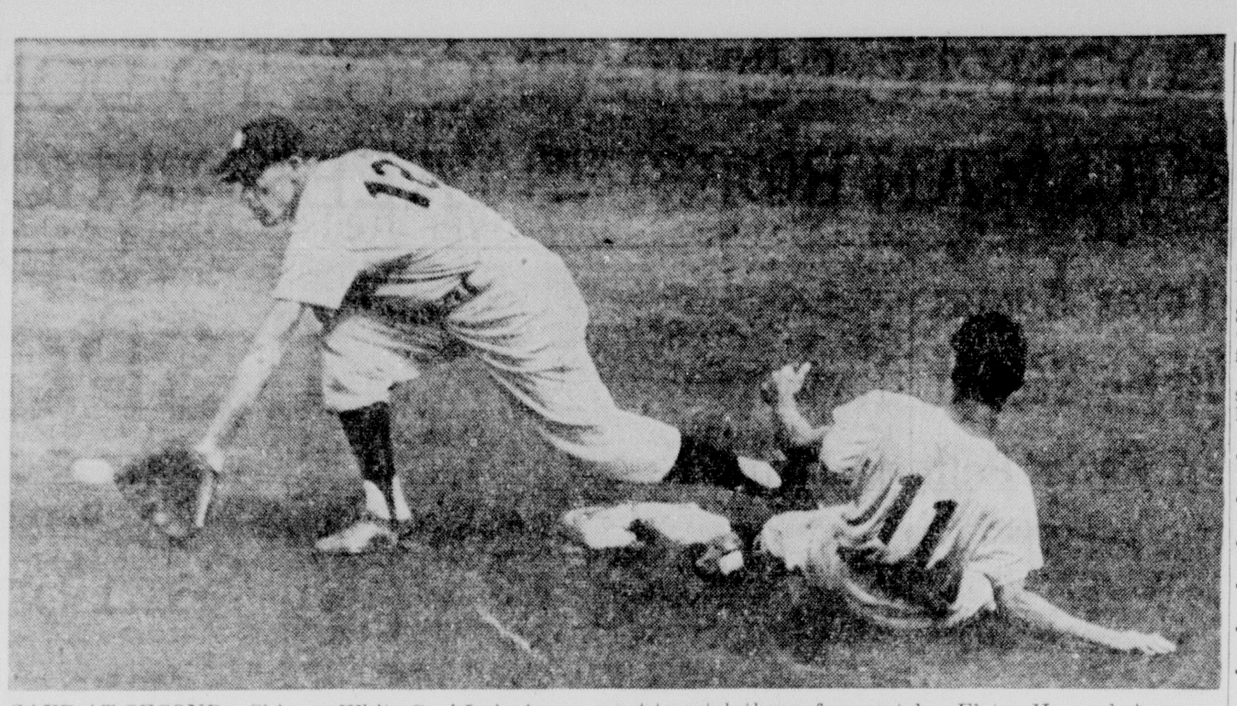
DETROIT, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today announced the purchase of heavy-hitting outfielder Bill Taylor from Minneapolis of the Class AAA American Association. Price was not disclosed.

Taylor, a 210-pound lefthanded hitter, batted .274 with Minneapolis and hit 21 home runs.

He is scheduled to join the Tigers Tuesday.

OUTDOOR TV DATE

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14 (AP)—Former welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and Mexico's Gaspar Ortega, sixth-ranking contender, today signed for a non televised outdoor bout in Wrigley Field on Oct. 15.



SAFE AT SECOND—Chicago White Sox' Luis Aparicio slides into second base ahead of ball for safe steal in first inning at Yankee Stadium in New York yesterday. Yankee shortstop Gil McDougald has glove out to catch throw from catcher Elston Howard. Aparicio, on first with a single, stole second, then scored from third with bases loaded when Sherm Lollar was hit by a pitch. (AP Wirephoto).

Tigers Share Double Fare With Orioles

BALTIMORE, Sept. 14 (UP)—Harvey Kuenn's run-scoring double climaxed a two-run ninth-inning rally and gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory today over Baltimore after the Orioles won the opener of a double header, 3-1.

Ray Boone and Al Kaline opened the ninth inning with singles to drive Oriole starting pitcher Connie Johnson from the mound. Reliever Ken Lehman fielded Charley Maxwell's bunt and threw wild to first base, allowing Boone to score the tying run.

Billy Loes replaced Lehman and Kuenn lined a double down the left field line to score Kaline.

AT KALLIO'S ARENA

Gray Boxes Johnny Hunt In Heavy Clash Tuesday Night

Slugging Ken Gray, the pride of Cotton Valley, Louisiana, faces fellow heavyweight Johnny Hunt of Tyler, Texas Tuesday night in a 10-round main event at Kallio's Arena in the first local boxing program in 9 months.

The heavy headline scrap tops a card that'll show three 4-round contests prior to the main event and another one after. Promoter Gus Kallio guarantees the fans their money's worth with another 4-round bout ready to go on stage in case knockouts shorten any of the other bouts.

The main event could be one of those short ones. Both boys have impressive records made mainly in Texas and Gray has a reputation as a lights-out puncher with both hands.

Clarence Cook of Bastrop, a big local favorite and featured on many a ring program here, will referee all the white bouts on the card, while Henry Burton will be the third man for the colored contests.

Incidentially, in answer to the questions of many fans as to whether he plans a comeback or not, Cook told Kallio he'll give his decision from the ring Tuesday night.

Dewayne Garris, 165-pound Monroe fighter, meets Edwin Brador in one of the preliminary bouts. Brador weighs 165 pounds and fights out of Tyler, Texas.

Another Monroe boxer, Robert Williams, will face Columbus Marshall in a 4-round middleweight clash. Williams is due to check in at 158 pounds and Shreveporter Marshall will be one pound heavier.

Jesse Goins, a local boy weighing 142 pounds, trades shots with James Colman, a Cleveland, Ohio fighter in another prelim. Goins will probably weigh in at 142 pounds which will give him a 5 pound bulge over Colman.

Herald Engleth of Monroe battles another Tyler product, Jack Ferguson. Engleth should weigh 145 pounds while the Texan tips the scales at 143½ pounds.

Kallio hasn't completed arrangements for his stand-by bout at this writing but hopes to have a good heavyweight match lined up.

Gray, a winner over Loraine Black, in his latest outing last week in Tyler, has had 18 fights since turning pro and has won 13 of them by knockouts. A former Golden Gloves champion and football star at Cotton Valley High School, Gray is 23 years old, stands 5 ft. 10 inches and weighs 193 pounds.

Hunt should weigh in a couple of pounds lighter than Gray but is taller than his Louisiana opponent, standing 6 ft. 3½ inches. At last count, he had also had 18 pro matches, winning 14 of them.

A former regional Golden Gloves champ, he won 33 out of 34 as an amateur and turned pro only late last year, fighting the bulk of his bouts this year.

Nicknamed "Cherokee" since he's of part Indian descent, Hunt is also a painter of sorts and Kallio says it's possible some of his paintings may be shown at the fight.

Tickets for the fight may be bought in advance at Kallio's Arena. The first four ringside rows will go at $2.00 a seat. General admission tickets are $1.50, and children under 12 can get in for $50 cents with the understanding that they may not sit in the reserved section.

Promoter Kallio announces a new policy on reserved seats. No reserved seat tickets will be set aside unless called for and all reserved seat tickets must be picked up and paid for by 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Advance ticket holders are urged to use the center entrance Tuesday night.

WINNER TAKE ALL

Wallick Vs. George Curtis Bout Heads Kallio Program

Boxing takes over Kallio's Arena Tuesday night but the weekly wrestling show goes on as usual tomorrow night as George Curtis takes on Leo Wallic kin a winner - take - all grudge battle main event.

Over the 90 - minute or less route, the headline bout will be a best of three falls affair. The night's other bout is a tag team match pitting Earl Guess and Bill Barney against Jules LaRance and the Golden Terror with two falls needed to win. This semi-final bout is slated for an hour or less.

Allen "Sailor" Parker will again be the referee.

Curtis and Wallick took part in the rowdy tag team main event last week that ended up as a victory for George and his partner, Jack Curtis, Jr., when Wallick pushed referee Parker around and had the bout taken away from him on a disqualification.

Wallick and partner LaRance, with Leo applying the clincher, had put Jack, Jr. out of commission to win the second fall of the match and the Curtis lad was unable to answer the bell for the final fall, forcing Uncle George to go after Wallick and LaRance alone.

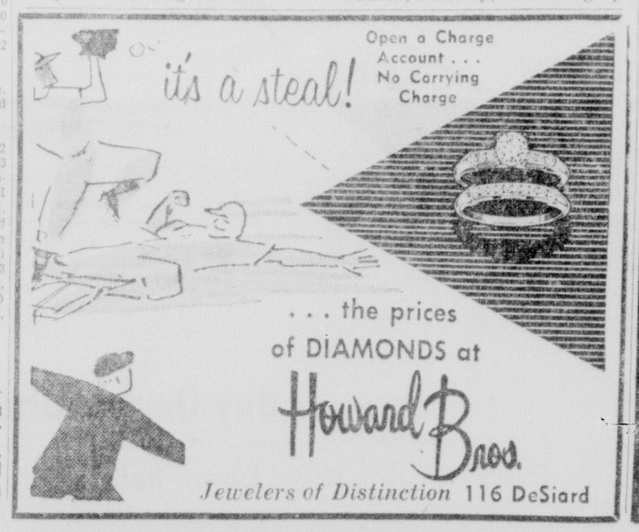
LaRance and Wallick took turns giving George a very bad time before the pushing incident occured and Wallick was disqualified.

Wallick, a Shelby, Montana grappler, has proved himself a cruel but talented performer in his two appearences here. He's been especially rough on Jack Curtis, Jr., who has been carried from the ring after each of his encounters with the Montanan.

George was hopping mad over Leo's vicious tactics last week and is itching to gain revenge for Wallick's treatment of his nephew.

Bill Barney makes his first appearance in the local ring in several weeks when he teams with Guess against LaRance and the Terror. This one should prove to be a rough one also since there's no love lost between Guess and the Terror.

Guess, the tall Jackson hero, won over the fat masked man last Monday when the Terror was disqualified for chocking Guess on the ropes.



Bosox Take 13-10 Win Over Indians

BOSTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—A superb relief performance by Ike Delock and Dick Gernert's blazing bat carried the Boston Red Sox to a 13-10 triumph over the Cleveland Indians today in their final 1957 meeting.

Delock became the first of seven Boston pitchers to stop the hot-hitting Indians in the divided two-game series. Ike pitched two-hit ball over the final four and two-third innings. He did not permit a run as he won his eighth game of the season against eight defeats.

Round Table Takes 1st In UN Handicap

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Kerr stable's Round Table squeezed out a close victory today in the Invitational $100,000 United Nations Handicap, but had to withstand a foul claim by the jockey of the second horse, Tudor Era.

Bobby Martin, aboard Tudor Era, lodged a foul claim against Willie Shoemaker, who brought Round Table home in a thrilling finish before a sweltering crowd of 23,178 at the Atlantic City race course. Alfred Vanderbilt's Find finished third in the field of 11 racing over the grass course.

The winner was timed in 1:56 1-5 on a firm course compared with the mile and three - sixteenths track and stakes record of 1:55 4-5 set by Iceberg II in winning the race in 1953.

After about 17 minutes, the judges made it official, saying they could see no claim of foul and the winner paid off $3.40, $2.80 and $2.60. Tudor Era paid $5.00 and $4.00 and Find, $3.80 to show.

The winner took down a purse of $64,000, in winning his eighth straight race.

Bold Ruler Wins Jerome At Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept 14 (AP)—Bold Ruler, the dark bay equine flyer from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, put the official stamp of approval on his combeack campaign today with a stakes record time victory in the $29.000 Jerome Handicap at Belmont Park.

Taking the lead under Eddie Arcaro with a little more than a quarter of a mile to go, the son of Nasrullah stepped home 6 lengths in front of stablemater Bureaucracy, owned by Ogden Phipps. Winged Mercury from the Maine Chance farm trailed by another 1¼ lengths for third money.

Bold Ruler, chalking up his second straight victory in a week after being sidelined for three months by a mysterious ailment, reeled off the mile in 1:35. The clocking clipped one fifth of a second off the stake record 1:35 1-5 made by Traffic Judge two years ago. The time also was only one fifth of a second short of the track standard.

Bold Ruler, with Arcaro registering his fourth victory in the 88th running of the Jerome, earned $19,950, to run his total earnings to $436,525 and strengthen his bid for 3 - year - old title consideration.

CASEY'S STRATEGY BACKFIRES

Rivera, Donovan Pace Pale Sox To 5-2 Win Over Yanks

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UP)— Jim Rivera blasted one of Casey Stengel's patented "mastermind" maneuvers today when he belted a two-run eighth inning homer to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory that cut the New York Yankees' American League lead to five games.

Rivera's circuit clout off loser Tom Sturdivant broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Dick Donovan of the Yankees and Early Wynn of the Sox. Donovan held the Yankees to seven hits in posting his 16th triumph, the score was tied 2-2 at the time and Rivera's key total of his major league career.

However, Stengel decided to send up Harry Simpson to pinch hit in Sturdivant's place.

Simpson struck out and Donovan proceeded to pitch his way out of the jam by striking out Hank Bauer also and getting Enos Slaughter on a pop fly to short stop Luis Aparicio.

Stengel made the move that may have cost the Yankees the game in the bottom of the seventh inning after Elston Howard opened with a single and went to third on Bobby Richardson's single. The scoop was tied 2-2 at the time and Yankee starter Tom Sturdivant had limited Chicago to four hits.

NO S. E. C. GAMES

Nelson Explains TV's Choice Of Grid Scraps

By JIM KENSIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UP)—The opening college football telecast is still a week away, but already we're hearing from the TV fans who want to know why certain games have been selected and why others can't be shown.

The answers are many, varied and beyond changing. The best thing to do is sit back and enjoy the top games which are being televised.

But for the record, here's the situation as summed up by the czar of the Southeastern Conference. The man with the answers is Lindsey Nelson, N.B.C.'s assistant sports director and the man who will be at the microphone when the network telecasts Maryland vs. Texas A and M. from Dallas next Saturday afternoon.

As fans know who listen to his game descriptions 52 Saturdays a year, Lindsey is quick with the English language, but when on the subject of the N.C.A.A.-controlled football TV program, his replies are lightning-fast and just as illuminating.

Last April when N.B.C. first announced the 1957 schedule for nationwide telecasting dates, Rebel protests were heard loud and clear in the networks New York offices.

The Southeastern Conference was not listed for a TV date, and southerners wanted to know why.

"Why?" Lindsey, we echoed.

"Now first of all I'm a southerner myself," said Lindsey in a speeded-up drawl, "and secondly we honestly didn't know the conference wasn't represented until we had completed the schedule.

"We have to work within two main limitations imposed by the N.C.A.A.—that at least one of the nationwide games originates from each of the eight N.C.A.A. districts and that no team can appear nationally more than once during a season. After those conditions are met, we try to line up the best possible schedule.

"For instance, the game which fulfills the district 3 (in which the Southeastern is located) area date is Pittsburgh at Miami (an independent) on Dec. 7. It is one of the two big games in the nation that day. The other is Notre Dame - S.M.U., and we couldn't televise that because we already have Notre Dame opposing Oklahoma on Nov. 16.

"Some people wanted to know why we didn't schedule Kentucky - Georgia Tech for Sept. 21. We still will be televising baseball through the first three weeks of football, and we had to select games that started in time zones other than the east.

"We also were asked about carrying one of several attractive Auburn games, but Auburn is on N.C.A.A. probation and can not appear nationally. Neither can North Carolina State of the Atlantic Coast Conference nor Washington, Southern California and U.C.L.A. of the Pacific Coast Conference.

"We have carried many Southeastern Conference games in the past and will undoubtedly schedule them in the future, but this season a combination of things I've mentioned worked against the S.E.C."

Lindsey pointed out that no Atlantic Coast Conference games were on national TV last year, but an A.A.C. team, Maryland, opens this year's program. He also said the A.A.C. is televising its games on four regional dates for which N.B.C. does not have exclusive rights. N.B.C. is co-operating with the Big Ten, Pacific coast Conference and eastern schools in doing regional games. The same opportunity is available to the S.E.C. or any other conference.

This further complicates N.B.C.'s scheduling problem because a team that appears nationally can only appear once regionally, and those who are not on national TV are limited to two regional appearances.

Other small conferences, as well as the S.E.C., and of course many independents are not represented, but there are only a "limited number of dates available and, Lindsey says, N.B.C., in co-operation with the N.C.A.A. has done all it can to make the TV schedule attractive nationally.

What it all boils down to is that the TV to thrill fan will have to be satisfied with the games available, unless the N.C.A.A. lifts its restrictions — a move not to be expected.

The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times if you wish to find the best sport the local day has to offer.

Roberts Pitches Phillies To 5-0 Victory Over Reds

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14 (UP)— Robin Roberts, in the throes of his worst major league season, pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-0 victory today over the Cincinnati Redlegs, helped by a four-run outburst in the seventh inning.

Roberts gave up eight hits and no walks in pitching his second shutout of the season and winning his 10th game against 20 losses. Brooks Lawrence, the Cincinnati starter who was shelled in the seventh, suffered his 12th loss.

Round Table Entering Big Laurel Race

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 14 (UP)— Round Table was signed up today for Laurel's international race on Nov. 11 to set the stage for a hot duel with Gallant Man along with top rated foreign thoroughbreds.

Texas M. Kerr of Oklahoma accepted the invitation for Round Table. Ralph Lowe of Texas already had agreed to enter Gallant Man in the mile and half grass race for $100,000 in prizes.

Interest in Gallant Man and Round Table getting together this fall on the same track mounted steadily during the summer as each 3 - year - old won again and again after the Kentucky Derby in May.

But they accomplished it on the widely separated coasts, Gallant Man in the east and Round Table in the west.

They finished second and third in the derby, but the winning Iron Liege has since faded.

Gallant Man just bested by Iron Liege when jockey Willie Shoemaker misjudged the Derby finish line, bounced back to take the Belmont.

Iron Liege was among those beaten by Round Table in his seventh straight victory in the American Derby at Chicago. Round Table's six preceding victories were registered in California.

Round Table and Gallant Man will carry equal weights of 122 pounds in the International. Gallant Man has yet to race on the grass while Round Table went on it this afternoon for the second time in the United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City.

The duel between Gallant Man and Round Table will make the International somewhat of a race within a race. The pair is the strongest representation of power the United States has had in the six runnings.

The only United States victory was scored by C. V. Whitney's Fisherman. A substitute starter in 1954.

The prospective caliber of the 1957 entries from overseas is indicated by Ballymoss, the first entrant. Ballymoss — also a 3 - year - old, won the Irish Derby and Eucharis's last race St. Leger and finished second in the English Derby.

Davey Moore, featherweight from Lexington, Ky., won the National AAU 118 pound boxing title in 1952. He qualified for the Olympic team but he was prevented from fighting because he was overweight.

LEAD CUT TO 4 GAMES

Shaky Braves Fall, 7-1, To Carl Erskine, Dodgers

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 14 (UP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers clouted the first place Milwaukee Braves 7-1 today behind Carl Erskine who hadn't pitched a complete game in nearly a year.

The victory cut Milwaukee's lead to four games over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the seventh loss in 10 games for the shaky first place Braves, who last year lost the pennant to Brooklyn on the next to the last day of the season.

The Braves' margin over St. Louis was their smallest since Aug. 9 when Milwaukee led by 4½ games.

Erskine, given a four run lead in the second inning, stopped the Braves on only four hits for his first victory over them since May 24, 1956, and his first complete game since Sept. 2 of last year.

Three hits, errors by pitcher Lew Burdette and Hank Aaron and a walk produced the four Dodger runs in the second.

ABOUT EVEN SPLIT

Ex-Champs Can't Agree On Title Bout Outcome

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UP)—Rarely has a title fight in many years stirred up so much interest among boxers and former boxers as the battle of champions between middleweight king Sugar Ray Robinson and welterweight ruler Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

And just like the average fan, the fighters and ex - fighters are divided sharply on who they think will win. A poll of 18 one-time champions — nine welterweights and nine middleweights — today showed eight plumping for the older and heavier Robinson and six for the wiry, cocky Basilio. Four straddled the fence, leaning toward Sugar Ray in a short fight and Carmen in a longer one.

The middleweights went for Robinson 5-3 with one on the fence while the welters split even, 3-3, with three straddling.

The betting odds favor Basilio 13-10 right now but the quotations have been fluctuating and could swing the other way by fight time.

Among the welterweights, Young Corbett III, Barney Ross and Fritzie went for Basilio. Jimmy McLarnin, Freddie Cochrane, and Johnny Saxton made it "fifty."

The middleweights split this way: For Robinson — George Chip, Mickey Walker, Teddy Yarosz, Al Hostak and Rocky Graziano; for Basilio — Johnny Wilson, Fred Apostoli, and Billy Soose; undecided — Gene Fullmer.

Fullmer, who won the title from Robinson and lost it back to him this year, just about summed up the views of the undecided.

"Sugar Ray must win in six rounds or not at all," said Fullmer who whipped Robinson in 15 rounds and then lost by a fifth round knockout. "Robinson's legs and stamina are not like they used to be. A rough fellow like Basilio will cause him a lot of trouble. That's the reason why Ray will try to win in six or less rounds. The longer the route, the tougher it will be for Ray."

"Robinson is too big and strong and punches a little too hard for Basilio," said Graziano who was flattened in three rounds by Robinson in 1952. "Ray will win by a knockout and, besides, is a lucky bum and somebody up there likes him too."

Basilio will win," said Soose flatly, "a whale of a fighter for four rounds for Robinson. Basilio will wear him down. Basilio's aggressiveness will be hard for Robinson to cope with in the late rounds."

Now hear some of the old welterweights:

Jackie Fields—"I like Basilio very much because of his stamina and endurance. Robinson must hit him to knock him out within four rounds otherwise Basilio will take him.

Fritzie Zivic (who lost twice to Robinson) — "I think Sugar Ray will beat him up and stop him inside of seven rounds."

Johnny Saxton (who lost two of three to Basilio) — "I might be the Sugar Man. He's too big, too fast. But I don't know. I copied my style after Ray and was beaten two out of three times by Carmen."

Barney Ross (who once was lightweight as well as welter champion) — "It will be a great fight — boxer and slugger. Robinson should score a knockout within five rounds. If it goes beyond that Basilio should have a good chance. Remember that the condition of boxing outdoors may be a strange one to Basilio and it could have an important bearing on how he performs."

Of the 18 who replied to the poll conducted by Murray Goodman, the International Boxing Club's energetic publicist, four — Graziano, Zivic, Servo and Fullmer — had fought Robinson with Fullmer the only one to score a win. Servo was the only one of this group to pick Basilio.

"I like Basilio by a knockout," said Servo who made it close with Sugar Ray 16 years ago. "He has the style to beat an old opponent of mine."

If Basilio should beat Robinson he would become the only other welterweight king besides Robinson to step from the welterweight title directly to the middleweight throne. Three other welterweight champions — Mickey Walker, Tommy Ryan and Lou Brouillard — also won middleweight crowns but they didn't hold the lighter title at the time they took over the middleweight championship.

6-1 VICTORY FOR MIZELL

Cards Gain With Win Over Giants

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14 (UP)— Vinegar Bend Mizell hurled 8 the Giants, who probably were making their last appearance here as the New York team, to six hits as the Cards won their eighth game out of their last 10 starts. Mizell, continuing a strong comeback, won his eighth victory against 10 losses.

Singles by Bobby Gene Smith, Del Ennis and Wally Moon accounted for the other Cardinal runs and contributed to Johnny Antonelli's 16th loss against 12 victories. He was relieved at the start of the 6th by Ray Mo[illegible]

Dick McGuire, who has played with the New York Knickerbockers since being graduated from Joan's University, set a Madison Square Garden record when he made 17 assists in a 1951 basketball game against Milwaukee.

CASEY'S STRATEGY BACKFIRES

Rivera, Donovan Pace Pale Sox To 5-2 Win Over Yanks

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UP)—Jim Rivera blasted one of Casey Stengel's patented "mastermind" maneuvers today when he belted a two-run eighth-inning homer to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory that cut the New York Yankees' American League lead to five games.

"Right-hander Dick Donovan held the Yankees to seven hits in recording his 16th triumph, the highest victory total of his major league career.

Today's game, witnessed by 29,275, marked the final meeting of the year between the two clubs and left the Yankees with the season's edge, 14-8.

Stengel made the move that may have cost the Yankees the game in the bottom of the seventh inning after Elston Howard opened with a single and went to third on Bobby Richardson's single. The score was tied 2 2 at the time and Yankee starter Tom Sturdivant had limited Chicago to four hits.

However, Stengel decided to send up Harry Simpson to pinch hit in Sturdivant's place.

Simpson struck out and Donovan proceeded to pitch his way out of the jam by striking out Hank Bauer also and getting Enos Slaughter on a pop fly to shortstop Luis Aparicio.

NO S. E. C. GAMES

Nelson Explains TV's Choice Of Grid Scraps

By JIM KENSIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—The opening college football telecast is still a week away, but already we're hearing from the TV fans who want to know why certain games have been selected and why others can't be shown.

The answers are many, varied and beyond changing. The best thing to do is sit back and enjoy the top games which are being televised.

But for the record, here's the situation as summed up by the case of the Southeastern Conference. The man with the answers is Lindsey Nelson, N.B.C.'s assistant sports director and the man who will be at the microphone when the network telecasts Maryland vs. Texas A. and M. from Dallas next Saturday afternoon.

As fans know who listen to his game descriptions 52 Saturdays a year, Lindsey is quick with the English language, but when on the subject of the N.C.A.A.-controlled football TV program, his replies are lightning-fast and just as illuminating.

Last April when N.B.C. first announced the 1957 schedule for nine nationwide telecasting dates, Rebel protests were heard loud and clear in the networks New York offices.

The Southeastern Conference was not listed for a TV date, and southerners wanted to know why.

"Why?" Lindsey, we echoed.

"Now first of all I'm a southerner myself," said Lindsey in a speeded-up drawl, "and secondly we honestly didn't know the conference wasn't represented until we had completed the schedule.

"We have to work within two main limitations imposed by the N.C.A.A.—that at leas one of the nationwide games originates from each of the eight N.C.A.A. districts and that no team can appear nationally more than once during a season. After those conditions are met, we try to line up the best possible schedule.

"For instance, the game which fulfills the district 3 (in which the Southeastern is located) area date is Pittsburgh at Miami (an independent) on Dec. 7. It is one of the two big games in the nation that day. The other is Notre Dame - S.M.U., and we couldn't televise that because we already have Notre Dame appearing against Oklahoma on Nov. 16.

"Some people wanted to know why we didn't schedule Kentucky-Georgia Tech for Sept. 21. We still will be televising baseball through the first three weeks of football, and we had to select games that started in time zones other than the east.

"We also were asked about carrying one of several attractive Auburn games, but Auburn is on N.C.A.A. probation and can not appear nationally. Neither can North Carolina State of the Atlantic Coast Conference nor Washington, Southern California and U.C.L.A of the Pacific Coast Conference.

"We have carried many Southeastern Conference games in the past and will undoubtedly schedule them in the future, but this season a combination of things I've mentioned worked against the S.E.C."

Lindsey pointed out that no Atlantic Coast Conference games were on national TV last year, but an A.A.C. team, Maryland, opens this year's program. He also said the A.A.C. is televising its games on four regional dates for which N.B.C. does not have exclusive rights. N.B.C. is co-operating with the Big Ten, Pacific coast Conference and eastern schools in doing regional games. The same opportunity is available to the S.E.C. or any other conference.

This further complicates N.B.C.'s scheduling problem because a team that appears nationally can only appear once regionally, and those who are not on national TV are limited to two regional appearances.

Other small conferences, as well as the S.E.C., and of course many independents are not represented, but there are only a limited number of dates available and, Lindsey says, N.B.C., in co-operation with the N.C.A.A. has done all it can to make the TV schedule attractive nationally.

What it all boils down to is that the TV football fan will have to be satisfied with the games available, unless the N.C.A.A. lifts its restrictions — a move not to be expected.

ABOUT EVEN SPLIT

Ex-Champs Can't Agree On Title Bout Outcome

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Rarely has a title fight in many years stirred up so much interest among boxers and former boxers as the battle of champions between middleweight king Sugar Ray Robinson and welterweight ruler Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

And just like the average fan, the fighters and ex - fighters are divided sharply on who they think will win. A poll of 18 onetime champions — nine welterweights and nine middleweights — today showed eight plumping for the older and heavier Robinson and six for the wiry, cocky Basilio. Four straddled the fence, leaning toward Sugar Ray in a short fight and Carmen in a longer one.

The middleweights went for Robinson 5-3 with one on the fence while the welters split even, 3-3, with three straddling.

The betting odds favor Basilio 13-10 right now but the quotations have been fluctuating and could swing the other way by fight time.

Among the welterweights, Young Corbett III, Barney Rosh and Fritzie went for Basilio. Jimmy McLarnin, Freddie Cochrane, and Johnny Saxton made it "iffy."

The middleweights split this way: For Robinson — George Chip, Mickey Walker, Teddy Yarosz, Al Hostak and Rocy Graziano; for Basilio — Johnny Wilson, Fred Apostoli, and Billy Soose; undecided — Gene Fullmer.

Fullmer, who won the title from Robinson and lost it back to him this year, just about summed up the views of the undecided.

"Sugar Ray must win in six rounds or not at all," said Fullmer who whipped Robinson in 15 rounds and then lost by a fifth round knockout. "Robinson's legs and stamina are not like they used to be. A rough fellow like Basilio will cause him a lot of trouble. That's the reason why Ray will try to win in six or less rounds. The longer the route, the tougher it will be for Ray."

"Robinson is too big and strong and punches a little too hard for Basilio," said Graziano, who was flattened in three rounds by Robinson in 1952. "Ray wil win by a knockout and, besides, is a lucky bum and somebody up there likes him too."

Basilio will win," said Soose flatly, "a whale of a fighter for four rounds for Robinson. Basilio will wear him down. Basilio's aggressiveness will be hard for Robinson to cope with in the late rounds."

Now hear some of the old welterweights:

Jackie Fields—"I like Basilio very much because of his stamina and endurance. Robinson must hit him to knock him out within four rounds otherwise Basilio will take him.

Fritzie Zivic (who lost twice to Robinson) — "I think Sugar Ray will bust him up and stop him inside of seven rounds.

Johnny Saxton (who lost two of three to Basilio) — "It might be the Sugar Man. He's too big, too fast. But I don't know. I copied my style after Ray and was beaten two out of three times by Carmen."

Barney Ross (who once was lightweight as well as welter champion) — "It will be a great fight — boxer and slugger. Robinson should score a knockout within five rounds. It it goes beyond that Basilio should have a good chance. Remember that the condition of boxing outdoors may be a strange one to Basilio and it could have an important bearing on how he performs."

Of the 18 who replied to the poll conducted by Murray Goodman, the International Boxing Club's energetic publicist, four — Graziano, Zivic, Servo and Fullmer — had fought Robinson with Fullmer the only one to score a win. Servo was the only one of this group to pick Basilio.

"I like Basilio by a knockout," said Servo who made it close with Sugar Ray 16 years ago. "He has the style to beat an old opponent of mine."

If Basilio should beat Robinson he would become the only other welterweight king besides Robinson to step from the welterweight title directly to the middleweight throne. Three other welterweight champions — Mickey Walker, Tommy Rayan and Lou Brouillard — also won middleweight crowns but they didn't hold the lighter title at the time they took over the middleweight championship.

Roberts Pitches Phillies To 5-0 Victory Over Reds

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14 (UP)—Robin Roberts, in the throes of his worst major league season, pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-0 victory today over the Cincinnati Redlegs, helped by a four-run outburst in the seventh inning.

Roberts gave up eight hits and no walks in pitching his second shutout of the season and winning his 10th game against 20 losses. Brooks Lawrence, the Cincinnati starter who was shelled in the seventh, suffered his 12th loss.

Round Table Entering Big Laurel Race

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 14 (AP) — Round Table was signed up today for Laurel's International race on Nov. 11 to set the stage for a hot duel with Gallant Man along with top rated foreign thoroughbreds.

Travis M. Kerr of Oklahoma accepted the invitation for Round Table. Ralph Lowe of Texas already had agreed to enter Gallant Man in the mile and half grass race for $100,000 in prizes.

Interest in Gallant Man and Round Table getting together this fall on the same track mounted steadily during the summer as each 3 - year - old won again and again after the Kentucky Derby in May.

But they accomplished it on the widely separated coasts, Gallant Man in the east and Round Table in the west.

They finished second and third in the derby, but the winning Iron Liege has since faded.

Gallant Man, just beaten by Iron Liege when jockey Willie Shoemaker misjudged the Derby finish line, bounced back to take the Belmont.

Iron Liege was among those beaten by Round Table in his seventh straight victory in the American Derby at Chicago. Round Table's six preceding victories were registered in California.

Round Table and Gallant Man will carry equal weights of 122 pounds in the International. Gallant Man has yet to race on the grass while Round Table went on it this afternoon for the second time in the United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City.

The duel between Gallant Man and Round Table will make the International somewhat of a race within a race. The pair is the strongest representation on paper the United States has had in the six runnings.

The only United States victory was scored by C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, A substitute starter in 1954.

The prospective caliber of the 1957 entries from overseas is indicated by Ballymoss, the first entrant. Ballymoss, also a 3 - year - old, won the Irish Derby and England's historic St. Leger and finished second in the English Derby.

6-1 VICTORY FOR MIZELL

Cards Gain With Win Over Giants

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14 (UP)—Don Blasingame drove home three runs with a bunt, a home run and a single today to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-1 victory over the New York Giants and a fighting chance for the National League pennant.

Vinegar Bend Mizell limited the Giants, who probably were making their last appearance here as the New York team, to six hits as the Cards won their eighth game out of their last 10 starts. Mizell, continuing a strong comeback, won his eighth victory against 10 losses.

Singles by Bobby Gene Smith, Del Ennis and Wally Moon accounted for the other Cardinal runs and contributed to Johnny Antonelli's 16th loss against 12 victories. He was relieved at the start of the eighth by Ray Monzant.

LEAD CUT TO 4 GAMES

Shaky Braves Fall, 7-1, To Carl Erskine, Dodgers

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 14 (UP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers clouted the first place Milwaukee Braves 7-1 today behind Carl Erskine who hadn't pitched a complete game in nearly a year.

The victory cut Milwaukee's lead to four games over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the seventh loss in 10 games for the shaky first place Braves, who last year lost the pennant to Brooklyn on the next to the last day of the seas

The Braves' margin over St. Louis was their smallest since Aug. 9 when Milwaukee led by 3½ games.

Erskine, given a four run lead in the second inning, stopped the Braves on only four hits for his first victory over them since August, 1955, and his first complete game since Sept. 2 of last year.

Three hits, errors by pitcher Lew Burdette and Hank Aaron and a walk produced the four Dodger runs in the second.

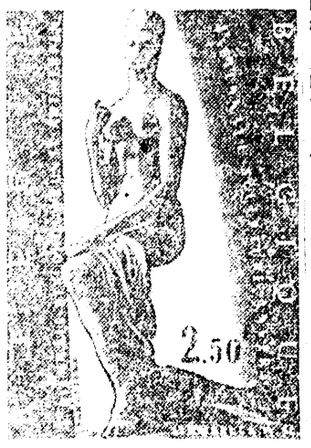
Ninth National Philatelic Show Slated In Nov.

For the 9th consecutive year a national philatelic exhibition will be sponsored by the American Stamp Dealers Assn. This year's show will be held in New York's 71st Infantry Regiment Armory on Nov. 22, 23 and 24. General Manager Peter G. Keller expects more than 60,000 visitors to attend the A.S.D.A. affair which will climax National Stamp Collecting Week.

Sarawak, the colorful little British Crown colony in the northwestern part of Borneo, has issued a set of 14 new stamps.

The designs on the 10 lower values, 1 to 25 cents, include a portrait of Queen Elizabeth together with the crown and feature various local pictorial scenes. Some of the scenes show logging, Kayan dancing, Kenyah ceremonial dancing, turtles, Melanau basket making, and a young orangutan.

Belgium has issued a new 2.50 francs stamp to commemorate the world's exhibition of sculpture at Middelheim Park, Anvers. The stamp design features the sculpture "Kneeling Woman" by Wilhelm Lehmbruck. The exhibition devoted to the sculpture of Central Europe with emphasis on the young Austria and Switzerland. Lehmbruck, for example, is considered one of Germany's leading expressionists.



According to the London magazine "Stamp Collecting" Russian officials will issue its set to commemorate the meeting of the Soviet and rulers at Bejing. The issue will portray the leaders of Russia, Communist China and Mongolia. Top President Chairman and King Hussein of Jordan, 75 p President Chairman and King Feisal of Iraq, 75 p President Chairman and King Saud of Saudi Arabia, 75 p President Chairman and President Khaatly of Syria, 75 p President Chairman and the Prime Minister of the Sudan, 75 p President Chairman and a group of Leaders, 90 p President Chairman and all the Arab rulers.

Stamp notes . . . Turkey has issued a two stamp issue to mark the 400th anniversary of the Academy of Fine Arts in Istanbul. . . . Pass	North	1 spade
Pass	Pass	North	2 hearts
West	Pass	North	2 no trump
Pass	Pass	South	4 hearts
All	Pass	North	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: nine of clubs.

Economy in the management of high cards in the trump suit was necessary to declarer's success in this deal of today's hand.

East opened a strong club, and West had nothing with which to keep the bidding open. North made a takeout double. A certain reluctance accompanied his action, for he realized that enthusiastic assistance of partner persisted with South. However, a more bid of one spade would not do justice to his holding, and North had to take no chances.

South responded as expected, and North showed the spades. After South rebid his six card suit, North tried two no trump, whereupon South considered it high time that he quit dallying and promptly proceeded to game in hearts.

West opened the nine of clubs. East won and shifted to the king of spades, taken in dummy with the ace. On a low heart lead from dummy, declarer came up with the king, for his bidding clearly marked East with the ace.

It is his play at the next trick which makes or breaks the contract. Without giving the problem much thought, many players would instinctively play the jack in an effort to drive out one of the honor cards in the trump suit was ours. However, it can be demonstrated to declarer's success in spread that such play is ins and and cannot in any circumstance

The proper play is a low heart. If the adverse honors of this type are divided two-two, it matters not if the ace and queen must fall together next time.

But if the remaining hearts are divided three-one, declarer will win the third heart, playing low whenever the singleton is an honor, for the lack will be retained to draw on the remaining honor on the next lead. But if declarer leads the jack and loses to a single queen, he will be obliged to lose two more tricks to the ace and the nine.

Declarer led the three of hearts and assured a happy ending for his side, losing in all two hearts and a club.

Roars Greet Bard In Toledo And Thereby Hangs A Tale

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP) — "Et tu, Brute! Then die, Caesar."

With that, actor Patrick Hines crumpled to the stage as Julius Caesar in Shakespeare's tragedy of the same name.

But the audience chuckled. From a nearby cage, a lion rendered a magnificent groan in perfect unison with Caesar's last breath.

That's one of the professional hazards which confront a company of actors who perform Shakespeare in an outdoor amphitheater at the Toledo Zoo.

"At times like that, I find it most difficult to retain temperate feelings about our beastly neighbors," confides Hines, a portly native of Corpus Christi, Tex., whose everyday conversation reflects his Shakespearean training.

The Shakespearean festival, now in its second season, could have been staged in the zoo's indoor theater or other facilities in the city.

But, explains director Ellis Rabb of New York: "We feel we're offering the public something unique in atmosphere. The hillside amphitheater, the trees, the sky — all add to the charm."

As for occasional contributions by the animals, Rabb says: "It doesn't happen too often, and when it does, the actors simply have to project a little harder. Most of the time the audience forgets it's in a zoo once the play gets underway."

On one occasion, an animal got into the act physically. During a performance of "Much Ado ab ut Nothing" last season, the actors found themselves upstaged by an escaped goat.

The goat strutted and fretted across the stage until a costumed actor made friends and led it off. The play went on.

The presence of zoo animals poses a particular problem for Grace Chapman, a New York actress who grew up in Colorado Springs.

She's allergic to fur and has to bristle past the cages on her way to the amphitheater. If she lingers too long and too close, the result is a temporary asthmatic condition that leaves her vocally closer to King Lear than Juliet.

As if animals weren't enough, a swarm of bees set up shop in the walls of the amphitheater shell when the company arrived for rehearsals this season.

Enraged rather than exterminated by an insufficient dose of cyanide, the insects took over the area completely for a time, buzzing actors and smearing honey over expensive material in the costume rooms.

After actress Chase Crosley of New York, a native of Kingsport, Tenn., was stung on an arm, Rabb delivered an ultimatum:

"The bees go, or we go."

Zoo employes dispatched the intruders with a second dose of cyanide.

A handicap last season was a flock of ducks which lived near the stage. They frequently added a chorus of quacks to the Shakespearean performances.

This year, Rabb let word get around he was planning to slip rubber bands around the ducks' bills each evening. Whether or not that influenced them, zoo officials moved the ducks to another part of the zoo.

"Anyway," adds Rabb, "ducks are nothing to keep too close to hungry actors."

There now are a total of five summer Shakespeare festivals scattered around the nation, but probably only in Toledo is an actor able to entertain a hope like that of Julian Miller of San Francisco, who plays Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Miller hopes some night a lion will come in on cue when he begins his soliloquy with the words: "Now the hungry lion roars . . ."

Taylor, Dorothy Malone Star In New M-G-M Drama

"Tip On A Dead Jockey," the M-G-M suspense drama, is now showing at the Jim Theatre. It stars Robert Taylor, Academy Award Winner Dorothy Malone, and the new Italian find, Gia Scala.

The Charles Lederer screen play, based on a New Yorker Magazine story by Irwin Shaw, contains such edge-of-the-seat situations as a horse race in which both animal and jockey are killed; and a danger-infused assignment taken on by a former flying ace to smuggle contraband from Cairo to Madrid, pursued by a fighter plane.

Playing prominent roles with the stars wre Martin Gabel, Marcel Dalio, Jack Lord, Joyce Jameson and the noted Spanish flamenco dancer, La Chunga. Director Richard Thorpe, Producer Edwin H. Knopf, star Taylor and other members of the cast traveled to Spain for authentic location footage of the picture, which was filmed in CinemaScope, with the exciting horse race scenes filmed at the Madrid race track.

The story has an unusual romantic slant in its aspect of a very-much-in-love wife (Dorothy Malone), who cannot bring herself to give her husband the divorce he has asked for. It contains both humor and insight in its revealing light on a group of Americans living abroad on little more than their wits.

But more than this, it probes into the character of a man to see what makes him tick. The man is the ex-pilot Lloyd Tredman (Robert Taylor), who is afraid to fly again, who hides himself in a foreign city where no one will ask him why he is no longer an airplane pilot, who is afraid to be married because he fears responsibility. How he came to be such a person, and the act of bravery by which he regains both his self respect and the girl he has never ceased to love, makes for the human drama of "Tip on a Dead Jockey."

Fall, Winter Recreation Plans Given

Jack Hesketh, director of the Monroe Recreation department, announces the program ahead for fall and winter. In part it is as follows:

Kim Novak Stars In Story Of Jeanne Eagles' Life

The story of Jeanne Eagles is one of the most fabulous in all show business, a star who burned with a flame that not only made her great but consumed her too soon. The brilliant actress is portrayed by luscious, talented Kim Novak in "Jeanne Eagles" that starts today at the Paramount Thea re.

The story is both gay and sad, triumphant and tragic. Miss Novak plays the small - town girl with an unquenchable thirst to be an actress. She first makes contact with show business in a beauty contest staged by carnival man Jeff Chandler. She joins his troupe and is by turns, live target for a knife thrower, a "cooch" dancer and, finally, dramatic actress.

Always with her eye on the main chance, even at the expense of her personal happiness, she climbs the Broadway horizon like a meteor. But the spark that was to make her a show business immortal ironically enough seemed to deny her fulfillment as a woman. With unlimited horizons facing her unlimited ambition and blazing talent, she has no time for the solid romance that Chandler offers her. Too late, she realizes what she has lost.

Featured supporting players in "Jeanne Eagles" including Charles Drake as the former All - American who marries her, Larry Gates as her producer, Virginia Grey as a fading Broadway star, and Gene Lockhart as the president of Actors Equity.

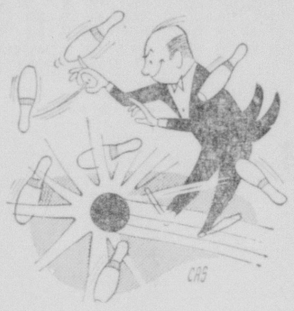
Andre Kostelanetz Perfectionist When Creating Moods For Music

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"The Boston Symphony could hardly give its most inspiring performance in bathing suits," mused Andre Kostelanetz on the subject of whether musicians in tuxedos add to the enjoyment of a concert performance.



The bouncy, balding conductor is a firm believer that music is most appreciated when it is seen and heard under the best possible conditions.

"I once conducted the Hawaiian Symphony with the members all in flowery sports shirts," he recalled, "but that was Hawaii and it was an accepted tradition. The visual setting is as important to music as the acoustics. Television, I think, does a poor job of presenting symphonies in a pleasant setting."

His insistance on music being seen as well as heard is unusual for a man who has achieved his greatest success with the unseen audience of record buyers.

Kostelanetz has just completed his 50th record album, as unprecedented number for any conductor. The new one is a two-volume Columbia album featuring the music of Richard Rodgers. All his previous recordings are still available in record stores and, to date, the public has bought more than 35 million copies.

As records improve in technical excellence will music lovers someday desert the concert halls for their hi-fi sets, the way fight fans avoid the arena for a ring-side seat at their television sets?

"Never," answered Kostelanetz, who has sold out Carnegie Hall many times and caused mob scenes at his concerts in Tokyo, South Africa and Holland. "I have not the slightest fear of that. Record fans soon become concert goers. That has always been my experience."

At his own recording sessions Kostelanetz is a stickler for technical precision, constantly moving microphones, keeping a close eye on the weather so the strings will be at their best, once even noting a difference in the sound quality on the second day of a recording session because the hall had been painted during the night.

When he made the original recording of Ferde Grofe's "Hudson River Suite," he had a bowling alley set up before the orchestra and hired a professional bowler to roll a strike because the score called for the sound of Hendrick Hudson's little men playing at ninepins.

Kostelanetz, a serious conductor, composer and impressario who has personally commissioned many modern works, has no objection to being classified with the makers of mood music.

"What is mood music?" he asked, then plunged in with an answer to his own question. "When Stokowski conducts Dvorak or Shostakovitch, he creates a mood. Toscanini created moods. All music should have moods."

The bidding:

East, 1 club; South, Pass; West, Pass; North, Double.

East, Pass; South, 1 heart; West, Pass; North, 1 spade.

East, Pass; South, 2 hearts; West, Pass; North, 2 no trump.

East, Pass; South, 4 hearts; West, Pass; North, Pass.

East, Pass.

Opening lead: nine of clubs.

Economy in the management of high cards in the trump suit was essential to declarer's success in the play of today's hand.

East opened with one club, and West had nothing with which to keep the bidding open. North made a take-out double. A certain reluctance accompanied his action, for he realized that embarrassment might ensue if partner persisted with hearts. However, a mere bid of one spade would not do justice to his holding, and North had to take his chances.

South responded as expected, and North showed the spades. After South rebid his six card suit, North tried two no trump, whereupon South considered it high time that he quit dallying and promptly proceeded to game in hearts.

West opened the nine of clubs. East won and shifted to the king of spades, taken in dummy with the ace. On a low heart lead from dummy, declarer came up with the king, for he bidding clearly marked East with the ace.

It is his play at the next trick which makes or breaks the contract. Without giving the problem much thought, many players would instinctively play the jack in an effort to drive out one of the honors. However, it can be demonstrated that such play is unsound and cannot in any circumstances gain for declarer.

The proper play is a low heart. If the adverse hearts at this time are divided two - two, it matters not, for the ace and queen must fall together next time.

But if the remaining hearts are divided three - one, declarer will win the hand by playing low whenever the singleton is an honor, for the jack will be retained to drive out the remaining honor on the next lead. But if declarer leads the jack and loses to a singleton queen, he will be obliged to lose two more tricks to the ace and the nine.

Declarer led the three of hearts and assured a happy ending for his side, losing in all two hearts and a club.

Ninth National Philatelic Show Slated In Nov.

For the 9th consecutive year a national philatelic exhibition will be sponsored by the American Stamp Dealers Assn. This year's show will be held in New York's 71st Infantry Regiment Armory on Nov. 22, 23 and 24. General Manager Peter G. Keller expects more than 60,000 visitors to attend the A.S.D.A. affair which will climax National Stamp Collecting Week.

Sarawak, the colorful little British Crown colony in the northwestern part of Borneo, has issued a set of 14 new stamps.

The designs on the 10 lower values (1 to 25 cents) include a portrait of Queen Elizabeth together with the crown and feature various local pictorial scenes. Some of the scenes show logging, Kayan dancing, Kenyah ceremonial carving, turtles, Melanau basket making, and a young orangutan.

Belgium has issued a new 2.50 francs stamp to commemorate the fourth exhibition of sculpture at Middleheim Park, Anvers. The main design features the sculpture "Kneeling Woman" by Wilheim Lehmbruck. The exhibition is devoted to the sculpture of Central Europe with emphasis on Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Lehmbruck, for example, is considered one of Germany's leading expressionists.

According to the London magazine "Stamp Collecting," Lebanon definitely will issue its set to commemorate the meeting of the Arab kings and rulers at Beirut. The designs will feature the following: 15 p President Chamoun and King Hussein of Jordan, 15 p President Chamoun and King Feisal of Iraq, 15 p President Chamoun and King Saud of Saudi Arabia, 15 p President Chamoun and President Kuwatly of Syria, 25 p President Chamoun and the President of the Sudan, 25 p President Chamoun and a map of Lebanon, 100 p President Chamoun and all the Arab rulers.

Stamp notes . . . Turkey has issued two new stamps to mark the 75th anniversary of the Academy of Fine Arts in Istanbul. . . . France has issued a new 30 franc green and brown adhesive honoring its public works program. . . The heroes of the Chaco Wars of 1930s are featured on a new set of 25 stamps issued by Paraguay. . . . Norway has issued two new stamps commemorating the 85th birthday of King Haakon. The 35 ore red and 65 ore blue bear a portrait of the monarch.

Roars Greet Bard In Toledo And Thereby Hangs A Tale

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP) — "Et tu, Brute! Then die, Caesar."

With that, actor Patrick Hines crumpled to the stage as Julius Caesar in Shakespeare's tragedy of the same name.

But the audience chuckled. From a nearby cage, a lion rendered a magnificent groan in perfect unison with Caesar's last breath.

That's one of the professional hazards which confront a company of actors who perform Shakespeare in an outdoor amphitheater at the Toledo Zoo.

"At times like that, I find it most difficult to retain temperate feelings about our beastly neighbors," confides Hines, a portly native of Corpus Christi, Tex., whose everyday conversation reflects his Shakespearean training.

The Shakespearean festival, now in its second season, could have been staged in the zoo's indoor theater or other facilities in the city.

But, explains director Ellis Rabb of New York: "We feel we're offering the public something unique in atmosphere. The hillside amphitheater, the trees, the sky — all add to the charm."

As for occasional contributions by the animals, Rabb says: 'It doesn't happen too often, and when it does, the actors simply have to project a little harder. Most of the time the audience forgets it's in a zoo once the play gets underway."

On one occasion, an animal got into the act physically. During a performance of "Much Ado ab ut Nothing" last season, the actors found themselves upstaged by an escaped goat.

The goat strutted and fretted across the stage until a costumed actor made friends and led it off. The play went on.

The presence of zoo animals poses a particular problem for Grace Chapman, a New York actress who grew up in Colorado Springs.

She's allergic to fur and has to hustle past the cages on her way to the amphitheater. If she lingers too long and too close, the result is a temporary asthmatic condition that leaves her vocally closer to King Lear than Juliet.

As if animals weren't enough, a swarm of bees set up shop in the walls of the amphitheater shell when the company arrived for rehearsals this season.

Enraged rather than exterminated by an insufficient dose of cyanide, the insects took ove the area completely for a time, bussing actors and smearing honey over expensive material in the costume rooms.

After actress Chase Crosley of New York, a native of Kingsport, Tenn., was stung on an arm, Rabb delivered an ultimatum:

"The bees go, or we go."

Zoo employes dispatched the intruders with a second dose of cyanide.

A handicap last season was a flock of ducks which lived near the stage. They frequently added a chorus of quacks to the Shakespearean performances.

This year, Rabb let word get around he was planning to slip rubber bands around the ducks' bills each evening. Whether or not that influenced them, zoo officials moved the ducks to another part of the zoo.

"Anyway," adds Rabb, "ducks are nothing to keep too close to hungry actors."

There now are a total of five summer Shakespeare festivals scattered around the nation, but probably only in Toledo is an actor able to entertan a hope like that of Julian Miller of San Francisco, who plays Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Miller hopes some night a a lion will come in on cue when he begins his soliloquy with the words: "Now the hungry lion roars . . ."

Rev. Bengtson Accorded High Scouting Honor

By OTIS B. HASSELL

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Winnsboro Lions Club honored the Rev. W. H. Bengtson for his 30 years in Scout work at their regular meeting the past week.

As club president William R. Baker opened the meeting, "Brother Bong Appreciation Day" was announced. The entire program was a tribute to Rev. Bengtson, pastor of First Methodist Church Winnsboro, and Scoutmaster of Troop 53. He is retiring as Scoutmaster but expects to remain active as a Scouter.

Two Eagle Scouts, Elmo Gentry and Leo Lowentritt, presented to their former scoutmaster a cake from the Lions Club, suitably inscribed in recognition of his service. An inscribed wall plaque was presented on behalf of the club by program chairman Joe Dante.

Jack Pankey, Scout executive of the Ouachita Valley Council, made the main address, stressing the fact that dividends stored up in youth by scouting activities cannot be taken away from them.

Club president Baker presented to the Rev. Bengtson on behalf of the club a handsome pen and pencil set.

The Rev. Bengtson has been a Methodist minister since July 1923, and started in Scouting at Sealy, Texas, in the Houston area, in 1926. He moved to New Orleans in 1932 and was active in Cub Scout and Boy Scout work. At the same time he was Protestant Chaplain of Scouting in New Orleans. In 1941 he moved to Welsh, Louisiana and continued his activities in Scouting. He came to Winnsboro in June, 1949 as pastor of the First Methodist church and has been Scoutmaster of Troop 53 since that year.

As Scoutmaster, he has worked for and received many awards. He is a member of the "Order of the Arrow" and of the brotherhood of the "Order of the Arrow", and has received the Silver Beaver Award which is one of the highest awards in Scouting.

The new Scoutmaster for Troop 53 will be Roy N. Stapp, a Winnsboro High School teacher, and active youth worker.

NEW COLLINSTON PASTOR

COLLINSTON — Reverend Rayford Hunt of Marshall, Texas, has accepted the pastorate of the Collinston Road Baptist Church. Rev. Hunt and his wife and three children moved into this community last week. He replaces Rev. A. E. Weatherly, now at Stewart Heights Baptist Church in Baytown, Texas.

Cottage Prayer Services Are Set

Cottage prayer meetings are being sponsored by the Central Baptist Church of Monroe prior to the revival which will be conducted during the last week of September. Dr. Sam Reeves of the Relief and Annuity board of the Southern Baptist convention will be the guest evangelist.

On Tuesday night, September 10th, cottage meetings were conducted in the following homes: 1, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Evans, 4205 Jackson St., 2, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. White, 204 Pershing Ave., 3, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Johnson, 3309 Lee Ave., 4, Mrs. Julia Moore 3409 Dick Taylor St., 5, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norton, 405 Thomas St., 6, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Fite, 111 Richmond St., 7, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crider, 1109 S. 5th St. and 8, was for all the Young People at the parsonage, Rev. and Mrs. C. Roger Johnson, 3215 Gordon Ave.

The deacons were in charge of all meetings last week and the young people will have charge this week. The deacons who will lead are: M. L. Travis, B. A. Tarver, F. E. Welch, W. E. Bennett, Albert Barker, J. J. David, C. L. Hinton and Lee Baxter.

All members and friends of Central Baptist church are urged to attend and participate in these cottage meetings.

Liberty Baptists Plan Big Day

Sunday, September 15, will be a Red Letter day for Liberty Baptist Church at Calhoun. There will be dinner on the ground and a ground breaking ceremony.

Members, friends and former members are invited to come and participate in this service. This will be the climax of a building program, which will include a new educational building and remodeling of the present edifice, which has been standing over one hundred years.

St. Paul's Holds Senior Hi Ballot

The new senior high department of St. Paul's Methodist Church has just met and named officers for the coming year as follows:

President, Tommy Caldwell; vice - president, Steve Henry; secretary, Marie Nelson; treasurer, Carrick Inabnett; publicity chairman, Stanley Wyatt Jr.; Christian faith, Jim Guthrie; Christian fellowship, Marilyn Hewitt; Christian outreach, Jean Slaughter; Christian citizenship, Judy Port.

The installation was conducted by Miss Jo Ann Richardson, youth director, and supper was served and a recreational period enjoyed.

Local Baptist Leaders Are To Go To Big Meet

Three Monroe men will go to Oklahoma City, September 18-20 to attend the First National Conference of Southern Baptist Men. They are Albin P. Lassiter, Johnnie F. Russell and H. K. Litton. Also attending from this area will be Ford Hines, and A. J. Lester, West Monroe; F. D. Mabry, Ruston.

As the first national men's meeting ever conducted by Southern Baptists, it is expected to attract 8,000 men from 42 states. Theme for the three day session will be "Free Men Through the Ages," emphasizing personal liberty and freedom of religion.

A colorful dramatization depicting great moments of dedication in the lives of martyrs and heroes of faith will open the meeting. It will reflect the place of Baptist in the struggle for religious liberty. Other features of the week will include tableaus on denominational causes, major address on the theme of the meeting, and twelve vocational seminars on agriculture, banking, clerical work, education, government, journalism, labor, law, management, medicine, selling, and small business. Purpose of the seminars is to enable the men to better learn how to witness for Christ through their professions. The panels will be composed of experts of these various fields.

Included on the program are two governors, Hon. Raymond Gray, Oklahoma, and Hon. Price Daniel, Texas; two congressmen, Hon. Eugene Siler, Kentucky, and Hon. Brooks Hays, Arkansas, who is now serving as president of the Southern Baptist Convention. Also headlining the program are Jack Hamm, nationally known cartoonist; Glenn Archer, Washington attorney, a crusader for religious liberty; Howard Butt, Texas groceryman and evangelist; Carlyle Marney, author and pastor; Theodore F. Adams, president of the Baptist World Alliance; Baker James Cauthen, Secretary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, and Porter Routh, renowned layman and secretary - treasurer of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Awards of merit will be presented to six men who have rendered distinguished service to the denomination.

Booming 'Sacred Cow' Population Straining Delhi's Cattle Pounds

NEW DELHI (AP) — This city's population of sacred cows is booming.

Poorly fed at home, they break out of their pens and nibble around the streets looking for garbage, grassy banks or someone's shrubs. The skinny, hump - backed cows have a strange love for paved streets after meals.

They stroll along, taking whatever side of the street pleases them. Cars, bicycles and horse buses come to screeching halts.

No one wants to hit a sacred cow. That could start a riot.

The roaming, love - crazed animals lumber down in the middle of the street for a siesta after a warehouse meal. Buses squeeze around them. Traffic becomes jammed for blocks.

City officials in New Delhi and the old, walled city of Delhi estimate the bovine population at 17,000 — including the sacred cows, the not - so - sacred bullock, and the water buffalo, not sacred at all. This is one animal for every 30 persons.

The bovine population multiplied four times in the nine years since 1948. The housing problem is severe for humans and even worse for cattle.

Many of the cattle just wander away from their pens. Others are true orphans, calves born where they can find it. And some are runaways from the dry, dusty countryside, outside New Delhi, who ramble into the city.

City officials continually round up strays and put them in cow pounds. Similar to "dog pounds" or other countries. The pounds herded 9,000 animals last year, about three times as many as the pounds can accommodate. Only cows or water buffalo are caught once a year.

Bible Words for Today

II PETER 2:20 — "For if, after they have escaped the defilements of the world through the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled in them and overpowered, the last state has become worse for them than the first." (RSV)

Committees on evangelism are concerned about the great host of members our churches lose via the 'back door.' The backsliding Christian doesn't get into trouble in the Lord's service. It is when he deserts and turns from his duty that his trouble begins. The old shepherd who offered a prayer in the great Welsh revival put it exactly right when he lamented his backsliding in these words: "Lord, I got among the thorns and the briars and was scratched, torn and bleeding, but Lord, it's only fair to say that it was not on Thy ground. I had wandered out of Thy pasture."

The condition of entangled souls is still with us. Selfishness, covetousness, lust, indifference and lack of reverence, all take their toll. God's word tells us how these entanglements may be overcome. But the better way is to avoid them by throwing oneself into the thick of the fight for Jesus Christ and His righteousness.

Rev. Bengtson Accorded High Scouting Honor

By OTIS B. HASSELL

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Winnsboro Lions Club honored the Rev. W. H. Bengtson for his 30 years in Scout work at their regular meeting the past week.

As club president William R. Baker opened the meeting, "Brother Beng Appreciation Day" was announced. The entire program was a tribute to Rev. Bengtson, pastor of First Methodist Church Winnsboro, and Scoutmaster of Troop 53. He is retiring as scoutmaster but expects to remain active as a scouter.

Two Eagle Scouts, Elmo Gentry and Leo Lowentritt, presented to their former scoutmaster a cake from the Lions Club, suitably inscribed in recognition of his service. An inscribed wall plaque was presented on behalf of the club by program chairman Joe Dante.

Jack Pankey, Scout executive of the Ouachita Valley Council, made the main address, stressing the fact that dividends stored up in youth by scouting activities cannot be taken away from them.

Club president Baker presented to the Rev. Bengtson on behalf of the club a handsome pen and pencil set.

The Rev. Bengtson has been a Methodist minister since July 1923, and started in Scouting at Sealy, Texas, in the Houston area, in 1926. He moved to New Orleans in 1932 and was active in Cub Scout and Boy Scout work. At the same time he was Protestant Chaplain of Scouting in New Orleans. In 1941 he moved to Welsh, Louisiana and continued his activities in Scouting. He came to Winnsboro in June, 1949 as pastor of the First Methodist church and has been Scoutmaster of Troop 53 since that year.

As Scoutmaster, he has worked for and received many awards. He is a member of the "Order of the Arrow" and of the brotherhood of the "Order of the Arrow", and has received the Silver Beaver Award which is one of the highest awards in Scouting.

The new Scoutmaster for Troop 53 will be Roy N. Stapp, a Winnsboro High School teacher, and active youth worker.

NEW COLLINSTON PASTOR

COLLINSTON — Reverend Rayford Hunt of Marshall, Texas, has accepted the pastorate of the Collinston Road Baptist Church. Rev. Hunt and his wife and three children moved into this community last week. He replaces Rev. A. E. Weatherly, now at Stewart Heights Baptist Church in Baytown, Texas

Crider, 1109 S. 5th St. and 8. was for all the Young People at the parsonage, Rev. and Mrs. C. Roger Johnson, 3215 Gordon Ave.

The deacons were in charge of all meetings last week and the young people will have charge this week. The deacons who will lead are: M. L. Travis, B. A. Tarver, F. E. Welch, W. E. Bennett, Albert Barker, J. J. David, C. L. Hinton and Lee Baxter.

All members and friends of Central Baptist church are urged to attend and participate in these cottage meetings.

Liberty Baptists Plan Big Day

Sunday, September 15, will be a Red Letter day for Liberty Baptist Church at Calhoun. There will be dinner on the ground and a ground breaking ceremony.

Members, friends and former members are invited to come and participate in this service. This will be the climax of a building program, which will include a new educational building and remodeling of the present edifice, which has been standing over one hundred years.

St. Paul's Holds Senior Hi Ballot

The new senior high department of St. Paul's Methodist Church has just met and named officers for the coming year as follows:

President, Tommy Caldwell; vice - president, Steve Henry; secretary, Marie Nelson; treasurer, Carrick Inabnett; publicity chairman, Stanley Wyatt Jr.; Christian faith, Jim Guthrie; Christian fellowship, Marilyn Hewitt; Christian outreach, Jean Slaughter; Christian citizenship, Judy Port.

The installation was conducted by Miss Jo Ann Richardson, youth director, and supper was served and a recreational period enjoyed.

Local Baptist Leaders Are To Go To Big Meet

Three Monroe men will go to Oklahoma City, September 18-20 to attend the First National Conference of Southern Baptist Men. They are Albin P. Lassiter, Johnnie F. Russell and H. K. Litton. Also attending from this area will be Ford Hines, and A. J. Lester, West Monroe; F. D. Mabry, Ruston.

As the first national men's meeting ever conducted by Southern Baptists, it is expected to attract 8,000 men from 42 states. Theme for the three day session will be "Free Men Through the Ages," emphasizing personal liberty and freedom of religion.

A colorful dramatization depicting great moments of dedication in the lives of martyrs and heroes of faith will open the meeting. It will reflect the place of Baptist in the struggle for religious liberty. Other features of the week will include tableaus on denominational causes, major address on the theme of the meeting, and twelve vocational seminars on agriculture, banking, clerical work, education, government journalism, labor, law, management, medicine, selling, and small business. Purpose of the seminars is to enable the men to better learn how to witness for Christ through their professions. The panels will be composed of experts of these various fields.

Included on the program are two governors, Hon. Raymond Gray, Oklahoma, and Hon. Price Daniel, Texas; two congressmen, Hon. Eugene Siler, Kentucky, and Hon. Brooks Hays, Arkansas, who is now serving as president of the Southern Baptist Convention. Also headlining the program are Jack Hamm, nationally known cartoonist; Glenn Archer, Washington attorney, a crusader for religious liberty; Howard Butt, Texas groceryman and evangelist; Carlyle Marney, author and pastor; Theodore F. Adams, president of the Baptist World Alliance; Baker James Cauthen, Secretary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, and Porter Routh, renowned layman and seretary - treasurer of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Awards of merit will be presented to six men who have rendered distinguished service to the denomination.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Message:

0. Esther 9:22. Make them days of gladness, days for sending choice portions to one another.
1. Prov. 2:2. Make your ear attentive to wisdom and incline your heart to understanding.
2. Prov. 2:7,8. He is a shield to those who walk in integrity, guarding the paths of justice.
3. Prov. 3:27. Do not withhold good from those to whom it is due, when it is due, when it is in your power to do it.
4. Prov. 3:28 Do not say to your neighbor, "Go, and come again, tomorrow I will give it" — when you have it with you.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Auburn and North Second Streets
"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 15, 1957.
The Golden Text is: "Turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually." (Hos. 12:6).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him." (Eccl. 3:14).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible Infinite God." (325).

Booming 'Sacred Cow' Population Straining Delhi's Cattle Pounds

NEW DELHI (AP) — This city's population of sacred cows is booming.

Poorly fed at home, they break out of their pens and amble around the streets looking for garbage, grassy parks or someone's shrubs. The skinny, hump - backed cows have a strange love for paved streets after meals.

They stroll along, using whichever side of the street pleases them. Cars, bicycles and huge buses come to screeching halts.

No one wants to hit a sacred cow. That could start a riot.

The scabby, lop - eared animals hunch down in the middle of the street for a siesta after a garbage meal. Buses squeeze around them. Traffic becomes jammed for blocks.

City officials in New Delhi and the old, walled city of Delhi estimate the bovine population at 12,000 — including the sacred cow, the not - so - sacred bullock, and the water buffalo, not sacred at all. This is one animal for every 10 persons.

The bovine population multiplied four times in the nine years since 1948. The housing problem is severe for humans and even worse for cattle.

Many of the cattle just wander away from their pens. Others are true orphans, catching a meal where they can find it. And some are runaways from the dry, dusty countryside, outside New Delhi who amble into the city.

City officials continually round up strays and put them in "cow pounds," similar to "dog pounds" of other countries. The pounds handled 9,000 animals last year, so it seems almost every cow, bullock or water buffalo gets caught once a year.

In the pounds, the cows get food of a sort without scrounging for it. Life isn't pleasant, though. A veterinarian said recently, after a tour, that the affair in the cattle pounds . . . is appalling.

Hindu religious law forbids killing a cow, but harsh treatment is overlooked. Many bullocks pulling carts through city streets have crooked tails, broken by drivers who twisted them to get more speed.

After a cow is put in the pound, the owner has the problem of getting it back. He has to pay a fine for permitting the animal to escape and for the food supplied by the pound.

Some owners can't find this kind of money, and so their cows stay in the pound. Officials, from time to time, drive the cattle into the countryside. Most seem to return to the city.

City officials have a long-range plan to place all the city's milk-giving cows and water buffalo on a dairy farm outside New Delhi.

Bombay did the same thing. It turned out to be one of the biggest cattle roundups in Indian history — 10,000 animals were pushed out of metropolitan Bombay.

Bible Words for Today

II PETER 2:20 — "For if, after they have escaped the defilements of the world through the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled in them and overpowered, the last state has become worse for them than the first." (RSV)

Committees on evangelism are concerned about the great host of members our churches lose via the 'back door.' The backsliding Christian doesn't get into trouble in the Lord's service. It is when he deserts and turns from his duty that his trouble begins. The old shepherd who offered a prayer in the great Welsh revival put it exactly right when he lamented his backsliding in these words: "Lord, I got among the thorns and the briars and was scratched, torn and bleeding, but Lord, it's only fair to say that it was not on Thy ground. I had wandered out of Thy pasture."

The condition of entangled souls is still with us. Selfishness, covetousness, lust, indifference and lack of reverence, all take their toll. God's word tells us how these entanglements may be overcome. But the better way is to avoid them by throwing oneself into the thick of the fight for Jesus Christ and His righteousness.

THING DESIRED

Book Abounds In Charm In The People Involved

THE THING DESIRED. By Lalage Pulvertaft. Viking.

It opens with Julia Chard in a plane, arriving at the Riviera, thinking it's London, expecting Sarah but being met instead by the possessive Roy and whisked off, a bit daft, to a home. It ends with Julia, too, this time humbly on her knees. In between are excitingly:

Adam Chard, minor writer with major reputation, and his hangerson, among whom Caroline, who teaches for Mr. Jepson, would like for a while to be included; Hugh, who tries harder not to love Caroline than she not to love him; the go - between Tommy; her landlady Mrs. Henry with the bullied husband; Hugh's friends the brothers Fred and Will; a publisher, a secretary, a child, and curiously assorted others.

Adam is the key to this intriguing story, though before it draws to its dramatic close Caroline is moved up by the expert Miss Pulvertaft into his place. These are people fumbling around for a way to live, for purposes and satisfactions, on occasion content with less than the best but quickly regretting it. Adam is a sort of absorptive ogre, who needs women more as a writer than as a man. Caroline is attracted by the Chard name, but still there's something about Hugh, and it is Hugh who, for all his rival's social dominance, unwittingly obliges her to make up her mind.

Though it has its grim pages, this novel abounds in charm both in the people and also in the way they are handled.

ALBERT GALLATIN

A Novel Of Jeffersonian Financier And Diplomat

ALBERT GALLATIN: Jeffersonian Financier and Diplomat. By Raymond Walters Jr. Macmillan.

Born in Geneva in 1761, and educated there, Gallatin was still in his teens when with a student friend he decided to seek a career in the struggling young America.

He sampled Boston, where he tutored at Harvard; the Down East country; the South; and then at last, venturing across the Alleghenies, Western Pennsylvania. That was the land he loved; it was from there that he entered upon the political scene in which he was active in Philadelphia, Washington, Paris and London for 40 years.

In Pennsylvania he advocated a state system of education, was a moderate in the Whiskey Rebellion, and worked for the development of roads and canals. Nationally he was anti-Federalist, had his doubts about Hamilton's debt assumption, backed the Bank of the United States at least for a time. For 12 years he was secretary of the Treasury, the longest tenure in our history; he was a peace commission at Ghent, and ambassador to France.

In the 1790s Harrison Gray Otis, Noah Webster and William Cobbett all challenged his Americanism on the grounds of his Swiss origin; again in 1832 Clay angrily ordered: "Go home to your native Europe." But in fact, he was, Walters declares, an invaluable importation, whose "great and unselfish service" has not been recognized in his country — this country. Thanks to Pennsylvania-born Walters' exhaustive scholarship, the gap in our historical record is filled by this abundantly documented biography.

W. G. ROGERS

The Battle Of Cassino Is Excellent

THE BATTLE OF CASSINO. By Fred Majdalany. Houghton Mifflin.

Cassino was the strongpoint in the Gustav Line, a major peninsula-wide defense system on which Kesselring relied, at Hitler's order, to delay the Allies. It was in a larger sense an incident in Rome's capture. For the first half of 1944, it was headline news day after day.

Majdalany, an infantry officer there, puts the story together graphically. There was a political background to the drive up the Italian boot, and the Yanks were not the most enthusiastic members of the invading combine. The Allies were slogging along wearily when at last they ran into incredible difficulties at the mountains dominated by the great Benedictine abbey.

From then on the battle was in four stages: To match the landing at Anzio; then to recover from that stalemate; an assault in conjunction with the flattening of the town of Cassino by bomb and shell — all improvised; and finally the carefully prepared surprise attack by which Alexander reached the battered summits and cut loose on the roads to Rome.

In assessing the commanders, Majdalany is rough on Mark Clark. He justifies the bombing of the abbey. He catches the little things — the fight that began with 500 bombers and ended with a single carrier pigeon, the division that captured its second objective but missed its first. But more, he catches in his vivid over all picture the fierce do-or-die spirit of foe as well as friend, the modern savagery with which the irresistible force meets the immovable body, the unforgettable heroism, the fortitude, the sacrifice, the tragic toll, and the incommensurably paltry reward.

ANGEL

New Novel Is Described As Brilliant

ANGEL. By Elizabeth Taylor. Viking.

It is back in 1900. The place is a desolate English village, the home is a shop, the mother a widow, the aunt a maid. The only way teen-ager Angel can forget the dreary business is to imagine herself the lady of the place, the grande dame, the owner of Paradise House where Aunt Lottie works.

So she does — "the truth was beginning to leave her in peace," Mrs. Taylor says acidly. She imagines all this and more, writes it out, sends it to publisher after publisher till Gilbert & Brace decide they'll take a chance on it. They may be laughed out of business, what with the absurd romantic posturings of Angel's make-believe lords and ladies, or they may make fortunes.

Angel is their angel in fact, and they all make fortunes thanks to a knack, a trick—a tremendous lack of talent, naturally — but a gift for appealing to the largest possible number of readers, but dumb readers. Angel's life proves as unreal as her books, but she makes some conventional gestures like acknowledging her worshippers, bedeviling her editor, despising the critics and refusing sublimely to believe she's anything but a genius.

Ever since her first novel, "At Mrs. Lippincote's," happily introduced Mrs. Taylor to me, she has proved to be one of the most rewarding writers the English have sent us. Here she has done a brilliant sardonic portrait, an impish, even catty study of an empty-headed popular writer, and you'll relish every scene.

UNQUIET GERMANS

Novel Explores Future Of The Bonn Government

THE UNQUIET GERMANS. By Charles W. Thayer. Harper.

In 1943, Hans and Sophie Scholl, young brother and sister, passed out anti-Hitler leaflets in Munich and were beheaded for it.

This is about as far toward revolution as the Germans got, says Thayer, who has known them almost a quarter century thanks in part to U. S. consular and embassy assignments.

He then explores other aspects of the German character, the pressures brought by friend and foe to mold it, and the tradition behind it on occasion clashing with modern forces. Keeping always in mind this rare couple ready to die for liberty, he notes more conservative or reactionary manifestations:

The refusal to admit the Jews were slaughtered, the persistence of Nazi convictions, the willingnees to flirt with Russia, the return of the Krupps, the rebirth of the army.

Thayer thinks American pulling and hauling confused the Germans, and cites Eisenhower's refusal to meet their generals when hostilities ceased contrasted with his gracious greeting to them when we wanted a new German army. He also claims the carefully drafted "unconditional surrender" terms were lost by Bedell Smith, who hated them, so that only substitute documents were available for signature at Rheims.

His not novel conclusions are that Adenauer is at the moment the key to the situation, and that except for the burden of civil service, Bonn stands a better chance than Weimar ever did. His approach is more interesting than the end comments, and his treatment, however exhaustive, is piecemeal. The book's real value may lie in the implicit acknowledgment that the picture is obscure and the future unpredictable.

THE REBEL SHORE

Story Of Union Navy During The Civil War

THE REBEL SHORE, By James W. Merrill. Little, Brown.

When the Civil War started, the United States Navy numbered 90 ships—on paper. Fifty were obsolete sailing ships. Some of the steamships were laid up, others were decrepit, still others were scattered on foreign stations. It came down to this: three steamers in home waters ready to fight.

From that poor beginning, the federal government built a force that throttled the Confederacy. The story of that throttling is the story of "The Rebel Shore."

The subtitle — "The Story of Union Sea Power in the Civil War" — is somewhat of a misnomer in that the book does not deal with actions against Confederate raiders built in England. Prof. Merrill's concern is with the blockade of the Confederate coast line and the role of the Navy in opening the Confederacy's rivers to Union guns. In that area, he acquits himself admirably.

Gideon Welles, secretary of the Navy, and his able lieutenant, Gustavus Fox, played their game by ear. In the beginning, they bought anything that floated, from garbage scows to ferry boats. They discovered early the importance of combined land-sea operations, but didn't quite know what to do with the advantages gained by success. Haphazard campaigning, failure to follow up victories, conflicts in command, frittered away many opportunities. They plunged too heavily on monitors. But slowly the blockade tightened and the Confederacy strangled.

Merrill may overestimate the potential of the Navy. At times, he seems to be saying that the Army really wasn't needed to win. But he argues a strong case, his story is swift-moving and it offers a fascinating panorama of a phase of the Civil War that has been too long neglected.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE

CAMERA NOTES

Double Exposure Is Interesting

By JOHN OLDENBURG
Camera Editor

While rummaging through an old photograph album, I came across an amusing picture, a double exposure which had interesting consequences.

About four years ago, while visiting with relatives for the observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, I had my camera ready—like most camera bugs, and got my brother taking a snooze on the divan. The final outcome of that picture reveals what he was dreaming of — supposedly. It was, obviously, a rural scene as the picture shows a wooded area with a church steeple.

Of course, as you have guessed by now, this is a result of a double exposure which some times can be very amusing — and at other times very disgruntling. Most modern cameras are so rigged that a double exposure is impossible unless intended. However, on the average amateur camera one of the most important things between each shot is to roll the film for the next picture.

It is fun sometimes to plan a double exposure and see what happens. However, be sure that they are planned, or otherwise you waste film and most of your setting.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SANDRA JOHNSON

The calendar says September again and that means another season of Little Theatre entertainment is here. There are five wonderful productions in store for you this year, with a touch of something new added.

The first of these is a delightful play called "The Reluctant Debutante." As time goes on I'll be telling you a lot more about the plot and characters in the play.

The first readings for "The Reluctant Debutante" were held Tuesday night at the Little Theatre in Selman Field, with a wonderful turnout. In charge of the activities for the evening was Ivan Uttal, director of the theatre for the past two years and back with us for a third.

Mrs. Carl McHenry and Genevra Washburn served coffee and cookies to everyone during a timeout that was called. Everyone enjoyed a few minutes chatting with old friends and meeting the new friends who came to join us for the first time. Ivan brought his house - guest, Al Shea, who is visiting from New Orleans — others there were: Kay McClure, Gertie Goldman and son, Mitch, Gerry and Tavie Kenny, Kay Causey, George Brian, J. V. Spatafora, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Genevra Washburn, Lovell Hayden and his guest; Bob Stacy, president of the Shreveport Jaycees, Mrs. J. B. Corder and daughter, Bonnie, Naomi Campbell, Henry Haas, Jr., Scherk Bogen, Linda Burnham, Julius Cahn, Colleen Dent, Linda Crure, Portia Gould, Anne McCarty, Sarah Francis Little, Clarice Brown, Pat Williams, Lewis Hardy, Judith Netherland, Tommy Caldwell, Mary Tillman, Eloyce Baxter and Art Johnson, Jr.

Saturday, September 7th, Mrs. Ruth Surguine Brown, entertained the membership committee of the Little Theatre at her lovely home on Myrtle Street, with a coffee hour. Many plans were made for the membership drive. If you haven't been contacted and would like to obtain a membership call either Mrs. Ruth Surguine Brown, FA 3-1983 or Mrs. L. H. Carter, FA 3-8509.

From all reports there has been a lot of traveling done this summer. The Causey family (Bid, Kay and the boys) spent a wonderful vacation in New Orleans. Bessie Terrell also paid a visit to New Orleans. Aubrey McKeithen journedy to Panama City, Florida and Tulsa, Oklahoma, both. Ivan really made the rounds by visiting Chicago, New York, New England and New Orleans. Jo Ann Genung thoroughly enjoyed a cruise to the West Indies. Lucky gal! At the presen ttime, Mac Ward is taking a tour of Europe. From all indications, a wonderful time has been had by all.

Readings will be held at the Little Theatre Monday night at 8:00 again, and we are in need of some men. If you are 20-ish to 50-ish, come on out. "The Reluctant Debutante" will prove to be more fun than work, so give it a try.

Don't forget the membership drive . . . . let's make this our biggest year yet.

See you Wednesday!

TV notes

The boss man of "Sally," new comedy series on NBC at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, is Frank Ross, motion picture producer who also is husband of the TV program's star, Joan Caulfield. This is his first TV production.

"The Eddie Fisher Show" on NBC will have a "young veteran" handling the baton in front of the orchestra. He is Buddy Bregman, 27, who has been conducting TV music for eight years. His uncle is Jule Styne, Broadway and Hollywood composer and Broadway producer. Buddy gave his first piano recital in Chicago at the age of 12.

The star of "The Californians," new Gold Rush series on NBC, is Adam Kennedy, a rugged fellow from Lafayette, Ind., who has had careers both as an artist and actor. He began acting in Paris where he already had established a good reputation as a painter.

"Tales of the Texas Rangers" moves over to ABC this fall and will be seen, starting Sept. 21, at 5:to 5:30 p.m. Saturdays.

Robert Ryan will be guest star on the first of the new series of "Mr. Adams and Eve" shows which begin on CBS at 9 p.m. Sept. 20.

One feature of the first of "The Big Record" shows on CBS, Sept. 18, will be David Wayne and Ella Logan singing the song "Something Sort of Grandish," which they did on the stage in "Finian's Rainbow" almost a decade ago.

LONG DISPUTE

Asphalt Group, AF Are Still In Disagreement

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The asphalt institute's long dispute with the Air Force over its preference for cement in air strip paving is still far from settled and will get another public airing.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) of a House Armed Services Investigating Subcommittee has just wound up another hearing in a series dating back to 1954 with harsh words for the Air Force.

He accused it of breaching a three - year old agreement with Congress that asphalt would be allowed to compete fairly with cement. He also enjoined it against going any further overboard for cement before the results of new tests of the durability of asphalt are known.

Prove Conclusively

The tests will be made at the Columbus, Miss., research center. They are expected to prove conclusively whether the Air Force arbitrarily switched to more expensive concrete simply because air base commanders voiced a preference for it.

The dispute involves more than business rivalry between the oil industry, which produces asphalt, and the cement association which represents 70 companies in the United States and Canada. Also involved are many taxpayer dollars, the lives of Air Force pilots, millions of dollars worth of warplanes, and whether the Air Force however righteous its cause, can defy Congrehs and make it stick.

Spend Millions Annual y

The Air Force spends millions annually for air strips. Under its three-year-old pact with Congress it agreed to abandon a 5 per cent price differential favoring cement for alternate use in competitive bidding of both asphalt and concrete. But after further trials of asphalt on runways and taxiways it said bluntly that asphalt broke down under the heat and weight of sustained traffic and especially heavy jet bombers such as the B-47 and the B-52. Hence its reversion to and reliance on concrete.

Protests from the Asphalt Institute resulted in new but inconclusive asphalt tests at Kelly Air Force Base, Tex. Institute President J. E. Buchanan charged these tests were "unrealistic and unfair" and said "we are prepared to document our position."

Rush New Tests

Hebert's last hearing — held June 24-July 3 — culminated in an agreement by the Army engineers and the Air Force to rush the new Columbus tests. The engineers have tended to side with the asphalt Institute. They told the subcommittee they have tested a flexible asphaltic pavement that will take B-47's displacing 100,000 pounds per square inch.

"The Air Force disputes this to some extent," Hebert said in his report, "by pointing out alleged failures at certain fields where heavy traffic has already caused alleged breakdowns."

The Air Force testified it will cost $10,000,000 to repair asphalt strips now known to be faulty. Buchanan conceded there had been some breakdowns in "channelized traffic areas" but he contested the overall indictment. He asserted that jet fighter and bomber weight and heat stresses occurred in both asphalt and cement pavements. But he said the Air Force had been so arbitrary that in effect it set up a "monopolistic paving situation" favoring cement.

Endorse Cement

He said the institute would endorse use of cement in narrow channelized strips in runways and up to 300 yards at runway ends to carry up to 305,000 pounds pressure per square inch, but that exclusive use of cement for an entire base was pure discrimination against asphalt.

Cement's case was presented by G. Donald Kennedy, president of the Portland Cement Association. He said that 40 to 50 per cent of jet engine replacements are due to damage by foreign particles entering their compressors. These don't come from cement, he said.

He said that every time a jet plane takes off from other than concrete the plane is jeopardized, along with the lives of the pilots. He said that in a typical year accidents average 2,000 with 800 fatalities. He said the tremendous cost in planes and manpower can be cut measurably with cement air strips and that the saving will far surpass the added cost of concrete.

"If the use of highest quality paving can save even one of these (pilot's) lives," Kennedy said, "no greater economy can be effected. Compromise is unthinkable."

Course In Farm Equipment Set At Northeast

Most recent offering of Northeast State's Agriculture and Home Economics Department is a curriculum in farm equipment management, L. L. Price, department head, announced.

The new study, which was added to the fall program, carries a bachelor of science degree with the completion of the four-year course.

Students trained in farm equipment management are in demand by both wholesale and retail farm equipment firms as well as highly mechanized farms, Price explained. Farm equipment sales require men trained in agriculture, farm machinery, tractors, and salesmanship.

Large farm equipment manufacturers have openings for dealers who are specialized in agriculture and the farm equipment business, the department head said.

He emphasized the scope of farm equipment industry which includes marketing, business administration, technical agriculture, land drainage, irrigation, terracing, buildings, concrete, water supply, sewerage disposal, farm electricity, shop practice in forg- and in oxacetylene and arc ing.

Electronic Brain Readied For Translating Russian

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

SEATTLE (AP)—Linguists and engineers expect to test in the near future an electronic brain system which they believe will translate Russian scientific documents into English at high speed with a minimum of human effort.

If successful, it will give the English-speaking world a huge flow of information about Russian science instead of the mere trickle that has been available up to now.

The project has nothing to do with secrecy. The material has been available all along, in Russian books, periodicals and scientific reports.

Translation is difficult because the Russian and English asphabets are substantially different. Idioms, complex word structure and to some extent syntax further complicate the problem. And the number of Americans proficient in Russian language is very small.

But many Russian meaningful units such as words, prefixes, endings, compound words and even phrases can be matched pretty wel' with English equivalents, says Prof. Erwin Reifler, professor of Chinese at the University of Washington, who heads the project.

It was Dr. Reifler's pioneering, particularly in word matching, which gave the project its momentum here. Now researchers under Dr. Lew R. Mickelson, assistant professor of Russian, are pairing off 160,000 or more Russian semantic units with their English equivalents.

And in Los Angeles engineers of the International Telemetering Corp., with U.S. Air Force support, are building the mechanical brain for the system.

This project, however, is not the only one in the field. Electronic translator development is under way at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at George Washington University and at the California Institute of Technology.

The University of Washington system still is in crude form. Translators here have given as many as eight different meanings to a single Russian term. If the machine were to process a Russian document now it would in many cases supply more than one English equivalent for each Russian semantic unit.

When the machine is completed an electronic device will scan the Russian documents and record each semantic unit in the text. The machine then automatically will locate English equivalents previously stored in its "memory" and release them in their Russian order.

Sometime this fall the machine is expected to be ready to produce accurate, intelligible sentences, though in poor grammar. Eventually the scientists hope to "teach" the machine how to translate in good English.

Asphalt Group, AF Are Still In Disagreement

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)— The asphalt industry's long dispute with the Air Force over its preference for cement in runway paving is still far from settled and will get another public airing.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) of a House Armed Services Investigating Subcommittee has just wound up hearings in a series during which he clashed with Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Kieffer, Air Force deputy chief of staff for materiel.

He accused Kieffer of spending three years and millions of dollars to keep Congress and contractors from finding out whether asphalt would be allowed to compete for runway cement. He also slammed Kieffer against some high Air Force officials for cement before the results of new tests of the durability of asphalt are known.

The tests will be made at the Columbia, Miss., Waterways Center. They are expected to prove conclusively to the Air Force engineers, who say asphalt is more expensive initially, simply because the base course must be thicker to support heavy jet bombers such as the B-47 and the B-52. Rush New Tests

Hebert's last hearing — held after the asphalt industry had complained to Congress — was packed with Air Force officials who were rushed to the hearing from Washington. They told the subcommittee that the Air Force's preference for concrete was based on "sound engineering judgment" and that the Air Force's disposing 100,000 pounds per square inch.

"The Air Force disputes this to some extent," Hebert said in his report, "the pavement our aircraft [illegible] certain fields where [illegible] breakdowns."

...Tuesday afternoon at ...cob, daughter of Mr. and ... Bastrop became the bride of ...arrett, ... David I. ... rites were ... the Reverend ...omeroy in the First ... Coast Church, which was dec... with baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and cathedral tapers in spiral holders.

The immediate members of the two families were in attendance. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a winter white suit of silk shantung. Her small close fitting hat was of the same material and she carried a white prayer book. Topping the book was a white orchid encircled with valley lilies.

The bride had as her attendant, Mrs. Mary Moss Henderson of Bastrop. Her suit was of brown embroidered taffeta and her hat of matching velvet. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of pastel flowers.

H. Webb Madison, of Bastrop, served his nephew as best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jacob entertained with a reception at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Mrs. Jacob chose fo. her daughter's wedding, a silk suit of navy blue with which she wore a matching hat and other blue accessories. Mrs. Garrett, the mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in aqua with a half hat of black velvet. They both wore shoulder corsages of cymbidium orchids.

Arrangement of white flowers were placed about the lounge of th club and on the bride's table, tube roses and chrysanthemums formed the decorations.

Later in the afternoon Dr. Garrett and his bride left on a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast and upon their return will make their home in Bastrop.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School and attended Northeast State College where she was a member of Phi Mu social sorority.

Dr. Garrett graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and attended Tulane University. He received his degree in medicine from the University of Tennessee Medical School. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity and Phi Rho Sigma, professional fraternity. He attended the School of Aviation Medicine in Pensacola, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. David Garrett, Jr. entertainel members of the wedding party at supper, in their home on Lakeside Drive, on Monday evening following the wedding rehearsal.

MRS. EARL CHRISTOPHER ROARK, JR.

Autumn Colors Decorate Church For Vows Uniting Miss Ferguson, Mr. Roark

The First Baptist Church in West Monroe was the scene September 7, of the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Ferguson to Earl Christopher Roark.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin Ferguson and Mr. Roark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Roark, all of West Monroe.

The Reverend Jaroy Weber officiated before an altar banked with bronze chryanthemums and southern smilax and tall candelabra holding many lighted yellow tapers. Bob Oldenburg, at the organ, rendered a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied the vocalists, Miss Sharon Thomisee and Miss Camille Smith.

Wearing a gown of ivory peau de soie and French imported lace, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Cut along Empire lines, lace formed the bodice made with off the shoulder neckline and long sleeves coming to points at the wrist. Around the neckline and at the points of the sleeves, seed pearls and irridescents formed a petal design. The full gored skirt was finished with a large butterfly bow at the back which flowed into a chapel train. Panels of scalloped lace fell from the bow to the bottom of the skirt. A crown of pearls and orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white cyrysanthemums and yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Glynda Ann Smith was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Miss Dot Phillips, Mrs. John H. Odom, Mrs. Guy Dupriest, Jr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson. Their waltz length full skirted dresses were of crystalline over taffeta in shades of yellow blending into deep gold, which was worn by the honor attendant. They were fashioned with scooped necklines in front and back with small velvet hats to match their dresses and carried muffs the same shade decorated with bronze chrysanthemums. Becky Harper, dressed the same in the palest yellow, acted as flower girl. Miss John Ann Painich and Miss Loy Bass were the candlelighters.

Mr. Roark served as his sons best man. Groomsmen and ushers were John H. Ferguson, Robert Ferguson, John H. Odom, Ralph Norman and Guy Dupriest, Jr.

Mrs. Ferguson's gown was of beige lace made with square neckline and accented with cummerbund of pecan colored chiffon. She wore a hat of beige irridescents and accessories of pecan colored kid. The groom's mother was wearing a fall dress of brown satin with matching cummerbund highlighted with stones of the same shade at the neckline. Her hat and accessories were of harmonizing color. They both wore corsages of yellow roses.

The reception was held in the reception rooms of the church. White and yellow flowers were used about the room. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over yellow satin and centered with white chrysanthemums and yellow beauty branches. Serving the wedding cake frosted in white and trimmed in yellow roses were Mrs. Cary Phillips and Mrs. J. L. Harper. At the punch services were Mrs. Gene Berry and Mrs. H. C. Emerel. The tea girls were Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Miss Melba Loe, and Miss Truly Chapman. Miss Barbara Byrd was in charge of the guest book. Also assisting was Mrs. W. O. Smith.

For their wedding trip through the Smokey Mountains and along the east coast to their new home in Collinswood, New Jersey, Mrs. Roark wore a two piece cotton and silk tweed suit of electric blue and gray trimmed with matching gray velveteen. Her cloche hat was of blue and her shoes and bag of gray.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson, of Highland Falls, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Groves, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Feigle, Houston, Texas, Mrs. Bertie Hindman, Coleman, Texas and Mrs. Sam Ferguson, of Bogata, Texas.

Fashionettes

Tweed is a popular coat fabric for the younger set. Usually the tweed is combined with velvet for trim, although fur also is used in some of the dressier coats.

Shades of the ballet! Now it is dancer's tights which the younger generation is wearing. The tights, which for dancers usually come in basic black, have blossomed out in all colors, stripes and prints for the teenage and collegiate set. Frequently they are the underpinnings for Bermuda shorts or short skirts.

Success Formula Be Girl Friday To Right Boss

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — In 1949 a young woman took a job at $30 a week as part time typist for the operator of a record shop in the small community of Gallatin, Tenn.

It was a good thing for Christine Hamilton, who's now 29 years old, that she stuck with the job. For she has just been named a vice president of the fast - rising Dot Records, Inc.

The president of Dot, Randy Wood, thinks Mrs. Hamilton's staying also was a good thing for Dot. Wood is the Tennessear who had the record store that turned into the huge record company.

Mrs. Hamilton, married in 1948 to Frank Hamilton, is the mother of a seven-year-old daughter, Ann. She was born in Hartsville, Tenn., educated in Gallatin and graduated from the Nashville Business College for Women.

Her Assistant

Her first job was with the record store. Wood has been her first and only employer.

When Wood began recording Johnny Maddox and the Hilltoppers in 1950 on the Dot label, Mrs. Hamilton — "Chris" around the home and office—found her duties relatively easy. However, Wood's business began to expand, and so did her job. Now the firm's annual volume runs into many millions of dollars from sales of records and albums all over the world. The firm records such artists as Pat Boone, Gale Storm, Tab Hunter, Bonnie Guitar and the Fontane Sisters.

Mrs. Hamilton's present title is vice president in charge of sales coordination and production. She has an assistant whose story is a little like Mrs. Hamilton's success. She is Mary (Sis) Brewer, also of Gallatin, who, along with her husband and 11 other Gallatin families, left their Tennessee town in 1956 when Wood moved his firm's headquarters to Hollywood.

There are lots of men in th Dot organization, but there's a phrase which is heard quite often at Dot: "Better ask Chris—or Sis."

Proper heating and lighting must not be neglected to make the room usable year 'round.

News About Girl Scouts

This fallish weather makes us ready to get into the routine of Scouting again. News has come trickling in from leaders, who are now busy making those long-term plans they find so helpful. Additional training will be offered these leaders, two sessions for Brownie leaders having already been given. On Wednesday, the 24th, and Thursday, the 26th, meetings will be held at the office as refresher training for leaders who have had experience. First year Intermdiate leaders will have the Wednesday session, older Intermediate leaders the Thursday session.

It always delights us to hear that a troop plans first thing to include camping in its plans. One such troop is 44 at Our Lady of Fatima School, Mrs. Louis Breard, Jr. and Mrs. O. H. Lyon, leaders. Mrs. Breard was a day camp unit leader and several girls attended. With a leader experienced in the out - of - doors the girls are sure to have fun on an overnight, as well as completing badge requirements.

Girl Scout camping is often defined as Girl Scouting taken out of doors and camp program is planned so that there is carry - over from troop to camp and back to troop. Leaders are going to find this particularly true this winter, following the largest day camp we've ever had.

In this connection it may be interesting to note the troops that were represented at camp. Thirty-five troops had from one to ten girls each. In addition, there were two Scouts and one leader from Sringhill, two from New Orleans, one from Magnolia, Arkansas, and one from Houston. Ten girls from Troops 10, 12, 51, 57, 59, and 60 made up a good percentage of the enrollment. Eight and nine each from Troops, 8, 17, 42, 24, 34, 37, accounted for another large number. These leaders will find that their troops have been helped greatly by the camping experience. We hope the Intermediates will all have troop camping experiences during the year, and that all will be ready for day camp next summer.

MRS. EARL CHRISTOPHER ROARK, JR.

Autumn Colors Decorate Church For Vows Uniting Miss Ferguson, Mr. Roark

The First Baptist Church in West Monroe was the scene September 7, of the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Ferguson to Earl Christopher Roark.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin Ferguson and Mr. Roark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Roark, all of West Monroe.

The Reverend Jaroy Weber officiated before an altar banked with bronze chryanthemums and southern smilax and tall candelabra holding many lighted yellow tapers. Bob Oldenburg, at the organ, rendered a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied the vocalists, Miss Sharon Thomisee and Miss Camille Smith.

Wearing a gown of ivory peau de soie and French imported lace, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Cut along Empire lines, lace formed the bodice made with off the shoulder neckline and long sleeves coming to points at the wrist. Around the neckline and at the points of the sleeves, seed pearls and irridescents formed a petal design. The full gored skirt was finished with a large butterfly bow at the back which flowed into a chapel train. Panels of scalloped lace fell from the bow to the bottom of the skirt. A crown of pearls and orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white cyrysanthemums and yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Glynda Ann Smith was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Miss Dot Phillips, Mrs. John H. Odom, Mrs. Guy Dupriest, Jr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson. Their waltz length full skirted dresses were of crystalline over taffeta in shades of yellow blending into deep gold, which was worn by the honor attendant. They were fashioned with scooped necklines in front and back with small velvet hats to match their dresses and carried mums the same shade decorated with bronze chrysanthemums. Becky Harper, dressed the same in the palest yellow, acted as flower girl. Miss John Ann Painich and Miss Loy Bass were the candlelighters.

Mr. Roark served as his sons best man. Groomsmen and ushers were John H. Ferguson, Robert Ferguson, John H. Odom, Ralph Norman and Guy Dupriest, Jr.

Mrs. Ferguson's gown was of beige lace made with square neckline and accented with cummerbund of pecan colored chiffon. She wore a hat of beige irridescents and accessories of pecan colored kid. The groom's mother was wearing a fall dress of brown satin with matching cummerband highlighted with stones of the same shade at the neckline. Her hat and accessories were of harmonizing color. They both were corsages of yellow roses.

The reception was held in the reception rooms of the church. White and yellow flowers were used about the room. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over yellow satin and centered with white chrysanthemums and yellow berry branches. Serving the wedding cake frosted in white and trimmed in yellow roses were Mrs. Cary Phillips and Mrs. J. L. Harper. At the punch services were Mrs. Gene Berry and Mrs. H. C. Emerel. The tea girls were Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Miss Melba Loe, and Miss Truly Chapman. Miss Barbara Byrd was in charge of the guest book. Also assisting was Mrs. W. O. Smith.

For their wedding trip through the Smokey Mountains and along the east coast to their new home in Collinswood, New Jersey, Mrs. Roark wore a two piece cotton and silk tweed suit of electric blue and gray trimmed with matching gray velveteen. Her cloche hat was of blue and her shoes and bag of gray.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson, of Highland Falls, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Groves, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Feigle, Houston, Texas, Mrs. Bertie Hindman, Coleman, Texas and Mrs. Sam Ferguson, of Bogata, Texas.

Fashionettes

Tweed is a popular coat fabric for the younger set. Usually the tweed is combined with velvet for trim, although fur also is used in some of the dressier coats.

Shades of the ballet! Now it is dancer's tights which the younger generation is wearing. The tights, which for dancers usually come in basic black, have blossomed out in all colors, stripes and prints for the teenage and collegiate set. Frequently they are the underpinnings for Bermuda shorts or short skirts.

Success Formula Be Girl Friday To Right Boss

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — In 1949 a young woman took a job at $30 a week as part time typist for the operator of a record shop in the small community of Gallatin, Tenn.

It was a good thing for Christine Hamilton, who's now 29 years old, that she stuck with the job. For she has just been named a vice president of the fast - rising, Dot Records, Inc.

The president of Dot, Randy Wood, thinks Mrs. Hamilton's staying also was a good thing for Dot. Wood is the Tennessean who had the record store that turned into the huge record company.

Mrs. Hamilton, married in 1948 to Frank Hamilton, is the mother of a seven-year-old daughter, Ann. She was born in Hartsville, Tenn., educated in Gallatin and graduated from the Nashville Business College for Women.

Her Assistant

Her first job was with the record store. Wood has been her first and only employer.

When Wood began recording Johnny Maddox and the Hilltoppers in 1950 on the Dot label, Mrs. Hamilton — "Chris" around the home and offices—found her duties relatively easy. However, Wood's business began to expand, and so did her job. Now the firm's annual volume runs into many millions of dollars from sales of records and albums all over the world. The firm records such artists as Pat Boone, Gale Storm, Tab Hunter, Bonnie Guitar and the Fontane Sisters.

Mrs. Hamilton's present title is vice president in charge of sales coordination and production. She has an assistant whose story is a little like Mrs. Hamilton's success. She is Mary (Sis) Brewer, also of Gallatin, who, along with Lee husband and 11 other Gallatin families, left their Tennessee town in 1956 when Wood moved his firm's headquarters to Hollywood.

There are lots of men in the Dot organization, but there's a phrase which is heard quite often at Dot: "Better ask Chris—or Sis."

Proper heating and lighting must not be neglected to make the room usable year 'round.

News About Girl Scouts

This fallish weather makes us ready to get into the routine of Scouting again. News has come trickling in from leaders, who are now busy making those long-term plans they find so helpful. Additional training will be offered these leaders, two sessions for Brownie leaders having already been given. On Wednesday, the 24th, and Thursday, the 26th, meetings will be held at the office as refresher training for leaders who have had experience. First year Intermediate leaders will have the Wednesday session, older Intermediate leaders the Thursday session.

It always delights us to hear that a troop plans first thing to include camping in its plans. One such troop is 44 at Our Lady of Fatima School, Mrs. Louis Breard, Jr. and Mrs. O. H. Lyon, leaders. Mrs. Breard was a day camp unit leader and several girls attended. With a leader experienced in the out - of - doors the girls are sure to have fun on an overnight, as well as completing badge requirements.

Girl Scout camping is often defined as Girl Scouting taken out of doors and camp program is planned so that there is carry - over from troop to camp and back to troop. Leaders are going to find this particularly true this winter, following the largest day camp we've ever had.

In this connection it may be interesting to note the troops that were represented at camp. Thirty-five troops had from one to ten girls each. In addition, there were two Scouts and one leader from Springhill, two from New Orleans, one from Magnolia, Arkansas, and one from Houston. Ten girls from Troops 10, 12, 51, 57, 59, and 60 made up a good percentage of the enrollment. Eight and nine each from Troops, 8, 17, 42, 24, 34, 37, accounted for another large number. These leaders will find that their troops have been helped greatly by the camping experience. We hope the Intermediates will all have troop camping experiences during the year, and that all will be ready for day camp next summer.

Berry-Spencer Vows Are Said In Borger, Texas

In an impressive ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Borger, Texas, nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Wanda Jean Spencer and Carl Otis Berry. Dr. Winfred W. Moore read the double ring service. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Spencer, of Borger and Mr. Berry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Otis Berry, of Bastrop.

Trees of woodwardia fern and seven - branched candelabra with cathedral tapers formed the background for the recitation of vows. Baskets of white mums and pom poms flanked the arrangement. White satin roping outlined the approach to the altar, lighted aisle posts gave the illumination, and white satin bows marked the aisle pews and decorated the windows.

Mrs. Edgar Allen, organist, played a nuptial prelude and the traditional marches. She accompanied Miss Bennie Fay Berry, Bastrop, Louisiana, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang "One Alone," "O Promise Me" and 'The Lord's Prayer."

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, and given in marriage by him, the bride wore a classic wedding gown of point d'esprit with Chantilly lace cut in points to hug the midriff. The fitted bodice had a low neckline and tiny puff sleeves. The skirt was bouffant. The bridal veil of English silk illusion fell to fingertip length from a contour queen's crown of lace, pearls and iridescent sequins. A white cattelya orchid was arranged on her white Bible with showers of stephanotis and satin streamers.

Miss Micca Chapman was maid of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of talisman pink nylon chiffon, styled with scoop neckline, empire bodice, and pleated bouffant skirt. A satin cummerbund formed a large bow in back. Her picture hat of maline matched her dress. She carried a nosegay of pink elfie roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Hamilton; Mrs. Chester Spencer, Jr., Purcell, Oklahoma; and Miss Annette Berry, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Julia Nell McConathy, Miss Bettye Will Larche, and Mrs. Dan Evans, all of Bastrop.

Miss Mary Dale Spencer was flower girl. Her dress of pink organdy over net and taffeta was styled like that of the honor attendant. Misses George Ann Aull and Vera Jo Aull, candlelighters, wore dresses identical to those of the other attendents.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Spencer, chose a tucked crepe sheath dress of ice blue with matching accessories and a pink elfie rose corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Berry, the bridegroom's mother, wore a mauve lace sheath dress with matching accessories. White starlight roses formed her corsage.

Otis Berry was his son's best man. Ushers were Chester Spencer Jr., Purcell, Oklahoma, and Bobby Spencer, brothers of the bride; Bobby Murphy, Alexandria; J. B. Rawlinson, III, Lafayette, Dan Evans, Bastrop, and Darrell Summers.

At the reception in the ballroom of Hotel Borger, Mrs. David Hatcher presided at the guest book, and members of the houseparty were Mmes. Kimzey Davis, Walter Casey, Burns Kingston, Bill Hamilton, Alvin Summers, Miss Gayle George, Canadian, and Miss Jan Cabbell and Mrs. Jerry Taylor, who presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Josephine Jones and Mrs. Harold Fink, who alternated at the coffee service.

Miss Lynda Rigdon played piano music during the receiving hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry will be at home in Baton Rouge, where Mr. Berry will complete his senior year at Louisiana State University in January, 1958.

Guests from Bastrop were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carpenter, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. J. V. Jones, great aunt of the bride; Miss Josephine Jones, Mrs. Harold Fink, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berry, Mrs. J. B. Rawlinson, III, was a guest from Lafayette and Mrs. Bobby Murphy came from Alexandria.

Mrs. Masur Is Hostess To Literary Club

The Monroe Literary Club held a luncheon meeting this Wednesday at the Bayou Desiard Country Club with Mrs. Sylvian Masur as hostess. An arrangement of white chrysanthemums and asters formed the centerpiece for the table which was covered with a green cloth.

Mrs. C. E. Coe, president, presided over a brief business session and following the reports from the officers and committee chairman, the meeting adjourned.

Present were Mrs. D. A. Altick, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Mrs. W. D. Bates, Mrs. C. E. Coe, Mrs. H. E. Dixon, Jr., Mrs. W. C. Hines, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Howard, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. W. B. Koch, Mrs. B. F. Pate and Mrs. B. M. Phillips.

MRS. CHARLES RIGGS FERGUSON, a prominent bride of the summer season, is pictured in the gown she wore for her marriage which was recently selemnized in St. Mary's Cathedral in Natchez, Miss. The bride, formerly Miss Rose Junkin Bellan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander Bellan of this city, formerly of Natchez.

EMILY POST

Can't Agree On Correct Manners

QUESTION: My boy friend and I can't agree who is right about manners at a dance. I say that when he takes me to a dance and he wants to dance with other girls he should make sure that I have others to dance with. He says as long as he dances the first and last dances with me he is free to dance with whomever he pleases. In other words, those two dances are the only obligatory ones.

MRS. POST: If he does not want to dance more than two short dances I can't quite understand why he asks you to go with him. But having asked you to do so, it is very ill - bred for him to leave you sitting alone more than very briefly.

QUESTION: My son is a doctor and I would like to know what is the proper way to introduce him when meeting some of my friends. Should I say "my son John" and should I mention that he is a doctor?

MRS. POST: You say "my son" —wait a second and then add for information — "Dr. Jones."

QUESTION: We have received a wedding invitation (including reception) from an out - of - town relative. We are not going and wondered in that case if sending a gift is a requirement?

MRS. POST: A gift should not be prompted by the invitation to a wedding but because of your personal feeling for the bride or bridegroom or their families.

QUESTION: Is rhinestone jewelry strictly for evening ear, or is it permissible to wear it in the daytime, especially to a wedding?

MRS. POST: Rhinestones, like the diamonds they resemble should only be worn in the daytime when they do not overpower a woman's dress by their actual or apparent magnificence.

QUESTION: I would like to know the correct way to have wedding announcements engraved when the bride's parents refuse to acknowledge the marriage. Is there any possible way to have them made up and still be proper and correct?

MRS. POST: Under the circumstances you describe, the bride and groom may quite properly announce their own marriage in this way:

Miss Mary Brown
and
Mr. Henry Smith
announce their marriage
etc.

QUESTION: Is there any rule of courtesy about asking a guest to say grace before a meal? My husbannd usually says it.

MRS. POST: If one of your guests is a clergyman or one whom you know to be accustomed to saying grace, it would be courteous to ask him. Otherwise, it is best for the family to follow their usual practice.

QUESTION: Whose place is it to say what the men in the wedding are to wear and if the decision requires renting suits, who pays for their rental.

MRS. POST: The bridegroom decides what his ushers are to wear. If the decision is for clothes that some of them do not own, these either buy or rent them, or unhappily regret that they cannot be ushers.

QUESTION: I'm told that it is incorrect for a bride to choose a black going away talored suit; that black is definitely out for the bride. Of course I'd never think of choosing a black dress to be married in, but why is it bad taste to wear a suit of this description to travel in?

MRS. POST: It isn't!

QUESTION: My fiance's parents are divorced, but neither has remarried. He and his brothers make their home with their mother because she has stayed in the family place. But there is no estrangement between them and the father. I would like to invite them both to the wedding and reception. I am in doubt, though, about their respective places in the receiving line. Please explain.

MRS. POST: The mother would receive with your mother and the father elsewhere receiving his own friends.

QUESTION: Should a man who is standing on the street corner waiting for a bus with several strange women, wait for all the women to get on the bus before he does?

MRS. POST: If there is one woman waiting beside him, he would naturally let her ge on first. But if there is a group of women he would get on in his turn. In other words, it is not necessary that he stand waiting for them all to get on first.

QUESTION: Is it improper for an aunt of the bride to give her a shower?

MRS. POST: Not as improper as a member of her immediate family giving such a party. But most properly showers are given by friends of the bride to be.

Details for planning your wedding are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," which includes suggestions for the announcement, ceremony and expense. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Berry-Spencer Vows Are Said In Borger, Texas

In an impressive ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Borger, Texas, nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Wanda Jean Spencer and Carl Otis Berry. Dr. Winfred W. Moore read the double ring service. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Spencer, of Borger and Mr. Berry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Berry, of Bastrop.

Trees of woodwardia fern and seven-branched candelabra with cathedral tapers formed the background for the recitation of vows. Baskets of white mums and pom poms flanked the arrangement. White satin roping outlined the approach to the altar, lighted aisle posts gave the illumination, and white satin bows marked the aisle pews and decorated the windows.

Mrs. Edgar Allen, organist, played a nuptial prelude and the traditional marches. She accompanied Miss Bennie Fay Berry, Bastrop, Louisiana, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang "One Alone," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, and given in marriage by him, the bride wore a classic wedding gown of point d'esprit with Chantilly lace cut in points to hug the midriff. The fitted bodice had a low neckline and tiny puff sleeves. The skirt was bouffant. The bridal veil of English silk illusion fell to fingertip length from a cont ur queen's crown of lace, pearls and iridescent sequins. A white cattelya orchid was arranged on her white Bible with showers of stephanotis and satin streamers.

Miss Micea Chapman was maid of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of talisman pink nylon chiffon, styled with scoop neckline, empire bodice, and pleated bouffant skirt. A satin cummerbund formed a large bow in back. Her picture hat of maline matched her dress. She carried a nosegay of pink cl'ie roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Hamilton; Mrs. Chester Spencer, Jr., Purcell, Oklahoma; and Miss Annette Berry, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Julia Nell McConathy, Miss Bettye Will Larche, and Mrs. Dan Evans, all of Bastrop.

Miss Mary Dale Spencer was flower girl. Her dress of pink organdy over net and taffeta was styled like that of the honor attendant. Misses George Ann Aull and Vera Jo Aull, candlelighters, wore dresses identical to those of the other attendants.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Spencer, chose a tucked crepe sheath dress of ice blue with matching accessories and a pink elfie rose corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Berry, the bridegroom's mother, wore a mauve lace sheath dress with matching accessories. White starlight roses formed her corsage.

Otis Berry was his son's best man. Ushers were Chester Spencer Jr., Purcell, Oklahoma, and Bobby Spencer, brothers of the bride; Bobby Murphy, Alexandria; J. B. Rawlinson, III, Lafayette, Dan Evans, Bastrop, and Darrell Summers.

At the reception in the ballroom of Hotel Borger, Mrs. David Hatcher presided at the guest book, and members of the houseparty were Mmes. Kimzey Davis, Walter Casey, Burns Kingston, Bill Hamilton, Alvin Summers, Miss Gayle George, Canadian, and Miss Jan Cabbell and Mrs. Jerry Taylor, who presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Josephine Jones and Mrs. Harold Fink, who alternated at the coffee service.

Miss Lynda Riedon played piano music during the receiving hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry will be at home in Baton Rouge, where Mr. Berry will complete his senior year at Louisiana State University in January, 1958.

Guests from Bastrop were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carpenter, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. J. V. Jones, great aunt of the bride; Miss Josephine Jones, Mrs. Harold Fink, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berry. Mrs. J. B. Rawlinson, III, was a guest from Lafayette and Mrs. Bobby Murphy came from Alexandria.

Mrs. Masur Is Hostess To Literary Club

The Monroe Literary Club held a luncheon meeting this Wednesday at the Bayou Desiard Country Club with Mrs. Sylvian Masur as hostess. An arrangement of white chrysanthemums and asters formed the centerpiece for the table which was covered with a green cloth.

Mrs. C. E. Coe, president, presided over a brief business session and following the reports from the officers and committee chairman, the meeting adjourned.

Present were Mrs. D. A. Altick, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Mrs. W. D. Bates, Mrs. C. E. Coe, Mrs. H. E. Dixon, Jr., Mrs. W. C. Hines, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Howard, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. W. B. Koch, Mrs. B. F. Pate and Mrs. B. M. Phillips.

MRS. CHARLES RIGGS FERGUSON, a prominent bride of the summer season, is pictured in the gown she wore for her marriage which was recently solemnized in St. Mary's Cathedral in Natchez, Miss. The bride, formerly Miss Rose Junkin Bellan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander Bellan of this city, formerly of Natchez.

EMILY POST

Can't Agree On Correct Manners

QUESTION: My boy friend and I can't agree who is right about manners at a dance. I say that when he takes me to a dance and he wants to dance with other girls he should make sure that I have others to dance with. He says as long as he dances the first and last dances with me he is free to dance with whomever he pleases. In other words, those two dances are the only obligatory ones.

MRS. POST: If he does not want to dance more than two short dances I can't quite understand why he asks you to go with him. But having asked you to do so, it is very ill-bred for him to leave you sitting alone more than very briefly.

QUESTION: My son is a doctor and I would like to know what is the proper way to introduce him when meeting some of my friends. Should I say "my son John" and shou'd I mention that he is a doctor?

MRS. POST: You say "my son"—wait a second and then add for information — "Dr. Jones."

QUESTION: We have received a wedding invitation (including reception) from an out-of-town relative. We are not going and wondered in that case if sending a gift is a requirement?

MRS. POST: A gift should not be prompted by the invitation to a wedding but because of your personal feeling for the bride or bridegroom or their families.

QUESTION: Is rhinestone jewelry strictly for evening wear, or is it permissible to wear it in the daytime, especially to a wedding?

MRS. POST: Rhinestones, like the diamonds they resemble should only be worn in the daytime when they do not overpower a woman's dress by their actual or apparent magnificence.

QUESTION: I would like to know the correct way to have wedding announcements engraved when the bride's parents refuse to acknowledge the marriage. Is there any possible way to have them made up and still be proper and correct?

MRS. POST: Under the circumstances you describe, the bride and groom may quite properly announce their own marriage in this way:

Miss Mary Brown
and
Mr. Henry Smith
announce their marriage
etc.

QUESTION: Is there any rule of courtesy about asking a guest to say grace before a meal? My husband usually says it.

MRS. POST: If one of your guests is a clergyman or one whom you know to be accustomed to saying grace, it would be courteous to ask him. Otherwise, it is best for the family to follow their usual practice.

QUESTION: Whose place is it to say what the men in the wedding are to wear and if the decision requires renting suits, who pays for their rental.

MRS. POST: The bridegroom decides what his ushers are to wear. If the decision is for clothes that some of them do not own, these either buy or rent them, or unhappily regret that they cannot be ushers.

QUESTION: I'm told that it is incorrect for a bride to choose a black going away tailored suit; that black is definitely out for the bride. Of course I'd never think of choosing a black dress to be married in, but why is it bad taste to wear a suit of this description to travel in?

MRS. POST: It isn't!

QUESTION: My fiance's parents are divorced, but neither has remarried. He and his brothers make their home with their mother because she has stayed in the family place. But there is no estrangement between them and the father. I would like to invite them both to the wedding and reception. I am in doubt, though, about their respective places in the receiving line. Please explain.

MRS. POST: The mother would receive with your mother and the father elsewhere receiving his own friends.

QUESTION: Should a man who is standing on the street corner waiting for a bus with several strange women, wait for all the women to get on the bus before he does?

MRS. POST: If there is one woman waiting beside him, he would naturally let her go on first. But if there is a group of women he would get on in his turn. In other words, it is not necessary that he stand waiting for them all to get on first.

QUESTION: Is it improper for an aunt of the bride to give her a shower?

MRS. POST: Not as improper as a member of her immediate family giving such a party. But most properly showers are given by friends of the bride to be.

Details for planning your wedding are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," which includes suggestions for the announcement, ceremony and expense. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

LONG DISPUTE

Asphalt Group, AF Are Still In Disagreement

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—The asphalt institute's long dispute with the Air Force over its preference for cement in air strip paving is still far from settled and will get another public airing.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) of a House Armed Services Investigating Subcommittee has just wound up another hearing in a series dating back to 1954 with harsh words for the Air Force.

He accused it of breaching a three - year old agreement with Congress that asphalt would be allowed to compete fairly with cement. He also enjoined it against going any further overboard for cement before the results of new tests of the durability of asphalt are known.

Prove Conclusively

The tests will be made at the Columbus, Miss., research center. They are expected to prove conclusively whether the Air Force arbitrarily switched to more expensive concrete simply because air base commanders voiced a preference for it.

The dispute involves more than business rivalry between the oil industry, which produces asphalt, and the cement association which represents 70 companies in the United States and Canada. Also involved are many taxpayer dollars, the lives of Air Force pilots, millions of dollars worth of warplanes, and whether the Air Force however righteous its cause, can defy Congrehs and make it stick.

Spend Millions Annual y

The Air Force spends millions annually for air strips. Under its three-year-old pact with Congress it agreed to abandon a 5 per cent price differential favoring cement for alternate use in competitive bidding of both asphalt and concrete. But after further trials of asphalt on runways and taxiways it said bluntly that asphalt broke down under the heat and weight of sustained traffic and especially heavy jet bombers such as the B-47 and the B-52. Hence its reversion to and reliance on concrete.

Protests from the Asphalt Institute resulted in new but inconclusive asphalt tests at Kelly Air Force Base, Tex. Institute President J. E. Buchanan charged these tests were "unrealistic and unfair" and said "we are prepared to document our position."

Rush New Tests

Hebert's last hearing — held June 24-July 3 — culminated in an agreement by the Army engineers and the Air Force to rush the new Columbus tests. The engineers have tended to side with the asphalt Institute. They told the subcommittee they have tested a flexible asphaltic pavement that will take B-47's displacing 100,000 pounds per square inch.

"The Air Force disputes this to some extent," Hebert said in his report, "by pointing out alleged failures at certain fields where heavy traffic has already caused alleged breakdowns."

The Air Force testified it will cost $10,000,000 to repair asphalt strips now known to be faulty. Buchanan conceded there had been some breakdowns in "channelized traffic areas" but he contested the overall indictment. He asserted that jet fighter and bomber weight and heat stresses occurred in both asphalt and cement pavements. But he said the Air Force had been so arbitrary that in effect it set up a "monopolistic paving situation" favoring cement.

Endorse Cement

He said the institute would endorse use of cement in narrow channelized strips in runways and up to 300 yards at runway ends to carry up to 305,000 pounds pressure per square inch, but that exclusive use of cement for an entire base was pure discrimination against asphalt.

Cement's case was presented by G. Donald Kennedy, president of the Portland Cement Association. He said that 40 to 50 per cent of jet engine replacements are due to damage by foreign particles entering their compressors. These don't come from cement, he said.

He said that every time a jet plane takes off from other than concrete the plane is jeopardized, along with the lives of the pilots. He said that in a typical year accidents average 2,000 with 800 fatalities. He said the tremendous cost in planes and manpower can be cut measurably with cement air strips and that the saving will far surpass the added cost of concrete.

"If the use of highest quality paving can save even one of these (pilot's) lives," Kennedy said, "no greater economy can be effected. Compromise is unthinkable."

Course In Farm Equipment Set At Northeast

Most recent offering of Northeast State's Agriculture and Home Economics Department is a curriculum in farm equipment management, L. L. Price, department head, announced.

The new study, which was added to the fall program, carries a bachelor of science degree with the completion of the four-year course.

Students trained in farm equipment management are in demand by both wholesale and retail farm equipment firms as well as highly mechanized farms, Price explained. Farm equipment sales require men trained in agriculture, farm machinery, tractors, and salesmanship.

Large farm equipment manufacturers have openings for dealers who are specialized in agriculture and the farm equipment business, the department head said.

He emphasized the scope of farm equipment industry which includes marketing, business administration, technical agriculture, land drainage, irrigation, terracing, buildings, concrete, water supply, sewerage disposal, farm electricity, shop practice in forg- and in oxacetylene and arc ing.

Electronic Brain Readied For Translating Russian

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

SEATTLE (AP)—Linguists and engineers expect to test in the near future an electronic brain system which they believe will translate Russian scientific documents into English at high speed with a minimum of human effort.

If successful, it will give the English-speaking world a huge flow of information about Russian science instead of the mere trickle that has been available up to now.

The project has nothing to do with secrecy. The material has been available all along, in Russian books, periodicals and scientific reports.

Translation is difficult because the Russian and English asphabets are substantially different. Idioms, complex word structure and to some extent syntax further complicate the problem. And the number of Americans proficient in Russian language is very small.

But many Russian meaningful units such as words, prefixes, endings, compound words and even phrases can be matched pretty wel' with English equivalents, says Prof. Erwin Reifler, professor of Chinese at the University of Washington, who heads the project.

It was Dr. Reifler's pioneering, particularly in word matching, which gave the project its momentum here. Now researchers under Dr. Lew R. Mickelson, assistant professor of Russian, are pairing off 160,000 or more Russian semantic units with their English equivalents.

And in Los Angeles engineers of the International Telemetering Corp., with U.S. Air Force support, are building the mechanical brain for the system.

This project, however, is not the only one in the field. Electronic translator development is under way at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at George Washington University and at the California Institute of Technology.

The University of Washington system still is in crude form. Translators here have given as many as eight different meanings to a single Russian term. If the machine were to process a Russian document now it would in many cases supply more than one English equivalent for each Russian semantic unit.

When the machine is completed an electronic device will scan the Russian documents and record each semantic unit in the text. The machine then automatically will locate English equivalents previously stored in its "memory" and release them in their Russian order.

Sometime this fall the machine is expected to be ready to produce accurate, intelligible sentences, though in poor grammar. Eventually the scientists hope to "teach" the machine how to translate in good English.

FACTUAL

NANTUCKET, Mass. —(UP)—The English apparently have rivals as masters of understatement. In forwarding luggage recovered from the Andrea Doria-Stockholm collision, Italian line officials told a summer resident here: "Your luggage shows evidence of water damage."

LONG DISPUTE

Asphalt Group, AF Are Still In Disagreement

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP) — The asphalt industry's long dispute with the Air Force over its preference for cement in the runway paving is still far from settled and will get another public airing.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) of a House Armed Services Investigations Subcommittee has just wound up hearings in a series dating back to 1954 with latest words from the Air Force.

He accused it of breaking a three - year old agreement with Congress that asphalt would be allowed to compete fairly with cement. He also entered it against going any further overboard for cement before the results of new tests of the durability of asphalt are known.

Prove Conclusively

The tests will be made at the Columbus, Miss., research center. They are expected to prove conclusively whether the Air Force arbitrarily switched to more expensive concrete simply because air base commanders voiced a prefer nce for it.

The dispute involves more than business rivalry between the oil industry, which produces asphalt, and the cement association which represents 79 companies in the United States and Canada. At stake involved are many taxpayer dollars, the lives of Air Force pilots, millions of dollars worth of warplanes, and whether the Air Force however eminent its cause, can defy Congress and make it stick.

Spend Millions Annually

The Air Force spends millions annually for air strips. Under its three-year-old pact with Congress it agreed to abandon a 5 per cent price differential favoring cement for alternate use in competitive bidding of both asphalt and concrete. But after further trials of asphalt on runways and taxiways it said bluntly that asphalt broke down under the heat and weight of sustained traffic and especially heavy jet bombers such as the B-47 and the B-52. Hence its reversion to and reliance on concrete.

Protests from the Asphalt Institute resulted in new but inconclusive asphalt tests at Kelly Air Force Base, Tex. Institute President J. E. Buchanan charged these tests were "unrealistic and unfair" and said "we are prepared to document our position."

Rush New Tests

Hebert's last hearing — held June 24-July 3 — culminated in an endorsement by the Army engineers and the Air Force to push the new Columbus tests. The engineers were tasked to talk with the asphalt brethren. They told the subcommittee they have tested a test-ing asphalt pavement that will take B-47's displacing 100,000 pounds per square inch.

"The Air Force disputes this to some extent," Hebert said in his report, "by pointing out alleged failures at certain fields where heavy traffic has already caused alleged breakdowns."

The Air Force testified it will cost $20,000,000 to repair asphalt strips now known to be faulty. Buchanan conceded there had been some breakdowns in "channelized traffic areas" but he contested the overall indictment. He asserted that jet fighter and bomber weight and heat stresses occurred in both asphalt and cement pavements. But he said the Air Force had been so arbitrary that in effect it set up a "monopolistic paving situation" favoring cement.

Endorse Cement

He said the institute would endorse use of cement in narrow channelized strips in runways and up to 500 yards at runway ends to carry up to 365,000 pounds per square inch, but that exclusive use of cement for an entire base was pure discrimination against asphalt.

Cement's case was presented by G. Donald Kennedy, president of the Portland Cement Association. He said that 40 to 50 per cent of jet engine replacements are due to damage by foreign particles entering their compressors. These don't come from cement, he said.

He said that every time a jet plane takes off from other than concrete the plane is jeopardized, along with the lives of the pilots. He said that in a typical year accidents average 2,000 with 300 fatalities. He said the tremendous cost in planes and manpower can be cut measurably with cement air strips and that the saving will far surpass the added cost of concrete.

"If the use of highest quality paving can save even one of these pilot's lives," Kennedy said, "no greater economy can be effected. Compromise is unthinkable."

Course In Farm Equipment Set At Northeast

Most recent offering of Northeast State's Agriculture and Home Economics Department is a curriculum in farm equipment management, L. L. Price, department head, announced.

The new study, which was added to the fall program, carries a bachelor of science degree with the completion of the four-year course.

Students trained in farm equipment management are in demand by both wholesale and retail farm equipment firms as well as highly mechanized farms, Price explained. Farm equipment sales require men trained in agriculture, farm machinery, tractors, and salesmanship.

Large farm equipment manufacturers have openings for dealers who are specialized in agriculture and the farm equipment business, the department head said.

He emphasized the scope of farm equipment industry which includes marketing, business administration, technical agriculture, land drainage, irrigation, terracing, buildings, concrete, water supply, sewerage disposal, farm electricity, shop practice in forging and in oxacetylene and arc welding.

Electronic Brain Readied For Translating Russian

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

SEATTLE (AP)—Linguists and engineers expect to test in the near future an electronic brain system which they believe will translate Russian scientific documents into English at high speed with a minimum of human effort.

If successful, it will give the English-speaking world a key of information about Russian science instead of the mere trickle that has been available up to now.

The project has nothing to do with secrecy. The material has been available all along in Russian books, periodicals and scientific reports.

Translation is difficult because the Russian and English alphabets are substantially different. Idioms, complex word structure and to some extent syntax further complicate the problem. And the number of Americans proficient in Russian language is very small.

But many Russian meaningful units such as words, prefixes, endings, compound words and even phrases can be matched pretty well with English equivalents, says Prof. Erwin Reifler, professor of Chinese at the University of Washington, who heads the project.

It was Dr. Reifler's pioneering, particularly in word matching, which gave the project its momentum here. Now researchers under Dr. Lew R. Mickelson, assistant professor of Russian, are pairing off 160,000 or more Russian semantic units with their English equivalents.

And in Los Angeles engineers of the International Telemetering Corp., with U.S. Air Force support, are building the mechanical brain for the system.

This project, however, is not the only one in the field. Electronic translator development is under way at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at George Washington University and at the California Institute of Technology.

The University of Washington system still is in crude form. Translators here have given as many as eight different meanings to a single Russian term. If the machine were to process a Russian document now it would in many cases supply more than one English equivalent for each Russian semantic unit.

When the machine is completed an electronic device will scan the Russian documents and record each semantic unit in the text. The machine then automatically will locate English equivalents previously stored in its "memory" and release them in their Russian order.

Sometime this fall the machine is expected to be ready to produce accurate, intelligible sentences, though in poor grammar. Eventually the scientists hope to "teach" the machine how to translate in good English.

MRS. EARL CHRISTOPHER ROARK, JR.

Autumn Colors Decorate Church For Vows Uniting Miss Ferguson, Mr. Roark

The First Baptist Church in West Monroe was the scene September 7, of the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Ferguson to Earl Christopher Roark.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin Ferguson and Mr. Roark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Roark, all of West Monroe.

The Reverend Jaroy Weber officiated before an altar banked with bronze chryanthemums and southern smilax and tall candelabra holding many lighted yellow tapers. Bob Oldenburg, at the organ, rendered a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied the vocalists, Miss Sharon Thomisee and Miss Camille Smith.

Wearing a gown of ivory peau de soie and French imported lace, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Cut along Empire lines, lace formed the bodice made with off the shoulder neckline and long sleeves coming to points at the wrist. Around the neckline and at the points of the sleeves, seed pearls and irridescents formed a petal design. The full gored skirt was finished with a large butterfly bow at the back which flowed into a chapel train. Panels of scalloped lace fell from the bow to the bottom of the skirt. A crown of pearls and orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white cyrysanthemums and yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Glynda Ann Smith was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Miss Dot Phillips, Mrs. John H. Odom, Mrs. Guy Dupriest, Jr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson. Their waltz length full skirted dresses were of crystalline over taffeta in shades of yellow blending into deep gold, which was worn by the honor attendant. They were fashioned with scooped necklines in front and back with small velvet hats to match their dresses and carried muffs the same shade decorated with bronze chrysanthemums. Becky Harper, dressed the same in the palest yellow, acted as flower girl. Miss John Ann Painich and Miss Loy Bass were the candlelighters.

Mr. Roark served as his sons best man. Groomsmen and ushers were John H. Ferguson, Robert Ferguson, John H. Odom, Ralph Norman and Guy Dupriest, Jr.

Mrs. Ferguson's gown was of beige lace made with square neckline and accented with cummerbund of pecan colored chiffon. She wore a hat of beige irridescents and accessories of pecan colored kid. The groom's mother was wearing a fall dress of brown satin with matching cummerbund highlighted with stones of the same shade at the neckline. Her hat and accessories were of harmonizing color. They both wore corsages of yellow roses.

The reception was held in the reception rooms of the church. White and yellow flowers were used about the room. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over yellow satin and centered with white chrysanthemums and yellow beauty branches. Serving the wedding cake frosted in white and trimmed in yellow roses were Mrs. Cary Phillips and Mrs. J. L. Harper. At the punch services were Mrs. Gene Berry and Mrs. H. C. Emerel. The tea girls were Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Miss Melba Loe, and Miss Truly Chapman. Miss Barbara Byrd was in charge of the guest book. Also assisting was Mrs. W. O. Smith.

For their wedding trip through the Smokey Mountains and along the east coast to their new home in Collinswood, New Jersey, Mrs. Roark wore a two piece cotton and silk tweed suit of electric blue and gray trimmed with matching gray velveteen. Her cloche hat was of blue and her shoes and bag of gray.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson, of Highland Falls, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Groves, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Feigle, Houston, Texas, Mrs. Bertie Hindman, Coleman, Texas and Mrs. Sam Ferguson, of Bogata, Texas.

Tweed is a popular coat fabric for the younger set. Usually the tweed is combined with velvet for trim, although fur also is used in some of the dressier coats.

Shades of the ballet! Now it is dancer's tights which the younger generation is wearing. The tights, which for dancers usually come in basic black, have blossomed out in all colors, stripes and prints for the teenage and collegiate set. Frequently they are the underpinnings for Bermuda shorts or short skirts.

Success Formula Be Girl Friday To Right Boss

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — In 1949 a young woman took a job at $30 a week as part time typist for the operator of a record shop in the small community of Gallatin, Tenn.

It was a good thing for Christine Hamilton, who's now 29 years old, that she stuck with the job. For she has just been named a vice president of the fast - rising Dot Records, Inc.

The president of Dot, Randy Wood, thinks Mrs. Hamilton's staying also was a good thing for Dot. Wood is the Tennessean who had the record store that turned into the huge record company.

Mrs. Hamilton, married in 1948 to Frank Hamilton, is the mother of a seven-year-old daughter, Ann. She was born in Hartsville, Tenn., educated in Gallatin and graduated from the Nashville Business College for Women.

Her Assistant

Her first job was with the record store. Wood has been her first and only employer.

When Wood began recording Johnny Maddox and the Hilltoppers in 1950 on the Dot label, Mrs. Hamilton — "Chris" around the home and office—found her duties relatively easy. However, Wood's business began to expand, and so did her job. Now the firm's annual volume runs into many millions of dollars from sales of records and albums all over the world. The firm records such artists as Pat Boone, Gale Storm, Tab Hunter, Bonnie Guitar and the Fontane Sisters.

Mrs. Hamilton's present title is vice president in charge of sales coordination and production. She has an assistant whose story is a little like Mrs. Hamilton's success. She is Mary (Sis) Brewer, also of Gallatin, who, along with her husband and 11 other Gallatin families, left their Tennessee town in 1956 when Wood moved his firm's headquarters to Hollywood.

There are lots of men in the Dot organization, but there's a phrase which is heard quite often at Dot: "Better ask Chris—or Sis."

Proper heating and lighting must not be neglected to make the room usable year 'round.

News About Girl Scouts

This fallish weather makes us ready to get into the routine of Scouting again. News has come trickling in from leaders, who are now busy making those long-term plans they find so helpful. Additional training will be offered these leaders, two sessions for Brownie leaders having already been given. On Wednesday, the 24th, and Thursday, the 26th, meetings will be held at the office as refresher training for leaders who have had experience. First year Intermdiate leaders will have the Wednesday session, older Intermediate leaders the Thursday session.

It always delights us to hear that a troop plans first thing to include camping in its plans. One such troop is 44 at Our Lady of Fatima School, Mrs. Louis Breard, Jr. and Mrs. O. H. Lyon, leaders Mrs. Breard was a day camp unit leader and several girls attended. With a leader experienced in the out - of - doors the girls are sure to have fun on an overnight, as well as completing badge requirements.

Girl Scout camping is often defined as Girl Scouting taken out of doors and camp program is planned so that there is carry - over from troop to camp and back to troop. Leaders are going to find this particularly true this winter, following the largest day camp we've ever had.

In this connection it may be interesting to note the troops that were represented at camp. Thirty-five troops had from one to ten girls each. In addition, there were two Scouts and one leader from Sringhill, two from New Orleans, one from Magnolia, Arkansas, and one from Houston. Ten girls from Troops 10, 12, 51, 57, 59, and 60 made up a good percentage of the enrollment. Eight and nine each from Troops, 8, 17, 42, 24, 34, 37, accounted for another large number. These leaders will find that their troops have been helped greatly by the camping experience. We hope the Intermediates will all have troop camping experiences during the year, and that all will be ready for day camp next summer.

Berry-Spencer Vows Are Said In Borger, Texas

In an impressive ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Borger, Texas, nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Wanda Jean Spencer and Carl Otis Berry. Dr. Winfred W. Moore read the double ring service. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Spencer, of Borger and Mr. Berry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Otis Berry, of Bastrop.

Trees of woodwardia fern and seven - branched candelabra with cathedral tapers formed the background for the recitation of vows. Baskets of white mums and pom poms flanked the arrangement. White satin roping outlined the approach to the altar, lighted aisle posts gave the illumination, and white satin bows marked the aisle pews and decorated the windows.

Mrs. Edgar Allen, organist, played a nuptial prelude and the traditional marches. She accompanied Miss Bennie Fay Berry, Bastrop, Louisiana, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang "One Alone," "O Promise Me" and 'The Lord's Prayer."

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, and given in marriage by him, the bride wore a classic wedding gown of point d'esprit with Chantilly lace cut in points to hug the midriff. The fitted bodice had a low neckline and tiny puff sleeves. The skirt was bouffant. The bridal veil of English silk illusion fell to fingertip length from a contour queen's crown of lace, pearls and iridescent sequins. A white cattelya orchid was arranged on her white Bible with showers of stephanotis and satin streamers.

Miss Micca Chapman was maid of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of talisman pink nylon chiffon, styled with scoop neckline, empire bodice, and pleated bouffant skirt. A satin cummerbund formed a large bow in back. Her picture hat of maline matched her dress. She carried a nosegay of pink elfie roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Hamilton; Mrs. Chester Spencer, Jr., Purcell, Oklahoma; and Miss Annette Berry, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Julia Nell McConathy, Miss Bettye Will Larche, and Mrs. Dan Evans, all of Bastrop.

Miss Mary Dale Spencer was flower girl. Her dress of pink organdy over net and taffeta was styled like that of the honor attendant. Misses George Ann Aull and Vera Jo Aull, candlelighters, wore dresses identical to those of the other attendents.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Spencer, chose a tucked crepe sheath dress of ice blue with matching accessories and a pink elfie rose corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Berry, the bridegroom's mother, wore a mauve lace sheath dress with matching accessories. White starlight roses formed her corsage.

Otis Berry was his son's best man. Ushers were Chester Spencer Jr., Purcell, Oklahoma, and Bobby Spencer, brothers of the bride; Bobby Murphy, Alexandria; J. B. Rawlinson, III, Lafayette, Dan Evans, Bastrop, and Darrell Summers.

At the reception in the ballroom of Hotel Borger, Mrs. David Hatcher presided at the guest book, and members of the houseparty were Mmes. Kimzey Davis, Walter Casey, Burns Kingston, Bill Hamilton, Alvin Summers. Miss Gayle George, Canadian, and Miss Jan Cabbell and Mrs. Jerry Taylor, who presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Josephine Jones and Mrs. Harold Fink, who alternated at the coffee service.

Miss Lynda Rigdon played piano music during the receiving hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry will be at home in Baton Rouge, where Mr. Berry will complete his senior year at Louisiana State University in January, 1958.

Guests from Bastrop were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carpenter, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. J. V. Jones, great aunt of the bride; Miss Josephine Jones, Mrs. Harold Fink, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berry, Mrs. J. B. Rawlinson, III, was a guest from Lafayette and Mrs. Bobby Murphy came from Alexandria.

Mrs. Masur Is Hostess To Literary Club

The Monroe Literary Club held a luncheon meeting this Wednesday at the Bayou Desiard Country Club with Mrs. Sylvian Masur as hostess. An arrangement of white chrysanthemums and asters formed the centerpiece for the table which was covered with a green cloth.

Mrs. C. E. Coe, president, presided over a brief business session and following the reports from the officers and committee chairman, the meeting adjourned.

Present were Mrs. D. A. Altick, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Mrs. W. D. Bates, Mrs. C. E. Coe, Mrs. H. E. Dixon, Jr., Mrs. W. C. Hines, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Howard, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. W. B. Koch, Mrs. B. F. Pate and Mrs. B. M. Phillips.

MRS. CHARLES RIGGS FERGUSON, a prominent bride of the summer season, is pictured in the gown she wore for her marriage which was recently selemnized in St. Mary's Cathedral in Natchez, Miss. The bride, formerly Miss Rose Junkin Bellan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander Bellan of this city, formerly of Natchez.

Can't Agree On Correct Manners

QUESTION: My boy friend and I can't agree who is right about manners at a dance. I say that when he takes me to a dance and he wants to dance with other girls he should make sure that I have others to dance with. He says as long as he dances the first and last dances with me he is free to dance with whomever he pleases. In other words, those two dances are the only obligatory ones.

MRS. POST: If he does not want to dance more than two short dances I can't quite understand why he asks you to go with him. But having asked you to do so, it is very ill - bred for him to leave you sitting alone more than very briefly.

QUESTION: My son is a doctor and I would like to know what is the proper way to introduce him when meeting some of my friends. Should I say "my son John" and should I mention that he is a doctor?

MRS. POST: You say "my son" —wait a second and then add for information — "Dr. Jones."

QUESTION: We have received a wedding invitation (including reception) from an out - of - town relative. We are not going and wondered in that case if sending a gift is a requirement?

MRS. POST: A gift should not be prompted by the invitation to a wedding but because of your personal feeling for the bride or bridegroom or their families.

QUESTION: Is rhinestone jewelry strictly for evening ear, or is it permissible to wear it in the daytime, especially to a wedding?

MRS. POST: Rhinestones, like the diamonds they resemble should only be worn in the daytime when they do not overpower a woman's dress by their actual or apparent magnificence.

QUESTION: I would like to know the correct way to have wedding announcements engraved when the bride's parents refuse to acknowledge the marriage. Is there any possible way to have them made up and still be proper and correct?

MRS. POST: Under the circumstances you describe, the bride and groom may quite properly announce their own marriage in this way:

Miss Mary Brown
and
Mr. Henry Smith
announce their marriage
etc.

QUESTION: Is there any rule of courtesy about asking a guest to say grace before a meal? My husbannd usually says it.

MRS. POST: If one of your guests is a clergyman or one whom you know to be accustomed to saying grace, it would be courteous to ask him. Otherwise, it is best for the family to follow their usual practice.

QUESTION: Whose place is it to say what the men in the wedding are to wear and if the decision requires renting suits, who pays for their rental.

MRS. POST: The bridegroom decides what his ushers are to wear. If the decision is for clothes that some of them do not own, these either buy or rent them, or unhappily regret that they cannot be ushers.

QUESTION: I'm told that it is incorrect for a bride to choose a black going away talored suit; that black is definitely out for the bride. Of course I'd never think of choosing a black dress to be married in, but why is it bad taste to wear a suit of this description to travel in?

MRS. POST: It isn't!

QUESTION: My fiance's parents are divorced, but neither has remarried. He and his brothers make their home with their mother because she has stayed in the family place. But there is no estrangement between them and the father. I would like to invite them both to the wedding and reception. I am in doubt, though, about their respective places in the receiving line. Please explain.

MRS. POST: The mother would receive with your mother and the father elsewhere receiving his own friends.

QUESTION: Should a man who is standing on the street corner waiting for a bus with several strange women, wait for all the women to get on the bus before he does?

MRS. POST: If there is one woman waiting beside him, he would naturally let her ge on first. But if there is a group of women he would get on in his turn. In other words, it is not necessary that he stand waiting for them all to get on first.

QUESTION: Is it improper for an aunt of the bride to give her a shower?

MRS. POST: Not as improper as a member of her immediate family giving such a party. But most properly showers are given by friends of the bride to be.

Details for planning your wedding are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," which includes suggestions for the announcement, ceremony and expense. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

For that evening party, you might like to heat small - size frankfurters in a barbecue sauce and serve on toothpicks. If you have a chafing dish, use it ou your table for keeping the franks and sauce warm.

QUESTION: We have received a wedding invitation (including reception) from an out-of-town relative. We are not going and wondered in that case if sending a gift is a requirement?

MRS. POST: A gift should not be prompted by the invitation to a wedding but because of your personal feeling for the bride or bridegroom or their families.

QUESTION: Is rhinestone jewelry strictly for evening ear, or is it permissible to wear it in the daytime, especially to a wedding?

MRS. POST: Rhinestones, like the diamonds they resemble should only be worn in the daytime when they do not overpower a woman's dress by their actual or apparent magnificence.

QUESTION: I would like to know the correct way to have wedding announcements engraved when the bride's parents refuse to acknowledge the marriage. Is there any possible way to have them made up and still be proper and correct?

MRS. POST: Under the circumstances you describe, the bride and groom may quite properly announce their own marriage in this way:

Miss Mary Brown
and
Mr. Henry Smith
announce their marriage
etc.

QUESTION: Is there any rule of courtesy about asking a guest to say grace before a meal? My husband usually says it.

MRS. POST: If one of your guests is a clergyman or one whom you know to be accustomed to saying grace, it would be courteous to ask him. Otherwise, it is best for the family to follow their usual practice.

QUESTION: Whose place is it to say what the men in the wedding are to wear and if the decision requires renting suits, who pays for their rental.

MRS. POST: The bridegroom decides what his ushers are to wear. If the decision is for clothes that some of them do not own, these either buy or rent them, or unhappily regret that they cannot be ushers.

QUESTION: I'm told that it is incorrect for a bride to choose a black going away tailored suit; that black is definitely out for the bride. Of course I'd never think of choosing a black dress to be married in, but why is it bad taste to wear a suit of this description to travel in?

MRS. POST: It isn't!

QUESTION: My fiance's parents are divorced, but neither has remarried. He and his brothers make their home with their mother because she has stayed in the family place. But there is no estrangement between them and the father. I would like to invite them both to the wedding and reception. I am in doubt, though, about their respective places in the receiving line. Please explain.

MRS. POST: The mother would receive with your mother and the father elsewhere receiving his own friends.

QUESTION: Should a man who is standing on the street corner waiting for a bus with several strange women, wait for all the women to get on the bus before he does?

MRS. POST: If there is one woman waiting beside him, he would naturally let her go on first. But if there is a group of women he would get on in his turn. In other words, it is not necessary that he stand waiting for them all to get on first.

QUESTION: Is it improper for an aunt of the bride to give her a shower?

MRS. POST: Not as improper as a member of her immediate family giving such a party. But most properly showers are given by friends of the bride to be.

Details for planning your wedding are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," which includes suggestions for the announcement, ceremony and expense. Miss Janice Stelling Is Bride Of Mitchell Hughes

Among the interesting weddings of the late summer season was that of Miss Janice Rose Stelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling M. Stelling and Mitchel Ray Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malt Hughes, all of Bastrop, which was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Methodist Church in Bastrop. The Reverend R. H. Staples officiated at the ceremony performed before a gathering of relatives and friends of the young couple. A background of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and jade leaves formed the setting for the exchange of vows. Mrs. J. B. Spier, at the organ, and Mrs. Ernest Eubanks, vocalist presented the nuptial music.

The bride entered the church with her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown of embroidered tulle was cut along princess lines. Lace formed the wide decolletage and short sleeves and was embroidered in sequins and pearls to follow the lacy design. The bouffant skirt of tulle with accordian pleated inset fell into a chapel train. A crown of pearls held the bride's tiered veil of illusion. Her bouquet combined stephanotis and white orchids.

Mrs. Paul Stormets was the matron of honor and Miss Nancy Nash and Sandra Hughes, the bridesmaids. They wore waltz length gowns of crystallette in shades of pink and carried bouquets of pink chrysanthemums and roses. Miss Jennie Kate Green and Elva Greer were the candlelighters.

Gayle Peak was the best man and serving as ushers were John Stormet and Neal Eldridge.

The church parlor was the setting for the reception which followed the ceremony. Arrangements of white vinca and garlands of ivy trimmed the reception rooms.

Mrs. Stelling received her guests in a blue lace dress. With this she wore a hat of the same shade of blue and a shoulder corsage of pink and white carnations. She was assisted by Mrs. Hughes, the mother of the bridegroom, who was wearing a dress of pink lace with corsage of rose colored flowers. Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Harry Todd, Jr., Mrs. John Eldridge, Miss Linda Hills, Miss Valleau Resweber, Miss Norma Neel Henry, Miss Betty Will Larche and Miss Julia Nell McConathy.

For her wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the bride traveled in a black and blue cotton sheath with velvet trim and velvet accessories. On their return they will make their home in Monroe.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jason L. Smith of Eustis, Florida, Mr. and Mrs John Eldridge and Neal Eldridge, of Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. John Eldridge Jr. and Kathleen and John, of Pine Bluff, Ark., Lt. and Mrs. Paul Storment, of Glendale, Calif., and Dr. and Mrs. V. H. Reitzell, of Monroe.

MRS. MITCHELL RAY HUGHES

Miss James And Joseph Ware Exchange Vows

The First Methodist Church of Columbia was the setting on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Betty Carolyn James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter James, of Columbia and Joseph H. Ware, son of Mrs. Unah Ware, also of Columbia, and James Ware, of Shreveport. White chrysanthemums, gladioli and asters, in Grecian urns, interspersed with ivy entwined candelabra with burning cathedral tapers, formed the background for the exchange of vows. The Reverend Carl Barham officiated.

Mrs. Earl Harris presented a program of organ music and accompanied Owen Brown, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over silk organza. Scallops of lace, trimmed in seed pearls and sequins, edged the boat - shaped neckline and brief sleeves of the lace bodice. Tiered ruffles of lace formed the bouffant skirt, which swept into a short train. A half cap of lace encursted with bridal pearls held her finger tip veil of illusion. She wore lace gloves and carried a bouquet of feathered carnations placed on a white Bible.

Miss Ann James was the maid of honor and Miss Ann Godfrey, Miss Margaret Minard, and Miss Betty Warner, the bridesmaids. Their dresses of mint green crystalline over emerald taffeta featured bodices with deep V backs and Sabrina necklines extending over the shoulder to form tiny cap sleeves. The skirts were very full. They wore matching hats and carried nosegay bouquets of white asters.

Mr. Ware served his son as best man. The groomsmen were George Allen Mann and Patton Coates, of Shreveport.

Mrs. James chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of blue silk and Mrs. Ware was wearing dusty rose. They both wore corsages of white asters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlors of the church. Mrs. O. N. Reynolds greeted the guests and Miss Kay Godfrey was in charge of the bride's book.

Magnolia and white caladium leaves combined with urns filled with white blossoms formed the decorations for the reception rooms.

A mirrored plateau encircled with gardenias, clematis and fern held the tiered wedding cake, centering the bride's table. Miss Bert Hearn served the cake and at the two punch tables, Miss Charlotte Ann Brown and Miss Barbara Barfield, presided. They were assisted by Miss Jorenda Reynolds.

For her wedding trip, the bride traveled in a fall suit of toast wool with biege hat and matching accessories and a corsage of carnations. They will be at home in Ruston, where both are enrolled at Louisiana Tech.

The out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hammonds of Ruston, the grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Shell, Doris Shell, of Winnfield, Rev. and Mrs. Olan Walters, Debby and Susan, of West Monroe; Rev. and Mrs. James Ware, Ruth Ann, of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Don James of Lake Charles, Mrs. Rao Faulk and David of Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Roy Hyman, Pascagoula, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Lavell Taylor and Suzanne, of Monroe; Owen Brown, of Alexandria, Donald Farrow, of Ruston, and Mrs. Bobby J. Hall, of Shreveport.

MRS. R. L. BAILEY, JR., of Tallulah, the state director, will extend the welcome to the delegates of District 3 at the DAR meeting to be held in Jonesboro. Mrs. Shelby Meek, of Fort Miro Chapter, will preside as District director.

Now you can own one bra which will suit the neckline of almost any costume. The bra, which has removable straps, can be worn as a regular one, strapless, halter, wide shoulder, off - shoulder for a scoop neck dress, or with a criss-cross back.

Spiced crabapples are delicious served with a cheese souffle.

MRS. JAMES ERNEST PRICE

Stella Louise Courtney Weds James E. Price In Hattiesburg Church

A wedding of interest here, where the bride formerly lived is that of Miss Stella Louise Courtney, of Hattiesburg, Miss., and James Ernest Price of Laurel, Miss. The ceremony was one of quiet simplicity held in the parlor of the First Presbyterian Church in Hattiesburg on Friday, August 30. Rev. W. J. Stanway performed the double-ring ceremony before a gathering of close friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eugene Gorton Courtney, Jr. and the late Mr. Courtney. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Courtney of Monroe and her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kernaghan of Hattiesburg. Mr. Price is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Price of Laurel.

The mantel before which the ceremony was performed held twin arrangements of large white crysanthemums and gladioli flanked by candlelabra and greenery.

Given in marriage by her uncle, A. D. Bernhardt of Monroe, the bride wore a waltz length bridal gown of white silk lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice with cummerbund had a Sabrina neckline and push-up sleeves with lace mitts and the bouffant skirt had scalloped hem-line. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a circlet of leaves fashioned of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible covered with a white crysanthemum and orchid with cascade of ribbons and small crysanthemums She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Mary Coleman of Mobile, Ala., who wore a pale yellow crystellet gown with eyelet inserts. Her matching hat had stand-out veil and she carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow carnations. Serving as best man was R. J. Scott of Laurel.

The bride's mother was dressed in a turquoise lace over taffeta with small matching hat and accessories. Mrs. Price wore a black and white ensemble with white hat and black accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Tall potted plants were placed in the reception area. The table was covered with an antique lace cloth over pale pink and centered with an arrangement of pink asters and white carnations. Crystal candelabra held pale pink tapers. The wedding cake, topped with miniature wedding bells, was placed at one end of the table and at the other end the crystal punch bowl with floats of pink ices.

Escorting the guests to the receiving line was the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt of Monroe. The punch was poured by the bride's sister, Mrs. C. R. McKinney of Abilene, Tex. Another aunt, Mrs. E. A. Kernaghan of Alexandria, served the cake. The register was presided over by Miss Carol Price, the groom's sister.

Others assisting in the courtesies were Miss Anne Hudson, Miss Elizabeth Lane, Miss Gwen Fortenberry, Miss Claire Cook and Miss Elizabeth Anne Garner, all of Hattiesburg and Miss Carol Callahan, of Alexandria.

For traveling the bride wore a pearl gray wool suit with small white feathered hat and black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet. Following a honeymoon on the gulf coast, the young couple will be at home in Hattiesburg.

The bride is a graduate of Hattiesburg High School and is attending Mississippi Southern College.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Mrs. Frank Rutter, of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kernaghan, of Alexandria, Miss Carol Callahan, of Alexandria, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gilreath and Mrs. R. J. Scott, of Laurel, Miss.. Mrs. Cecil Coleman, of Mobile, Ala.

MRS. HAROLD LANE BASSETT

Bassett-Dawkins Vows Pledged In Farmerville

In a bridal setting of white stock, chrysanthemums and white tapers lighted in floor candelabra, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Dawkins, daughter of Mrs. Willie B. Dawkins and the late Mr. Dawkins, of Farmerville and Harold Lane Bassett, of Monroe, exchanged their wedding vows, September 7, in the Farmerville Baptist Church. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. M. B. Smith, of Winnfield and W. T. Bassett, of Vicksburg. Rev. Eugene Langford, of Winnfield, officiated. Mrs. Frank Yelton presented the program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Mellie Jo Jefcoat, of Dubach, soloist.

The bride escorted by her uncle, Judge J. R. Dawkins, wore a gown of Alencon lace and tulle over white bridal satin. The fitted bodice of satin was finished with tiny self covered buttons down the back. A pillbox hat of lace studded with pearls held her shoulder length veil of illusion. She carried cascade bouquet of gardenias tied with satin ribbons.

Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr. of Bernice, was her cousin's matron of honor. Her gown was of aqua organdy worn over yellow taffeta, sashed with matching taffeta with streamers extending to the hemline of the waltz length skirt. Her mits and headdress were of the same shade and she carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. The bridemaids, Miss Sandra Toler, of Dayton Texas, and Miss Peggy Jones, Linville, wore dresses like the honor attendant, over green with rose sashes and carried bouquets in shades of pink. Beth Rhodes, of Spearsville and Christy Burns, of Bernice, both cousins of the bride, were the flower girls. Their frocks were of rose colored taffeta and in their hair, they wore circlets of white orange blossoms with nose veils.

Carl Bassett, of Monroe, was the best man and the ushers, Glen Bassett, of Monroe, Harry Poulan of Shreveport, and Robert Dawkins, the bride's cousin.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dawkins wore a dress of pink lace and taffeta made with a scoop neckline. With this she wore a small hat of sequins over pink lace and a corsage of pink blossoms. Mrs. Smith, the bride groom's mother chose blue silk shantung with jeweled hat and pink corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Blue Room of the church. Large baskets of white stock and chrysanthemums were placed at vantage points about the room, and the bride's table, covered with a white cut work cloth, was centered with pink roses flanked by silver candelabra with pink tapers. Mrs. Glen Toler, of Dayton, Texas served the cake and Mrs. Ed Rabun, presided over the punch service. Mrs. Millie Baldwin, aunt of the bride, registered the guests. Others assisting were Mrs. J. C. Toler, and Mrs. J. R. Dawkins.

When Mr. and Mrs. Bassett left on their wedding trip to the Gulf Coast she was wearing a navy shantung suit with navy sailor hat and white corsage. On their return they will make their home in Ruston where both are enrolled at Louisiana Tech.

Among the out of town guests were Harry Poulan, Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ganaway, Miss Jan Ganaway, Miss Lydia Bassett, Miss Pat Bassett, Wayne Bassett, Glen Bassett, Carl Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bassett, of Monroe, Mrs. and Mrs W. T. Bassett, of Vicksburg, Mrs. Kenneth Killian, of Crowville, Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Langford and Jim Langford, of Winnfield, Mrs. Glen Toler Bubb Toler, of Dayton, Texas, Mrs. O. B. Swayze, Jonesville, Mrs. Carl Taylor, Vidalia, Mrs. W. D. Upshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Rhodes, and Susan, Lou Ellen, Beth and Helen Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Burns, and Christy Burns of Spearsville, Mrs. Minnie Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr., Bernice, Mr. and Mrs. David Benefield, Ruston, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wren, of Monroe, Miss Sue Hayden and Jerry Brown, of Oak Grove.

Posey-Moorer Vows Read

Miss Marjorie Ann Moorer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Moorer of Crossett, became the bride of C. L. Posey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Posey, also of Crossett, in an evening service Saturday, in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church in Crossett.

Dr. Gerald T. Smith performed the double-ring ceremony before an arch of ivy. Candelabra holding white cathedral tapers were flanked by floor baskets of chrysanthemums. Miss Gail Gulledge was organist, and accompanied Miss Freddie Ruble, soloist. Candles were lighted by Nancy Carolyn Moorer, sister of the bride, and Rita Posey, sister of the groom.

The bride's white satin gown was fashioned princess style overlayed with net and flocked with seed pearls. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a pixie-hat of net and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a purple-throated white orchid on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Olen Burchfield, sister of the bride. She wore a dress of blue net over taffeta and carried pink nosegays.

Herman Owen of Crossett was best man. Ushers were Gerald Hopper and Charles Edward Robbins.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth. Centering the table was an arrangement of pink asters. Mrs. Jamie Woods, Mrs. Joe Bolin, and Miss Jo Ann Langley served at the reception. Miss Oledia Rickman presided at the bride's book.

For travel the bride wore a yellow linen sheath dress and black accessories. She pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet to her shoulder. After a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, the couple is at home at 700 West 12th Avenue, Crossett.

MRS. JAMES ERNEST PRICE

Stella Louise Courtney Weds James E. Price In Hattiesburg Church

A wedding of interest here, where the bride formerly lived is that of Miss Stella Louise Courtney, of Hattiesburg, Miss., and James Ernest Price of Laurel, Miss. The ceremony was one of quiet simplicity held in the parlor of the First Presbyterian Church in Hattiesburg on Friday, August 30. Rev. W. J. Stanway performed the double-ring ceremony before a gathering of close friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eugene Gorton Courtney, Jr. and the late Mr. Courtney. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Courtney of Monroe and her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kernaghan of Hattiesburg. Mr. Price is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Price of Laurel.

The mantel before which the ceremony was performed held twin arrangements of large white crysanthemums and gladioli flanked by candelabra and greenery.

Given in marriage by her uncle, A. D. Bernhardt of Monroe, the bride wore a waltz length bridal gown of white silk lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice with cummerbund had a Sabrina neckline and push-up sleeves with lace mitts and the bouffant skirt had scalloped hem-line. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a circlet of leaves fashioned of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible covered with a white crysanthemum and orchid with cascade of ribbons and small crysanthemums. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Mary C leman of Mobile, Ala., who wore a pale yellow crystellet gown with eyelet inserts. Her matching hat had stand-out veil and she carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow carnations. Serving as best man was R. J. Scott of Laurel.

The bride's mother was dressed in a turquoise lace over taffeta with small matching hat and accessories. Mrs. Price wore a black and white ensemble with white hat and black accessories. Their corsages were of white carnati ns.

Tall potted plants were placed in the reception area. The table was covered with an antique lace cloth over pale pink and centered with an arrangement of pink asters and white carnations. Crystal candelabra held pale pink tapers. The wedding cake, topped with miniature wedding bells, was placed at one end of the table and at the o'her end the crystal punch bowl with floats of pink ices.

Escorting the guests to the receiving line was the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt of Monroe. The punch was poured by the bride's sister, Mrs. C. R. McKinney of Abilene, Tex. Another aunt, Mrs. E. A. Kernaghan of Alexandria, served the cake. The register was presided over by Miss Carol Price, the groom's sister.

Others assisting in the courtesies were Miss Anne Hudson, Miss Elizabeth Lane, Miss Gwen Fortenberry, Miss Claire Cook and Miss Elizabeth Anne Garner, all of Hattiesburg and Miss Carol Callahan, of Alexandria.

For traveling the bride wore a pearl gray wool suit with small white feathered hat and black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet. Following a honeymoon on the gulf coast, the young couple will be at home in Hattiesburg.

The bride is a graduate of Hattiesburg High School and is attending Mississippi Southern College.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Mrs. Frank Rutter, of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kernaghan, of Alexandria, Miss Carol Callahan, of Alexandria, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gilreath and Mrs. R. J. Scott, of Laurel, Miss., Mrs. Creel Cole, of Mobile, Ala.

MRS. HAROLD LANE BASSETT

Bassett-Dawkins Vows Pledged In Farmerville

In a bridal setting of white stock, chrysanthemums and white tapers lighted in floor candelabra, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Dawkins, daughter of Mrs. Willie B. Dawkins and the late Mr. Dawkins, of Farmerville and Harold Lane Bassett, of Monroe, exchanged their wedding vows, September 7, in the Farmerville Baptist Church. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. M. B. Smith, of Winnfield and W. T. Bassett, of Vicksburg. Rev. Eugene Langford, of Winnfield, officiated. Mrs. Frank Yelton presented the program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Mellie Jo Jefcoat, of Dubach, soloist.

The bride escorted by her uncle, Judge J. R. Dawkins, wore a gown of Alencon lace and tulle over white bridal satin. The fitted bodice of satin was finished with tiny self covered buttons down the back. A pillbox hat of lace studded with pearls held her shoulder length veil of illusion. She carried cascade bouquet of gardenias tied with satin ribbons.

Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr. of Bernice, was her cousin's matron of honor. Her gown was of aqua organdy worn over yellow taffeta, sashed with matching taffeta with streamers extending to the hem line of the waltz length skirt. Her mitts and headdress were of the same shade and she carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanth mums. The bridesmaids, Miss Sandra Toler, of Dayton Texas, and Miss Peggy Jones Linville, were dressed like the honor attendant, over green taffeta sashes and carried bouquets in shades of pink. Beth Rhodes, of Swartsville and Christy Burns, of Bernice, both cousins of the bride, were the flower girls. Their frocks were of rose colored taffeta and in their hair they wore circlets of white organza bows ends with no veils.

Glen Bassett, of Monroe, was the best man and the ushers, Glen Bassett, of Monroe, Harry Poulan of Shreveport, and Robert Dawkins, the bride's cousin.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dawkins wore a dress of pink lace and taffeta made with a scoop neckline. With this she wore a small hat of sequins over pink lace and a corsage of pink blossoms. Mrs. Smith, the bridegroom's mother chose blue silk shantung with jeweled hat and pink corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Blue Room of the church. Large baskets of white stock and chrysanthemums were placed at vantage points about the room, and the bride's table, covered with a white cut work cloth, was centered with pink roses flanked by silver candelabra with pink tapers. Mrs. Glen Toler, of Dayton, Texas served the cake and Mrs. Ed Rabun, presided over the punch service. Mrs. Millie Baldwin, aunt of the bride, registered the guests. Others assisting were Mrs. J. C. Toler, and Mrs. J. R. Dawkins.

When Mr. and Mrs. Bassett left on their wedding trip to the Gulf Coast she was wearing a navy shantung suit with navy sailor hat and white corsage. On their return they will make their home in Ruston where both are enrolled at Louisiana Tech.

Among the out of town guests were Harry Poulan, Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ganaway, Miss Jan Ganaway, Miss Lydia Bassett, Miss Pat Bassett, Wayne Bassett, Glen Bassett, Carl Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bassett, of Monroe, Mrs. and Mrs. W. T. Bassett, of Vicksburg, Mrs. Kenneth Killam, of Crowville, Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Langford and Jim Langford, of Winnfield, Mrs. Glen Toler, Bubb Toler, of Dayton, Texas, Mrs. O. B. Swayze, Jonesville, Mrs. Carl Taylor, Vidalia, Mrs. W. D. Upshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Rhodes, and Susan, Lou Ellen, Beth and Helen Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Burns, and Christy Burns of Swearsville, Mrs. Minnie Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr., Bernice, Mr. and Mrs. David Benefield, Ruston, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wren, of Monroe, Miss Sue Hayden and Jerry Bowl, of Oak Grove.

Posey-Moorer Vows Read

Miss Marjorie Ann Moorer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Moorer of Crossett, became the bride of C. L. P sey, son of Mr. and Mrs Lee Posey, also of Crossett, in an evening service Saturday, in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church in Crossett.

Dr. Gerald T. Smith performed the double-ring ceremony before an arch of ivy. Candelabra holding white cathedral tapers were flanked by floor baskets of chrysanthemums. Miss Gail Gulledge was organist, and accompanied Miss Freddie Ruble, sol ist. Candles were lighted by Nancy Carolyn Moorer, sister of the bride, and Rita Posey, sister of the groom.

The bride's white satin gown was fashioned princess style overlayed with net and flocked with seed pearls. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a pixie-hat of net and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of stephan tis centered with a purple-throated white orchid on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Olen Burchfield, sister of the bride. She wore a dress of blue net over taffeta and carried pink nosegays.

Herman Owen of Crossett was best man. Ushers were Gerald Hopper and Charles Edward Robbins.

Immediately toll wing the wedding a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth. Centering the table was an arrangement of pink asters, Mrs. Jamie Woods, Mrs. Joe Bolin, and Miss Jo Ann Langley served at the reception. Miss Oledia Rickman presided at the bride's book.

For travel the bride wore a yellow linen sheath dress and black accessories. She pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet to her shoulder. After a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, the couple is at home at 700 West 12th Avenue, Crossett.

Common Cold Is As Old As Adam And Eve

Everyone has a "cure" for the common cold — for someone else, that is. As soon as they come down with the sniffles themselves the picture changes. Fruit juice, garlic, onions and even homemade grease poultices have been used on the chest to fight the "cold."

Socrates, Plato and Hippocrates got into the act of discussing the cold. In medieval times many touchstones and potions were sought to stave off the "rheume." In 1761, an apothecary, John Chandler, cited luxury as a major cause, along with "obstructed perspirat on" and over exposure to air. Colds were said to come from the brain, it being of cold, moist nature, the head acting as sort of an antenna.

Ethel Green Of Natchez Becomes Bride

The Trinity Episcopal Church of Natchez was the setting Saturday, September 7 for the wedding of Miss Ethel Blanks Green, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Galloway Green, of Natchez, to Bruce Ferris Banta, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Banta of Hackensack, N. J. The Rev. Louis O'Vander Thomas, rector of the church performed the single ring ceremony at eight o'clock in the evening.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Ruth Ellen Green, while the bridesmaids were: Miss Caroline Benoist of Natchez; and New York City; Miss Ellen Custer, of Natchez, a cousin of the bride; Miss Chase Lane of Chattanooga, Tenn., and New York City; and Mrs. Walter G. Green, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., sister-in-law of the bride.

Peter Gray Banta, of Hackensack, N. J., served as his brother's best man and groomsmen were: David Horace Banta, of Hackensack, N. J., brother of the bridegroom; Douglas Calkins, of White Plains, N. Y.; Walter G. Green, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., and William Green of Natchez, brothers of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held by the bride's parents at Stanton Hall.

Following the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Nassau and Bermuda and on their return will make their home in New York City.

Miss Charlene Miller Is Wed In Methodist Chapel Ceremony

The former Miss Charlene Miller became the bride of Thomas Larry Barnes in a ceremony at the First Methodist Chapel in West Monroe on September 2 at 6:30 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Miller of West Monroe. Parents of the groom are Mrs. H. Franks and the late Mr. W. D. Barnes. Rev. W. D. Milton performed the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white gladiola and white pom pom mums against a background of southern smilax with branched candelabra holding gleaming cathedral tapers formed the background for the ceremony. Miss Anna Rose Camp rendered the nuptial concert preceding the ceremony. She accompanied Mrs. Robert Oldenburg in the vocal solos "This Is My Beloved" and "I Love Thee."

Misses Karen and Gail Miller, sisters of the bride, lighted the candles. The bride entered on the arm of Mr. John Stoddard, a close friend of the family. The bride wore a waltz length gown of silk taffeta. The basque waist was fashioned with a deep scooped neckline outlined in lace scallops daintily embellished in seed pearls and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. The finger tip veil of illusion fell from a matching taffeta pillbox studded with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered mums and tuberoses.

Mrs. Anita Rickerson Norris served as matron of honor. Miss Sybil Perkins was the bridesmaid. Both wore waltz length dresses of taffeta in shades of pink. A double pouf of deeper colored taffeta formed a bustle effect at the waistline with floating panels extending to the hem line. They wore half hats sprinkled with pearls and shoes to match their dresses. They carried bouquets of pink mums.

Doyle Holstead was the bridegroom's best man. Gene Fordham and Jay Reese, cousin of the groom served as groomsmen.

Mrs. Miller chose for her daughter's wedding a charcoal grey two piece tunic dress with white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a royal blue dress with navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white glamelias.

For travel, the bride changed to a black silk shantung sheath dress trimmed in yellow with black and yellow accessories. The couple left immediately after the ceremony on a trip to Waco, Tex. where they will make their home.

Among the out of town guests were Calvin J. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Orie Baker, Coushatta, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Reese, and daughter, Judy, of Shreveport.

MRS. BERT NEIL PIPES

Choudrant Baptist Church Is Setting For Pipes–Norris Vows

In an impressive ceremony in the Choudrant Baptist Church, Miss Glenda Warren Norris became the bride of Bert Neil Pipes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm M. Norris and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Pipes, all of Choudrant.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. S. W. Tullos. The vows were exchanged before an arch of southern smilax flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli and candles burning in branched candelabra. Miss Charlotte Foster, organist, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Rev. Charles B. Littleton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown with chapel train of nylon tulle. The low neckline of the lace bodice was outlined in sequins and seed pearls and the long lace sleeves ended in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt of lace and tulle was worn over satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of lace encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. She carried an ivory prayer book with white orchid surrounded by tuberoses and tied with satin streamers and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Ansel Winham, sister of the bridebroom, was the matron of honor. The other attendants included Miss Mickey Norris, sister of the bride, Miss Dola Leachman, Miss Marta Lott and Miss Shirley Norris, another sister of the bride who acted as junior maid. They wore corn flower blue dresses of organdy over taffeta. The molded bodices were finished with very full skirts. Chiffon sashes were tied at the waistline and ended in bustle bows at the back. They wore bandeaux of matching blue and crried nosegay bouquets of white daisies and blue and white carnations.

Truman H. Pipes served his brother as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Lenard Faulkner, of Ruston, Horace Slaton, of Haynesville, John Norris of Farmerville, and Wade Pipes of Monroe.

A reception followed in the church annex. Mrs. Norris was wearing a dress of white lace over blue polished cotton with a matching hat of sequins and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Pipes chose summer dress of orchid linen with biege accessories with an orchid pinned at her shoulder.

A pink and white theme was used in the decorations of the rooms. White tulle over pink satin covered the bride's table centered with pale pink and white carnations.

After the ceremony, the newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Pipes left for a wedding trip through the Cumberland and Smokey Mountains. The bride traveled in a cotton suit of biege with black accessories They will make their home in Baton Rouge.

Among the out of town guests were T. H. Cochran, Jack Boatwright, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnson, Miss Charlotte Foster, all of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, Ruth Johnson, Norman Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Warren, Miss Belle Calhoun, Mrs. D. S. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Terrill, Dr. and Mrs. John Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Faulkner, of Ruston, Mr. and Mrs. George Lott and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Winham, of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Norris, and family, Mrs. T. H. Spurlock, Miss Betty Spurlock, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Foster, Mrs Florence Davis of West Monroe, Mrs. L. J. Hulin, Miss Barbara Hulin, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wade, of Monroe, Mrs. H. J. Smith and Howie, Abilene, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norris, of West Monroe, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Norris, of Farmerville, Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Tullos, of Gilbert, and Rev. Charles Littleton, of Monroe.

Miss Cawthon, James Gardner Plight Troth

The New Hope Church of God in the Unity Community was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Patsy Ann Cawthon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cawthon, to James Gardner, son of Mrs. James Gardner and the late Mr. Gardner, of Darnell. Rev. Roderick Davy of Ruston performed the ceremony. Miss Ina Faye Owens, of Monroe, gave a program of wedding music and accompanied Miss Glenda Oldham, of Pioneer, the soloist. The vows were exchanged before a background of white gladioli and rows of cathedral tapers.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white lace with fitted bodice and chapel length bouffant skirt which fell over skirts of tulle and swept to a bustle effect in the back. A cap of lace studded with pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and feathered carnations centered with a purple throated orchid.

Miss Connie Brantley of Spearsville was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Nannie Gardner, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Carleen Griffin. Their dresses were similar in design fashioned of taffeta with white capes of sequin trimmed lace. The honor attendant dressed in pink and the maids in blue. They carried colonial bouquets of pastel carnations tied with matching satin ribbons. Beverly Reynolds, the bride's cousin, was the flower girl and Johnny Cawthorn, the ring bearer.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Martin. The same green and white color scheme was used in the decorations of the home.

Mrs. Cawthon chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of dusty rose lace and the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Gardner, was dressed in gray lace. They both wore corsages of white carnations.

The bride's table was covered in white satin with overskirt of white nylon net caught at the corners with nosegays of pastel blossoms. The wedding attendants' bouquets, placed between two tall lighted tapers, formed the centerpiece for the table. Mrs. Lee Thomas Cawthon and Mrs. Betty Guice assisted in serving and Miss Glenda Oldham registered the guests.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left on a wedding trip to the Ozarks. For traveling the bride wore a blue cotton taffeta dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They will make their home in Ruston where Mr. Gardner is attending Louisiana Tech.

A half-bath in the basement is eminently practical, especially with children in the family. Because of the savings in plumbing costs, it should be located back-to-back to the utility room.

MRS. BERT NEIL PIPES

Choudrant Baptist Church Is Setting For Pipes–Norris Vows

In an impressive ceremony in the Choudrant Baptist Church, Miss Glenda Warren Norris became the bride of Bert Neil Pipes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm M. Norris and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Pipes, all of Choudrant.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. S. W. Tullos. The vows were exchanged before an arch of southern smilax flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli and candles burning in branched candelabra. Miss Charlotte Foster, organist, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Rev. Charles B. Littleton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown with chapel train of nylon tulle. The low neckline of the lace bodice was outlined in sequins and seed pearls and the long lace sleeves ended in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt of lace and tulle was worn over satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of lace encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. She carried an ivory prayer book with white orchid surrounded by tube-roses and tied with satin streamers and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Ansel Winham, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. MR. AND MRS. ARVEL GENTRY OWENS, JR.

Afternoon Rites Unite Miss Kiper Arvel G. Owens

In a candlelight ceremony at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the First Presbyterian Church in Winnsboro, Miss Lissa Linda Kiper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nicholas Kiper of Winnsboro, became the bride of Arvel Gentry Owens, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Gentry Owens, of Ruston.

Reverend Woodward D. Morriss performed the impressive double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with daisies and candida. Branched candelabra on either side of the altar were lighted by Wayne Owens, brother of the groom, and Bobby Ray De Loach, a cousin of the groom.

James Mays sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. C.L. Moore, Jr., accompanied the soloist and also played traditional nuptial selections throughout the ceremony.

Miss Kiper was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in a white gown of cut Chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta. The scalloped sleeves and bateau neckline were embroidered with bridal pearls. The draped apron front was caught up in the back into a bustle. A fingertip veil of imported illusion was attacked to a lace Juliet cap, embroidered in bridal pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of daisies, centered with Cymbidium Orchids, and a dainty handkerchief, tatted by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lissa Weeks.

The maid of honor, Miss Pam Kiper, sister and only attendant of the bride, was dressed in pastel yellow crystalene over taffeta. Her gown was made with a scalloped neckline and a cummerbund that featured a bustle bow. Miss Kiper wore a scalloped hat of daisies and carried a basket bouquet of the same dainty flowers. Gloves and shoes matched the pale yellow hue of her dress.

Mr. Owens served as his son's best man. Ushers were Wayne Owens, Bobby Ray De Loach and Sidney Kilgore.

The bride's mother chose an aqua lace dress over taffeta. Her hat was of irridescent sequins and her accessories were navy blue. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother wore beige lace over taffeta with a matching sequined hat. Her accessories were of beige and corsage of white carnations.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. Here, the focal point was the bridal table covered with white linen, overlaid with net. On this was placed a beautiful centerpiece of Majestic and Shasta daisies. Burning white tapers at either end cast a soft glow. The bride and groom cut the first slice of the three-tiered cake, ornamented with traditional bride and groom. The cake was then served by Miss Ann McCaleb.

Miss Carol Lynn Smith presided at the punch bowl. Miss Myra Ann Moore, registered the guests in the bride's book. Tea girls assisting in the courtesies were Miss Sally Ann Roden, of Winnsboro; Miss Mary Alice Insley, of Delhi; and Miss Carolyn Ross, of Shreveport.

For her wedding trip the bride wore an imported raw silk suit with black velvet hat, lizard shoes and matching bag. Pinned on her suit was a corsage of orchids, taken from the bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Owens will be at home at 312 W. California Ave., Ruston, where they will resume their studies at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute this fall.

Out of town guests besides those participating in the wedding were: Mrs. Lissa Weeks of Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Weeks, Jr., Johnny and Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hampton, Tommy, Lin, Johnny and Jimmy of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Owen, Hico; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Owen, Dubach; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Killgore, Amanda and Bruce, Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. Robert De Loach and Quen, Homer; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Owens, Frances and Barbara, Beaumont, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bedford, Shreveport; Mrs. George W. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cobb, Billy and Brenda, Monroe; Miss Linda Lee Mims, Rob Martin, Minden; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Scott, Winnfield; Mr. and Mrs. James White, Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Aldredge, Gloria, Natchitoches; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jimerson, Ruston; Don Norris, Delhi; John W. Stormet, Bastrop; Le Roy Linton, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Killgore, Homer; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Anderson, Ruston.

MRS. PAUL STINSON, the regent for the Dugdemon Chapter, of Jonesboro, which will be host to the District 3, Louisiana Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The meeting will be held in Jonesboro next week.

Annette Odom Pledges Troth By Candlelight

WINNSBORO — Amid a glow of many tapers Miss Annette Odom became the bride of James E. Shipman in a double ring ceremony solemnized at 7:30 in the evening, August 29, in the Baskin Baptist church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Odom and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lonez Shipman and the late Mr. Shipman all of Winnsboro, route three.

The Rev. Charles Thompson, pastor of the church officiated at the impressive service.

Miss Betty Jo Looney presented a program of pre-nuptial music and accompanied Miss Shirley Wiggington and Miss Carolyn Lee who sang "I'll Walk With God", and "Indian Love Call" and "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace and tulle fashioned floor length. The Alencon lace, over satin molded the bodice and scalloped below the waistline. Her long lace mits were elbow length. Her fingertip veil of illusion of tulle cascaded from a tiara of pearls and irridescent sequins. She carried a cascade of white roses centered with a white orchid with white satin streamers tied in love knots with tuberoses held in the knots.

Little Miss Susan Broadway was flower girl, and Herman Anderson and Charles Miller served as candle lighters.

Miss Sylvia Odom, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore a pale green crystallite net over taffeta and carried an arrangement of pale yellow mums attached to a white fan.

Bridesmaids' were Miss Thelma Free, Miss Mary Virginia Hagar, and Mrs. Emma June Anderson Chapman. They wore pale yellow crystallite net over taffeta dresses and carried pale yellow mums on white fans with satin streamers.

James Wiltshire served as best man and Tommy Tims, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Ushers were Elwyn Odom and Reddock Windham.

The bride's mother wore a grey lace over pink taffeta dress with a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Shipman was wearing an ice blue lace over blue taffeta and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Miss Shirley Broadway, Mrs. Janet Tims and Mrs. Nadine Miller alternated at the punch service. Mrs. Earl Shultz served the wedding cake.

Mrs. Alvin Syndey ask the guests to register in the bride's book.

Following the reception, the young couple departed on their wedding trip to the Great Smoky Mountains. The bride traveled in a black fall cotton sheath model complimented by black patent accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return home they plan to reside in Monroe where both will attend Northeast State College.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Adams, of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Guy McDonald, West Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Early Ray Bradshaw and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Odom of Archibald; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Broadway and children of Fairbanks; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, Minden; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Shults and children and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Broadway, West Monroe; and Mrs. E. H. Broadway of Monroe.

Designer Chanel Receive Honors Arrives To

By DOROTHY ROE

Tiny, ageless and twinkling Gabrielle Chanel is having the last laugh this week, and enjoying it thoroughly.

It should hand a few chuckles to any designer to see the silhouette she launched more than 30 years ago hailed as the greatest trend in this year of the atomic age, 1957.

The dark-eyed French woman arrived in this country last week to receive the top honors of the world of high fashion. In New York she was feted by all the bigwigs of the fashion press. Then she went on to Dallas, to receive the highly coveted Neiman-Marcus Fashion Award — this year's only recipient. The only other person to receive a solitary award from the Dallas store was Adrian, in 1943. Even Christian Dior, voted the award in 1947 for his revolutionary "New Look," had to share honors with others.

Today the Chanel look is simply the only way to look, if you're going to be in fashion.

Nuptials Are Sunday Event

DODSON — The marriage of Miss Bernice Blackstock, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow A. Blackstock, and Thomas Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cartie L. Fitzgerald was celebrated recently at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon in a double ring service at the Siloam Baptist Church, in the Gansville community, with the Rev. E. L. Fitzgerald officiating. Mrs. Robert Weeks presided at the piano and played the traditional wedding marches. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in a floor length gown of alencon lace over white taffeta. The bodice was fashioned along fitted lines and topped with a bolero. The voluminous lace skirt was trimmed with a cascade of ruffles. Scalloped circlet of white lace with beaded latticed front and a half veil of silk illusion, formed the headdress. For something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, she carried a blue handkerchief. Her only ornament was pearl earrings and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Miss Gloria Hand, maid of honor and only attendant, wore a dress of pale blue organza and off - the - face hat of pale pink with shoes and gloves to match, her corsage was pink carnations. Rayford Green was the grooms' best man.

After the ceremony the bridal couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will be at home in their new home in the Gansville community.

The bride is a senior at Winnfield High School, is president of the Parish FHA, Central district treasurer of the FHA, and a member of the National Beta Club at Winnfield.

Clothes Quiz

Fashion Tips For Short Plump Figures

By BETH BLAIR

Readers often write in to say that they have "no style sense." Actually, anyone who has interest enough in her clothes to realize that something is wrong has a firm foundation for building a sense of style. A reader writes—

Dear Miss Blair:

I'm size 18½, five feet two inches tall, medium skin, brown eyes, dark brown hair, somewhat grayed, age 48 years. I was reared with the silly idea that to set one's affections on clothing is sinful, hence my style sense was never properly developed, and I just never feel satisfied with my appearance. Can you advise me on what type of clothing is best? I sew very well, but find it less interesting these days as I run into fitting problems with my dumpy figure.

Your ability to sew is a great asset — you have the widest possible choice of styles and cuts, and can alter patterns to suit your own convenience.

Since your figure is heavy and you are not tall, stick to dark colors in dull surfaced patterns. A shade of blue somewhat lighter than navy is good for you and I think some of the lively shades of brown would be flattering. Try deep greens, too. Black I think is a little dull with your coloring.

As to cut, the princess style dress, with slightly flared skirt, low neck, and three - quarter sleeves is your best silhouette. Make the most of your decolletages. The plump figure is at its most attractive, in a low, flattering neckline. The surplice top is also good for you, and a touch of white or color at the neckline can be most flattering.

In suits, strange as it may sound, the straight little jacket that just grazes the hipline, with a straight but not tight skirt, is flattering to your figure. The jacket's up and down lines add height, and its staightness is a camouflage. Here again the touch of color or white at the neckline is good.

Straight coats are best for you. Hats, and all accessories, should be small, but not cute. Fairly high heels will add height and slim your ankles.

MR. AND MRS. ARVEL GENTRY OWENS, JR.

Annette Odom Pledges Troth By Candlelight

WINNSBORO — Amid a glow of many tapers Miss Annette Odom became the bride of James E. Shipman in a double ring ceremony solemnized at 7:30 in the evening, August 24, in the Baskin Baptist church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Odom and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lonez Shipman and the late Mr. Shipman all of Winnsboro, route three.

The Rev. Charles Thompson, pastor of the church officiated at the candlelight service.

Miss Betty Jo Looney presented a program of pre-nuptial music and accompanied Miss Shirley Williamson and Miss Carolyn Lee who sang "I'll Walk With God", and "Indian Love Call" and "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace and tulle fashioned floor length. The Victorian lace, over satin made the bodice and scalloped below the waistline. Her long lace mitts were elbow length. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of pearls and rhinestone sequins. She carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis with a white orchid with white satin streamers tied in love knots with the roses held in the knot.

Miss Sara Brooks was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Ann Anderson and Miss Frances Odom, sister of the bride.

Miss Sara Odom wore a floor length model of pink Swiss organdy over taffeta and carried an arrangement of white carnations with white satin streamers.

James Williams served as best man and Tommy Tate, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Ushers were Evan Odom and Reddock Wyndham.

The bride's mother wore a floor length dark blue dress with a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Shipman was wearing an ice blue dress with a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Miss Shirley Williamson, Miss Jane Tate and Mrs. Nadine Miller presided at the punch service. Mrs. Earl Smith served the wedding cake.

Early Fall Is In-Between Times For Real Gardening

By Mildred Swift

The first month of fall is kind of in - between - times in the garden. It is a wonderful clean-up, month. The days are cooler and you can clean out weeds and grass, prune overhanging, overlapping and dead or diseased wood.

Some gardens are completely devoid of bloom, some have red spider lilies, princess feather, cleome, late purple salvia, cut - and - come - again. For foliage there's coleus and the many colored caladiums. Have you noticed how cool white caladiums look? Marie Wamsley has these planted on the north side of her garden. Every day as I pass going home, regardless how warm the weather, just seeing these, cools me off.

Gardening

Going back to red spider lilies, if you have these planted in the lawn, start watching for the buds to pop up. The flowers bloom before the foliage comes out. After these bloom, scratch some 8-8-8 in the ground around the bulbs. The leaves will come out after the blooms and will stay green all winter. In the spring, after the foliage dies, transplant this bulb, if they are too crowded. Because the foliage does stay green all winter, they make an excellent ground cover.

If you didn't get your Louisiana iris and watsonias divided and transplanted in August, you can do that job now, if you hurry.

It is too late to transplant narcissus, jonquils and daffodils. They have already put out roots and shouldn't be disturbed. It is time to buy bulbs of those three. The bulbs you buy have been in storage and are still dormant. There are so many new varieties, so look at the pictures. That's one group of flowers that photograph true to form. Pick up your Easter lily bulbs at the stores, too. Remember there are several varieties of these, so ask to see pictures to make your selection.

A Lovely Garden.

Last week I was privileged to view the garden of Elizabeth and Frances Langford, 1607 North Fifth Street in Monroe. The back garden overlooks the sun room. With the glass extending to the floor in this room, you can hardly tell where the room ends and the garden begins. And such a restful garden! A thick carpet of St. Augustine, tall trees, well shaped beds and worlds of caladiums. You can tell that the owners love birds because there's a bird house and a bird feeder. You feel that you want to rest in one of those comfortable yard chairs and just never leave.

On the day I visited Frances and Elizabeth, they were planning a bride's shower. They had constructed a wishing well to hold the gifts, something any of you could do. They used tubs as a foundation. If you're interested at any time I'm sure they will be glad to tell you how they made the well. In this garden is a sassafrass tree. Elizabeth showed me that this tree grows three different shaped leaves, one shaped like a glove, one like a mitten and one plain, not serrated at all.

Be sure to drive by Irene Reed's 1621 Emerson and see the spectactular Empress candle trees with their yellow spike blooms. Irene imported these from Mexico and has promised to save seed for us. The plant looks something lake a mimosa, but belongs to the castor bean family. The interesting blooms get longer and longer and last until frost!

Food In The News

The secret of really satisfactory eating is to eat enough fat. They do more than make us feel well fed, they make us look well fed, by contributing to clear, healthy complexion. And they make us be well fed by providing some vitamins and acting as delivery boys, for others, calories. Of course, fats and oils contain calories! But even an inactive person should eat about a quarter of a pound of fat each week. Take away all the fat from our food and things wouldn't taste or smell nearly as good. There's no need to worry about one having enough fats and oils. There's an extra supply for more months of meals high in energy, vitamins, flavor, aroma and just plain good eating.

With all the poultry on the market these days, some questions are arising in regard to this meat. One is, what makes cooked turkey turn pink? Research has found that certain substances in the atmosphere of a heated oven, or in the hot air of an outdoor fire may react chemically with substances that give a reddish color to smoked hams and we don't worry about that. Poultry meat that turns pink during roasting is still safe to eat, and is not changed in flavor or other qualities.

Let's not overlook fish in September meals, as it is a high protein food that is plentiful and the price is down. This includes the fresh and salt water fish in the markets, as well as the larger than usual supply of frozen fish varieties; fillets, sticks, and other fish products. The fish industry will be giving special emphasis to this situation during National Fish Week, September 18-28.

Mid-September Best Time To Plant Lawns, Annuals

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Mid-September is the time when gardening really gets going again. This is our very best time to plant new lawns and refurbish old ones. It is the time to plant Louisiana irises, spuria irises and some of the hardy annuals. Spring and summer flowering perennials can be taken up and divided and reset.

If you do it in September, you will have a bumper crop of blossoms next year because our long, open autumns allow plants to establish wonderful root systems and grow into robust clumps ready to burst into bloom next year.

Remember that you do not have to plow up the whole lawn and start all over from seed if you have good soil and as much as one third of a stand of grass. Of course, if your lawn needs soil preparation, you simply have to prepare the whole thing over again.

Where the soil was properly prepared last year and you simply did not get a good enough stand of grass from seeds sown, however, you can simply reseed the area and scatter a very light covering of rich soil over the new seeds. Just barely hide them from sight.

Before you seed your lawn, by all means go over it and level up the holes with good soil. If there is good turf in these low spots, you can cut the sod in squares, lift them aside, fill in the proper amount and then reset the sods. Water these places and fertilize them immediately, and you will never be able to find where you operated.

What we have said above, of course, applies only to the seed sown lawn of fescues, blue grasses and the "grass mixtures." The creeping grasses like Bermuda grass, centipede grass, carpet grass and St. Augustine grass are best planted when really warm weather returns next spring and summer.

Those beautiful irises called spuria irises that are becoming popular now seem to prefer September transplanting to any other time here in the hill country of the South. They make long rhizomes like the Louisiana irises, and the growth habits of these two kinds of iris are much alike.

Both kinds like lots of water when they are getting ready to bloom. If you have no wet place in your garden, however, plant the Louisiana and spuria irises right in your garden beds. Just be sure to keep them well watered until they flower in the spring.

Some gardeners who grow these flowers prefer the slightly restricted growth they make in an ordinary flower bed. The blossoms will usually be normal in size if the plants do not grow to great proportions.

If you want to grow Texas bluebonnets, get the seed immediately and sow them on a hard seed bed which has been prepared with a liberal amount of bone meal. They are winter annuals and will cover the area with pretty foliage and give you a never-to-be-forgotten sheet of true blue next spring.

Important Council Meeting Sept. 21

By Euna Spielman

The Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council will meet in the Agricultural building in West Monroe Saturday, September 21st at 10:00 a.m. This organization will take action on a number of things at this time making it imperative for each club to be represented. The piano has been repaired and tuned so Mrs. Kenneth Lee, music chairman, has arranged for some special music.

Home Demonstration Club Officers Receive Training

Officers of 15 Home Demonstration Clubs receive training in parliamentary procedure. This training was given by Mr. J. H. Jones of LSU Extension Service. Plans for training meeting were made by the agent. Those receiving training were: Mrs. E. M. Granberry, Mrs. Alma Stout, Logtown; Mrs. E. W. Earl, Mrs. Drew Anderson, Colony; Mrs. W. R. Gates, visitor; Mrs. Charles Beadles, Mrs. R. E.. Brookings, Lamkin; Mrs. Robert Ingram, Mrs. D. E. Taylor, McGuire; Mrs. Guy Armstrong, Mrs. D. A. Mears, Swartz; Mrs. Pete Holcomb, Mrs. G. L. Stennett, Mrs. E. R. Williamson, Lenwil; Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Mrs. L. E. Douthet, Thrifty Homemakers; Mrs. B. D. Berry, Better Homemakers; Mrs. Blanche Barrett, Lakeview; Mrs. Will Davis, Cheniere; Mrs. O. H. Eley, Mrs. C. D. Henderson, Mrs. J. R. Frantom; Claiborne; Mrs. E. Moore, Mrs. B.C. Marshell, McClendon; Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. James Pender, Bosco, Mrs. N. Mills, Okaloosa; Mrs. J.R. Williams, Mrs. S. O. Sharp, Sterlington.

Landscape Lecture

Last Monday Mr. H. Stuart Ortloff, landscape architect and author of Huntington, N. Y., gave a most instructive lecture on "Color and Design in the Landscape." Landscape art, stated Mr. Ortloff, is the arrangement of a piece of property for use and you. Its purpose is to obtain a more pleasing setting of your home. The most important thing in creating any landscape is organization because true beauty is complete organization. The basis of all landscaping is design — a pattern. Design must follow the basic principles of art or we will get into trouble. Many, stated Mr. Ortloff, has not learned to make this application. In his visits to gardens he saw some landscapes where gardeners had become plant collectors and owners were maintaining horticultural museums. This is true because of the tendency to overplant and by trying to do too much. In part, here are a few suggestions given by Mr. Ortloff to consider when designing your landscape. Remember simplicity is the key to a beautiful design in landscaping. Keep pattern simple. Keep in mind maintenance —the more complicated your design the more difficult becomes maintenance. Good maintenance is a "must" in any landscape. Select plant material that carries out your design — not because you like certain plants. Form, texture and foliage of plant material are more important than color or bloom. You can plan for seasonal color. A green garden is highly satisfactory because it lasts a long time and nature does not care what color you use as long as it is some kind of green.

"Garden" means enclosed space so to have a garden, enclose three sides. This shuts out distracting views. To enclose the garden use walls or fences decorated with selected vines, hedges or shrub borders. Be sure your design has unity, balance and accent or a focal point. There are four types of designs used in landscaping: formal, requiring straight lines and right angles; informal is obtained by long flowing curves; domestic free lines; and modern. Modern houses have no relationship to curves — thus modern landscape design should be lines and right angles. A tour of the garden of the president of Northeast College was another educational feature of Monday's program.

Another opportunity to learn will be offered March 10th when this club, Monroe Garden Club, will bring Mrs. Adelaid B. Wilson of Vermont to Monroe. Mrs. Wilson will give a demonstration using color charts, fabrics and an analysis of flower arrangement. Non members may attend this demonstration for the small cost of $2.00 — let me urge you to take advantage of these wonderful opportunities to learn.

Plant Now For Spring Beauty

Fall planting brings springtime enjoyment to Louisiana gardeners. Bulbs are easy to grow they come early and add color in or out of doors. Some of the bulbs which we can plant in October are daffodils, snowdrops, amarylis, madonna, Regal and Speciosum lilies. Watsonia should be planted now. (September). This flower resembles gladiolus blooming in March and April. It's excellent for cut flowers. Foliage is evergreen except for a short period in midsummer.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Celosia Is Week's Top Arrangement

By Mary M. Jardine

Celosia that engaging annual of our late summer months was featured in the arrangements of the week at the Garden Center. These colorful designs were presented by the Bayou DeSiard Garden Club of Monroe.

Yellow and green were featured in Mrs. H. W. Tolson's blue ribbon arrangement. The boat shaped container of yellow crackle - ware set on a small brass stand was most harmonious with the plant material. For the background of the mass design Mrs. Tolson used podocarpus (Japenese Yew). Secondard placements were slender yellow spikes of the plume celosia. Massed in the foreground were brilliant yellow flowers of the Helenium (Cut and come again). This colorful arrangement would be lovely for a living room table.

Mrs. A. O. Ware was awarded second place. A large pink conch shell set on a black base was selected for this design. A simple diagonal line following the outline of the shell was created with red violet celosia plumes with the focal area. Staged against a deep pink background this was most effective.

Mrs. Marcus Mapp's mass arrangement was awarded third place. The container was a round brass bowl. Mrs. Mapp created a mass arrangement using sansevieria for the background placements. A large velvety red crested celosia was placed in the center with self-foliage for accent. Green grapes spilled over the rim of the container in a most graceful fashion. This arrangement would be most suitable for a buffett.

Our "extra" arrangement of the week was created by Carol Ware. A black boat shaped container was used for the background, for depth and interest. Celosia shading from violet, red violet and into the salmon shades were arranged in a fan shaped mass pattern. This would be most attractive for an entrance hall table.

In the horticulture section we are proud to report all exhibits were awarded blue ribbons. Mrs. Crushman Gillette exhibited a perfect specimen of Gardenia. Brilliant red native hibiscus was displayed by Mrs. H. W. Tolson who also won a blue ribbon for her Pink Rosetti Rose.

Those of you who missed Mr. Stuart Ortloff's lecture on Monday missed a real treat. However, the main points of his lecture are contained in his book "Color and Design for Every Garden." We have two copies of this book in our Garden Center library for you to study at your leisure.

Another important date is October 21, when the Welcome Garden Club will present Raye Miller Underwood of Greensboro, North Carolina in a lecture - demonstration entitled "Dried Arrangements For All Occasions." Time 2 p.m. Virginia Hotel Roof. The public is cordially invited. Mrs. Underwood is author of "The Complete Book of Dried Arrangements." Be sure to mark this important date on your calendar.

HERE IS HOW

Make Sure Home Is Safe

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It may not take more than a little elbow grease and a second thought to prevent a serious accident in the home. But many parents neglect doing the small things here and there that will make their homes safer.

Many a youngster has been burned by tampering with electric outlets that lie right in the path of crawler and toddler. Yet, there are plastic caps that cost but a few cents that may be inserted into these outlets in a jiffy, and removed when the outlet is put into use.

Windows are another potential danger in the home, especially when they do not lock properly or when the screens offer little protection to curious small fry. It takes only a few minutes to anchor screens firmly with proper hardware so that they will act as barriers

Some Fences Dangerous

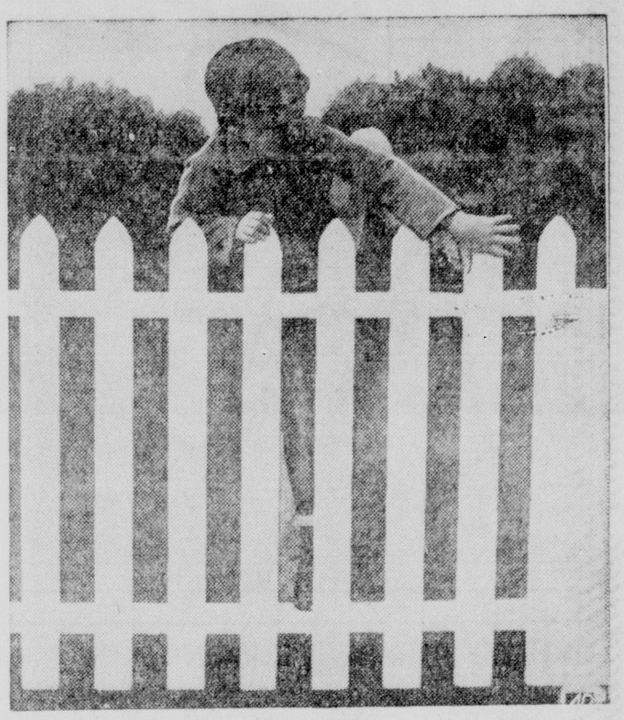
Rustic fences are lovely to look at, but those with pointed tops may serve as a real danger to a child who is at the climbing age. One slip from his perch on an unsteady wagon or tricycle as he leans over a fence could cause serious injury, perhaps the loss of an eye. Arms and legs may be filled with splinters too, unless a coat of shellac or varnish is put over rough wood to seal it and prevent weathering.

The popular home workshop is another potential danger being stressed these days with the argument that "emergencies don't wait." Power tool experts suggest building a five - foot wall of beaverboard around the home workshop.

They suggest installing a gate that locks to keep children away from saws, chisels, and especially power tools.

A rickety high - chair may get better support by enlarging the base of it so the child can't overturn it by rocking.

Falls may be prevented by installing hand rails on stairways, by putting a rubber pad under scatter rugs, by putting grab rails next to the bathtub and installing light switches at stairways and at the entrances to rooms. Sand chest near outdoor steps and walks will come in handy when ice forms and the area requires sanding.



DECORATIVE DANGER: This picket fence is pretty, but it's a hazard. One slip in the operation above and a boy might be seriously hurt. Such fences can be made safer by sawing off the pointed tips.

Keep Chimneys Clean

Fire may be avoided by keeping chimneys clean. A burlap bag filled with straw and weighted with a brick may be lowered and raised inside the chimney from the roof until sooty residue is removed. A dry Christmas tree thrown into a fireplace is a frequent cause of chimney fires.

Walls and ceilings surrounding the furnace should be covered with fireproof material. Fire extinguishers should be available handily in the house with one kept within range of the kitchen stove.

If you are planning to insulate your home, choose a non - burnable type of insulation. The material will serve as a partial fire barrier, preventing flash fires that race along the air spaces inside walls of non - insulated homes.

It's a good idea also to check your safety quotient on these points:

Are sharp kitchen knives stored in a separate container away from the table ware?

Is your medicine chest too accessible to small hands? Keep aspirin, medicines and other potentially dangerous drugs on the highest shelf in the house.

Are laundry bleaches and other poisonous compounds kept out of reach of groping hands?

It's a good idea, too, to remove the lock from the bathroom door when there are children or old folk in the family. The bathroom is an accident focal point for children and elderly people. If the door is locked, you may not be able to reach them soon enough.

If lights are operated by pull chains near sinks or in the cellar, it's a good idea to install an insulating link or a non-conductive socket.

Wear Live Beetles As Ornaments In Yucatan

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The average woman shudders at the sight of a live beetle.

In the Yeuatan Peninsula they wear them as ornaments and good luck charms.

The custom stems from an ancient Mayan legend about a handsome prince named Ek-can and a beautiful princess named Yitz-caan (Dew of Heaven).

The prince asked for her hand in marriage, but her father said no — she was pledged to become a priestess.

The prince refused to take this for an answer, and arranged to meet her at a forest rendezvous at the full moon. Madly in love, she agreed.

They met, and as he stepped into an opening into the moonlight, she cried: "Macech!" meaning "Thou art a man!" or, as a modern princess might say, "What a man!"

Then she realized that her father's soldiers had been watching her and were closing in on the prince. She feared they had been ordered to kill him.

She fell to her knees and prayed to the goddess of the moon that he be saved. Then she fainted.

When she regained consciousness, she realized the soldiers had not found her lover and were completely mystified. They knew the prince could not have escaped, but they could not find him.

Dew of Heaven looked where her prince had last been standing, and saw a beetle. She believed that the moon goddess must have heard her pleas and had transformed the prince into a beetle.

"Macech!" she cried, and cupped the beetle in her hands and took him home. From then on she always wore the macech, as the beetle is still known.

No one ever kills a macech in Yucatan to this day. And women wear them as ornaments, in their hair or on their bosom.

The average macech is buff-gray with black legs, a little over an inch and a half long, and eats virtually nothing.

Women tie a silk thread, or even a tiny silver ring, around its middle. The other end of the chain or thread is attached to a piece of bark, preferably from the tree in which the beetle was found.

Scientists say some insects in their adult form eat little solid food, and the macech apparently thrives from bits of the bark to which it is attached. It lives for years.

Tapioca cream, garnished with a little whipped cream and a glistening small square of red jelly, will intrigue your family and guests.

Remember that you do not have to plow up the whole lawn and start all over from seed if you have good soil and as much as a third of a stand of grass. Of course, if your lawn needs soil preparation, you simply have to prepare the whole thing over again.

Where the soil was properly prepared last year and you simply did not get a good enough stand of grass from seeds sown, however, you can simply reseed the area and scatter a very light covering of rich soil over the new seeds. Just barely hide them from sight.

Before you seed your lawn, by all means go over it and level up the holes with good soil. If there is good turf in these low spots, you can cut the sod in squares, lift them aside, fill in the proper amount and then reset the sods. Water these places and fertilize them immediately, and you will never be able to find where you operated.

What we have said above, of course, applies only to the seed sown lawn of fescues, blue grasses and the "grass mixtures." The creeping grasses like Bermuda grass, centipede grass, carpet grass and St. Augustine grass are best planted when really warm weather returns next spring and summer.

Those beautiful irises called spuria irises that are becoming popular now seem to prefer September transplanting to any other time here in the hill country of the South. They make long rhizomes like the Louisiana irises, and the growth habits of these two kinds of iris are much alike.

Both kinds like lots of water when they are getting ready to bloom. If you have no wet place in your garden, however, plant the Louisiana and spuria irises right in your garden beds. Just be sure to keep them well watered until they flower in the spring.

Some gardeners who grow these flowers prefer the slightly restricted growth they make in an ordinary flower bed. The blossoms will usually be normal in size if the plants do not grow to great proportions.

If you want to grow Texas bluebonnets, get the seed immediately and sow them on a hard seed bed which has been prepared with a liberal amount of bone meal. They are winter annuals and will cover the area with pretty foliage and give you a never-to-be-forgotten sheet of true blue next spring.

Important Council Meeting Sept. 21

By Euna Spielman

The Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council will meet in the Agricultural building in West Monroe Saturday, September 21st at 10:00 a.m. This organization will take action on a number of things at this time making it imperative for each club to be represented. The piano has been repaired and tuned so Mrs. Kenneth Lee, music chairman, has arranged for some special music.

Home Demonstration Club Officers Receive Training

Officers of 15 Home Demonstration Clubs receive training in parliamentary procedure. This training was given by Mr. J. H. Jones of LSU Extension Service. Plans for training meeting were made by the agent. Those receiving training were: Mrs. E. M. Granberry, Mrs. Alma Stout, Logtown; Mrs. E. W. Earl, Mrs. Drew Anderson, Colony; Mrs. W. R. Gates, visitor; Mrs. Charles Beadles, Mrs. R. E. Brookings, Lamkin; Mrs. Robert Ingram, Mrs. D. E. Taylor, McGuire; Mrs. Guy Armstrong, Mrs. D. A. Mears, Swartz; Mrs. Pete Holcomb, Mrs. G. L. Stennett, Mrs. E. R. Williamson, Lenwil; Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Mrs. L. E. Douthet, Thrifty Homemakers; Mrs. B. D. Berry, Better Homemakers; Mrs. Blanche Barrett, Lakeview; Mrs. Will Davis, Cheniere; Mrs. O. H. Eley, Mrs. C. D. Henderson, Mrs. J. R. Frantom; Claiborne; Mrs. E. Moore, Mrs. B.C. Marshell, McClendon; Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. James Pender, Bosco, Mrs. N. Mills, Okaloosa; Mrs. J.R. Williams, Mrs. S. O. Sharp, Sterlington.

Landscape Lecture

Last Monday Mr. H. Stuart Ortloff, landscape architect and author of Huntington, N. Y., gave a most instructive lecture on "Color and Design in the Landscape." Landscape art, stated Mr. Ortloff, is the arrangement of a piece of property for use and you. Its purpose is to obtain a more pleasing setting of your home. The most important thing in creating any landscape is organization because true beauty is complete organization. The basis of all landscaping is design — a pattern. Design must follow the basic principles of art or we will get into trouble. Many, stated Mr. Ortloff, has not learned to make this application. In his visits to gardens he saw some landscapes where gardeners had become plant collectors and owners were maintaining horticultural museums. This is true because of the tendency to overplant and by trying to do too much. In part, here are a few suggestions given by Mr. Ortloff to consider when designing your landscape. Remember simplicity is the key to a beautiful design in landscaping. Keep pattern simple. Keep in mind maintenance —the more complicated your design the more difficult becomes maintenance. Good maintenance is a "must" in any landscape. Select plant material that carries out your design — not because you like certain plants. Form, texture and foliage of plant material are more important than color or bloom. You can plan for seasonal color. A green garden is highly satisfactory because it lasts a long time and nature does not care what color you use as long as it is some kind of green.

"Garden" means enclosed space so to have a garden, enclose three sides. This shuts out distracting views. To enclose the garden use walls or fences decorated with selected vines, hedges or shrub borders. Be sure your design has unity, balance and accent or a focal point. There are four types of designs used in landscaping: formal, requiring straight lines and right angles; informal is obtained by long flowing curves; domestic tree lines; and modern. Modern houses have no relationship to curves -- thus modern landscape design should be lines and right angles. A tour of the garden of the president of Northeast College was another educational feature of Monday's program.

Another opportunity to learn will be offered March both when the club, Monroe Garden Club, will bring Mrs. Adelaid B. Wilson of Vermont to Monroe. Mrs. Wilson will give a demonstration using color charts, fabrics and an analysis of flower arrangement. Non members may attend this demonstration for the small cost of $2.00 -- let me urge you to take advantage of these wonderful opportunities to learn.

Plant Now For Spring Beauty

Fall planting brings springtime enjoyment to Louisiana gardeners. Bulbs are easy to grow they come early and add color in or out of doors. Some of the bulbs which we can plant in October are daffodils, snowdrops, amaryllis, madonna, Regal and Speciosum lilies. Watsonia should be planted now. (September). This flower resembles gladiolus blooming in March and April. It's excellent for cut flowers. Foliage is evergreen except for a short period in midsummer.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Celosia Is Week's Top Arrangement

By Mary M. Jardine

Celosia that remains around of our late summer months was featured in the arrangements of the week at the Garden Center. These colorful designs were presented by the Junior Board of Garden Club of Monroe.

Yellow and green were featured in Mrs. H. W. Tolson's glass ribbon arrangement. The frost shaped container of yellow crackle - ware set on a small brass stand was most harmonious with the plant material. For the background of the mass design she used red podocarpus. Japanese Yews. Spoondard placements were sheaves of yellow spikes of the plume celosia. Massed in the foreground were brilliant yellow flowers of the Hopeniam 'Gold and green scabiosa. This colorful arrangement would be lovely for a living room table.

Mrs. A. O. Ware was awarded second place. A large pink conch shell set on a black base was selected for this design. A simple diagonal line following the curve of the shell was created with red violet celosia plumes with the focal area. Staged against a deep pink background this was most effective.

Mrs. Marcus Mapple's grass arrangement was awarded third place. The container was a round brass bowl. Mrs. Mapp created a mass arrangement using sansevieria for the backing and placements. A large yellow red crested celosia was placed in the center with self-foliage for accent. Green grapes spilled over the rim of the container in a most graceful fashion. This arrangement would be most suitable for a buffett.

Our "extra" arrangement of the week was created by Carol W. Ivey. A black boat shaped container was used for the back ground, for depth and interest. Celosia shading from violet, red violet and into the salmon shades were arranged in a fan shaped mass pattern. This would be most attractive for an entrance hall table.

In the horticulture section we are proud to report all exhibits were awarded blue ribbons. Mrs. Crosheran Gillette exhibited a new seed specimen of Gardenia. Bold bright red native hibiscus was displayed by Mrs. H. W. Tolson, who also won a blue ribbon for her Pink Rose of Sharon.

Those of you who missed Mr. Stuart Ortloff's lecture on Monday missed a real treat. However, the main points of his lecture are contained in his book "Color and Design for Every Garden." We have two copies of this book in our Garden Center library for you to study at your leisure.

Another important date is October 21, when the Welcome Garden Club will present Rose Miller Underwood of Greensboro, North Carolina in a lecture - demonstration entitled "Dried Arrangements For All Occasion." Time 2 p.m. Virginia Hotel Ro f. The public is cordially invited. Mrs. Underwood is author of "The Complete Book of Dried Arrangements." Be sure to mark this important date on your calendar.

HERE IS HOW

Make Sure Home Is Safe

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It may not take more than a little elbow grease and a second thought to prevent a serious accident in the home. But many parents neglect doing the small things here and there that will make their homes safer.

Many a youngster has been burned by tampering with electric outlets that lie right in the path of crawler and toddler. Yet, there are plastic caps that cost but a few cents that may be inserted into these outlets in a jiffy, and removed when the outlet is put into use.

Windows are another potential danger in the home, especially when they do not lock properly or when the screens offer little protection to curious small fry. It takes only a few minutes to anchor screens firmly with proper hardware so that they will act as barriers.

Some Fences Dangerous

Rustic fences are lovely to look at, but those with pointed tops may serve as a real danger to a child who is at the climbing age. One slip from his perch on an unsteady wagon or tricycle as he leans over a fence could cause serious injury, perhaps the loss of an eye. Arms and legs may be filled with splinters too, unless a coat of shellac or varnish is put over rough wood to seal it and prevent weathering.

The popular home workshop is another potential danger being stressed these days with the argument that "emergencies don't wait." Power tool experts suggest building a five - foot wall of beaverboard around the home workshop.

They suggest installing a gate that works to keep children away from saw, chisel, and especially power tools.

A rickety high - chair may get better support by replacing the loose if so the child can't overturn it by rocking.

Falls may be prevented by installing hand rail on stairways by putting a rubber pad under scatter rugs, by putting grab bars next to the bathtub and installing light switches at stairways and at the entrances to rooms. Sand chest near outdoor steps and walks will come in handy when ice forms and the area requires sanding.

Keep Chimneys Clean

Fire may be avoided by keeping chimneys clean. A burlap bag filled with straw and weighted with a brick may be lowered and raised inside the chimney from the roof until soot residue is removed. A dry Christmas tree thrown into a fireplace is a frequent cause of chimney fires.

Walls and ceilings surrounding the furnace should be covered with fireproof material. Fire extinguishers should be available handily in the house with one kept within reach of the kitchen stove.

If you are planning to insulate your home, choose a non - burnable type of insulation. The material will serve as a partial fire barrier, preventing flash fires that race along the air spaces inside walls of non - insulated homes.

It's a good idea also to check your safety quotient on these points:

Are sharp kitchen knives stored in a separate container away from the table ware?

Is your medicine chest too accessible to small hands? Keep aspirin, medicines and other potentially dangerous drugs on the highest shelf in the house.

Are laundry bleaches and other poisonous compounds kept out of reach of groping hands?

It's a good idea, too, to remove the lock from the bathroom door when there are children or old folk in the family. The bathroom is an accident focal point for children and elderly people. If the door is locked, you may not be able to reach them soon enough.

If lights are operated by pull chains near sinks or in the cellar, it's a good idea to install an insulating link or a non-conductive socket.

Wear Live Beetles As Ornaments In Yucatan

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The accessories women shudder at the sight of a live beetle.

In the Yucatan Peninsula they wear them as ornaments and use them as jack charms.

The custom is almost 50 years old, when Mayan archaeologists found ancient stone carvings of beetles and beetle-like pieces mounted like jewelry on the ears of Mayan princesses.

The princess asked for her hand in marriage, but her father said no — she was already betrothed to a prince.

The prince refused to take this for an answer and retreated to meet her at a forest rendezvous at the full moon. Madly in love, she agreed.

They met, and a fly dropped into an opening into the princess' head, she cried: "Macreeh!" meaning "Oh, what a mess!" or, as a modern prince might say, "What a mess!"

Then she realized that her tasks of gathering had been watching her and were closing in on the prince. She feared they had been discovered.

She fell to her knees and prayed to the goddess of the moon that he be saved. Then she fainted.

When she regained consciousness she realized the others had not found her lover and were completely mystified. They knew the prince did not have wings, but they could not find him.

Then she looked where her prince had just been standing, and saw a beetle. She believed that the moon goddess must have heard her pleas and had transformed the prince into a beetle.

"Macreeh!" she cried, and cupped the beetle in her hands and took him home. From then on she always wore the macreeh, as the beetle is still known.

No one ever kills a macreeh in Yucatan to this day. And women wear them as ornaments, in their hair or on their bosom.

The average macreeh is half-inch with black legs, a little over an inch and a half long, and eats virtually nothing.

Women tie a silk thread, or even a tiny silver ring, around it middle. The other end of the chain or thread is attached to a piece of bark, preferably from the tree in which the beetle was found.

Scientists say the insects in their adult forms eat little solid food, and the insects apparently broke loose of the bark to search for it after they had come.

Take a ceramic vessel with a wide mouth, cover and a glass of sweet small squares of red jelly, and become your family and friends.

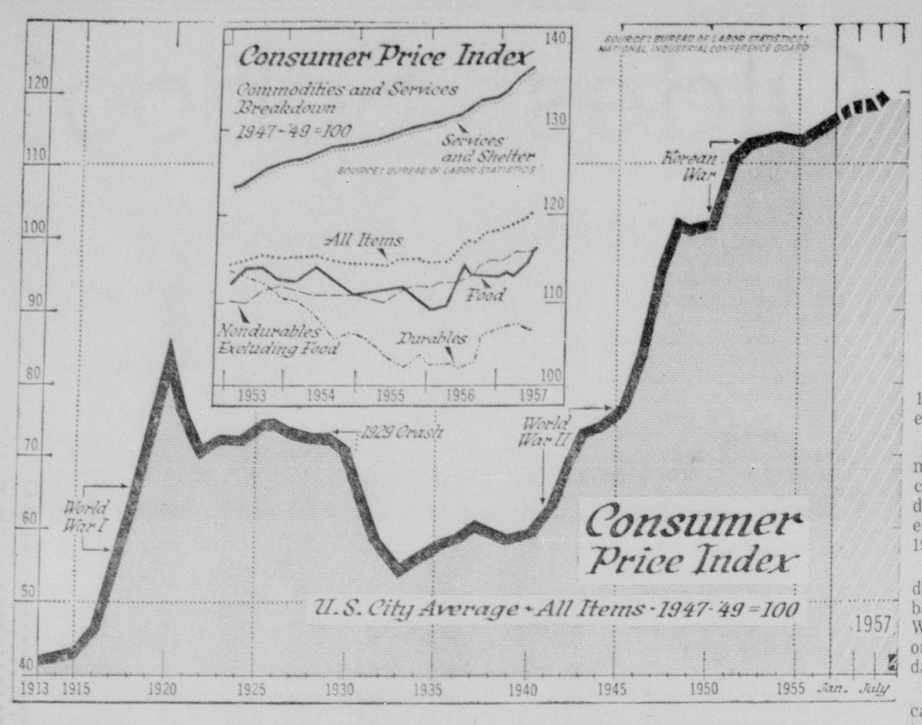
Inflation: Will It Ever End?



Some Argue Old Cures Will Work No Longer

By DAVID L. BOWEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Every month since August of 1956 the cost of living in the United States has gone up.

In the last decade, the government's measure of how much it costs to maintain a constant standard of living has gone up in eight years and down in only two, 1955 and 1949.

To find a third year when the index moved downward you must go back to 1939 — back before World War II when the cost of living was only about one-third what it is today.

President Eisenhower recently called this relentless climb, only too obvious on the large chart and in your daily shopping experience, "our major internal problem."

Continuing inflation in time of peace and falling government expenditures has caused some economists to argue that the current inflation cannot be explained in so - called "classical" terms. They say this inflation is something new and that the "classical" cures will not work. This argument, however, is by no means universally accepted. In the debate now under way inside the government and out, here are three of the important questions and some of the answers:

Is the current inflation basically different from others in history?

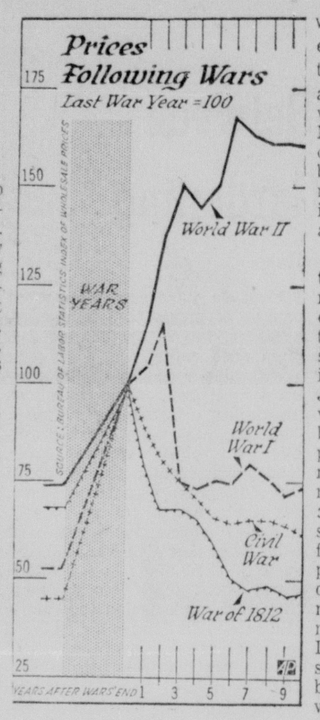
All parties agree that at least in duration, if not in makeup, the current inflation is out of the ordinary. Inflation has always occurred during wars, yet at no other time have prices continued to rise long after the economy returned to peacetime normality. Heavy government spending, easy money and demand outrunning supply are the traditional elements of inflation. At present there is a federal budget surplus, money has been tight for months, there are no shortages, yet prices continue upward.

What are the causes of the current inflation?

The answer depends on who's talking. Business leaders most frequently argue that wages are increasing faster than productivity. Government statistics show average hourly factory earnings were 49 per cent higher in 1956 than they were in the 1947-49 period; output per man hour only 33.5 per cent higher. The rising wages caused increased overhead, management says, the increased overhead forced higher prices, and, the higher prices are called inflation.

To labor leaders, management profits are to blame. David McDonald claims that since 1945 "there have been 21 rounds of steel price increase. There have been nine rounds of wage increase. The price increases have yielded the industry more than $3 in revenue for each $1 in wage increases."

Economists, on the other hand, point to these and other factors, most peculiar to the postwar decade. They include the national commitment of both political parties to full employment; the tendency of wage hikes won by unions in highly organized and highly efficient industries to spread to non - unionized and less efficient labor areas; the automatic nature of a "round" of price increases in big concentrated industries after a "round" of wage increases (which at least bends the old principl that prices are fixed by the law of supply and demand); the high value placed by society today on labor "peace"; heavy industrial investment in expansion; the nation's booming population.



What can be done about inflation?

The answer again depends on whom you ask. The "classical" economists feel certain the traditional restraints — tight money and lower government spending — will bring inflation under control. Many observers detect indications of deflation right now: there have been cancellations or postponements of some expansion plans, inventories are high in some areas, home building is lagging.

Dismissing these signs as only temporary, those who see the current inflation as a new phenomenon expect prices in the long run to continue upward. For this school of thought, the big problem is to see they don't climb too fast. John T. Dunlop, a Harvard University economist, says he would be glad to settle for a 25 to 35 per cent price increase between now and 1975. Dunlop, who finds more inflationary than deflationary elements in modern American society, maintains the size of the future increase will in part depend on how great a value is put on labor peace and full employment. The less value, he says, the more inflation will be controlled. Dunlop points out this would mean strikes and layoffs, and may well be a price the nation will be unwilling to pay.

Some hold out the hope that, recognizing inflation as a common enemy, labor and management will cooperate in holding the price line—with mutual sacrifices. Walter Reuther and the Big Three auto makers already have exchanged statements in this vein, with little favorable result.

President Eisenhower has called on labor and management and the public to act responsibly; labor and management by slowing the wage - price spiral, the public by not spending "recklessly and adding fuel to this flame."

No solution, even universally disliked government controls, is guaranteed to work. One of the few certainties is that within the next two years or so it should become universally agreed whether this inflation is of the historic type or something new under the sun.

If present fiscal policies do not halt inflation by that time, the U. S. economy is working on principles different from the past.

SHERIFF AND STEVENSON

Senate Interrupted 59 Times To Introduce Distinguished Visitors

By ELIZABETH WHARTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UP)—A check of the congressional record showed today the Senate was interrupted at least 59 times last session so "distinguished visitos" in the galleries could be introduced by a member on the floor.

They included a vegetable queen, a sheriff's posse and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Finally, late in August, Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) said he thought the practice was getting out of hand and tending to lower the dignity of the Senate.

He introduced a resolution to amend the Senate rules and prohibit calling attention to visitors in the galleries. His resolution was not acted upon but he was joined in sponsoring it by several oher senators and their remarks seemed to inhibit the displays for the remainder of the session.

Here is the list of the visitors found in a check of the records:

Jan. 3 (opening day of the new Congress) — Stevenson, defeated Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Jan. 21—Joseph B. Johnson of Vrmont; Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, and the California Air National Guard.

Jan. 22—Sheriff's posse from Clark County, Nevada.

Jan. 23—Arcadia, Calif., high school students.

Jan. 25—New Orleans high school students.

Jan. 29—Visiting European nuclear physics students and another New Orleans high school class.

Feb. 4—Lord Lothian, a member of the British House of Lords.

Feb. 18—Concordia, N.H., College choir.

Feb. 20—Rhode Island high school students, the Montana Farmers Union Caravan and motion picture star Rock Hudson.

Feb. 21—Voice of Democracy contest winners.

Feb. 22—Baton Rouge, La., high school students.

Feb. 28—Silver Spring, Md., high school students and the Boy's Club of America.

Mrach 1—Mary Lou Erickson of Tennessee, aquatennial queen, and the Houston, Tex., girl's drill team.

March 12—Dame Flora MacLeod, hereditary chieftain of the Clan MacLeod.

March 19—Ben Barka, member of the Moroccan parliament.

March 21—Felix Hurdes, president of the Australian parliament.

March 25—Ilona Gale Ely, Maryland's cherry blossom queen.

March 28—Indonesian legislator Wilopo.

March 29—A delegation from Anderson, S.C.

April 4 — Arthur Bottomley, member of the British parliament, and Peruvian legislator Cesar Ortega.

April 17—Women leaders of Latin American countries including one who was a chief of police.

May 1—Portland, Ore., little chamber orchestra.

May 9—Another New Orleans school group and Dublin's Jewish mayor, Robert Briscoe.

May 23 — Cumberland, Md., school group.

May 27—A delegation of businessmen from Victoria, Australia.

May 29—Kensington, Md., high school group.

June 6—St. Mark's Methodist Church Sunday school group from Houston, Tex.

June 10 — Gainesville, Tex., school group.

June 17—Alexander Hamilton Bicentennial Commission scholarship winners.

June 18—British member of parliament Joseph Grimond.

JUNE 20 — NATO parliamentary members.

June 21—Dominican Republic Senator Milady L'Official.

June 26—Indonesian parliamentary delegation.

July 13—Radio personality Arthur Godfrey.

July 23—Comedian Jimmy Durante.

July 24—Lorraine Kickasola, New Jersey vegetable queen.

July 26—A group of European exchange students, a moral rearmament delegation and a group of European parliamentarians.

July 30—Capt. Hutchison Smith of the Australian Navy.

Aug. 1—Sam Nehan, vice president of Cambodia; Rufus Holman, former senator from Oregon, and Judith Qualls, president of Girl's Nation.

Aug. 2—Members of the Japanse diet.

Aug. 5—Members of the British parliament.

Memories Shroud City's Oldest School

Class Rooms Empty After Half Century

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Echoes of school days never to return . . . stairs which creak underfoot, worn down by many thousand Monroe youngsters . . . empty classrooms. On the outside, it looks the same. But within, there is the loneliness which enters a school the day after summer vacation begins . . . this time a permanent loneliness, as only memories tread lightly through the city's oldest school.

Now being used as an office for the School Board, the Central Grammar school building saw its last semester of classes end in May of this year, 57 years after the first youngsters entered the brand - new brick structure. At the turn of the century, it was called "extravagant" by some residents, who thought it was too large for the number of students in Monroe.

Construction of the building was started in 1899 under the administration of Mayor A.A. Forsythe. On January 15, 1900, the cornerstone was laid, as city dignitaries and residents witnessed the ceremony, and in September of that year, classes began.

Kindergarten through high school was included under one roof. The grades occupied the first floor and part of the second, while the high school students had their classrooms on both the second and third floors.

Middy blouses, long skirts, long braids — the pretty young miss of 1901 looked vastly different from her grandchildren who attend other city schools today. Boys dressed formally, and blue jeans were not seen in the school.

Advanced For Time

It was an advanced school for its time — a library occupied one room on the first floor, besides the principal's and superintendents offices. Art and music courses were offered, and a commercial department had business courses, including shorthand and typing.

All high school students were required to take four years of Latin, through Virgil and Levi; algebra, plain and solid geometry, trigonometry; four years of science, including botany, zoology, chemistry and physics; and history — American, French, English, medieval and modern.

A good home economics department also existed in the school, and as a former student put it—"We had some dreamers, who tried to give us things which are taken for granted today, but were far advanced for fifty years ago."

The large auditorium on the first floor today is filled with desks taken from the now-deserted classrooms. Curtains and scenery are gone from the stage. But the spirit, excitement, which rules invisible on every stage, still hovers to send a thrill through any spectator who wanders through the wings and steps onto the floorboards.

For many years, it was the only auditorium in the city, and lyceum courses booked from New York offices gave evenings of amusement to many Monroe residents. Under Superintendent E. L. Neville's sponsorship, musicals, quarters, plays, and lectures were brought here.

Graduation Play

The senior graduation play was always Shakespearean. Many backdrops, with painted scenery, helped to make plays effective—but an unusual story was told on the inner side of the main curtain and the backdrops.

Names, and notes, were written by the "actors" — and a jumbled "history" of some students could be seen if the curtains were found.

During the early years of the school, everyone in the high school belonged to either the 'Dialectic" or the "Philamatheon," societies — one early graduate relates that the societies were mainly to teach students parliamentary procedure through actual sessions of business - meeting type.

On the first floor, students paused for an instant on cold winter mornings to "warm up" in a hurry, while standing on the old, iron-grillwork floor furnace. They then climbed the stairways and entered their classrooms.

In the rooms, old - style bolted-down desks were used, and the place of each desk can be found on the floor of empty rooms today — countless youngsters wore down the planking underneath the desks.

Courtin' Behind Books

"Whenever we had a period without classes, we spent the time in the study hall on third floor," related a Monroyan who graduated before 1910. We had a lot of fun there . . . and "courtin' went on behind the books."

The building became filled to capacity in a few years, and "there usually was a class going on in one corner of the study-hall."

It became so crowded that at one time, there were classes in the basement of the building, and other classes were conducted from time to time in nearby houses.

The grounds surrounding the school were the assembly spot for parades, and colorful floats began and finished their tours of the city streets from the Monroe City High School starting point.

One or two minor fires occurred in the school, one when troop convoys that were allowed to stay overnight during the World War I, accidentally caught some blankets on fire.

The old circling outdoor fire-escapes were never used -- except by children who played games on them. Grads of the class of 1929 relate the story of how one janiter, on official orders to keep the youngsters off the fire escapes, poured a gallon of motor oil down the stairway one noon-hour, when a group was crowded on the stairway.

Clothes Ruined

"Kids slid on the stuff and probably 25 outfits of clothes were ruined that day — but they stayed off the fire escapes after that," alumni recall.

Arbor Days were observed, and large trees now growing on the sandy campus were planted by youngsters many years ago.

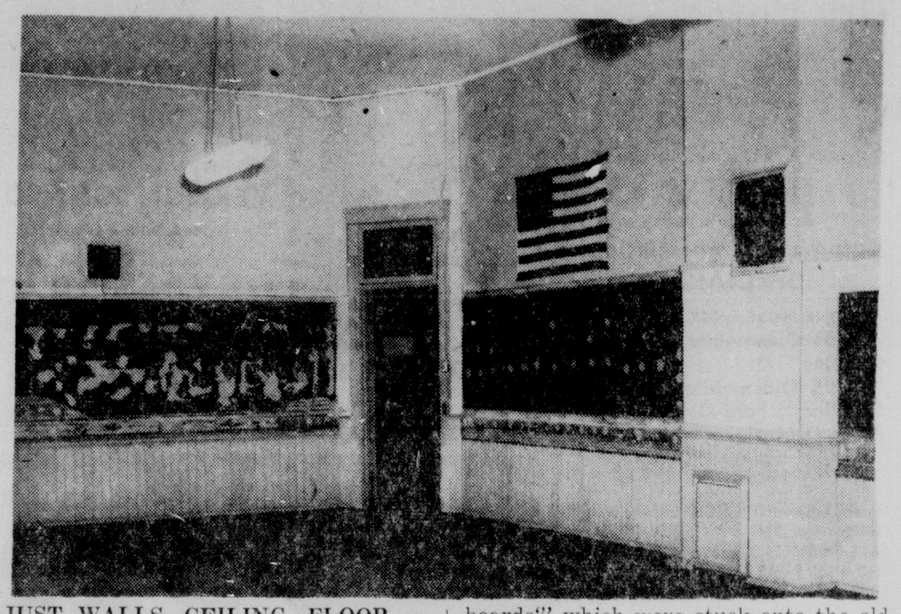
September, 1931 . . . the new Neville High School opened — and only the young children of the first few grades attended the school renamed Central Grammar School.

The old desks had been replaced by more modern ones; slate blackboards which were nearly impossible to see on dark, cloudy days, were covered with new green "chalk - boards"; other grammar schools had been built, more were planned. Its place as a center of education was now recalled only by the name of Central Grammar School.

Grades one through six were studying in the historic old structure when it was condemned in 1955, again in 1956, and finally in 1957.

For the first time, the building stands empty as school children carry their books past it, but fail to turn onto the walks leading to the school's doors.

The Monroe School Board has offices there - but it is not the same. After 57 years as a center of teaching, the building has now entered a forced, and lonely, retirement.



JUST WALLS, CEILING, FLOOR — Where youngsters pledged allegiance to the Flag in a classroom filled with life, only this remains. Desks have been hauled away... easy-to-read green "chalkboards'" which were stuck onto the old slates have been torn off, ripping up sections of the slate. . . windows are closed, lights are off, and the room is forgotten. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman.)

CENTRAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL — ALONE AFTER 57 YEARS—Children no longer walk through the halls of Monroe's oldest school building. Central Grammar is empty - and intangible memories whisper in classrooms. The third floor is boarded off, and only the city's visiting teacher, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, who has her office here, and the officials of the School Board, now step through rooms which once were crowded with students. Storm Wake Mail Service Is Cited

WASHINGTON (Special) —Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has cited postal deliveries in the wake of Hurricane Audrey as proof that the post office department is now better able than ever before to provide emergency mail service in disaster areas.

He noted that a new hurricane season is now at hand.

"Reports from Chief Inspector David H. Stevens disclose that the post office department met problems of the early Hurricane Audrey with maintenance of a high degree of service considering the scope of this tragedy," stated Summerfield.

He credited the recent postal decentralization program with "particularly good" maintenance of postal service during this and other emergency conditions.

"Fifteen major regional offices now hove real authority to cope more readily with disasters through on - the - spot action that is best adapted to getting the mails moving and keeping them moving in stricken areas," the postmaster general said.

He added that shortly after Audrey subsided, emergency postal facilities were set up on June 28 at Drew Station, Lake Charles, where residents of the devastated areas had been evacuated.

Emergency Deliveries

Emergency general deliveries of mail were made the same day to evacuees including residents of Cameron, Creole and Grand Chenier.

Within a few days after the actual disaster, Summerfield continued, employes from the staffs of the post offices in the devastated area were at work at Drew Station, providing near - normal mail service despite the near-chaotic conditions which had been created by the big storm.

Many evacuees who had lost everything had no personal identification. The fact their own postal people manned the evacuation center postal facilities made it possible to identify them quickly, and proved to be a major morale factor, said the postmaster general.

By June 29, arrangements were made for a mail call at two other refuge centers. Emergency equipment for the evacuation centers, including temporary cardboard mail - sorting equipment and other necessary post office supplies had been brought into use quickly.

Summerfield pointed out, "The actual emergency mail operations demonstrated that, in the event of a major emergency, the post office department today would be able to move in quickly with postal inspectors as effective advance coordinators and reestablish mail service in a matter of hours.

"In future hurricane disasters and other major emergencies, people who have relatives and friends in the area involved should know that they can expect to establish contact by mailing a letter. I think the tendency in some cases is to feel no letters could reach people whose homes have been wiped out, and not to write. Actually, writing them during times of disaster may often prove to be the fastest means of establishing contact."

"In fact," he went on, "in some cases, the mails may prove to be the only means of communication for a while following disasters."

Caldwell Art Festival To Honor Indians

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Art Festival is paying homage to the Acadians and Louisiana Indians by presenting Miss Louise Olivier, field representative of the Acadian project, October 12 from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Most of the crafts on display are made by descendants of the Acadians and the Koasati Indians in Louisiana.

The exiled Acadians of Nova Scotia reached Louisiana in 1765 and have contributed to the state a culture rich in French traditions. The traditional custom among Acadian women of weaving dowries of cotton blankets for their children is responsible for preservation of the art of weaving, in Louisiana. The Acadian handicraft project has directed the Acadian weavers in making small gift item such a towels, throw rugs, place mats, bags, slippers, and hot pads.

Besides cotton weaving the Acadians also make crafts out of Louisiana's palmetto.

Hand-Braided Hats

Over 60 years ago, the Acadian man in the rural areas wore large hand - braided palmetto hats. These hats braided by Acadian women had deep crowns and wide brims. Similar hats and many other items, such as: fans, bags, baskets, flower gatherers, coasters, bookmarks, place card horses, etc., can be seen.

Another line of Acadian handiwork that has worked itself into 5th Avenue stores in New York is the Acadian needlework. Delicate designs of embroidery, illustrating French knots, fine tucking, hemstitching, feather stitching, wheatstitching, etc. are to be found on Acadian handmade infant dresses, gowns, sacques, bibs, caps, and diaper shirts.

Recently the general extension, LSU, has undertaken the promotion of the handiwork of the Koasati Indians. They make baskets out of wild cane and pine needles as well as lovely bead work.

The Caldwell Art Festival is sponsored by the Caldwell Parish Library and features an art show open to local artists.

A handbell choir has been formed by Highlands Methodist Church in Birmingham, Ala. The choir is made up of 12 to 15 high school students and each plays two bells.

Legion Membership Goal Set At 320

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — A total of 260 paid membership has already been secured in the Powell - Martin - Barrett Post No. 37 of the American Legion, according to Charles E. Herring, membership chairman.

Herring said that the goal for 1958 is 320 members, and it is hoped that by the regular meeting date on September 19, the other 60 memberships would be signed.

O. N. Hamilton, Sr., vice-chairman of the membership committee has been working closely with Herring in the current drive, as well as all other members of the committee.

The local post was the first in the state to exceed it's previous year's membership in 1957.

Four members were initiated into Voiture Locale No. 1396 of the 40 & 8 this week, at the American Legion Home. The new members are O. N. Hamilton, Jr., C. W. Muirhead, Jack McCain, and Joseph LeBeau, Jr.

RESEARCHERS SAY:

Race Factor In Heart Trouble

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 14 (UP)—An international group of heart researchers said today recent studies show hardening of the arteries occurs at different times among races.

The group, operating under the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education, said its findings came from a study of four different racial groups—Costa Ricans, Mayan Indians, New Orleans whites and New Orleans Negroes.

The heart research group opened a two-day meeting here, with some 35 researchers attending.

Dr. Carlos Tejada, of the nutrition institute of Central America and Panama, gave statistics on Mayan Indians and Costa Ricans while Dr. Marion Guidry of the Louisiana State University Medical School told of his study among whites and Negroes.

The researchers are seeking to determine the incidence of heart disease, a release said. It gave thes stages as: (1) Fatty streaks which mark the beginning of disease in the arteries, (2) fibrous patches which develop later, and the final hardening and further complications.

The group said the number one cause of death in the United States, England and the Scandinavian countries is hardening of the arteries. But, it said, this is not true in Guatemela and Costa Rica.

The co-ordinated study showed Negroes have a higher incidence of the first stage of heart disease between the ages of 11 and 15 than the other groups.

But it showed the white group had a much higher incidence of the second stage—fibrous patches—between the ages of 30 and 40 than the others.

In the Guatemalan and Costa Rican groups, the study showed, the incidence of the first stage was the same as in the New Orleans white group. But the second stage had scarcely appeared in the Guatemlans and Costa Ricans by the ages of 30 to 40.

There is further need for research in this field, the heart group said but the study indicates factors which cause the first stage may be entirely different from those which cause the later development.

Another conclusion suggested by the study, it said, is that treatment which may be good for one stage of heart disease may be ineffectual for another, since the mechanisms for the development of each are different.

The findings, the release said, give further support to the belief that diet alone is too simple an answer to the problems of artery hardening.

Russian Officials Flying To Meeting In Jet Airplanes

MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N. J., Sept. 14 (UP)—The second Russian jet to carry passengers to the U. S. streaked across the Atlantic today carrying Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and about 40 aides to next week's United Nations meeting.

The tourist-class TU-104 swept-wing jet, bearing the insignia of the Russian state airline, refueled at London, Reykjavik, Iceland, and Gander, Nfld. It landed at Gander's international airport at 12:44 p.m. (EDT).

Another TU-104 will bring more diplomatic personnel from Moscow to the U. S. soon, bringing the total to three flights. The first Russian jet flew from Moscow to McGuire Sept. 4. It was the first Soviet plane to come to the U. S. in 20 years and the first jet ever to carry passengers across the Atlantic to the U.S.

All three Russian flights were scheduled as prestige-boosters for Soviet aviation. The TU-104 made its appearance in the West last year. It is the only jet airliner in the world operating on regularly scheduled airline routes.

The Museum of Arts and Sciences in Rochester, N.Y., is considered one of the outstanding community museums in the country. Its regional exhibits range from a country store to bird displays.

Memories Shroud City's Oldest School

Class Rooms Empty After Half Century

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Echoes of school days never to return . . . stairs which creak underfoot, worn down by many thousand Monroe youngsters . . . empty classrooms. On the outside, it looks the same. But within, there is the loneliness which enters a school the day after summer vacation begins . . . this time a permanent loneliness, as only memories tread lightly through the city's oldest school.

Now being used as an office for the School Board, the Central Grammar school building saw its last semester of classes end in May of this year, 57 years after the first youngsters entered the brand - new brick structure. At the turn of the century, it was called "extravagant" by some residents, who thought it was too large for the number of students in Monroe.

Construction of the building was started in 1899 under the administration of Mayor A.A. Forsythe. On January 15, 1900, the cornerstone was laid, as city dignitaries and residents witnessed the ceremony, and in September of that year, classes began.

Kindergarten through high school was included under one roof. The grades occupied the first floor and part of the second, while the high school students had their classrooms on both the second and third floors.

Middy blouses, long skirts, long braids — the pretty young miss of 1901 looked vastly different from her grandchildren who attend other city schools today. Boys dressed formally, and blue jeans were not seen in the school.

Advanced For Time

It was an advanced school for its time — a library occupied one room on the first floor, besides the principal's and superintendents offices. Art and music courses were offered, and a commercial department had business courses, including shorthand and typing.

All high school students were required to take four years of Latin, through Virgil and Levi; algebra, plain and solid geometry, trigonometry; four years of science, including botany, zoology, chemistry and physics; and history — American, French, English, medieval and modern.

A good home economics department also existed in the school, and as a former student put it—"We had some dreamers, who tried to give us things which are taken for granted today, but were far advanced for fifty years ago."

The large auditorium on the first floor today is filled with desks taken from the now-deserted classrooms. Curtains and scenery are gone from the stage. But the spirit, excitement, which rules invisible on every stage, still hovers to send a thrill through any spectator who wanders through the wings and steps onto the floorboards.

For many years, it was the only auditorium in the city, and lyceum courses booked from New York offices gave evenings of amusement to many Monroe residents. Under Superintendent E. L. Neville's sponsorship, musicals, quarters, plays, and lectures were brought here.

Graduation Play

The senior graduation play was always Shakespearean. Many backdrops, with painted scenery, helped to make plays effective—but an unusual story was told on the inner side of the main curtain and the backdrops.

Names, and notes, were written by the "actors" — and a jumbled "history" of some students could be seen if the curtains were found.

During the early years of the school, everyone in the high school belonged to either the 'Dialectic" or the "Philamathean," societies — one early graduate relates that the societies were mainly to teach students parliamentary procedure through actual sessions of business - meeting type.

On the first floor, students paused for an instant on cold winter mornings to "warm up" in a hurry, while standing on the old, iron-grillwork floor furnace. They then climbed the stairways and entered their classrooms.

In the rooms, old - style bolted-down desks were used, and the place of each desk can be found on the floor of empty rooms today — countless youngsters wore down the planking underneath the desks.

Courtin' Behind Books

"Whenever we had a period without classes, we spent the time in the study hall on third floor," related a Monroyan who graduated before 1910. We had a lot of fun there . . . and "courtin' went on behind the books."

The building became filled to capacity in a few years, and "there usually was a class going on in one corner of the study-hall."

It became so crowded that at one time, there were classes in the basement of the building, and other classes were conducted from time to time in nearby houses.

The grounds surrounding the school were the assembly spot for parades, and colorful floats began and finished their tours of the city streets from the Monroe City High School starting point.

One or two minor fires occurred in the school, one when troop convoys that were allowed to stay overnight during the World War I, accidentally caught some blankets on fire.

The old circling outdoor fire-escapes were never used -- except by children who played games on them. Grads of the class of 1929 relate the story of how one janitor, on official orders to keep the youngsters off the fire escapes, poured a gallon of motor oil down the stairway one noon-hour, when a group was crowded on the stairway.

Clothes Ruined

"Kids slid on the stuff and probably 25 outfits of clothes were ruined that day — but they stayed off the fire escapes after that," alumni recall.

Arbor Days were observed, and large trees now growing on the sandy campus were planted by youngsters many years ago.

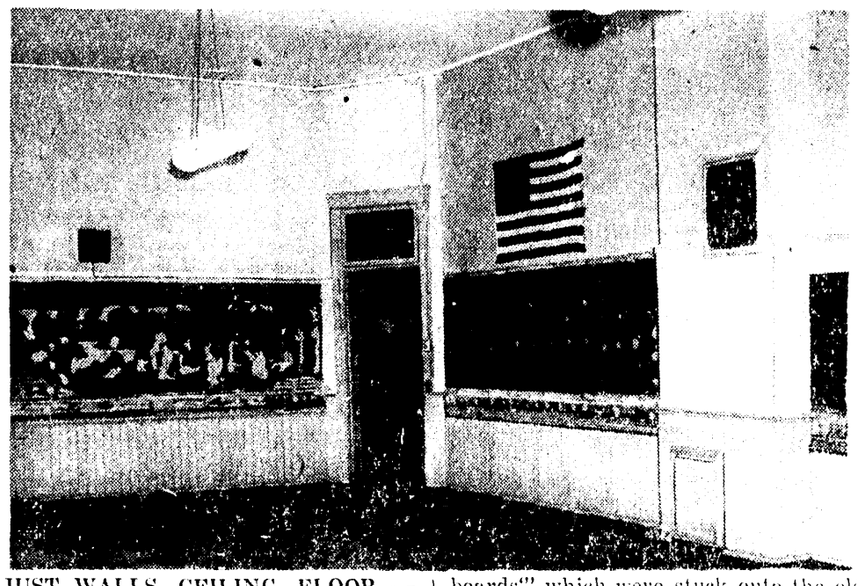
September, 1931 . . . the new Neville High School opened — and only the young children of the first few grades attended the school renamed Central Grammar School.

The old desks had been replaced by more modern ones; slate blackboards which were nearly impossible to see on dark, cloudy days, were covered with new green "chalk - boards"; other grammar schools had been built, more were planned. Its place as a center of education was now recalled only by the name of Central Grammar School.

Grades one through six were studying in the historic old structure when it was condemned in 1955, again in 1956, and finally in 1957.

For the first time, the building stands empty as school children carry their books past it, but fail to turn onto the walks leading to the school's doors.

The Monroe School Board has offices there - but it is not the same. After 57 years as a center of teaching, the building has now entered a forced, and lonely, retirement.



JUST WALLS, CEILING, FLOOR — Where youngsters pledged allegiance to the Flag in a classroom filled with life, only this remains. Desks have been hauled away... easy-to-read green "chalk-boards" which were stuck onto the old slates have been torn off, ripping up sections of the slate. . . windows are closed, lights are off, and the room is forgotten. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman.)

CENTRAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL — ALONE AFTER 57 YEARS—Children no longer walk through the halls of Monroe's oldest school building. Central Grammar is empty - and intangible memories whisper in classrooms. The third floor is boarded off, and only the city's visiting teacher, Miss Elcora Brinsmade, who has her office here, and the officials of the School Board, now step through rooms which once were crowded with students. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman.)

Storm Wake Mail Service Is Cited

WASHINGTON (Special) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has cited postal deliveries in the wake of Hurricane Audrey as proof that the post office department is now better able than ever before to provide emergency mail service in disaster areas.

He noted that a new hurricane season is now at hand.

"Reports from Chief Inspector Dave H. Stevens disclose that the post office department met problems of the early Hurricane Audrey with maintenance of a high degree of service considering the scope of this tragedy," stated Summerfield.

He credited the recent postal decentralization program with "particularly good" maintenance of postal service during this and other emergency conditions.

"Fifteen major regional offices now have real authority to cope more readily with disasters through on - the - spot action that is best adapted to getting the mails moving and keeping them moving in stricken areas," the postmaster general said.

He added that shortly after Audrey subsided, emergency postal facilities were set up on June 28 at Drew Station, Lake Charles, where residents of the devastated areas had been evacuated.

Emergency Deliveries

Emergency general deliveries of mail were made the same day to evacuees including residents of Cameron, Creole and Grand Chenier.

Within a few days after the actual disaster, Summerfield continued, employes from the staffs of the post offices in the devastated area were at work at Drew Station, providing near - normal mail service despite the near-chaotic conditions which had been created by the big storm.

Many evacuees who had lost everything had no personal identification. The fact their own postal people manned the evacuation center postal facilities made it possible to identify them quickly, and proved to be a major morale factor, said the postmaster general.

By June 29, arrangements were made for a mail call at two other refuge centers. Emergency equipment for the evacuation centers, meaning temporary cardboard mail - sorting equipment and other necessary post office supplies had been brought into use quickly.

Summerfield pointed out, "The actual emergency mail operations demonstrated that, in the event of a major emergency, the post office department today would be able to move in quickly with postal inspectors as effective advance coordinators and reestablish mail service in a matter of hours.

"In future hurricane disasters and other major emergencies, people who have relatives and friends in the area involved should know that they can expect to establish contact by mailing a letter. I think the tendency in some cases is to feel no letters could reach people whose homes have been wiped out, and not to write. Actually, writing them during times of disaster may often prove to be the fastest means of establishing contact."

"In fact," he went on, "in some cases, the mails may prove to be the only means of communication for a while following disasters."

Caldwell Art Festival To Honor Indians

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Art Festival is paying homage to the Acadians and Louisiana Indians by presenting Miss Louise Olivier, field representative of the Acadian project, October 12 from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Most of the crafts on display are made by descendants of the Acadians and the Koasati Indians in Louisiana.

The exiled Acadians of Nova Scotia reached Louisiana in 1765 and have contributed to the state a culture rich in French traditions. The traditional custom among Acadian women of weaving dowries of cotton blankets for their children is responsible for preservation of the art of weaving, in Louisiana. The Acadian handicraft project has directed the Acadian weavers in making small gift items such a towels, throw rugs, place mats, bags, slippers, and hot pads.

Besides cotton weaving the Acadians also make crafts out of Louisiana's palmetto.

Hand-Braided Hats

Over 60 years ago, the Acadian man in the rural areas wore large hand - braided palmetto hats. These hats braided by Acadian women had deep crowns and wide brims. Similar hats and many other items, such as: fans, bags, baskets, flower gatherers, coasters, bookmarks, place card horses, etc., can be seen.

Another line of Acadian handiwork that has worked itself into 5th Avenue stores in New York is the Acadian needlework. Delicate designs of embroidery, illustrating French knots, fine tucking, hemstitching, feather stitching, wheat-stitching, etc. are to be found on Acadian handmade infant dresses, gowns, sacques, bibs, caps, and diaper shirts.

Recently the general extension, LSU, has undertaken the promotion of the handiwork of the Koasati Indians. They make baskets out of wild cane and pine needles as well as lovely bead work.

The Caldwell Art Festival is sponsored by the Caldwell Parish Library and features an art show open to local artists.

A handbell choir has been formed by Highlands Methodist Church in Birmingham, Ala. The choir is made up of 12 to 15 high school students and each plays two bells.

Legion Membership Goal Set At 320

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — A total of 260 paid membership has already been secured in the Powell - Martin - Barrett Post No. 37 of the American Legion, according to Charlie E. Herring, membership chairman.

Herring said that the goal for 1958 is 320 members, and it is hoped that by the regular meeting date on September 19, the other 60 memberships would be signed.

O. N. Hamilton, Sr., vice-chairman of the membership committee has been working closely with Herring in the current drive, as well as all other members of the committee.

The local post was the first in the state to exceed it's previous year's membership in 1957.

Four members were initiated into Voiture Locale No. 1396 of the 40 & 8 this week, at the American Legion Home. The new members are O. N. Hamilton, Jr., C. W. Muirhead, Jack McCain, and Joseph LeBeau, Jr.

RESEARCHERS SAY:

Race Factor In Heart Trouble

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 14 (AP)—An international group of heart researchers said today recent studies show hardening of the arteries occurs at different times among races.

The group, operating under the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education, said its findings came from a study of four different racial groups—Costa Ricans, Mayan Indians, New Orleans whites and New Orleans Negroes.

The heart research group opened a two-day meeting here, with some 35 researchers attending.

Dr. Carlos Tejada, of the nutrition institute of Central America and Panama, gave statistics on Mayan Indians and Costa Ricans while Dr. Marion Guidry of the Louisiana State University Medical School told of his study among whites and Negroes.

The researchers are seeking to determine the incidence of heart disease, a release said. It gave thes stages as: (1) Fatty streaks which mark the beginning of disease in the arteries, (2) fibrous patches which develop later, and the final hardening and further complications.

The group said the number one cause of death in the United States, England and the Scandinavian countries is hardening of the arteries. But, it said, this is not true in Guatemala and Costa Rica.

The co-ordinated study showed Negroes have a higher incidence of the first stage of heart disease between the ages of 11 and 15 than the other groups.

But it showed the white group had a much higher incidence of the second stage - fibrous patches - between the ages of 30 and 40 than the others.

In the Guatemalan and Costa Rican groups, the study showed, the incidence of the first stage was the same as in the New Orleans white group. But the second stage had scarcely appeared in the Guatemlans and Costa Ricans by the ages of 30 to 40.

There is further need for research in this field, the heart group said but the study indicates factors which cause the first stage may be entirely different from those which cause the later development.

Another conclusion suggested by the study, it said, is that treatment which may be good for one stage of heart disease may be ineffectual for another, since the mechanisms for the development of each are different.

The findings, the release said, give further support to the belief that diet alone is too simple an answer to the problems of artery hardening.

Russian Officials Flying To Meeting In Jet Airplanes

MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N. J., Sept. 14 (UP)—The second Russian jet to carry passengers to the U. S. streaked across the Atlantic today carrying Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and about 40 aides to next week's United Nations meeting.

The tourist-class TU-104 swept-wing jet, bearing the insignia of the Russian state airline, refueled at London, Reykjavik, Iceland, and Gander, Nfld. It landed at Gander's international airport at 12:44 p.m. (EDT).

Another TU-104 will bring more diplomatic personnel from Moscow to the U. S. soon, bringing the total to three flights. The first Russian jet flew from Moscow to McGuire Sept. 4. It was the first Soviet plane to come to the U. S. in 20 years and the first jet ever to carry passengers across the Atlantic to the U.S.

All three Russian flights were scheduled as prestige-boosters for Soviet aviation. The TU 104 made its appearance in the West last year. It is the only jet airliner in the world operating on regularly scheduled airline routes.

The Museum of Arts and Sciences in Rochester, N.Y., is considered one of the outstanding community museums in the country. Its regional exhibits range from a country store to bird displays.

Our 21st annual clean-up of new 1957 Chryslers, Plymouths and Imperials is here! As in the past, we know many new car buyers have waited for this event. They know, this is the time they can buy a New Chrysler, Plymouth or Imperial (with 1960) styling at the LOWEST price of the entire year. Plus receiving an extra high trade in allowance with long, low terms at bank finance rates. It's just good business to buy now at low end of the model year prices—in addition to beating the '58 price increase that's bound to come. See us now. OLCOTT MOTORS, 211 NORTH SECOND. MORE HOMES
CHURCHES—SCHOOLS
BUY BALDWIN Pianos than all other makes in this area. There must be a reason.
When buying a piano check these points:
1. How does the piano rate with schools and churches? (Hundreds of institutions use BALDWIN exclusively.)
2. Is it a piano preferred by musicians? (Our list of artist users of Baldwin numbers thousands.)
3. Is the piano a full veneered finish or a cheap plastic finish made to sell cheaper?
4. Is it a full keyboard piano?
5. Remember that the cheapest piano is by no means the most economical in the long run.
These are honest questions. Get an honest answer before buying.

I KNOW HOGAN CAME HERE BECAUSE I HAD HIM FOLLOWED...

WELL, MAYBE HE WAS HERE, BUT HE LEFT WITH A COUPLE O' FRIENDS..

GRILL

Copyright 1957, Field Enterprises, Inc.

HOGAN DOESN'T HAVE A COUPLE OF FRIENDS!

...LET'S SEE WHERE THIS DOOR LEADS!

HIS NEW PALS ARE HELPING HOGAN COUNT HIS BANKROLL! HOW COOPERATIVE!

PLEASE REGISTER MR. HOGAN INTO MY ROOM—HE HAD ONE TOO MANY TRANQUILIZER PILLS!

9-15

BRINGING UP FATHER

I THINK I'LL HIDE THIS MONEY I WON IN THE POKER GAME IN A BOOK!... NOW, LET'S SEE ... WHICH ONE IS MAGGIE LEAST LIKELY TO READY?

THE ATLAS OUGHT TO BE A SAFE HIDIN' PLACE. I'M SURE MAGGIE NEVER OPENED IT IN HER LIFE!

JIGGS, THERE'S A QUIZ PROGRAM ON TV TONIGHT! LET'S WATCH IT TOGETHER!

NOT ME, DARLIN'! I'M GOIN' TO READ!

THE CAPITAL OF BONGO-BONGO IS PALMVILLE!

CORRECT!

JIGGS! THAT WOMAN WON $8,000 JUST FOR NAMING THE CAPITAL OF THE BONGO-BONGO ISLANDS! ISN'T THAT WONDERFUL?

YEAH! I WISH YOU COULD WIN $8,000!

THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT I PLAN TO DO! I'M GOING TO STUDY GEOGRAPHY AND TRY FOR ONE OF THOSE BIG PRIZES!

AW, THAT'S SILLY, MAGGIE-- YOU'D ONLY BE WASTIN' YOUR TIME---

NONSENSE! IT MIGHT BE A VERY PROFITABLE HOBBY--

WHAT'S THIS?! $100 IN THE ATLAS! MY GOODNESS, MY HOBBY IS BEGINNING TO PAY OFF ALREADY!

YEAH, THE SHOW IS OVER! THE QUIZ-MASTER OUGHT TO BE OUT ANY MINUTE! ARE YOU ONE OF HIS FANS?

--NOT EXACTLY!

You're Losing Time With That Fair Lady!

YOU CAN'T BACK OUT AT THE LAST MINUTE LIKE THIS, LINDA! WHY, TONIGHT'S THE DANCE WE'VE BEEN WAITING FOR, SUGAR!

YOU CAN STILL GO SOLO, TOM!

BETTER FACE IT, BOY!

GO SOLO! WHY? I THOUGHT I REALLY COUNTED WITH YOU, LINDA!

YOU DO COUNT, TOM! BUT IT'S TIME YOU LEARNED WHAT TO DO ABOUT—ABOUT BAD BREATH!

AND NOT A MINUTE TOO SOON, SON!

TOM LEARNS HOW TO STOP BAD BREATH!

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM WITH GARDOL STOPS MOUTH ODOR ALL DAY FOR MOST PEOPLE... WITH JUST ONE BRUSHING. BECAUSE COLGATE'S WITH GARDOL CLEANS YOUR BREATH WHILE IT CLEANS YOUR TEETH!

LATER—THANKS TO COLGATE DENTAL CREAM

SINCE COLGATE'S SET TOM'S ROMANCE RIGHT LINDA WANTS TO DANCE ALL NIGHT!

Brush Your Teeth with COLGATE DENTAL CREAM... Brush Bad Breath Away!

And Colgate's with GARDOL Fights Decay All Day, Too!

Gardol's invisible shield fights tooth decay all day... with just one brushing.

Colgate's with Gardol stops mouth odor all day for most people... with just one brushing! And of all leading toothpastes,* only Colgate's contains Gardol to form an invisible, protective shield around your teeth that fights tooth decay all day... with just one brushing! So to fight both bad breath and tooth decay all day, use Colgate's with Gardol—world's largest selling toothpaste!

*ONE TOP THREE BRANDS AFTER COLGATE'S.
